Dr. Cameron, who, with Dr. Hawke, both of Galt, made a post mortem examination on the body of the murdered woman, read his report. The woman came to her death by a blow on the back of the head. Dr. Cameron said his opinion was that the stock of the gun produced, and which had been identified as Allison's, was the likely instrument of death. Dr. Hawke of Galt also said the wound on the back of her head killed Mrs. Orr. an! that the gun was the likely weapon used.

Next came Arthur Kinsman, a boy of about 16 or 17, who looks bright and intelligent, and who is serving a term in the county jail for a minor offence. Kinsman said: "I know the prisoner Allison and have been chumming with him quite a bit. I was with him on Sunday, Aug. 8, at Galt, both in the morning and afternoon. We were down at the Queen's Hotel barn in the morning. At 1.30 p. m. I met him again, and was with him till tea time. We went for a swim in the morning. I asked how Mrs. Orr was getting along. His reply indicated that he contemplated an assault upon Mrs. Orr, whose conduct, he alleged, was not above reproach.

"I next met the prisoner in jail. His cell was next to mine. We talked through a hole in the wall, and I asked Allison if he murdered Mrs. Orr, because it looked like it. He told me to keep still when I said this. He told me upon that occasion that the stranger he had met in the lane had told him to hide his gun. Allison said he did so when he got home. Allison then said that next day he met this man in the driving shed. The man told him he had heard that he (Allison) had been opening his mouth, and that he had better stop it."

Upon cross-examination counsel entirely failed to rattle the witness. He said this was the first time he had ever been in jail.

Mr. O'Connor here intimated he rested the Crown's case.

George Barrie, a farmer of 70 years, swore positively that Allison was at his house on the morning of Aug. 9, at 8 o'clock. The milkman came in when Allison was there.

John Barrie, his son, corroborated, but got so angry during cross-examination that it looked as if Mr. O'Connor would himself get hurt.

A lad of about 17, named Stauffer, was with John Barrie in the field the morning of August 9. He corroborated John Barrie's assertions. He admitted to Mr. O'Connor in cross-examination that he had told various parties about seeing Allison going past about 8 o'clock.

Roddy, the milkman, was re-called, and verified his former evidence, that he was at Barrie's at 8, but he could not say why he knew it was 8.

Frank Malcolm of Galt said he met Roddy, the milkman, on the morning of Aug. 9 on the cemetery hill at 8.20. This was after the milkman had been to Barrie's farm. Witness said he was riding a bicycle and he had got off to put on his coat. He then looked at his watch. In the hands of Mr. O'Connor witness was badly rattled.

Court adjourned for luncheon at 1 o'clock.

After addresses of counsel and the judge's charge the case was given to the jury.

The jury, after being out for three hours, returned at 8 p.m. with a verdict of "guilty, with a recommendation to mercy, on account of his youth."

Prisoner was asked if he had anything to say why sentence of court should not be passed upon him. He replied "No."

His Lordship then told him to make good use of his time and make peace with his God, and sentenced Allison to be hanged on Feb. 4, 1898.

Prisoner was apparently unmoved by these terrible words, but his father and other members of the family were visibly affected, especially the father, who went into convulsions and had to be carried out.

HUMBUGGING THE ELECTORS.

If Mr. Whitney should succeed at the coming general elections we shall have direct taxation as sure as fate. He says so himself. He asserts that the Province is on the verge of direct taxation; that the services of the country have been administered in the past by the sale of our timber, which, he declares, is now all gone, and can no longer be a source of revenue. He has, therefore, nothing to fall back upon but direct taxation. But the present Government sees no danger of direct taxation. Including the revenue derived from timber, the Ontario Government has the permanent resources represented by the following items: They have $1,096,000 derived under the constitution from the Dominion Government; they have interest on our capital, our surplus, of $300,000 a year; they derive from licenses $280,000 to $300,000, law stamps $68,008, succession duties $165,000 last year, casual revenue $109,000, public institutions $166,000, Crown lands something near a million dollars. The whole totalling over three million dollars to meet an average annual expenditure of over three millions. They have all that sure revenue every year and there is no danger at all of anything like direct taxation within the next century with the same careful management we have had the past twenty-five years, which will be insured for another four years at least, by retaining the present Government in power. What does Mr. Whitney propose to do in case he comes in power, with a standing revenue of over three millions a year, to make direct taxation necessary? He must contemplate rushing into terrible extravagance. Mr. Whitney must either confess that he is talking rubbish in stating that we are as a province at the end of our resources, or he is deliberately attempting to deceive the people. We are not "at the end of our resources," nor "in danger of direct taxation," as Mr. Whitney knows, and in reiterating these statements he is guilty of attempting to deceive the people, and the man that bases his claims to the confidence of the people even on oratorical deceit, is unworthy of the trust he invites.

THE REFORESTING MEASURE.

The Toronto News is uncompromisingly hostile to the Ontario Government, but it has the fairness to say that "one measure foreshadowed in the speech from the throne that ought to receive the support of both parties in the Legislature is that for the reforesting of pine lands which have been denuded of timber and are unfit for agricultural purposes. If this work is undertaken with prudence and good judgment it will be of immense value to the Province, not only in ultimately producing another crop of pine, but from the standpoint of an irrigation policy. With the clearing of lands has come the drying up of the water courses, and with the growth of the forests the streams which water the arable lands of the Province will flow as was the case years ago, besides which the depth of water in the great lakes would be kept more uniform if the forests were of greater extent. An act of this kind, however, must be carefully drafted and wisely administered, or else it will result in a heavy expenditure for which there will be satisfactory return. The principle is right and the Government is to be commended for taking hold of the matter.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Opposition evidently intend to do a good deal of "log-rolling" during the present session.

Ben'n O'Beirne of the Stratford Beacon is congratulated on coming out on top in two vexatious libel suits.

The Toronto World wants the Jonahs of the Conservative party disposed of. Centre Toronto ought to be whale enough to fill the bill.

The Centre Toronto election has taken a good deal of wind out Mr. Whitney's sails. Mr. Howland was one of the windest orators on the Opposition side of the House.

The Mail and Empire said that Mr. Whitney made an inspiring speech in the Ontario Legislature. The reader is left free to speculate as to whether it inspired fear or courage, confidence or despair.

The Mail and Empire says the Provisible "wants the movement of logs to Michigan stopped at once." Why doesn't this organ "call off" the naughty Michigan lumber company of which Mr. Whitney is a member.

Mr. Whitney, leader of the Ontario Opposition, is the ideal statesman—self-sacrificing. Since the session opened his attitude has been one of self-denial—denying the reckless statements he made during last summer's missionary tour.

Another Quebec bye-election for the Commons will take place this month, that in Nicolet, where a bye-election has been necessitated through the death of the sitting member, Mr. Boisvert, Conservative, who had a majority of 136 at the general elections. The chances for the redemption of this riding by the Liberals, in view of the present trend of feeling in Quebec, ought to be remarkably good.

The Quebec public accounts dealing with the last year of the late Conservative Government have been brought down and show receipts exclusive of loans of $3,874,803 and the expenditure $6,634,944. In other words the Conservative Government ran the Province behind to the amount of $6,634,944. We shall see, when the public accounts come down what a contrast the balance sheet of Ontario will show.

At the Conservative convention on Wednesday night one of the speakers broadly insinuated that the Michigan timber companies were to provide "greenbacks" for the Liberal election fund. Won't it be funny? Mr. Whitney, leader of the Opposition, contributing to a "Grit" election fund. Mr. Whitney is a member of one of the Michigan timber companies that is said to be stealing Ontario sawlogs. For shame, Mr. Whitney!

The Conservatives are often led in their condemnation of the Ontario voters' list system to set up the Dominion lists as an example. On this point the Telegram says: "The Ontario voters' list system is the simplest and the best. The franchise act which now forces an election in Centre Toronto on lists four years old is the most complicated and the worst." Yah the Telegram forced a fight on its Conservative friends. If the Dominion Franchise Act contributed to the defeat of the Conservative candidate, it is a case of the chickens coming home to roost. The Conservatives invented and administered, defended and fought for a system that gives lists that are, to the greatest degree, unfair and incomplete. The Centre Toronto lists were prepared under the late Government by officials appointed by themselves, and the forced acknowledgment of their unfairness is all the more humiliating because it is self condemnation.

Are You Going to Dye?

Successful Dyeing Can Only be Done With Diamond Dyes.

Thousands dye this month. The vast majority make the work profitable and pleasant, while others are confronted with disappointment, despair and ruin.

The happy and successful dyers are those who always use the Diamond Dyes that produce the brightest, fastest and most lasting colours. The discontented and unhappy ones are the few that use the common and crude package and soap grease dyes, giving muddy and blotchy colours.

If you desire to make your costumes, dresses, capes, jackets, blouses, etc., look like new garments, buy some fashionable dark colour of the Diamond Dyes, and you will be astonished with the results. Now is the time to look out the mens' and boys' light coloured and faded clothing and make them ready for another season's wear. Fast Diamond Black, Seal Brown, Indigo or Navy Blue will give magnificent shades on all garments. Insist upon your dealer giving you the Diamond Dyes every time you buy; then, and only then, is success assured.

THE DIVINE IDEAL.

Sound Health an Essential in Reaching the Great Goal.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND BESTOWS THAT BLESSING.

Its Use Means Vigorous Manhood and Womanhood with Clear and Active Brain.

THE GREAT COMPOUND KEEPS THE BODY IN PERFECT CONDITION.

The illustrious German Philosopher Kant says:—"There is within every mind a divine ideal, the type after which he was created, the germs of a perfect person."

It is true that the nearer men and women approach the divine ideal the more earthly happiness will they enjoy. In order to march steadily onward to the great goal set before all, men and women must be physically sound. Purity of heart and grand elevation of mind will never accomplish the great victory if the body be sick or diseased.

Those who aspire to the true manhood and womanhood are the men and women who take the precaution to banish the very first symptoms of disease. That tired feeling you experience from day to day; that nervous headache you dread so much; that "can't sleep" condition that makes you weak and wretched; the pains in side and back indicating kidney disease; the sharp twinges of rheumatism and neuralgia that make life a misery; that constipated habit that is sending poison into your life blood—all these varied symptoms lead to disease and death unless they are banished.

Paine's Celery Compound puts the out-of-gear physical machinery in perfect working condition, and gives that greatest of all gifts—good health. This marvellous medicine is a food that perfectly nourishes the nerves, tissues and blood; it brings strength and vigour to the limbs, gives the rosy blush of health to the pallid face, and brings clearness and energy to the brain.

Paine's Celery Compound, as a medicine for the ordinary ills of every day life, is as far removed from the common pills, nervines, bitters and sarsaparillas as the diamond is from ordinary window glass. The people praise it, all honest druggists speak in its favour, and the ablest doctors prescribe it. If you are only half enjoying life, try what Paine's Celery will do for you.

GOOD NEWS FOR FREIGHTERS.

A Drop of Eight Cents a Hundred From Fort William to Montreal—Mr. Tarte's View.

Montreal, Dec. 4.—The C. P. R. has reduced its freight rates from 28 cents to 20 cents per 100 pounds from Fort William to Montreal, and at other points east on its system.

Mr. Tarte on Grain Movement.

Hon. Mr. Tarte writes from Ottawa to his paper here:

"The powerful steamer Amazon has just arrived at Buffalo with 205,000 bushels of wheat, which had been brought from Fort William. I need not tell you," adds the Minister of Public Works, "that this grain comes from Manitoba. If the Welland Canal was deepened, or if the Parry Sound Railway found at Montreal that accommodation which should have been prepared long ago, this Canadian grain would have been taken to the markets of Europe by the Canadian route." Prepare your port, says Mr. Tarte to the people of Montreal, so that the largest steamers may get there and load their cargoes cheaply, and you will be sure to have an immense traffic.

A QUEEN CITY INCIDENT.

How a Valuable Life Was Saved—A Story That is Becoming Quite Common Now—Common Sense Action Prevented Death.

Toronto, Nov. 22—A well-known retired real estate broker, J. McPherson, 440 King street west, this city, makes known another victory for Dodd's Kidney Pills, having received a new lease of life from their use. He states that he suffered greatly from the effects of a sluggish liver, and its long train of attendant miseries. For months he doctored, using one so-called remedy after another, but getting no relief. At length he turned to Dodd's Kidney Pills. One box cured him. That is the story—the invariable story where these health-giving pills are used. They never fail. They are the one unfailing conquerer of kidney and liver disease.

Regular action of the bowels is necessary to health. Laxa-Liver Pills are the best occasional cathartic for family or general use. Price 25c. Any druggist.

Forsyth's Faultless Catarrh Cure should be kept in every home; if used rightly would save a world of trouble.

A LONG LIST!

This whole Column would not Contain the Names of the many Prominent Ministers, Members of Parliament and Professional Men all over this Continent, who have been Cured of Catarrh by Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder—It Gives Relief in 10 Minutes.

Volumes of testimony have been written of its curative powers. Catarrh is an aggravating malady, insignificant in its beginning—a little cold in the head—neglect it and soon you're in its thrall. Eighty in every hundred have the taint. Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder will cure the slightest cold in the head, and cure the most stubborn case of catarrh. "Its action is instantaneous," says one. "I feel it my duty to recommend it to the public," says another. "Never got relief until I used it," says another. And so on and on. Acts like magic and always cures. Sold by H. Macdonald.

THE LEGISLATURE

A Short Session of the House Yesterday.

NOTICE OF NEW LEGISLATION.

Some of It Will Relate to Timber and Reforestry—A Bill to Knock Out the San Jose Scale—Departmental Stores to be Dealt With—Joint Stock Companies, Too.

Toronto, Dec. 4.—When the House met yesterday it was evident the members were anxious for a breathing space after the pitched battle of Thursday, when the Premier, in one of the best speeches ever delivered in the Legislature, exposed the direct taxation policy of the Opposition. Mr. Hardy's expose of the many misrepresentations by Mr. Whitney on the stump was considered masterly. Charge after charge was met and answered in the most decisive manner. For instance, Mr. Whitney stated there were five hundred road inspectors in one district when charging the Government with having too many employes. The untruth of the charge was made evident and laughable when the Premier informed the House there were but two hundred such civil servants in the whole province. It was so on throughout the speech. The Premier would read from The Mail Mr. Whitney's charge and in every instance produce evidence to refute it. Mr. Whitney began the debate with a great deal of bluster and assured the Government he intended having his say. He boastfully asserted the present session had been called in order that he and his followers might not have an opportunity of talking to the electors. He did not seem to relish it when Mr. Hardy remarked that now he was face to face with his opponents and had an opportunity to air his grievances. The Premier challenged him, dared him to make the same charges against the Government upon the floor of the House he had made upon the stump, reminding him that his false statements would be nailed promptly.

The whole House thoroughly enjoyed Mr. St. John's ridiculous position in which he was placed by his leader. Mr. Whitney referred to the "piggery," and amid the laughter of the chamber remarked he would leave this "important" question to be dealt with by the gentleman who had "discovered" the pigs. After the close of the session Thursday evening there were no congratulations upon the Conservative side, one and all feeling that the Opposition leader, who had begun the debate in a bombastic manner, had received a severe castigation at the hands of the leader of the Government.

It was a subject of general remark how much Mr. Marter seemed to enjoy the discomfiture of his successor. During the course of Mr. Hardy's telling speech, when most of the Opposition members appeared to be extending sympathy to their leader, Mr. Marter sat beside him with a beaming countenance and seemed to relish the fact that Mr. Whitney could cut no better figure as the chief opponent of the Government than he had done. As the Premier with crushing force unearthed the direct taxation policy of the Opposition Mr. Marter's smile seemed to broaden until at last when Mr. Whitney was shewn to have made ridiculous and childish misstatements he actually broke out into a joyful laugh. The Conservative ranks seem to be badly disorganised. The members appear to be at cross purposes as to whether or not they should make a bid for another and stronger leader. One prominent in the party remarked yesterday: "We are sure of defeat if we go to the country with Whitney at our head after the deplorable figure he cut in the House Thursday. Why, Hardy made a monkey of him, and yet it is a poor game to swap horses when crossing a stream. The truth is we are in a bad fix unless we could get some such man as Hon. G. W. Foster to lead us." There is trouble brewing in the camp, and Mr. Whitney may find himself, before the close of the session, in some such fix as Sir Mackenzie Bowell was left by the "bolters" at Ottawa.

The following notices of motion were given, after which the House adjourned until Monday:

The Attorney-General—A bill respecting jails and jailors; a bill relating to judgment summonses.

Mr. Gibson—Bill relating to timber and timber licenses; also bill relating to reforestry.

Mr. Dryden—Bill to prevent the spread of disease amongst fruit trees.

Mr. Harcourt—A bill relating to the business of druggists; a bill relating to extra-provincial insurance companies.

Mr. Davis—A bill respecting the Ontario Joint Stock Companies Act.

Mr. Middleton gave notice that he would on Tuesday next introduce a bill re departmental stores.

NO ROOM FOR DYSPEPSIA.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Prevent its Existence.

Humanity has been afflicted with Dyspepsia, Indigestion and other stomach diseases since the world began. But, until lately, there were no Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets to cure these complaints.

In years gone by, people had to suffer from Dyspepsia, etc. To-day there is no more need to do so than there is for a millionaire to starve with hunger. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cure dyspepsia as easily and almost as quickly as the millionaire's dollars buy his food.

There is nothing boastful in this assertion. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cannot help curing these diseases. They cannot possibly have any other effect, once they are taken into the stomach.

The ingredients of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets form the same digestive agent that a healthy vigourous stomach supplies. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digest the food, in short.

If all the food you eat is thoroughly digested you cannot possibly be afflicted by Dyspepsia, Indigestion, nor any other stomach disorder. That is plain. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets prevent any chance of these diseases returning after the tablets have once cured them.

The smaller tablets that go with each box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are the most perfect agent known for regulating the bowels.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets—each box containing a full double treatment, can be procured at all drug stores, or will be sent to any address, on receipt of the price, 50 cents a box, by the Dodd's Medicine Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Rheumatism & Dyspepsia Cured

571 ST. PATRICK STREET, OTTAWA, July 31st, 1896.

To the Phrenoline Medicine Company, Ltd., Ottawa, Ont.

GENTLEMEN,—On the advice of a friend I tried one bottle of your famous rheumatic remedy, Phrenoline, and to my surprise it cured me of rheumatism, from which I have suffered for many years.

It also cured me of dyspepsia, from which I was suffering at the time, so that I feel now like a new man.

I have tried several remedies for rheumatism, some of which did me a certain amount of good, but nothing that I have taken has done so much for me as your Phrenoline, and I have much pleasure in recommending it to other sufferers.

Yours very truly,

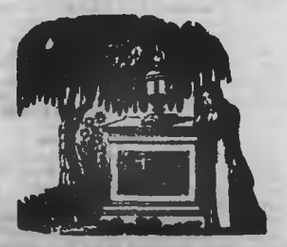
High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.



The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Thus, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

ILLICIT STILLS.

Three of the Informations Laid Against Michael Conway Withdrawn.

Acting under instructions from the Department of Inland Revenue, Mr. E. B. Edwards has withdrawn three of the four informations which were laid against Michael Conway of Smith, in regard to the portion of an illicit still which was found on the farm upon which he lived near Mud Lake.

It will be remembered that County Magistrate Edmison heard the evidence in the charge against Conway of allowing to be kept on premises controlled by him, a still or portion of a still without a license therefor. The case was dismissed, as the magistrate held that the prosecution did not prove that the premises were controlled by the defendant, it being shown that the farm was owned by his mother. This finding is now being appealed against and the case will come up at the Sessions on December 14th.

The other three informations were held in abeyance until a decision had been given in the appeal, but as Mr. O'Connell, for the defendant, took strong objection to successive enlargements being granted at great expense to his client, Magistrate Edmison notified the prosecution to be prepared to go on with the case without further postponement.

The three informations still hanging over the defendant's head charged him and Alphonse Fobert with (1) having in their possession on premises under their control a "worm" without a license; (2) that they did completely or partially set up a still without a license; (3) that they assisted in distilling spirits without a license.

As stated these three informations have now been withdrawn, as preferred against Mr. Conway.

REFORM COMMITTEE.

In Connection With the Canadian Wheelmen's Association to Correct Certain Alleged Abuses.

A meeting of of wheelmen was called last evening in the Victoria club rooms for the purpose of discussing a letter received from the Secretary of the Reform Committee, which has been formed to protest against alleged extravagance and mismanagement on the part of the officers of the Canadian Wheelmen's Association.

As the attendance was not very large, it was decided that the meeting be adjourned for a week or so. None of those present, however, were in favour of throwing in their lot with the "Reformers," who appear to be composed entirely of members of Toronto clubs, with whom the Peterborough wheelmen have nothing in common.

It was pointed out that if the local bicyclists identified themselves with these discontented members that it would mean the certain defeat of Peterborough if the town was a candidate for the big first of July Meet next year.

A lively discussion took place concerning the advisability of making another bid for the Meet and every known wheelman in town will be asked to attend a meeting which will be called in the near future to thrash this question out.

COASTING HAS BEGUN.

A Dangerous Practice Indulged in by the Small Boy.

With the advent of snow comes the boy and his hand sleigh. In fact they are inseparable. The ordidary citizen likes to see the snow, and has nothing against the small boy, but the combination strikes terror to the heart of a pedestrian on a narrow sidewalk on one of the hills.

A bicycle is a tame thing to meet on the sidewalk, compared to the small boy and his sled. The start given by the sudden passing of a bicycle from the rear is as nothing to the feeling experienced when a sleigh, gliding like lightning down a slippery hill, removes your props from beneath you and causes shooting stars to fill the air at high noon.

This has been the experience of quite a few citizens this year already, and unless the boys confine themselves to the roadways on the less frequented streets, the police will doubtless inaugurate a campaign against them.

The Frog Output.

It has not been a profitable year for some of those engaged in catching frogs and exporting them to the United States, and if the industry continues to decline, it will, in the near future, give employment to very few men in a large section of country. It has been reported to us that one catcher who has had many years' experience in the business, has not made more than $100 since he commenced searching the lakes and streams of the back country last spring. Very much labour is now required in catching a thousand frogs, whereas a few years ago the same number could be taken easily by a few men in a single night. Prices for the meat continue firm.—Campbellford Herald.

The Merry Mora at the Opera House.

Last night there was a fair audience at the Opera House to the delightful entertainment of the Mora Company. The entertainment throughout was of an unusually good character for a repertoire company, a far better bill being put on than by many high priced organizations. The title roll in the comedy-drama, Fire-Fly, was taken by Mora, who was in capital form, and gave a most sprightly and life-like representation of the character. She was excellently supported and the play altogether gave good satisfaction. The specialities were unusually good, and the projectoscope views were highly entertaining. Many were heard to say that they were almost ashamed to take such a big and good bill of enjoyment for so little money. The opera house should be packed to-night for the last appearance of the Mora Company. They are well worth seeing.

A HARD CASE COME TO TOWN

A PETRIFIED MAN TO BECOME A RESIDENT.

He Now Lies in Bond at the G. T. R. Station—A Perfectly Petrified Body of a Full Grown Man—An Unique and Interesting Subject.

On Monday, November 22nd, a huge packing case arrived at the Grand Trunk station, which weighed about five hundred pounds. It was labelled "The Petrified Man," and was addressed to Mr. Jas. McCreary, Principal of the West Ward School, being consigned to him by his brother-in-law, Mr. T. H. Graham, of Grand Forks, Dakota, a former resident of Peterborough.

The contents of the mysterious casket were a petrified man, the property of Mr. Graham. The keys to the casket did not arrive till this morning, when Mr. McCreary opened the box in the presence of the customs officials and many interested citizens.

The body is in a perfect state of petrifaction, with every appearance of genuineness. It was the body of a man of stalwart proportions, about six feet in height or rather length. When consigned to his last resting place, the head of the body was slightly turned to one side, and was petrified in that position. The left hand was folded across the chest in the orthodox position, but the right hand was extended along the right side. The lips, which were rather full, were slightly parted, and disclosed two front teeth which

WERE PERFECTLY PRESERVED.

The moustache was solidified and the remains showed that the man had died with a short beard and a rather thin head of hair. The fullness of the face and of the eyes, which distinctly showed the traces of the eyebrows and the robust frame, showed that the man had not died from a protracted illness, possibly having met death by violence, though only the face, chest and feet were taken from the wrappings, there was no means of observing if there were any marks of wounds. The hand with its knotted knuckles indicated that the owner had toiled hard with his hands, and the evidences of muscular development showed that he had lived an active life. Every part of this remarkable transmutation of flesh and blood into carbonate or silicate of lime presented evidence of its being a genuine petrification, if not, it is as remarkable as a triumph of imitative skill.

This petrified body, though its history did not accompany it, was found in Minnesota, west of Lake Superior, several years ago. The man, whoever or whatever he was, didn't realise the truth of the generally received fact that when a man dies his earthly troubles are at an end. Since his resurrection, in the stony state, he has been the subject of fierce and prolonged litigation. He was knocked about from court to court in a litigious attempt to decide his ownership, till at length, he fell into the hands of the sheriff, who disposed of him at auction, when Mr. Graham, who is a merchant at Grand Forks, who had got the as to the genuineness of the petrification, purchased the body and had it shipped to the care of Mr. McCreary, and the stone man will become, as far as known, a permanent resident of the town.

He was viewed with great interest by the customs officials, Mr. Rufus Stevenson, collector, Mr. McKay, of Hamilton, and Mr. Shaw, of Kingston, inspectors, who had great difficulty in deciding, if they have decided yet, whether the petrified body was dutiable or not.

The spectators did not seem to be impressed with the fact that they were in the presence of a corpse, but ventured all sorts of ludicrous suggestions and cracked more or less pertinent jokes at the expense of the stony defunct.

In reply to a question as to what was to be done with the remains, it was stated that for the present he would remain in Peterborough.

"Then he will, if he registers, have a vote at the next election?"

"No," answered a wag, "he will have no vote. The next election will be the provincial and that does not admit of dead men voting. If he had looked sharp he might have voted at the Centre Toronto election when the Dominion voters' list contained the names of nearly as many dead men as living."

Another wag questioned the alertness of the railway authorities in permitting a corpse to be carried on their trains without a certificate of death from the attending physician.

However, in spite of all these pleasantries, the petrified man is a stony fact, and a very interesting evidence of the freaks of nature in dealing with the mortal remains of her children.

WRIGHT—BEARD.

A Pretty Wedding in the Church of the Advent, Montreal.

The Montreal Herald publishes the following particulars concerning the wedding of Mr J. A. Wright, son of Mr. Stewart Wright of Stewart street, Ashburnham:

"There was an exceedingly pretty ceremony in the Church of the Advent, Westmount, yesterday afternoon.

"The occasion was the marriage of Mr. James Alexander Wright of Peterborough, and Miss Maude Baldwin Beard, daughter of the late George Beard of Toronto, afterwards of Montreal, and grand-daughter of the late Benjamin Lyman.

"A number of relatives and friends attended the ceremony, which was conducted by the Very Rev. Dean Carmichael, assisted by the rector, Rev. Mr. Kittson. The bride was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. A. B. Chaffee, and Miss Edythe Chaffee, her little five-year-old neice, acted as maid of honor. The groom was supported by his brother, the Rev. J. J. Wright of Lyn, Ont.

"After a brief reception at Mr. Chaffe's residence, Rosemount avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Wright left for a tour of the Eastern States."

Miss Eliza Wright, Ashburnham, sister of the groom, attended the wedding.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks From the Wheels—Cinders for the Eye.

Conductor Thos. Parsley, of Brockville, has been appointed G. T. R. yardmaster at Belleville.

The G. T. R. have received 500 new freight cars of 60,000 capacity from the Michigan Car Co., of Detroit. Canadian shops will fill an order for the same number.

The C. P. R. Co. are briskly advertising Yukon travel via their own steamers from Victoria. We understand the local ticket agent, Mr. T. E. Boddy, has received a supply of tickets.

Mr. Robt. Scott, G. T. R. freight agent at London, has accepted the position of assistant general freight agent of the Intercolonial R. R., with headquarters at St. John, N. B.

The Canadian Pacific Railway will at the beginning of the year institute a new method of making up trains over their entire system. Formerly, with the small freight cars used, about twenty loaded cars constituted a train, or what one engine could draw. The new freight cars at present coming out, however, are very much larger, having a maximum capacity of 60,000 pounds, so that it takes fewer cars to make up a train. The new system will be worked on a tonnage basis, a certain number of tons only going to a train.

BIG FOXES.

A Few Which Have Been Killed in This Neighbourhood.

The Campbellford Herald speaks of big foxes, one having been killed around there measuring four feet nine inches from tip to tip. Hunters around here can beat that. This fall Mr. Geo. Scrimger, of Lakefield, shot two foxes which measured four feet ten inches from tip to tip. He also saw another one which he states would have measured over five feet. He also shot a raccoon which weighed forty pounds.

Messrs. W. Scollard, W. Brooks and P. Young, of Young's Point, while out shooting last Monday succeeded in shooting a cross' fox, measuring five feet, eleven inches from tip to tip. We did not hear who fired the lucky shot or whether they all had a shot at it.

Washing Day.

The drudgery of housekeeping for the workingman's wife comes on washing day, when there is no washing machine or wringer in the house. It's killing on women who are raising a family, especially at this season of the year when blankets and other heavy articles of the home must be cleaned for winter. Washing and wringing makes more aching arms and tired bodies than anything else a woman can do. Husbands might be a little more thoughtful. In hundreds of cases they could buy a new washer and wringer every year for what it costs to pay for doctor's bills and servants for their tired-out wives, whose health has been run down over the washboard and washtub. Take a hint, you men, and make time to see the two kinds of labour-saving washing machines made by G. Walter Green at his pump factory on Dickson's race. If you can't make time, ring up telephone No. 92, or address box 362, and have him send one over to your house.

"SCOTLAND FOREVER."

The Thistles Win in the Y. M. C. A. Membership Contest.

The membership contest at the Y. M. C. A., which has been continued during the month of November, closed last evening at ten o'clock, the Thistles, which were led by Mr. James Connal, leading on a score of 118½ points; the Shamrocks stood 94½ and the Roses 40.

All the men put up a good fight and the actual number of dollars received through the contest does not either represent fully the work or results. Many have promised to come in as members on or before the first of the year. While many who did come in came in on the instalment plan and in the contest only the actual amount in dollars counted for points.

The fairer way would be to consider the number of members brought in which we give below:

Thistles	32
Shamrocks	23
	69

The contest was a quiet one—no campaign meetings were held as in the regular work of the association, time could not be found to do so.

The supper will be held later on. The Roses and Shamrocks are ready when the date is set to pay the penalty.

Mr. Evy Hall proved a good faithful leader, and deserved to win.

Mr. H. Conway, of the Roses, was much handicapped, having accepted the leadership when Mr. Froude left.

The Roses also lost several others by removal.

Result of a Test.

BELLEVILLE, 18th Nov., '97.

C. C. Lessens, Esq., People's Coal Co'y, City:

DEAR SIR.—Your letter enquiring how the test I made of your coal against Scranton coal, received from Mr. Stewart, resulted: Mr. Butterfield had one ton of each kind put in. I found your coal got up to heat much quicker and lasted one day and a half longer than the other. From the appearance of the coal I did not expect it to do so. I told Mr. Butterfield your coal is the most satisfactory.

Yours truly,
BENJ. SERVISS,
Janitor Butterfield Block.

EDUCATIONAL SUNDAY

Will be Observed To-morrow in the Local Methodist Churches.

To-morrow will be observed as Educational Sunday in the local Methodist churches.

Rev. Dr. Potts of Toronto, secretary of the Educational Committee, will preach in the Charlotte street church in the morning and in the George street church in the evening.

Special collections will be taken in aid of the Educational Fund. As Dr. Potts is one of the most eloquent speakers in the Methodist Church in Canada to-day very large congregations will doubtless attend both services.

A NEW ORGANIZATION.

The Y.M.C.A. Liuary and Debating Club.

Organization was completed last evening, when there was a large attendance. An animated debate took place on the constitution which was finally adopted.

The meetings will be held every Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

Mr. A. E Dixon was elected president, and Mr. Garnet Bell secretary. The other officers will be chosen at next week's meeting.

Judging from the way the young men are taking part the society has a successful and profitable season before it.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Alex Elliott was in Belleville on business yesterday.

Mr. John Biggott has been visiting friends in Stirling during the last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fleming, of Lindsay, are visiting friends in town for a few days.

Mr. J. R Stratton, M. P. P., is home for Sunday from his Legislative duties in Toronto.

The Rev. John Hay, M. A., B. D., of Cobourg, will preach at both services in St. Andrew's church to morrow.

Mrs. Wm. Scott, who removed to Lindsay last summer, is in town renewing old associations among her many friends.

Rev. H. R. O'Malley, curate of St. Paul's church, Lindsay, has gone to Montreal to accept the position of Assistant Minister of St. Jude's church.

Mr. F. J. Jameson is home from Brantford where he was attending a meeting of the High Court Executive of the Canadian Order of Foresters.

Rev. S. J. Shorey goes to Starling to-morrow to preach missionary sermons. He will attend a meeting of a conference committee in Port Hope Tuesday, returning to town on Wednesday.

Mr. A. A. McNee, of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal, who has been away on sick leave for the last several weeks, returned to town last evening looking much improved in health. He was at his home in Kingston.

Mr. Thos. Dunn will leave about the end of the month for Chicago, where he intends taking up residence. Mr. Dunn will be greatly missed in Peterborough musical circles, where he has charmed many audiences through the medium of his fine baritone voice, which has made his name familiar to the concert goers of all the larger cities in the province.

MARK STREET CHURCH NOTES

A seven-weeks' series of very successful evangelistic meetings closed last night with a reception service of new members. About seventy have sought salvation, and many more have been much blessed. Mr. Moore is an earnest, able Gospel preacher, and is doing good work in Ashburnham, as well as at his other appointments, Bethel and Salem.

Rev. Mr. Harrison, of Bridgenorth, and Mr. Moore exchange pulpits to-morrow.

Epworth League meetings will begin again on Monday evening.

Prayer meeting on Wednesday evening as formerly.

Everyone, young and old, will meet with a cordial welcome at the class meetings at 10 and after the morning service. Also at Sunday school every Sunday at 2.30.

ASHBURNHAM BREVITIES.

Council meeting Wednesday evening.

School board next Tuesday evening.

Mr. S. Henderson's brother, who has just returned from the Crow's Nest Pass, is visiting him.

Measles are still epidemic. Though not usually dangerous, they are unpleasant and inconvenient.

We regret that Mr. Wm. Wand is not improving.

An ordinary cough or cold may not be thought much of at the time, but neglect may mean in the end a consumptive's grave. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine will not cure Consumption when the lungs are riddled with cavities; but it will stop the cough, will cure Consumption in its early stages, and even in its last stages gives such relief as to be a perfect Godsend to those whose lives are nearing a close.

LADIES, ATTENTION!

The ladies are cordially invited to attend Mrs. Appleby's grand Christmas opening of choice and beautiful Christmas goods and novelties from 7 to 10 p.m. on Wednesday evening, Dec. 1st, and following days—426 Water street.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Football and Other Items of Local and General Interest.

THE RING.

The sporting editor of THE EXAMINER this morning received a challenge from Dan. Cane, of Montreal, who is anxious to go up against Buffalo Costello in a twenty round "go" on a bet of $200 a side. He states that if Costello will sign he will send in his forfeit money at once. Doubtless the match will be arranged.

Jas. White, of Detroit, is expected to arrive in town to-night to fulfil his engagement with J. J. O'Connor, for a punching bag contest to take place in the Opera House Monday evening on a bet of $30.00. The forfeit money is in the hands of the Lacrosse Club. The Smoker that evening promises to be largely attended.

Costello was out for an eight mile run this morning on the Lakefield road. He is getting into fine condition.

A prize fight took place on a side line a few days ago between two of our local aspirants. It was a fight for blood instead of money, and took place between an eighty-one toner and a feather weight. Following are the rounds as they took place:

Round 1.—Both men enter the ring in fine condition. Jimmy led with the left, and Barney dodged and received a right swing on the wind. Some fighting took place and the round closed with little or no damage done, except Barney being scratched between the moustache and the eyes.

Round 2.—Barney took the aggressive and led with his right, repeatedly delivering blows that if properly landed would not only have put his opponent asleep but would have placed him in the front ranks of heavyweight pugilists. Jimmy, being on the defensive, did considerable dancing around the big fellow, tapping him gently where and when he liked. It was plainly seen that Barney was outclassed in this round, and a terrific right-hander on the bread basket sent him to his corner in a very groggy condition. He remained there for some time, apparently meditating on the advisability of again facing the featherweight, and at the sound of the gong in the third round he staggered to his feet in a dazed and forlorn condition.

Round 3.—Jimmy was the first to get to work in this round and landed a heavy left hander on the jaw, followed closely by the right on the neck, sending the big fellow to grass, where he lay in a demented condition. Being unable to respond to the call for the fourth round the referee declared Jimmy the winner, and congratulated him on the success of his first appearance in the ring.

LACROSSE.

Mr. R. M. Roy is preparing the background for a photo of the members of the lacrosse club. The photograph is to be something quite novel, and will include portraits of a number of local enthusiasts and old players, as well as last year's team. The players are requested to see the secretary or treasurer and ascertain the arrangements which have been made.

CURLIANA.

A meeting of the Thistle curling club is called for Wednesday evening at the rink parlours, for the purpose of picking the skips and rinks for the season. A full attendance of all members is urged.

CHEESE FACTORY MEETINGS.

The Annual Meeting of Central Smith Cheese Factory.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Central Smith Dairy Co., was held in the Temple Hall, fourth line of Smith, on Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 1, 1897, A. Young, president, in the chair. The minutes of meetings of the company and of the directors were read and adopted, after which the treasurer's report for the year was read and adopted. This showed that the total income was about 25 per cent. greater than in 1896, this was owing principally to the favourable season for the production of milk and not to an increased patronage.

The company have dealt very generously with all who supplied milk to their factory the past season. Instead of declaring an increased dividend over former years, which they were in a position to do, they decided to reduce the same to 6 per cent. and return the balance to the patrons. This practically amounted to reducing the cost of manufacturing to one cent. per pound, whereas their contract with the patrons called for one and one fourth cents per pound cheese. The cheese made during the season, with the exception of two sales, was sold to Hodson Bros. of Montreal, who were represented on the Peterborough cheese board by Mr. G. W. Fitzgerald, our genial county councillor. Mr. Fitzgerald always took the cheese of the factory in his first selection. His inspections at the factory were always fair and agreeable to all concerned, in every case carrying out the contract made on day of sale, which speaks well for Mr. Fitzgerald and the firm he represents.

The directors elected for the ensuing year are C. D. Moore, T. D. Young, R. J. Edmison, R. Scott and A. Young.

The company have for the past three years paid for milk according to the Babcock test which has, with few exceptions, given entire satisfaction.

For the coming year they have decided to add 2 per cent. to the reading of the Tester; this, they believe, is nearer perfection than any other system now in use.

The change meets with general approval, judging from the expression given at the meeting.

The company are considering the advisability of putting a creamery plant in their cheese factory the coming fall. A committee of the following named stockholders was appointed to look into the matter and report at a later meeting,—T. D. Young, C. D. Moore, Wm. Graham, T. Young and M. Blewett.

There was also a committee appointed to make arrangements for a tea and platform meeting to be held some time during the coming winter. The committee hope to make arrangements with Prof. Dean, of Guelph Agricultural College, for their principal speaker.

Following is a statement of the factory's operations for 1897:

Factory opened May 3rd, closed Nov. 6 h, 1897.

Total number of patrons	98
Total pound milk received for season	1,138,804
Total number of standards	362 1-6

D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realizing that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

Montreal Live Stock.

Montreal, Dec. 3.—There were about 600 head of butchers' cattle, 10 calves and 600 sheep and lambs offered for sale at the East End abattoir to-day. The zero weather was not quite favorable for early marketing, besides the very large quantity of dead poultry which is being brought to the city is greatly diminishing the sales of butchers' meat. Prices of cattle continue about the same as in the early part of the week. A few choice beeves were sold at from 4¾c to 4¾c per lb., but they were about good enough for Christmas beef; comparatively few sales were made at over 3½c per lb., the bulk being at from 2¾c to 3¼c, and a few of the leaner beasts at less than 2c per lb. The calves were all small and sold at from $3 to $5 each. Shippers are paying from 3c to 3¼c per lb. for good large sheep. Lambs sell at from 4c to nearly 4½c per lb. J. Neall sold 100 good lambs from Glengarry county yesterday to Z. Zenecal at $4 each. Fat hogs sell at from 4½c to 4¾c per lb.

THE PRAGUE RIOTS.

Troops Poured Into the City in Response to Requests.

GERMANS AND THE JEWS SUFFER

The Kurram Column Continues to Advance in Spite of Fierce Resistance—A Severe Punishment at the Point of the Bayonet—Tribesmen Driven From Their Heights.

Prague, Dec. 4.—The city authorities, Bohemian, National and Students' Associations and the workmen's societies met yesterday and appointed a vigilance committee, after which they informed the Stadthalter that the object of the committee was to secure order and safety of life and property. They also requested the Stadthalter to withdraw the troops, but he refused to do this, declaring he was responsible for the maintenance of order. The Stadthalter, however, invited the deputation from the vigilance committee to request the committee to use its influence to prevent further disturbances.

Some of the persons arrested at Smichow will be court martialed for having received the proclamation declaring the city under martial law with jeers and groans. The military patrol fired upon a body of rioters who were trying to demolish a Jewish synagogue at Smichow. Nobody was hit, and the mob fled in confusion.

Yesterday 18 persons were wounded, including two soldiers. The ambulance association issued a report, showing that within 24 hours four persons have been killed, 50 dangerously wounded, and 500 more or less injured. Twenty shops have been burned out. As a further indication of the gravity of the situation, troops to the number of 10,000, equipped with ammunition and other paraphernalia as for a campaign, have been engaged in suppressing the riots.

It is not exactly martial law that has been proclaimed, but rather the institution of summary civil procedure called standrecht, whereby a special tribunal of seven judges is empowered to impose capital and other severe sentences for offences ordinarily punished mildly. There is no appeal against a death sentence by the tribunal, which must be put into execution within two hours by the military if the hangman is not available.

The intimate knowledge the mob has displayed of the exact position of all the wealthiest German houses and of valuable German property shows that the riots were organized in advance. The young Czechs have paraded the streets wearing jewellery plundered from jewellers' shops, and comparatively few German houses have escaped attack.

The riots have aroused intense feeling throughout all Austria and Hungary.

THE KURRAM COLUMN

Continues to Advance in Face of Fierce and Determined Resistance—How Tribesmen Were Punished.

Simla, Dec. 4.—Further despatches from the front say that the Kurram Column of the punitive force of British troops, which met with fierce resistance on its march into the Chamkanni country, where 30 villages of the insurgent tribesmen were burned, has continued its advance and inflicted heavy punishment on the Chamkannis, who held an almost inaccessible position on the heights, which was stormed in fine style by the Gurkhas, who captured the position at the point of the bayonet.

Many of the tribesmen were killed, and the latter left the bodies of 30 of the dead behind them. Of the British force, Major Vansittart and two men were wounded and two privates were killed.

The Maharajah Sir Pratabe Singh was shot in the hand during the night-firing of the enemy at the headquarters camp on Sunday night, but he said nothing about it until questioned respecting the bandage around his hand. The incident is said to be typical of the spirit of the Indian princes.

DEADLOCK MAY BE RENEWED.

Striking Engineers and Employers Still Unable to Settle Differences.

London, Dec. 4.—It is reported that the delegates of the striking engineers who have been conferring with the representatives of the employers have been unable to accept the proposals of the latter, and have decided to leave the conference and submit all the points in dispute to the unions. The conference adjourned until Dec. 14.

The employers decline to recede from their position respecting freedom in the management of their business without the interference of the union, and emphatically pronounced against a reduction in the hours of labor on the ground that such a reduction would mean a diminished output and inability to meet foreign competition. The general impression is that the foregoing means a renewal of the deadlock.

DIZZY AND WEAK.

Sinking Sensations. Strong Evidence from Belleville that there is a Cure.

Mrs. Jas. A. Rose, Geddes St., Belleville, Ont., says, "To me life has been made a misery for the last six or seven years because of heart trouble and nervousness, from which I have suffered all this time.

"My heart throbbed, and seemed to rise into my throat, causing a sensation of suffocation. At times I had to walk the floor, and often then would have a sensation of falling down from a high place such as falling down stairs.

"This would befollowed by dizziness, my eyesight would become blurred and dim, so that many a time I knew not what to do. Gradually I grew weak, my blood became poor, and my entire system run down. My nerves were so unstrung that I could not sleep.

"All the medicine I used and all the doctoring I did was without effect, when providentially I heard of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and started using them. The results were so wonderful that I cannot refrain from speaking about them.

"I got stronger from the first dose, and am now like another person. The action of my heart is all right, my blood is enriched, and my whole system toned up to its normal condition of strength and vigor.

"To my mind there is no medicine in the world so good as Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for all who suffer as I did." 219

EXPLODING GLASSWARE.

Why Modern Glassware Explodes of Its Own Accord

The thin glass tumblers which have recently been put on the American market in such enormous quantities have surprised many a housekeeper by cracking suddenly while standing on the shelves. It has needed ocular demonstration, says Cassier's Magazine, to convince some housekeepers that tumblers could behave in this manner. When one of these tumblers is found cracked, the first thought is that a careless servant must be in fault. Hot water or rough handling was always the cause of the breakage of the old-fashioned flint glass goblets. The difference between the old and the new kinds of tumblers seems to be in the haste with which the latter is prepared, thus necessitating a very short stay in the annealing furnace. The molecules of the glass in this case have no chance to arrange themselves in lines of least strain, so that every new-fashioned tumbler is filled with torsion stresses tending to fracture its substance with any slight external aid—as, for example, the cool air from an open window striking the proximate sides of the tumblers set on a dining-room table. Of course, the advantage of using the new kind of tumblers is that their cost is only one-fifth or one-sixth of the old kind. Looking at the matter more broadly, the tendency of the new glasses to spontaneous fracture is only another illustration of crystalline degeneration. Herbert Spencer, in perhaps the most fascinating chapter on evolution which he has ever written points out that all substances which have been rendered colloid by the application of heat sooner or later radiate this heat, which has been acting as a cement between the molecules, and become crystalline. Mr. Spencer gives as illustrations of this process the igneous rocks in their various stages, from molten lava to granite, and jam, which becomes gritty when kept too long, owing to the crystalization of the contained sugar.

ANOTHER VICTORY WON.

Kingardine was the Scene of the Contest—The Victory was thorough and Complete—An Interested Person Tells of it.

KINCARDINE, Ont., Nov. 29th.—The case of Mr. Herb Brown, a finisher in Watson & Malcolm's furniture factory here, is the talk of the town at present. Mr. Brown was a continual sufferer from kidney disease. The urinary system became involved, and his condition grew very serious. That great benefactor, Dodd's Kidney Pills, conquered the disease and made a new man of the victim. Mr. Brown cannot say enough in praise of the remedy which has done so much for him. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the great favourite in this district, where many remarkable cures have been made by them. They have not failed in a single case.

Comfort and Grace Combined.

The new dress skirts are in every way commendable for comfort and grace as well. The linings, which to be really up to date must match the outside, are made with a knife-plaited frill set in on the edge entirely without stiffening, and quite separate from the dress skirt except at the waistband. Skirts are scant in comparison with those we have been wearing, but they are cut in such a way as to give them the pretty, becoming flare around the feet.

Tomato for Cyclists.

A correspondent states that one of the finest remedies for cyclists, and one that is little known, is the tomato. No matter how tired and exhausted the rider may feel, if only a small piece of tomato is eaten it acts like magic, taking all the depressed feeling away, and making one feel quite fresh. Cyclists who are traveling a long distance should try this.

ONE HONEST MAN.

Dear Editor.—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, lame weakness, night losses and weak stomach parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank Heaven I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy. Address with stamp, WM. T. MULFORD, Agents' Supplies, P.O. Box 91, St. Henri, Que.

FRUIT NOTES.

Hints for Work During the Days Before Dreary Winter.

A dressing of coarse manure makes a good mulch.

Shiftless fruit culture cuts down the profits.

Pack apples so that they will not shake about in the barrel.

No farm house is complete without a good orchard and small fruit plot.

Keep down the weeds and suckers among the raspberry plants.

It is always a good plan to mulch newly set trees.

Plow the garden thoroughly as soon as the crops are harvested.

Moss on the trunks of trees is an evidence of unthriftiness.

One-fourth of an acre in small fruits will supply an average family.

The care given fruit plants this year practically determines the crop next year.

Low-headed trees will nearly always bear somewhat sooner than big-headed ones.

Prune weak growth in winter and strong growth in summer.

The head of a tree needs to be fairly open to admit the sun and air for full perfection of fruit.

Train the growing trees so that only dead and injured limbs will need removing later on.

Stimulate the strong raspberry cane by removing the weak ones and cut all surplus growth away.

Thorough tillage, manure and care are all important to the orchard. Give it as much attention as a crop of corn or potatoes.

If the eggs of a tent caterpillar can be cut off the twigs, burn them, and thus make sure of the destruction of the eggs.

Feeble growing and unhealthy trees are usually the result of starvation, bad soil or unfavorable conditions of growth.

When a tree is healthy, the top is luxuriant, but when it is weak or old the top dies or makes little growth, and small shoots sprout all over the trunk.

The orchard should not be cultivated at this season, nor should manure be applied until after the leaves have fallen.

So far as is possible the soil for strawberries should be rich and as free from weed seeds as possible. Wood ashes and bone dust make good fertilizers.

It is impossible for fruit to be perfect and well colored unless the tree—body, branches and leaves—as well as the ground under it, is fully exposed to sunlight.

How to Wean a Calf.

To give an easy mode of weaning a calf. There is no difficulty when the calf is young. Sometimes we allow such a calf to draw the milk from the cow once or twice, but more often not at all. Take the warm milk fresh from the cow and give the calf your submerged finger to suck. Do not be in a hurry; the young one will not perish if it does not drink for six hours after birth. Generally the calf will smell and taste the milk and suck the finger. Withdraw the hand gradually, and after two or three times it will drink without the finger. It requires a good stock of patience, because, generally, the calf objects to put down its head, while nature intended it should hold its head up to get at the teat.

The older the calf is when weaned—that is, if it has drawn its rations from the dam direct, the harder it will be to wean, unless old enough to eat grass or hay. Such a calf should be allowed to fast half a day; then it should be given a thimbleful of the salt, when it will drink the more readily. Follow up the hints given above, and above all in each case separate dam and calf and let them not come together. For a calf a month or six weeks old it is difficult to teach it to drink, but it can be done. In such case have also a box placed so high that the calf cannot tread into it, and in this box keep a handful or two of bran; put grass into the mouth of the young thing and it will learn to chew it, get thirsty and then drink. Handle the animal as frequently as possible and teach it that you are not an enemy but a friend.

Making Cabbages Head.

Every year at this time the grower of cabbages finds his crop deficient in growth, and unless stimulated by extra fertilizing not likely to make a marketable head. Now a cabbage that does not head is merely a bunch of loose leaves that cannot be sold at all. It does not matter what the cause of failure may be. Possibly the plant was originally a weakling, and with ordinary care and rich soil could not amount to anything. Or it may be that lack of cultivation or natural poverty of the soil is the cause of failure to head. Either way the duty of the cabbage grower is plain. He should thoroughly cultivate the soil around the cabage, and then apply a weak solution of nitrogeneous and mineral plant food, the latter in the form of phosphate. If this is done at once the cabbages will start into growth so quickly and so strongly that, before the growing season closes, the grower will probably be obliged to partially uproot his cabbages to prevent them from splitting open with the excess of plant food with which they are furnished. It is almost the only instance for which we can recommend liquid manures as paying their cost. In most other cases it pays better to apply the fertilizer early, and let nature supply the necessary water in melting snows and rains.

Solids in Milk.

Many people are surprised to learn that milk which is liquid has a larger proportion of solid contents than have many articles of food. Milk averages 35 per cent. of solid matter, of which a considerable part is albumen. It is this which coagulates with heat, and still more when rennet is used. Potatoes are 80 per cent. moisture, though when the potato is cooked the starch in it expands, making it seem much more heartier food than it is. The solid of the potato is mainly starch. That of milk is divided between caseine, butter fats and sugar, the last of which is found in whey, which, even though it be soured, shows by that fact that it has had some sugar in it.

The proper way to build health is to make the blood rich and pure by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the one true blood purifier.

For cold in the head use Forsyth's Faultless Catarrh Cure.

Cancer Can Be Cured.

Cancer is the severest known form of blood disease. Burdock Blood Bitters is the most powerful medicine known. It cures cancer and all skin diseases. Proof: "My husband had two cancers taken off his face, and another was coming on his lip. He took two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters and it disappeared. I know this medicine is an excellent blood purifier." Mrs. Wm. Kraby, Akron, Erie Co., New York.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn., says: "Shiloh's Vitalizer saved my life. I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For Dyspepsia Liver and Kidney trouble it excels. Price 75 cts.

Hagyard's Yellow Oil cures all pain in man or beast; for sprains, cuts, bruises, callous lumps, swellings, inflammation rheumatism and neuralgia it is a specific.

Source of Heat in the Body.

An important source of heat in the body is due to the friction of the blood as it circulates in its vessels. All of this resistance, which is overcome by the heart, is transformed directly into heat. We may calculate the amount approximately. It is supposed that .6193 kilogram meters of blood is expelled from the left ventricle at each stroke, and at 75 strokes a minute this would give 44.3124 kilogram meters per minute. If we suppose that the right heart does one-quarter the work of the left, or about 10 kilogram meters per minute, we have for the total work per minute 54.312 kilogram meters, which corresponds to 128 calories per minute.

This is perhaps a rather high estimate for ordinary conditions, but where the heart is forced to pump a much larger quantity of blood in order to maintain the normal temperature this estimate is probably much exceeded at times. Since this friction takes place largely in the most constricted portions of the circulation, it would be natural to expect that the blood which had been driven through the capillary system of a gland would issue much warmer than it entered, and such we find to be the case. Thus the blood of the hepatic vein has been observed to be 40.7°, while that in the right heart was 37.7. In the muscles no contraction can take place without an increased flow of blood through them, with a simultaneous constriction of the capillaries, which would naturally give arise to a considerable production of heat, a fact constantly observed.—Sanitarian.

FROM A LEADING CHATHAM MANUFACTURER.

Maple City Cooperage. R. T. Phillips, Prop.

Chatham, October 18, 1897.

DEAR SIRS,—Some time ago I was treated by one of our best city doctors for continued bleeding at the nose and the treatment I was subjected to weakened my stomach so that nothing I could eat would agree with me and I could retain nothing but bread and milk, which was my chief diet.

I tried a bottle of your Sloan's Indian Tonic and at once began to improve and it has made a permanent cure in my case. I can now partake of any food, no matter how strong, and experience no distress after eating.

I have recommended it to several people and in every case it has given grand results, and a bottle of it should be in every household.

Yours very truly, R. T. PHILLIPS.

INDIGESTION PERMANENTLY CURED.

I did so and have used four bottles. It has made a great change in my life and I can now rest and sleep with ease and comfort. I believe Sloan's Indian Tonic is the best medicine in the world.

OUT IN KLONDIKE.

He had just returned from the top of the Chilkoot Pass and was apparently glad of it, says the Washington Star.

"How was the weather when you left?" inquired a friend. "Cold?"

"Yes, but not so cold as it will be along in January, after the mosquitoes get out of the air and let the wind have a chance. Then it gets good and cold. A man told me who had wintered up there seven years that it was so cold in January that they froze the flames of their candles and sold them for strawberries. He said they kept their fires over night by putting them out in the air and letting them freeze and then thawed them out in the morning. He said he had seen four men die of colic from eating whisky that was frozen so hard it wouldn't thaw inside of them. He said the cows gave ice cream till they froze to death. He said he knew a clerk in an hotel on the Yukon that got rich selling the diamonds he wore, said diamonds being nothing on earth but ice crystals that didn't thaw till after the clerk had got out of the country. He said he had seen a man fall off the roof of a barn and freeze so stiff before he lit that he broke in two when he hit the ground. He said he had seen smoke freeze in a chimney till the fire wouldn't draw, and he knew of one case where the smoke froze after it got a hundred feet up and fell back on the house, knocking a hole in the roof big enough to drive a yoke of steers through. He said the reason the nights were so long in that country was that the dark got frozen so hard the daylight couldn't thaw its way through in less than six months. He said—"

"Excuse me," interrupted the friend, "did this party have affidavits with these statements?"

"He said he had, but I guess he must have frozen to death hunting for them, because he never came back when I asked him to go after them for me," and the returned Chilkooter smiled a smile that was childlike and bland.

A Personal Item.

Mrs. Wm. Hambly, Belleville, Ont., says: "My husband was troubled with kidney complaint, rheumatism, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, etc., and could not get relief until I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills for him. He has now used four boxes in all and is perfectly cured."

Doan's Kidney Pills are the ones that cure. Remember the name, DOAN'S.

A Fair Trial.

GENERAL PANDO ALIVE.

Report of His Death Said to Be an Insurance Fake.

Madrid, Dec. 4.—The Government has received an official despatch from Havana which states that General Pando, who was placed in charge of the military operations in the island by Captain-General Blanco, reached Ciego de Avila, on the Moron-Jucaro trocha, on Tuesday, after an engagement with the insurgents, in which the latter lost 19 killed and the Spaniards 15. This despatch allays the fears that had arisen from the report that General Pando had been killed.

Dauntless Back for Another Cargo.

Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 4.—The filibustering steamer Dauntless arrived in port last night, after having successfully landed another expedition in Cuba. The Dauntless is reported to have landed a cargo, including a 16-pound Hoohkiss gun. A large quantity of quinine was also landed for the insurgents.

FIELD GUNS FOR CHINA.

Germany Evidently Does Not Intend to be Caught Napping.

Berlin, Dec. 4.—The naval department has sent instructions to Kiel to despatch 200 artillerymen with field guns and 1000 marines to China.

As Viewed in Russia.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 4.—Great reticence is observed in official circles here regarding the political situation in the far East, but the opinion prevails that Germany will not occupy Kiao Chou Bay, on the Shan-Ting Peninsula, permanently. The Russian newspapers protest against the occupation of Kiao Chou Bay as being calculated to injure the interests of Russians in the far East, and they declare the Russian Government ought to demand its evacuation, or else obtain an equivalent.

HE HAS RESIGNED.

Lieut.-Governor Mackintosh Retires on the 31st December Next—The Volunteer Long Service Medal.

Ottawa, Dec. 4.—Lieutenant-Governor Mackintosh's resignation, to take effect from Dec. 31 next, has been received.

Hon. W.S. Fielding will be given a grand reception in Halifax on Monday.

Mr. Campbell, manager of the Beaver Line, has notified the Department of Trade and Commerce that the Gallia, which sails from St. John next week, will carry about 300 tons of Canadian poultry for the Christmas markets in the Old Country.

The seat for Quebec Centre will be vacant within a week, and the appointment of Hon. Francois Langelier "to an office of emolument under the Crown" will be announced. The Liberal candidate will be Mr. Albert Mallouin, son of Mr. Jean Mallouin, who represented the constituency from 1873 to 1882.

Dr. Borden who sails from New York for the Old Country next week, will ask the War Office to issue long service medals to Canadian militia officers who have served twenty-five years. Recently a hint was given that a personal interview between the Canadian Minister and the Secretary of State for War might result in the medals being granted. Dr. Borden fully realized that now is the time for Canada to claim a boon, and that Lord Lansdowne being at the head of the War Office makes the granting thereof pretty certain. Volunteer officers in the Old Country get such a medal.

Commissioners Noxon, Fraser and Lafontain, who were appointed to enquire into the St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary, will meet here to-day, and take the evidence of ex-Inspector Moylan.

Hon. Mr. Mulock has decided to remove the restriction which at present prevents the user of a post card from utilizing the front of a post card by having anything written or printed on except the address of the person for whom it is intended. Mr. Mulock's intention is to permit pictures, views, designs or other advertising matter to be printed on the face of the card, so long as sufficient clear space is left to allow of the address being written or printed, so that it can be easily read in the office where it is posted.

Lacrosse Conspiracy Case Dismissed.

Ottawa, Dec. 4.—The case against J. C. Shea, Joseph Troy and F. Bissonnette for conspiracy, at the assizes here to-day as a result of the Capital-Toronto lacrosse match, was thrown out by the judge. It was not permitted to go to the jury. The only new evidence in the case was that given by J. P. Dunne, secretary of the Capital Lacrosse Club. He showed that players got no stated salaries, but that they usually received about $100 as a bonus at the end of the year.

The judge said that while there might be suspicions as to the betting and the match, yet there was nothing to show conspiracy, and would not let the case go to the jury, and the case was wiped off the record.

Strain is Very Great.

It is generally held by Alpine climbers, says The British Medical Journal, in speaking of age and cycling, that most of the fatal accidents in mountain climbing occur through the failure at the critical moment of some man who has taken to mountaineering too late in life, and who is, perhaps, also out of condition. An old dog cannot be taught tricks, according to the proverb, and, though it is disagreeable to have to realise that we have passed the age when we can excel in a new pastime requiring special skill to avoid accident, and youthful adaptibility and elasticity to avoid overstrain, it is the part of wisdom to accept the inevitable. There is no reason why middle-aged men, and even those who have passed middle-age, should not take to cycling, but it should be with a frank recognition of the limitations which age imposes. Great strain, long distances, and hill climbing put a strain upon the constitution and will find out the weak places, the parts of the system which are going faster perhaps than the rest—the heart, it may be, or the vessels of the brain. So, also, in regard to riding a bicycle in crowded thoroughfares, the strain on the attention is considerable, the risk not small if a man has lost the quickness of youth.

A TERRIBLE ECZEMA

Her Face Covered with Scales. Could Not Leave Home. Had to Sacrifice Hair.

Tried CUTICURA REMEDIES. Improvement in Three Weeks. Six Weeks Complete Cure.

Four years ago Eczema made its appearance on my head in its worst form. I was attended by two physicians, but notwithstanding their treatment it continued spreading, until my face was covered with scales and became a horrid, loathsome sight. For three months I did not leave the house. I had a fine head of hair, seven years' growth, and had to sacrifice it. I was in despair. The physicians had failed even to relieve me, when one of them recommended CUTICURA SOAP. I used three boxes of CUTICURA (ointment), one half dozen cakes of CUTICURA SOAP, and one bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, and in three weeks from the time I began, the scales had left my face and the skin lost its florid hue. In six weeks I was entirely cured. My face was smooth and my complexion clearer than it had ever been before. GAUDAUR'S CHAMPIONSHIP.

Englishman's Challenge Not Likely to be Accepted, Although He Has a $50 Forfeit Up.

Orillia, Dec. 4.—The following letter, addressed to Jake Gaudaur, was received here yesterday afternoon. It is important, inasmuch as it contains the only genuine challenge for the world's championship received by the champion since defeating Stanbury on the Thames on Sept. 7, 1896: "Office of The Sportsman, London, Eng., "Nov. 19, 1897.

"To J. G. Gaudaur, Esq., Orillia, Ont.:

"Dear Sir,—James Wray has formally challenged you through the columns of The Sportsman to row him for £200 a side, The Sportsman Cup and the championship of the world, and has deposited with me £50 towards his stake. May I hope for the favor of a prompt reply in accordance with the cup conditions? Yours truly, Editor Sportsman."

The challenge, of course, may, therefore, be considered as genuine. The letter has been forwarded to Mr. Gaudaur at Rat Portage, and his answer will be known in a few days.

It is believed that he will not accept a challenge for £200 and the world's championship. It is doubtful if he would journey to England in any case for so small a stake, unless he received say £50 expense money. His position in the matter has been distinctly stated before; he will give expenses and row in America or take expenses if the race is in England. Of course, if the stake is large enough, say at least $600 or $800, he would likely waive this condition. Wray's challenge is generally considered a most unsatisfactory one in other respects as well.

Scott's Emulsion makes the blood richer and improves the circulation. It increases the digestion and nourishes the body. It corrects diseased action and strengthens the nervous system. In a word, it places the body in the best possible condition for preventing the germs of Consumption from beginning or continuing their work. In that one sentence is the whole secret. Book covering the subject very thoroughly sent free for the asking.

THE PRIZE TEA AND FREE GIFTS AT THE PEOPLE'S GROCERY. A DECIDED SUCCESS.

Would you believe it, such lovely Tea for 20 cents a pound, and a hand-some Present with every pound. I saw a large beautiful white and gold China Teapot given with 1 lb. of this Tea, to an old bachelor. Just think of that! While another young lady carried off in triumph a fine large blue and white Teapot worth more money than was paid for the pound of Tea. Why there was a regular rush to the tables to secure the prizes; gifts for nothing, you and a whole lot to choose from. Another says: "Oh my, why are you giving away your goods for nothing! Well I want to sell a lot of goods. I want to advertise my business and work up a good trade. Stop now there! I see crowds of people in your store. Why last Saturday you must have done a rushing trade." Well so we did, and we heartily thank you for your kind patronage and favours, and I promise to do my best to deserve it. If so your advertisement in the Daily EXAMINER, with a grand list of Christmas free gifts for nothing. Just give me a pound of that tea, and I will take a set of those nice China Dishes for my little girl, it will make her so happy. Good Bye." This is what people are saying and doing. A STRONG ADDRESS

Great Speech by Hon. G.W. Ross on Preferential Trade.

TRADE FOLLOWS BRITAIN'S FLAG

Dangers Attendant Upon Reciprocity With the United States Strikingly Set Forth—"There Should be No Haste in the Efforts to Negotiate a Reciprocity Treaty."

Toronto, Dec. 6.—A most successful and enthusiastic open meeting of the British Empire League was held on Saturday evening in St. George's Hall. The feature of the gathering was an address upon the present aspect of the trade policy of Canada and the empire, which was delivered by Hon. Geo. W. Ross, Minister of Education for Ontario. The audience steadily punctuated Hon. Mr. Ross' speech with applause, while at times he was fairly interrupted by the audience's manifestations of sympathy and pleasure. After his preface Mr. Ross spoke, in part, as follows:

For many years our attention has been divided between the markets of two countries—the United States and Great Britain. To say the least of it, the markets of the United States have been fluctuating and unsatisfactory. Every commercial crisis in the American Republic reacted with tremendous force upon the trade of Canada, and, still worse, the periodical changes of American tariffs rendered the investment of capital and the establishment of commercial intercourse very uncertain. During this jubilee year we have, however, turned our attention more earnestly than ever before towards the markets of Great Britain. To my mind this circumstance will hereafter be just as notable in the history of Canada commercially as the evolution of a more generous loyalty to Britain will be politically.

Let me give you a few reasons: Great Britain imported in 1896 for home consumption $790,000,000 worth of food products, all of which, with the exception of tea and fruit and some minor articles amounting to $100,000,000, can be produced in Canada. For instance, in 1896 she imported 180,000,000 bushels of wheat, of which Canada supplied only 10,000,000; she imported 12,000,000 barrels of flour, of which Canada supplied only 90,000 barrels; she imported 5,500,000 bushels of peas, of which Canada supplied only 1,400,000 bushels; she imported 58,000,000 bushels of oats, of which Canada supplied only 500,000 bushels; she imported 52,500,000 bushels of barley, of which Canada supplied only 47,000 bushels; she imported 510,000,000 pounds of bacon, of which Canada supplied only 47,000,000 pounds; she imported 168,500,000 pounds of ham, of which Canada supplied only 6,500,000 pounds; she imported 324,000,000 pounds of mutton, of which Canada supplied only 4000 pounds; she imported 6,000,000 bushels of apples, of which Canada supplied only 1,500,000 bushels; she imported 251,000,000 pounds of cheese, of which Canada supplied only 164,000,000 pounds; she imported 340,000,000 pounds of butter, of which Canada supplied only 5,000,000 pounds. The whole export of foodstuffs of every description from Canada to Great Britain last year amounted to about $48,000,000, or less than 7 per cent. of the food products imported by Great Britain for home consumption.

And this brings me to consider what should be done to obtain a larger recognition in the British market so far as we are concerned, and also what might be done by Great Britain to give to Canada and to the other colonies any preference over foreign nations consistent with the interests of the Empire.

In order to make my position clear, it might be worth while to give in detail a few of the considerations which might very properly influence Great Britain to give the products of Canada and of her other colonies a preference over the products of foreign nations. (1) The commercial advantages to the colonies with such a preference would greatly strengthen and increase their attachment to the Empire. Commercial interchange means much more than simply buying and selling; it carries with it social and business relations and leads to a better knowledge of the political institutions of the countries concerned in such commerce. Nothing would conduce more to a permanent union of her colonies than a better understanding in Great Britain of Canadian sentiment and feeling, and no better way could be found of increasing an acquaintance than by increasing trade.

(2) The greatness of England depends upon the maintenance of her colonies. Every British statesman of any note, nowadays at least, admits that her position among the other nations of the world would be seriously affected by the loss of any one of her important colonies. In order to the maintenance of that pre-eminence, any measure not detrimental to her interests, apart from the colonies, is worthy of her most serious consideration.

(3) Her naval supremacy depends to a certain extent on the numerous coaling stations and harbors of refuge which she possesses under her own flag the world over. Anyone who studies the great highways of commerce with a map of the world before him can see how the loss of Gibraltar, or Malta, or Hong Kong, or Halifax would seriously cripple England in maintaining her naval supremacy.

(4) Such a preference for the colonies would greatly stimulate the interests of the residents of the British Islands in colonial affairs, and would lead, I am confident, to a more speedy settlement of the wild lands of the various colonies and the development of their resources. From this there would be many advantages: (a) the congested settlements of the Mother Country would be relieved, and, to that extent, the burdens of maintaining a dependent population would be greatly diminished; (b) the increased population of the colonies would give a larger market to the products of the British manufacturers, and (c) the increased products of the colonies would add to the value of British commerce and increase the freights of British vessels.

(5) To be secure against danger in time of war, it is important to the Empire that her food supply should be produced under her own flag. The development of the colonies, and particularly the development of Canada, with our vast wheat areas in the Northwest, would furnish a very considerable portion, if not all, of that food supply.

It may be said that under no circumstances can we look forward to such a change in the free trade policy of Great Britain as would warrant us in hoping that her laboring classes would submit to the taxation of their food in any sense or form for the benefit of the colonies. On that point I am not so sure. The reasons I have already stated would go a considerable distance to satisfy the laboring classes of Great Britain that a trifling increase, putting it at the very worst, of the cost of their food supplies, had some compensating advantages. I have misread very completely the remarks of several leaders of public opinion if I am wrong in believing that the manufacturers of England are not fully satisfied with the admission of the products of other countries into the British market, whilst their products are shut out of the markets of such countries by tariffs almost prohibitory. A zollverein between the colonies and the Empire, as was suggested by Mr. Chamberlain, Colonial Secretary, would mean for some years at least a tax on many articles now admitted to the British market free. In his speech before the third Congress of the Chambers of Commerce on June 9, 1896, he said, speaking of a zollverein:

"An essential condition of such a proposal would be that Britain shall consent to replace moderate duties upon certain articles which are of large production in the colonies. Now, if I have rightly understood it, these articles shall comprise corn, meat, wool and sugar, and perhaps other articles of enormous consumption in this country which are at present largely produced in the colonies." Further, after pointing out that such a zollverein existed in Germany and in the United States, he stated: "I say that such a proposal as a zollverein between Britain and her colonies might commend itself even to the orthodox free trader"; and further on he says: "I want to impress upon you my personal conviction that if a proposal of this kind came to us from the colonies, backed by any considerable support on their part, it would not be met with a blank refusal by the people of this country."

The London Times, quoted by Sir Donald Smith in a speech delivered at the same congress, said: "It is getting to be understood that free trade is made for man, not man for free trade. . . . The British Empire is so large and so self-supporting that it could very well afford for the sake of a serious political gain to surround itself with a moderate fence." These two quotations are very suggestive.

But there is, perhaps, more significant evidence still in the denunciation of the Belgian and German treaties of the desire of Great Britain to improve and further colonial trade, particularly with Canada. When it is remembered that her trade with Germany and Belgium amounted to $600,000,000 and her trade with Canada to only about $100,000,000, it will be seen how large a commercial risk she was prepared to take for the sake of strengthening her relations with this country. Neither the fear of possible irritation on the part of Germany or Belgium nor the diversion of her immense trade with the German Empire was allowed to stand in the way of treaties that existed for over 30 years, when it was pointed out to her that in the interest of Canada such a course was desirable. Having done so much for one colony, why should we doubt her disposition to give a reasonable preference to colonial goods for the benefit of over 11,000,000 of her subjects in all her colonies?

If the question could only be made an Imperial issue and thus separated from all commercial complications the watchword would not be free trade or protection, but the unification and consolidation of the Empire, and on this view of the question it is not hard to predict what the attitude of the British Empire League should be.

Next in importance to preferential trade with Great Britain is the subject of a reciprocity treaty between Canada and the United States. In dealing with this question the honorable gentleman, after giving a succinct history of the various treaties which had affected Canadian trade with the United States, showed that in its political aspect there were certain grave dangers which he warned them of. The fifth and concluding of these was:

"Trade follows the flag, and British subjects follow British trade. For the further settlement of this country, as well as for strengthening our relations with the Empire, our obvious policy is to develop trade with Great Britain."

For the reasons given there should be no haste in the efforts to negotiate a reciprocity treaty with the United States. We owe it to ourselves that we should not approach the Americans in any spirit of dependence or subserviancy. It should be understood that we ask no favors in the American market for which we are unable to give an ample equivalent in the Canadian market, and no condition involving the sacrifice of any vested right or any consideration whatsoever as to the use of our waterways, our railroads, or our fisheries, should be put in the scale as a counterpoise to any privilege afforded us in the markets of the United States.

A commercial treaty that cannot be made on a commercial basis, pure and simple, should not be made at all. On this point there should be neither parleying nor pandering. If we cannot pay in kind for what we get we must not take the risk of supplementing the transaction by any other consideration.

Premier Greenway Coming East.

Winnipeg, Dec. 6.—Premier Greenway, who has been in a poor state of health for several weeks, left for Montreal to-day via the Northern Pacific, where he will consult a leading specialist.

A meeting of the Provincial Cabinet was held Saturday morning. The Legislature will be called together the latter end of January or the first week in February.

The C.P.R. and Vancouver.

Vancouver, B.C., Dec. 6.—At a meeting of the City Council and the C. P. R. the company, through G. McL. Brown, made the following proposition in brief: "They would spend half a million of dollars on the erection of a station building and extension of wharves if the city would safeguard their interests against an opposition road for eight yearss and exempt the new work from taxation for twenty years. The Council consented to submit the proposition to the people if the eight years' clause is eliminated. It is thought this will be done and the by-law will carry, as this is no factional opposition.

Shook Hands and Died.

Sherbrooke, Que., Dec. 6.—Mr. E. G. Miles, representing the Granby Rubber Co., dropped dead in one of our stores here Saturday evening. He had just reached the store and shook hands with the proprietor and sat down. Mr. Miles had left his hotel after supper in perfect health and took the steep ascent on King street to reach his destination. It is supposed that he over heated himself in this, and his walk having been preceded by a hearty supper, caused the complications which brought about his sudden death.

Slaughter House and Hides Burned.

Portage la Prairie, Man., Dec. 6.—The slaughter house and outbuildings owned by Norman Livingstone were burned Friday night. It is supposed the fire originated from a boiling furnace. The buildings are situated about a mile northeast of the town. They are valued at $1000. The contents were worth $400 or $500, and included meat, hides, tools and fittings. No insurance.

Steamers Aground.

Kingston, Dec. 6.—The Str. Rosedale is grounded on Charity Shoals, about 15 miles from here. The tug Walker could not get near her yesterday. The wind is high, and she is pounding terribly.

Port Stanley, Dec. 6.—The Sch. Luella Beatrice of Port Burwell is ashore east of here. The crew were taken off with the life boat, and the vessel is taking no harm as she lies on an even keel in three feet of water.

Archibald Buchanan Hangs Himself.

Penetanguishene, Ont., Dec. 6.—Archibald Buchanan of this town, who had a small farm about three miles out, left his house in town and went out on Friday morning and did not return on Saturday evening. His niece, who was keeping house for him in the absence of his wife, mentioned the circumstance, and two neighbors made a search. On entering the barn they saw Buchanan's body hanging from a beam. He had used a three-quarter inch new manilla rope and must have dropped several feet, as the beam is fifteen feet from the floor. An inquest will be held to-day.

Drowned in a Cistern.

Hamilton, Dec. 6.—C. W. Wellington, a car cleaner of the H., O. & B. Electric Railway, fell into the cistern of his house at Beamsville on Saturday afternoon and was drowned.

The residence of F. W. Fearman, the wealthy pork packer, was burglarized early on Saturday morning. The thieves took out a $200 diamond pin, besides money and clothing.

Killed by a Cowboy.

Cannington, Ont., Dec. 6.—News has been received here that Archie C. McKay, son of John McKay of this place, was shot and killed by a cowboy at Davenport, Wash.

Suffered Agony With Pains in the Stomach—Hood's Cured.

The testimonials in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla are as worthy of confidence as though they came from your most trusted neighbor. They are written by honest people who are grateful for the cures accomplished by this wonderful medicine. Read this statement:

"I was afflicted with severe pains in my stomach from which I suffered much agony at times. I was afraid to go any distance from home for fear of having an attack. I was treated for neuralgia of the heart without avail. At last my mother wrote and urged me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I have her letter before me at the present time and it reads as follows: 'My dear child, it grieves me to learn that you suffer so with your stomach. Do get a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and let me know the result, for I am confident

It Saved My Life.'

I am glad to state that I abided by my mother's advice and I am now healthy and strong. I never think of being without Hood's Sarsaparilla in the house. It is a great help to mothers while nursing. I have given it to my baby with satisfactory results. I cannot state all I would like of the many benefits I have known Hood's Sarsaparilla to give to other sufferers. I gladly recommend it." MRS. OUR TIMBER RESOURCES NOT EXHAUSTED.

A Conservative estimate (not a Liberal Conservative) indicates that the timber resources of the province, according to the past rate of cut, are sufficient to last a hundred years. The reforesting policy of the present government which meets with the hearty endorsation of most pronounced Opposition journals, will result in the reproduction of merchantable pine growths in fifty years, so that at the end of a hundred years, when possibly the older growth may have passed away, we shall have a new supply of excellent timber on our forest areas. Under these circumstances our timber resources, properly handled, that is handled as the present government is handling them, will be perpetual. Besides the new growth of timber will be of better quality and can, if desired, be better preserved, for the present growth contains a large amount of decaying timber necessitating immediate cutting no matter how desirable it may be to contract cutting operations. We have, therefore, no reason to fear the disappearance of our timber resources, so long as they are administered with the care that has characterized the past. But the application of Conservative methods, as illustrated by those of the Conservative Dominion Government would soon bring us to the last log. In the eighteen months they had charge of the timber limits of the Province, they sold more than the present Government did in twenty-five years, and to political favourites at the absurdly low price of $5 per square mile, while the average price got by the Ontario Government has been about three hundred times as much.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

MR. WHITNEY, leader of the Opposition, complains that there are too many Government officials in Ontario. There is no man more anxious for office than Mr. Whitney himself.

A fifty million dollar wire trust is expected to come into full operation in a month or so, covering the United States. The trusts seem to make quicker time than the anti-combine laws. The Dingley tariff encourages the combine industry more than any other.

WE are shocked in Canada by the large number of murders that have recently been committed, but there is one compensation. Justice has followed swiftly on the red tracks of crime. Bad as we are we enjoy millenial conditions compared to some and many parts of the United States. An official report published last week in South Carolina shows that in that single state during the past year 200 murders have occurred.

IMPROVING PUBLIC ROADS.

Among the many other evidences of the practical interest taken by the Ontario Government in the advancement of the welfare of the Province, is the system adopted by the Government for the improvement of our public highways—a matter of greatest importance to all classes especially farmers and bicyclists. On this subject "Lindenbank," in the Montreal Witness, says:

This is a subject that is occupying a large amount of attention at the present time. Much space is being devoted to it in farm journals. The importance of having better roads is being urged on the attention of all classes. Good roads are an important feature of civilization. They are a financial, moral, and religious blessing. Nearness to market and places of business is a great convenience to the farmer. It is not one of the things taken into account by all who are looking for a new home. To a farmer who needs to go to the neighboring town or village three or six miles distant twice a week, it makes a great difference whether he passes over a smooth, hard road, or through mud and ruts a foot deep, and over stones or other obstructions. Good roads make it easy to attend lectures and religious services, they favour in a variety of ways the dissemination of knowledge, and are useful educators of a community. Roads are one of the distinctions between a rude and a refined people. Fine, smooth roads indicate good culture and refined tastes, while neglected thoroughfares indicate an uncultured population, and a backward state of civilization and improvement generally. Ease in getting to market with produce is no small item of profit in connection with farming, while bad roads cause a heavy tax in the WAY of repairs to vehicles, harness and horses. The Department of Agriculture for the Province of Ontario has taken up this matter in downwright earnest. It gives a subsidy to a 'Good Roads Association' and also employs a commissioner whose business it is to visit the various parts of the province where his services are needed and invited. This official is Mr. Archibald Campbell, C. E., a very capable man, who has had a large experience in the science of road-making, and may very properly be regarded as an expert at the business.

A FREE WOMAN AGAIN.

Louise Villeneuve, Who Was Accused of Killing Her Husband, Acquitted by the Jury.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Dec. 4.—Yesterday, before Chancellor Boyd and a jury, Louise Villeneuve was put on trial charged with the murder of her husband near Chelmsford on Oct. 18 last.

The prisoner wept, while her 12-year-old son, who was the chief witness against her, told how on the day of the tragedy he and his father and mother were in a pig sty which his father was building. He left to work in an adjoining field, and his mother went to attend the baby, which was crying in the house. Returning half an hour later he found his father lying on the floor with an axe imbedded in his head and two logs on top of him. He went and told his mother, who was singing the baby to sleep. She did not at first appear to believe him, but when he had convinced her that he was in earnest she ran crying to where her husband lay. She called in the neighbors. He was satisfied his mother had not gone from the house to the pig sty while he was in the field.

It was shown that the woman had told other persons she had seen her husband only 10 minutes before the body was found. There was no direct evidence. His Lordship charged strongly in favor of the prisoner, and the jury retired, returning in half an hour with a verdict of "not guilty." Mrs. Villeneuve was at once discharged.

VICTORY OVER DYSPEPSIA

Is Easy and Quick With Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

There is no need to tell those who suffer with Dyspepsia or Indigestion what is the matter with them.

They know it only too well.

The great object with them is how to get cured.

They can be cured, easily, simply, and surely. There's no earthly reason why any person should suffer with dyspepsia, indigestion, heartburn, sour stomach, or any similar disease of the digestive organs. It is rank foolishness to do so.

Why?

Because Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cure these diseases quickly, positively and simply.

There's no secret about how they do this. They do the work your tired-out stomach cannot do. At the same time they tone up and strengthen the stomach, fitting it to again do its own work properly.

There can be no failure. If the stomach were paralyzed in every part, Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets would digest the food taken into it. That's what Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are made for. And that's what Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will do.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, each box containing the double treatment, can be procured from all druggists, at 50 cents a box, or will be sent, on receipt of price, by the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

Regular action of the bowels is necessary to health. Laxa-Liver Pills are the best occasional cathartic for family or general use. Price 25c. Any druggist.

Forsyth's Faultless Catarrh Cure should be kept in every home; if used rightly would save a world of trouble.

THE CASE OF DREYFUS

A Heated Discussion in the Chamber of Deputies.

PREMIER M. MELINE'S STAND.

Paris is Greatly Excited Over the Question of the Banished Officer's Guilt—Capt. Dreyfus Has, in Any Case, Been Very Brutally Treated —Court Martial for Esterhazy.

Paris, Dec. 6.—The case of Dreyfus was discussed in the Chamber of Deputies on Saturday and occasionally gave rise to heated utterances. A good majority of the Deputies, however, sustained the stand in the matter taken by the Government. M. Andre Castelen, representing the second district of Laon, editor of The Cocarde and formerly one of the warm supporters of the late General Boulanger, brought the matter up by asking Premier M. Meline to reassure the public, especially the army, on the subject, to which the Premier replied:—"There is no Dreyfus affair and can be none."

CASE OF CAPT. DREYFUS.

French Treatment of the Alleged Traitor a Scandal Even in Paris.

Paris, Dec. 6.—The remarkable case of Captain Dreyfus is exciting an extraordinary amount of attention not only in France, but throughout the world. Whether Dreyfus was guilty of betraying State secrets to the enemy, or whether he was the victim of a fiendish plot against his liberty, are the questions which everybody is asking, and to which nobody seems to be prepared to give an answer. It is difficult to believe that the officers who tried and convicted Dreyfus can possibly have been parties to any conspiracy against him. Their natural instincts would lead them to put the best possible construction upon the acts of a fellow officer. It is this fact which makes it difficult to believe that this unfortunate man was really the victim of a terrible miscarriage of justice. On the other hand, one cannot forget the extraordinary zest with which the ordinary Parisian throws himself into the hue and cry against a spy, or the readiness with which he visits his vengeance upon the innocent as well as upon the guilty. One can only hope that the mystery will be cleared up, and the question of the guilt or the innocence of Dreyfus will not be left where it now is. But whether innocent or guilty, there can be no doubt that this unhappy man has met with the most cruel treatment at the hands of the French Government and people. It is a reproach to the nation, as a whole, that it should have treated him as it has done. Even if he were guilty of having done everything that is alleged against him, no excuse can be offered for the barbarity of the treatment which he has received. Surely Frenchmen, who are justly proud of their civilization and of their passionate love of humanity, must see that they have done small credit to themselves by the brutal manner in which they have not merely punished this alleged traitor, but have revelled in the tortures they have inflicted upon him. Whatever may be the merits of his case, his treatment since his conviction is a discredit to the French people as a whole.

COUNT ESTERHAZY.

A Court Martial Ordered to Examine Into the Charges Against Him.

Paris, Dec. 6.—The Military Governor of Paris, General Saussier, has ordered the formation of a court martial to examine into the charges against Count Ferdinand Walsin Esterhazy, the retired major of the French army, who is accused of writing the letter which brought about the sentencing of Alfred Dreyfus to imprisonment for life.

The Journal says that the decision of General Saussier is based on the report of General Pellieux, who was appointed by the Minister of War to examine into the charges brought against Count Esterhazy, and which is as follows: "So far as Dreyfus is concerned the case has been tried, no new fact has been brought to light and no new document has been submitted, during the course of the inquiry to justify a revision of the trial. In consequence there is no ground for proceeding against Count Esterhazy, so far as regards the crime of high treason, for which Alfred Dreyfus was condemned."

Mr. Ritchie Will Not Interfere.

London, Dec. 6.—The Right Hon. Charles T. Ritchie, President of the Board of Trade, declines, on behalf of the Board of Trade, to accede to the request of the men that he should interfere in the present labor dispute with a view of arranging a conference between the Amalgamated Society of Railway Men and the railway companies as a whole, in order to avert a strike.

Mr. Ritchie, in his reply, reminds the men, in substance, that they are a specially privileged body, having special responsibilities, and that their present attitude is unjustifiable.

Compressed Flour For British Forces.

London, Dec. 6.—Both the British Admiralty and the War Department are testing under various climatic conditions the new method of conserving flour. Experiments are being made with a system of compression into bricks by hydraulic pressure. The trials show that flour so treated is not affected by damp even under unfavorable conditions, is free from mold, and is sweet and wholesome. Moreover, compression destroys all forms of larval life, and flour is thereby rendered safe from the attacks of insects. The saving in storage is enormous, as the cubic space occupied by 100 pounds of loose flour will hold more than 300 pounds of the compressed article.

THE POPE'S HEALTH.

His Physician Orders Hot Sand Baths—60th Anniversary Abandoned.

London, Dec. 6.—A despatch to The Pall Mall Gazette from Rome, published Saturday afternoon, announces that the Pope lately has not been enjoying his usual health. Dr. Lapponi, the attending physician of His Holiness, has been obliged to adopt special precautions against the weather, and has changed the hot sand baths, which the venerable primate has been taking weekly, to hot sand baths three times a week. This, it is explained, is the only way by which the doctor can counteract the rheumatic systems of the Pope, which, according to the despatch, supervene at the patient's slightest exposure. Dr. Lapponi, it is added, has forbidden His Holiness to take part in any tiring function, and, therefore, the programme mapped out for the ceremonies which were to take place on the 60th anniversary of the celebration of the first mass of Leo XIII. have been abandoned.

Birthday of the Princess.

London, Dec. 6.—All the members of the family of the Prince of Wales, and several of the friends of the heir apparent, including the Duke and Duchess of Orleans, the Duke and Duchess of Portland and Earl and Countess de Grey, have been at Sandringham throughout the past week, where the birthday of the Princess of Wales was celebrated on Wednesday last with great heartiness. The Princess, who was born Dec. 1, 1844, received many presents from all parts of the world. The Czar and Czarina sent jewels, and Emperor William of Germany presented the Princess with a large photograph of himself, in an English uniform, enclosed in a costly frame, and accompanied by a cordial birthday greeting, with four lines in original verse.

A Peace Treaty Signed.

Constantinople, Dec. 6.—The final treaty of peace between Turkey and Greece was formally signed by the representatives of the two Governments at 3.30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, the ratification of the treaty to take place 15 days later.

Off For Mombasa.

Bombay, Dec. 6.—The twenty-seventh Bombay infantry with a field hospital, large quantities of telegraph equipment and several lakhs of rupees for immediate expenses, sailed Saturday for the Island of Mombasa, off the coast of Zanzibar, west coast of Africa, where ten thousand coolies will be engaged to accompany the troops. The expedition is under the direct orders of the British War Office. The Island of Mombasa belongs to Zanzibar, which is included in the East Africa protectorate of Great Britain. Mombasa is the capital of what is known as the Coast Province.

ANOTHER VICTORY WON.

Kincardine was the Scene of the Contest—The Victory was thorough and Complete—An Interested Person Tells of it.

KINCARDINE, Ont., Nov. 29th.—The case of Mr. Herb Brown, a finisher in Watson & Malcolm's furniture factory here, is the talk of the town at present. Mr. Brown was a continual sufferer from kidney disease. The urinary system became involved, and his condition grew very serious. That great benefactor, Dodd's Kidney Pills, conquered the disease and made a new man of the victim. Mr. Brown cannot say enough in praise of the remedy which has done so much for him. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the great favourite in this district, where many remarkable cures have been made by them. They have not failed in a single case.

For the Children.

When coughs and colds distress the children Norway Pine Syrup comes to the rescue It soothes and heals the throat, removes the phlegm, and is pleasant and easy to take.

Raising a Larger Army.

London, Dec. 5.—The Army bill takes precedence over all others in the coming session of the British Parliament, and the Government is preparing to force the measures through before Easter. The increased amounts required will possibly exceed any budget surplus which may exist, but there will be no objection even upon the part of the "little Englanders." The question of raising a larger army for Great Britain is the topic of the hour, and even the bogey of the possibility of an invasion has been raised.

Storms in Italy.

Rome, Dec. 6.—Terrible storms have prevailed for three days over large parts of Italy. In the Bay of Naples twenty-five merchantmen have been wrecked, though there has been no loss of life, and several houses on the sea front have collapsed.

Germany Clings to Its Colony.

Berlin, Dec. 6.—The Hamburgische correspondent says that the German Government has emphatically refused to cede to Great Britain her protectorate over the German portion of New Guinea, which is rich in gold.

London's Police Inefficient.

London, Dec. 6.—Another mysterious murder, making eight unsolved assassinations, along with numberless burglaries for big amounts of property, has created general dissatisfaction with the metropolitan police.

We know the great cures of Hood's Sarsaparilla are genuine because the people themselves write about them.

ONTARIO ASSOCIATION ADOPTS AMENDMENT THAT WILL KEEP THEM OUT.

Suspects Will be Disqualified as in the C.A.A.O.—Enthusiastic Annual Meeting and Bright Prospects Assured for the Success of the Great Winter Pastime—Lionel King on the Executive.

The annual meeting of the Ontario Hockey Association was held Saturday afternoon at the Queen's Hotel, with President J. A. McFadden, of Stratford, in the chair, and the following delegates present:

London, J Hobbs and W Laidlaw; Stratford, A Ballantyne and A McIntosh; Varsity, H Gooderham and E P Brown; T A O, Hardisty and George Carruthers; Cornwall, F J McLellan and E Buck; Preston, S Claire; St George's, E Birmingham and E Foster; Barrie, F W Tiffin and W A Boyes; Guelph Victorias, Pettrie and Dobbie; U C C, A A Macdonald and W Darling; Lakefield, King and Watson; Peterboro', Kenner and Buchanan; Melbrook, Church and Phelan; Queen's, McNab and Harris; Wellingtons, J S Robertson and H Johnson; Collingwood, Labatt and Telford; Ayr, Hilborn and Roberts; Norwood, Lamont and A G Crawford; Trinity, Parmenter and Kisson; Orangeville, Thompson and Watts; Frontenac, Rigney and Ford; Orillia, Beaton and Irving; Waterloo, Seagram and McDonald; Windsor, Roberts and Jones; Osgoode, J McMurrich, and R H Temple.

The president opened the meeting by welcoming the delegates of the old clubs, as well as the new ones. The secretary's report was satisfactory to all. The secretary's report was satisfactory to all. The treasurer's report showed the association to be in a good financial condition. They started last season with $236 76. The expenses for the season were $166 25, and receipts from the different gates $252, leaving a balance now on hand of $322 07.

The amendments to the rules and regulations, eight in number, were then taken up. A 30 days' residential qualification was the substance of the first amendment, which was championed by Mr. Telford, of Collingwood. It was opposed by W. B. Buchanan, of Peterborough, on the grounds that it would prevent his club from playing Lionel King, who was at present attending Trinity, and another player who lives in a town where hockey is not played. Delegate Laidlaw, of London, was of the opinion that the legislation was not called for. Mr. Kenner, of Peterborough, also spoke against the amendment, which was lost on a show of hands.

The different amendments were thoroughly threshed out. The one amending regulation 3 by inserting the words "and certificate of the same to be obtained from the executive committee before playing for the second club," after "residence" in the third line in place of the words "to be decided by the executive," moved by Mr. A. F. R. Martin and seconded by Mr. Rigney, was carried.

The amendment, moved by Mr. McFadden, regarding professionalism was unanimously adopted. It is as follows: Amending regulation 3 by adding, "when the status of any individual is questioned, the burden of proving his innocence shall rest with the accused inasmuch as the real and true facts of the case must lie within his own personal knowledge and consequently he should be in a position, if unjustly accused or suspected, to prove his innocence to the satisfaction of the executive. To prevent frivolous and groundless charges of this nature the executive must be convinced that there is good and sufficient cause to question the status of an individual and may insist that all such charges be made upon affidavit."

This is the rowing regulation, which means that hockey amateurs must keep their skirts clean.

President McFadden's second amendment was also carried: Amending rule 13 of the game, by inserting after the word "match" in the first line, "break his skate or from any other accident be compelled to leave the ice, the opposite side shall immediately drop a man to equalize the teams until such time as the player is ready to proceed." Strike out word from as "to" down to "the game."

E. P. Brown, of Varsity, had two useful ones carried: They are: That no delay shall exceed five minutes.

Amending section "F" of rules of competition by substituting, "any club refusing or failing to play the club against which it is matched within the stated time, shall be considered to have lost the tie."

The election of officers resulted as follows:

President—A. F. R. Martin, Osgoode Hall.

Vice-Presidents—Alex. Creelman, Toronto; and F. W. Tiffin, Windsor.

Hon. Secretary—A. H. Beaton, Toronto.

Hon. Treasurer—J. McMurrich, Osgoode Hall.

Committee—J. S. Robertson, Wellington; F. J. McLennan, Cornwall; Lionel King, Peterborough; C. McDonald, U. C. C.; E. P. Brown, Varsity; W. A. Boys, Barrie.

This morning as a team drawing a heavy load was coming up the steep incline leading to George street from McDonald's lumber yard, a street car came up quickly just as the horses reached the top.

The result was that the wagon was overturned and it was only through a miracle that the driver escaped as the wagon turned over on top of him. The horses jerked away from the load and ran some distance before they were caught.

SERMON ON TRUTH IN ST. ANDREW'S.

REV. JOHN HAY, OF COBOURG, OCCUPIES THE PULPIT.

The Three Essentials to a Thorough Understanding of Truth is the Love, Knowledge and Practice of it.

The pulpit of St. Andrew's church was filled yesterday, both morning and evening, in the absence of the pastor, by Rev. John Hay, of Cobourg, who preached two most eloquent and timely discourses to large congregations.

In the evening he took as his text, "I have choose the way of truth."—Psalms cxix, 30.

The word of God, he urged, pointed out that there were two courses in life, and had been ever since two brothers were born into the world and had gone in opposite directions. There are two ways—the broad way leading to destruction and the narrow but straight path towards the heavenly gates. Every individual must choose his path for himself. The word of God points this out in various places, in Proverbs, speaking of the way of the righteous and the

WAY OF INIQUITY,

The Psalmist says: "I have chosen the way of truth," and like him we must do the same.

The speaker in explaining the meaning of the phrase "Chosen the way of truth," stated there had to be three essentials to this course of action—there must be love of truth, knowledge of truth and practice of truth.

In expanding on the first necessity, he pointed out that no man chose the way of truth who did not love it. Any excellence which was in truth was the truth which fitted a man for that blessed place above. No man ever possessed that truth who did not love it. No man wishes to gain heaven only that he may escape hell, but rather that he loves heaven.

That which man loves is what he is. To love the truth for the truth's sake is the secret indication of receiving a blessing.

In referring to the knowledge of the truth, which was required, Mr. Hay spoke of the stern sense of truth, which made the martyrs, in the olden days, carve great furrows in history, which all the follies of of the present day

COULD NOT FILL UP.

The strength of the Puritans was the strength of men who knew the truth and its power.

He who seeks the truth loves it, knows it and practices it.

The practice of truth is the fulfilment of the saying that honesty is the best policy—it is the only policy.

One reason why honest man think gambling is so despicable is that the money which is thus lost and thrown away should be spent through commercial channels. Then there is the waste of time and the fact that they who win are giving nothing for something, which is contrary to moral law.

Truth and honest dealing have in themselves the promise of sure success.

If the Christian church would just practice what it believes the world would be far different to-day. If Christians practised the text, to do unto others, etc., what a vast change there would be.

A special plea in closing was made by Mr. Hay to the young men to ennoble their manhood by the love, knowledge and practice of the truth. "May you," said he, "be able to say, as the Psalmist,—I have chosen the way of the truth."

THE MAYORALTY.

Mr. J. B. McWilliams Says he Will Not be a Candidate This Year.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—As the time has nearly arrived for nomination of candidates for the municipal council, and my name has been freely mentioned in connection with the mayoralty contest, I desire to say that on account of the extra work I will have to do as a member of the Forestry Commission the coming year, it will be impossible for me if elected to give the time necessary for the faithful performance of the duties of Mayor. In my opinion it is not right for any person to accept of a public trust unless he is prepared to carefully look after the public interest. Besides I consider that any person aspiring to the honourable position of Mayor of the leading town of the province, should have more than one year's experience in the council.

I desire to thank my many friends for their kind wishes and offers of support, but for the reasons mentioned, must decline being a candidate for Mayor at the present time.

Your obedient servant,
J. B. McWILLIAMS.

Result of a Test.

The following letter taken from the Daily Ontario, Belleville, speaks for itself:—

BELLEVILLE, 18th Nov., 97.

C. C. Leavens, Esq., People's Coal Co'y, City:

DEAR SIR,—Your letter enquiring how the test I made of your coal against Scranton coal, received from Mr. Stewart, resulted; Mr. Butterfield had one ton of each kind put in. I found your coal got up to heat much quicker and lasted one day and a half longer than the other. From the appearance of the coal I did not expect it to do so. I told Mr. Butterfield your coal is the most satisfactory.

Yours truly,

METHODISTS OBSERVE EDUCATIONAL SUNDAY.

SPECIAL SERMONS IN THE GEORGE STREET AND CHARLOTTE STREET CHURCHES.

Rev. Dr. Potts, Secretary of the Educational Committee, Delivers Two Powerful Sermons During the Day—A Collection in Behalf of the Fund.

Rev. Dr. Potts, of Toronto, spoke in the Charlotte street church in the morning and to the George street congregation in the evening, yesterday, on behalf of the Educational Funds of the Methodist church. At both services he was greeted by exceedingly large congregations who listened to his powerful addresses with the closest attention.

In the morning the eminent divine took his text from Ephesians, iii chap, 8th verse:—"Unto me who am less than the least of all saints, is this grace given, that I should preach among the Gentiles, the unsearchable riches of Christ."

Dr. Potts opened his address by the statement that preaching was the chief factor in the world's evangelisation and the character of the preacher was the mighty force behind the preaching. The highest form of success in church work was dependent on the consecration of of the preacher to Jesus Christ. A brief glance at history would convince one of this fact. Take Peter, for example, and consider his work prior to and after the day of Pentecost. when he was filled with the Holy Ghost. Though many better sermons had doubtless been preached in the Charlotte street church than that of Peter on this occasion, yet the former was unique in the fact that though given by an uneducated man yet thousands were led to God. It was the inauguration of the Christian dispensation and the Holy Ghost descended and filled Peter with His influence in a wonderful manner.

In speaking of the necessity of character behind the preaching, no grander illustration can be found than Paul—the greatest man of the first century—yea, of all the centuries.

A man is the best judge of his own character. He should not allow the world to judge it, or his enemies, or even his friends for ardent friendship, might lead him to overestimate himself. A man of should know what he can and what he cannot do. A man might in some cases be too humble, and advice was not given to him to rate himself in ordinary life as Paul did in the text, regarding his sainthip, but it is different when the realm of the spiritual world is touched.

The chief characteristic of Paul's life was not his eloquence, his valour or his learning, but his humility. In the year 59 he is found saying: "I am the least of the Apostles." Then in 64, in the language of the text, he calls himself less than the least of all saints. Again, in 65, in writing to Timothy, he says: "The Lord Jesus came into the world to save sinners, of whom I am the chief."

The message sent to the church in Ephesus, in the language of the text, did him no harm but the church much good.

Therefore, the lesson which comes down the centuries to us is to be clothed in humility.

The speaker then passed on to the consideration of the office of the preacher.

The preaching of the Gospel, he urged, was an institution of Divine appointment. In order to do it justice one must which is conveyed by the message "Lo I am with you always," and realize its fullest significance. Preaching is the grandest institution for the world's evangelisation and the grandest work of man. An ambassador may hold the fate of nations in his hand; a secular teacher's calling is important as moulding the coming generation; the work of a benevolent physician is hard to estimate, but the work of a preacher of the Gospel transcends them all, because it affects man's highest destiny. If the Bible had a voice it might well sing: "My voice is full of Christ." Jesus Christ is the theme of the Book and should therefore be the theme of every Christian pulpit. Paul gives us an idea for a theme—the unsearchable riches of Christ.

No arithmetician can sit down and compute the riches of Christ. We can contemplate but we cannot comprehend those unsearchable riches. When we give the last atom of our brain power to the thought we should have simply to express ourselves in the and speak of the "unsearchable riches of Christ."

On the Sea of Galilee He bade the waves be calm, evidencing the unsearchable riches of Christ as a power over nature. He healed the leper through his will, showing His unsearchable riches in the manner of His power over disease, and again His unsearchable riches in His power over death were shown when he raised the son of the poor widow.

"Let there be light," He said; and there was light, but it required more than the command to save the world from sin, and when Jesus to redeem sinners came forth from the body of God, making the second person of the most glorious Trinity, He conquered the grave and death and opened the Kingdom of Heaven to all believers.

Look not at the riches of Christ's power, but at the riches of His grace. Did you ever pause and think how He went down into the depths of awful Gethsemane and drew up the poor sinner? Did you ever think of the of grace required to go the very verge of the world, and laying a hand on the hunkied prodigals of humanity, bid them return.

Exhaust, if you will, the light of the sun, the water of the ocean, the blades of grass on the prairie, but the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ you cannot, because it is unsearchable.

Then you cannot stop without realizing the unsearchable riches of God's love. Love is the mightiest power in the universe, and God is love. Poets sing love, and orators kindle to white heat as they tell of it, but who shall scale the unscalable heights or fathom the unfathomable depths of His love for you and me.

Love bridged the chasm between man and God.

Incarnate love looked out on sin-burdened humanity and said: "Come unto me all ye that labour and are heavy laden and I will give you rest. It was incarnate love that sat down at the last passover. It was incarnate love that said "Father forgive them for they know not what they do."

It is the mission of the Gospel to enrich and it is the mission of the pulpit to proclaim the unsearchable riches of Christ. Some of us have been living from hand to mouth when we might have been rolling in the wealth of these unsearchable riches.

We want men who can go into the pulpit—this is the object of our educational system. We now insist on the matriculation of our students and five years' study, two of which must be spent in one or other of our theological universities.

When God touches a young man and calls him to His work, and the church equips and trains him to express himself in the most effective manner, this is the most important department in church work of the present day. You may ask—"How about missions?" But what is the use of missions without missionaries? Once trained the young man, called by God, can go out and do his work among sinners.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Ernie Wasson has returned to Peterborough after spending a week at Warsaw with his father.

Mr. Fred Hamilton, of Ashburnham, left for Chicago on Saturday, where he has secured a railway position.

Messrs. W. A. Buchanan, H. R. H. Kenner and Walter Phelan have returned from the O.H.A. meeting in Toronto.

Mr. W. M. Daly has returned to Peterborough after a successful trip into the north country on insurance business.

Messrs. G. L. Hay, J. D. Kelly and Jas. Richardson, all of Peterborough, were registered at the Simpson House, Lindsay, on Saturday.

Mr. J. C. McClellan, of the People's Coal Co'y, left this a.m., for Towando, Pennsylvania, to inspect the company's large mining plant near that town.

Mr. Mungovan, of the Catholic Register, is in town on his annual visit and will remain a few days. He has recently been over a great portion of the provinces of Quebec and Ontario, where, more especially in the latter, he says he has found the atmosphere heavily charged with political electricity. The heavy peals of Mr. Whitney have so far failed to move the masses, who seem to care very little for the loss of a few pine trees in this wooden country. The charge that the public service is overmanned and overwomaned, they seem to regard as inconsistent on the part of a gentleman who is desirous of leading himself on the people's taxes. Neither has the manner in which Mr. St. John has eloquently granted his dissatisfaction with the lavish expenditure on the Mimico hog-pen created any great revolution in the sentiment of a public proverbial for its gentle treatment of the gentlest of animals.

CHURCH CHIMES.

A special collection for missions was taken up yesterday in St. Paul's.

The annual meeting of St. Paul's church Auxiliary will be held on Friday afternoon next.

The well rendered anthem in St. Andrew's church last evening was entitled "For God so loved the World."

Mrs. Mein took the solo parts in excellent voice last evening in Gounod's anthem, "Glory to Thee My God this Night," at St. Paul's church.

As Rev. Mr. Clarke, of Belleville, was unable to fill the George street church pulpit yesterday morning, Rev. D. O. Crossley kindly consented to do so and preached a powerful sermon.

A very large congregation assembled last evening in the Charlotte street church to hear the third of a most interesting series of song sermons delivered by the pastor, Rev. D. O. Crossley.

The morning anthem in the Charlotte street church was especially pleasing. It was entitled, "O be joyful in the Lord." The solo was well taken by Mr. A. L. Davis and the duet by Misses M. Stevens and Florence Hall.

Last night at All Saints' church Rev. W. L. Armitage preached to a large congregation the first of a series of three sermons upon the Advents, from the text, "And now once in the end of the ages hath he appeared to put away sin by the sacrifice of Himself."—Heb. ix, 26. The first "age" was the close of the Jewish dispensation. The second sermon on the subject—next Sunday morning—will be on the close of the Christian dispensation. This series of sermons is able and thoughtful and is arousing much interest.

MARK STREET CHURCH.

On Sunday the pastor, Rev. J. E. Moore, preached anniversary services at Bridgenorth, and Rev. Mr. Harrison took his work on the Ashburnham circuit. In the morning he took as his text Isaiah xliii, 10, "Ye are my witnesses, saith the Lord." He gave an able and helpful talk on witness bearing, urging the duty on all believers.

The class meetings were well attended. The pastor's class and Mr. Noyes' class met at 10. Mr. Wand's class met after the morning service. All will be made welcome to any of these class meetings.

The Sunday school was well attended at 2.30. Some of the classes have been reorganised, and all are now provided with teachers. Everyone will find a welcome and help in the Sunday school.

The annual Sunday school Christmas tree and entertainment will be held in the new town hall on Christmas night. Come and spend a pleasant evening.

At the evening service Mr. Harrison took as his text, Luke 13-23, "And one of them said onto Him, Lord, are there few that be saved?" His sermon was very earnest and helpful, and was listened to attentively by a large congregation. It is impossible to give an adequate idea of it to our limited space.

The Epworth League service will be held on Monday evening at eight o'clock. It is consecration meeting and all members are expected and all others who can come will be very welcome.

At the close of the league meeting there will be a meeting of the teachers and officers of the Sabbath school to arrange for supplies, Christmas tree, etc.

The Wednesday evening prayer meeting will be of an evangelistic nature. There will be a song service at 7.30 and the regular service at 8 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Moore will give a short address and seekers will be invited to come to God.

On Friday evening cottage prayer meeting will be held at the home of Mr. M. W. Matchett, Sophia street. It is hoped that a large number will be present.

J. W. CAREY, The Shoe Architect Shop, 450 George St

The young man who starts in business life with a good athletic training back of him will be able to stand more than the man who has not had the same advantage. Nevertheless, if he overworks and neglects his health, he is likely to fall a victim to some fatal malady like his less fortunate brother.

There is only one safe road for a man to tread in the matter of health. That is the road of eternal vigilance. No man, no matter how strong he may be naturally, can with impunity neglect the little ills and indispositions of life. These little disorders are what make the big ones. When a man suffers from headaches and loss of appetite, feels drowsy and dull during waking hours, cannot sleep at night and is nervous and shaky at all times, he is in a dangerous condition. If he long neglects his condition he will find himself a very sick man. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best of all medicines for the many diseases that are caused by an impaired digestion and insufficient and improper nourishment. It creates a hearty, healthy appetite; it makes digestion and assimilation perfect; it invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and nerve tonic. It is the best of all medicines for nervous disorders and it cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption, if taken in its earlier stages, before the lungs are too far wasted. For chronic, bronchial, throat and nasal affections it is an unequaled remedy. An honest dealer will not suggest some inferior substitute.

Rev. C. M. Lemond, (P. O. Box 207), Quanah, Hardeman Co., Texas, writes: "I write to say that during the late trouble between the States it became my duty as well as privilege to speak in the open air at night, which produced slight hemorrhages and loss of voice from which I had suffered more or less for a number of years, until that God-send 'Golden Medical Discovery,' given to the world by the inventive and scientific brain of Dr. R. V. Pierce, was obtained. After six bottles had been used the pains and aches in my lungs began to give way, and now I feel that, with a judicious course of life I may live many years. I thank God for giving to the world a man who has done so much for suffering humanity."

MAKING PLATE GLASS.

An Operation That Requires a Deal of Skill and Care.

A visit to a plate glass works reveals nothing perhaps more interesting than the casting tables on which the heavy plate glass used in most store windows is cast. "The casting tables," said the superintendent of a large factory, "are the most important pieces of apparatus in this establishment.

"Each table is about 20 feet long, 15 feet wide and from 7 to 8 inches thick. The heavy strips of iron on either side of the tables afford a bearing for the rollers and determine the thickness or diameter of the glass to be cast.

"The rough plate is commonly nine-sixteenths of an inch thick, but after polishing it is reduced to six or seven sixteenths. All casting tables are mounted on wheels which run on a track made to reach every furnace and annealing oven in the factory. The table having been wheeled as near as possible to the melting furnace, a pot of molten glass is lifted by means of a crane and its contents poured quickly on the table.

"A heavy iron roller then passes from end to end, spreading the glass to a uniform thickness. This rolling operation has to be done by expert hands quickly, as the boiling glass, when it comes in contact with the cold metal of the table, cools very rapidly. When the rolling process has been completed, the door of the annealing oven is opened and the plate of glass is introduced.

"The floor of the annealing oven is on the same level as the wheels of the casting table, so that the transfer can be made by rail quickly. When the glass is ready to be taken out of the oven, its surface is very rough. In this condition it is used for skylights and other purposes where strength is desired rather than transparency, but when intended for windows it is ground, smoothed and polished and is then ready for the market."—Boston Globe.

The New Jersey Vote.

The amendment to confer school suffrage on the women of New Jersey was defeated by a majority of over 12,000. The antigambling amendment was defeated by over 3,000, and another amendment was lost by only 848. This vote shows two things—first, that the suffrage amendment was defeated by opposition and not by indifference merely; second, that it could not carry even the vote of the moral element of the state. New Jersey needs a good deal of education.—Woman's Tribune.

Wise Men Know

It is folly to build upon a poor foundation, either in architecture or in health. A foundation of sand is insecure, and to deaden symptoms by narcotics or nerve compounds is equally dangerous and deceptive. The true way to build up health is to make your blood pure, rich and nourishing by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills act easily and promptly on the liver and bowels. Cure sick headache.

Every Seat Was Taken.

Paint Your Cheek.

Not with paint on outside that is easily washed off. Put the color on from within. Scott's Emulsion fills the cheeks with rich red blood. It is a color that stays too.

Shocked and Frightened.

Weak, nervous people having heart troubles are easily shocked and frightened. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills fortify the nerves, restore regular action to the heart and cure every form of heart and nerve trouble. Mrs. Gladys McMillan, Toronto, says: "Milburns Heart and Nerve Pills cured me of nervousness and palpitation. I was so nervous that the least noise would startle me; but am now perfectly well."

Hagyard's Yellow Oil cures all pain in man or beast; for sprains, cuts, bruises, callous lumps, swellings, inflammation rheumatism and neuralgia it is a specific.

THE YUKON DISTRICT.

Lecture by Mr. Wm. Ogilvie, Dominion Surveyor—A Very Rich Canadian Gold Country.

Toronto, Ont., Dec. 6.—Mr. William Ogilvie of the Dominion Topographical Survey, had by no means an uninterested audience when he delivered his lecture on "The Klondike," at the Canadian Institute, on Saturday night. The lecture hall was packed and so many were turned away that it became obvious that a larger hall should have been engaged. Prof. McCallum presided.

Passing over the various routes of ingress to the Eldorado, and the progress in development from the discovery of its wealth in 1870 until the present day, the Dominion Surveyor reverted enthusiastically to that wealth.

"I believe there is $100,000,000 in sight in the district to-day," he said amid applause. This did not include what might be obtained by placer and quartz mining. The district was composed of 100,000 square miles and gold could be found all over it. The only thing necessary to have from 100,000 to 300,000 people in there was adequate transportation facilities. As to quartz mining, 12 miles up Klondike assays showed from $100 to $10,000 per ton. The ordinary processes of pulverizing were of no avail where the water was frozen nine months in the year. The lecturer suggested the use of Edison's scheme for extracting iron by running the ore up elevators and shooting it down spouts. The impetus would carry the heavy gold further, while the sand would drop. The suggestion seemed to meet with approbation.

Similarly placer mining was impossible, although yields as high as $505 to a pan, consisting of two shovelfuls, had been obtained. He produced at this juncture a small bottle containing $90 worth of nuggets, gotten from one pan. When the meeting was over there was a rush to see it. He suggested a possible process of placer mining by means of steam.

The tales of the starvation which awaited the 6000 miners there this winter should be discounted by the fact that almost an equal number had survived the winter of '95-96 under equal conditions. Canada owned 550 miles of the Yukon and it was the richest 550 miles along the river. [Applause.] The miners there came from almost every country under the sun. Ten years ago there was no factions, no cliques, no politics. Conditions now were changed. A man's popularity depended on how often he treated. His rights depended on his popularity. Justice formerly was administered by means of miners' meetings. These had of late been brought into disrepute and discredit by mis-administration of justice, humorous incidents of which Mr. Ogilvie related.

Decline in Farm Values.

Toronto, Dec. 6.—A bulletin just issued by the Ontario Bureau of Industries says the value of farm property has been decreasing since 1893. Then it amounted to $979,977,344. In 1893 the sum was $970,861,070; in 1894, $954,395,507; in the year following $931,989,574, and in 1896 the amount was $910,291,628. The amount in 1886 was $989,497,911. The value is, per acre, $39.38.

Another lamentable feature is the increase in chattel mortgages. They ran up last year from $11,012,330 to $13,561,716.

A LONDON EPISODE.

A Prominent Contractor Cured of Bright's Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

London, Dec. 6—Not since the great election trial some years ago, has any London episode created such widespread excitement as has the case of G. E. Brady, of 239 Talbot street.

Mr. Brady, a prominent contractor, suffered for years with Bright's Disease. Doctors and special remedies failed utterly to help him. In despair he tried Dodd's Kidney Pills, and was cured by a few boxes.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have proved themselves, in this city, to be the only remedy that will positively cure every case of Bright's Disease, Diabetes and every other kidney complaint. They have never failed here. People will buy no other medicine.

LOVE'S HAPPINESS.

Oh, do you o'er remember, love,
How on one summer's night
We strayed upon the sandy beach
Beneath the soft moonlight,
And as we sat beside the sea
And listened to its roar
I press'd thy hand and vowed, dear one,
To love thee more and more?
Oh, then, indeed, our hearts were light,
And, like the summer flowers,
We drank in love as their frail buds
Drink in the April showers.

The moonbeams with a holy light
Fell on the glassy sea,
The stars above pure jewel'd gems,
But I—saw only thee.
I heeded not the beauties rare
Which all around us shone.
My thoughts were all on one who was
My beautiful—my own.
I only knew I clasped thy form
Of classic grace with pride.
I heeded not the sea's low voice,
For thou wert by my side.

Nobody is Safe from It.

Mr. Jas. Barry, 28 Hunter Street E., Hamilton, Ont., says: "For the past five years I have had Bright's disease of the kidneys in its worst form. My kidneys were in such a frightful condition that they discharged blood.

"I was unable to work, and most of the time could not sleep. I became so excited and suffered such fearful pains in my back, that I was unable to do the least thing. I was in the hospital, where I was treated by several physicians, and I also took many kinds of medicine, but without relief until I commenced taking Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got at Spackman's drug store last January.

"Since taking them I have been getting better rapidly. I can now work without inconvenience. They restored my strength, removed the pains from my back, made my kidneys healthy and strong, so that they are able to perform their work easily and well, thereby carrying off all the poisonous secretions which before used to mingle with my blood, and became diffused through my entire system.

"I am only too happy to give this testimony as to the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills, so that others may be benefited by their use as I have been." 289

A YOUNG DIPLOMAT.

The proudest sometimes unbend, and the botanical gardens were, for one afternoon, throwing off their usual reserve. Ordinary folk had only to come across Regent's park from Chester gate and present a card at the entrance to the gardens, and the bowler hatted old gentleman at the gate welcomed them as though they were most important members. Miss Llewellyn and Master Kenneth Waller, her friend, walked on the grass in the direction of music.

"Anybody you know here, Miss Llewellyn?"

"I don't suppose so, Kenneth."

"You don't know many people, do you, Miss Llewellyn?"

"Very few."

"Wonder at that," said the small boy, "because you're not bad looking, you know. Did you use to come here when you were well off? Do they sell lemonade here?"

"Seems possible. You think that everybody ought to have plenty of friends?"

"Plenty of friends," said Kenneth wisely, "but one in particular. Wonder how old you are?"

"That," said the young woman good temperedly, "that is the only question, Kenneth, that you must never put to a lady."

"I should guess," he said critically as they sat down in the low chairs near the refreshment tent and watched the people, "that you were about 26." Miss Llewellyn gave a quaint gesture of horror. "Well, 25 then. Fancy!" The small boy whistled amazedly. "Twenty-five and not married yet."

"Young man," said Miss Llewellyn, flushing and affecting a tone of grave severity, "I find your conversation much too personal. You would like lemonade, I think, and two pieces of cake."

The scarlet coated band perched on seats near the glass house, with a crowd of smartly dressed folk in front of them, started a cheerful selection from a comic opera. Miss Llewellyn, a composed young woman in an ordinary way, as young women are who work for their living, found herself in quite a delighted mood. Music can do much when it tries.

"Of course," said her candid guest, with cake at his mouth, "I don't mean to say that you mightn't get married even now. I had an aunt once who was close upon 30 before she could get any one to look at her."

"The instance is encouraging, Kenneth. Don't eat too fast, mind."

"Still," said the youth wisely, "if I were a girl I should be jolly careful not to miss a good opportunity. Are those orchids they're carrying there? Hasn't that chap got a brown face who's telling the men where to take them? Seem to have seen him somewhere before. Shouldn't like to be an orchid, should you, Miss Llewellyn? Why, you'd have to grow out in South America and people would have fearful trouble to find you and risk their lives—hello, brown faced chap's coming this way!"

Miss Llewellyn looked up and then looked down again quickly, and for a moment her face went rather white. Her hand trembled as she held it out.

"Mr. Bradley," she said. "How do you do? I did not expect to see you here."

"I did not expect to see you again anywhere," he said.

There was the pause that comes after the banalities of greeting. Master Waller, not having spoken for quite half a minute, felt that he was in some danger of being overlooked, and coughed.

"This is my little friend, Kenneth Waller," she said. "Kenneth, this is Mr. Bradley."

"What's the matter with your face?" asked the small boy. "Have you been abroad?"

Mr. Bradley placed a broad fist on the round iron table and leaned down toward Master Waller good naturedly. He seemed as confused at the meeting as Miss Llewellyn, and as unprepared with conversation.

"I have been abroad, young man. I've been hunting orchids."

"Are you home for good now?" asked Kenneth.

Miss Llewellyn gripped the parasol that rested in her lap with both hands.

"I can't do any good at home," said Mr. Bradley. "I am off again to South America in a day or two."

"Why don't you stay in London?"

"Nobody asks me to stay."

"Should have thought," said Master Waller, "that you could have got somebody to do that. Have you any foreign postage stamps about you?"

Friendship between the two gentlemen was cemented and made permanent by the production of several foreign stamps and an envelope to place them in. People were coming up to the refreshment tent now, the band having decided to rest for half an hour and recover breath, and Master Waller invited Mr. Bradley to take his chair.

"You don't mind?" asked Bradley of Miss Llewellyn.

"Not at all," she said politely.

"May I smoke?"

"Let me strike the match," interposed Master Waller. "I'm awfully good at that. And tell us some of your adventures."

"They wouldn't interest Miss Llewellyn."

"Girls don't count," said Master Waller. "Tell me. Make it one where you nearly lost your life."

So 10 or 15 minutes were thus occupied, the small boy seated on Bradley's knee and staring at him with open mouthed astonishment. Miss Llewellyn, her head bowed, studied the band programme in apparently a laborious search for the misprints that a musical programme always offers. Bradley told the story well, without obtruding his own share in the adventure, and when he had finished punched the small boy humorously to bring him back from South America to Regent's park.

"And is that story true?" asked the small boy respectfully.

"It has that drawback, youngster."

"Well," said Master Waller, "I'm a man that's awfully fond of adventure, but I shouldn't care for that. What did you think of when that fierce animal was waiting to spring upon you?"

"Guess."

"Can't," said Master Waller. "Can you, Miss Llewellyn?"

She shook her head and again became interested in the band programme. Bradley looked at her and waited for her to speak, but she made no sign. Now, silence may at times be tolerable for grown up folk, but for impatient young men like Master Waller it brings nothing but weariness.

"Is there any chance of seeing these orchids, Mr. Bradley?" asked the youth. "It'll be something to brag about to my people if I could just get a sight of them."

"We'll all go over to the marquee and have a look. Miss Llewellyn, will you come, or shall we leave you here? There's rather a crush."

"Let's leave her," suggested Master Waller. "Miss Llewellyn likes being alone."

"I think I will stay here," she said.

"We shall be back in ten minutes," said Bradley.

Master Waller had to trot to keep up with the long strides of his new friend, but he did not mind this because he felt a kind of reflected glory in being accompanied by the man who had brought home some of the rarest of the amazing specimens in the crowded tent.

"Girls are a nuisance, aren't they?" said Master Waller, looking up confidentially.

"Sometimes," said Bradley.

"She isn't so tiresome, though, as some."

"I think I agree with you there."

"Works awfully hard—too hard, my mamma says."

"No necessity for that surely," said Bradley rather sharply.

"But Miss Llewellyn has to live," urged the small boy. "My mamma says that she was well off for a year or two before her father died, but since that"—

"Her father dead?"

"Here, I say," said Master Waller. "Don't grip a man's shoulder like that."

"Sorry!"

"They come into money, so my mamma says, a few years ago"—

"I remember that."

"And then Miss Llewellyn's governor put all into something, and it never came out again. That's why she has to manage the calisthenic school that I go to. And I say. Can you touch your toes with the tips of your fingers without"—

"Where does she live now?" Mr. Bradley seemed excited.

"In rooms," replied Master Waller volubly. "I've been there to tea along with my sisters. (That's a fine orchid there. You can't see it now. A girl's hat's in the way.) And Miss Llewellyn's got awfully nice furniture and photographs, and"— Master Waller clapped his knee suddenly. "I remember now where I've seen your face before, Mr. Bradley. Only without the short beard."

"Come outside," said Bradley, "and tell me."

They made their way through the crowd and reached the exit. Bradley held his breath and bent to hear the small boy's reply.

"On her dressing table," whispered Master Waller confidentially, "in the beautifullest frame you ever saw, and—Where are you going?"

"Back to Miss Llewellyn," cried Bradley.

"Well, bus,—" said Master Waller protestingly, "wait for me."

Bradley did not obey the young man. He strode across the lawn, past the band, which was playing a quick march that was not quick enough to keep pace with him. Before Master Waller found the two there had been a swift exchange of low sentences that altered their views of the world and made them both think of it as a place where happiness is to be found.

"And why did you refuse me before, dear?"

"Because all my people pressed me to accept you," said Miss Llewellyn.

"The excuse of a very obstinate young woman."

"Why did you—why did you not ask me again?" she demanded.

"Because," said Bradley, "it was just then that your father came into that money."

"The excuse of a very independent man," said Miss Llewellyn, touching with pretty affection the big hand that rested on the round table. "When—when it is that you leave for South America?"

"Not until you tell me to go, dear," he said promptly.

"Here, I say," cried Master Waller, arriving after some difficulty, "you two, don't lose sight of me, mind! Miss Llewellyn, have I been a good boy?"

"I've a great mind to kiss you, Kenneth," she said.

"Rather have some more lemonade."

"As Kenneth declines your suggestion," said Bradley, signaling to a waiter, "may I venture to submit myself"—

"Hush!" said Miss Llewellyn.—Woman at Home.

D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realizing that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia—Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Scores of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Are Now Completely Cured—So says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

EXCITING EXPERIENCE.

A Lively Encounter with Four Lynx on the Galway Road.

Mr. John W. Middleton of South Verulam, was in town yesterday with four Canadian lynx pelts, which he disposed of to one of our fur buyers. He was somewhat disappointed when told that he was not entitled to a county bounty, as he had been led to believe. The animals were shot by Frank Freeman on his farm on the Galway road about five miles from Bobcaygeon, and his story of the killing is somewhat interesting. While on his way home from a visit to a neighbor his dog started the parents and three young ones in a thicket about one hundred yards ahead, and soon after they left the cover and made for a large tree standing in the open, up which they quickly scrambled. Freeman had his gun, a rifle bored to serve as a shot gun, but had only one charge of ammunition, and taking careful aim at a distance of about 60 yards he had the satisfaction of seeing one of the five "varmints" fall to the ground, where it was worried by the dog. The fight excited the remaining animals to a high pitch, and two of them descended the tree, but the dog left the fallen one and they raced up the trunk again. Freeman was now out of ammunition; he wanted the skins, but was afraid that if he returned to the house his dog would be torn to pieces in his absence, as he could not be coaxed away from the tree. At last a lucky thought struck the despairing hunter—he recollected that he had in his pocket the lead handle of a butcher knife, and this he speedily converted into irregular shaped but deadly slugs for his gun. In the course of the next ten minutes three more of the lynx family were wiped out, only the mother being left. Enraged by the death of her young, she leaped upon the dog from an overhanging branch, and after cutting him up badly, escaped into the forest.

HARDY NOMINATED

The Premier Addresses His Constituents at Brantford.

RECORD OF THE GOVERNMENT.

A Complete Reply to the Criticisms of the Opposition—An Enthusiastic Meeting of South Brant Liberals—Resolutions Adopted—The Premier's Speech.

Brantford, Dec. 4.—An enthusiastic and largely attended Liberal convention for the purpose of nominating a candidate to represent the riding in the Legislature took place in the Wycliffe Hall this afternoon. The attendance from the county was unusually large and the members were very enthusiastic. In a brief and eloquent speech Mr. W. G. Raymond called the meeting to order. After the election of officers had been unanimously and satisfactorily disposed of Hon. A. S. Hardy was nominated.

Amid a scene of great enthusiasm Mr. Hardy accepted the nomination after resolutions of confidence in the policy and acts of the Government of Hon. A. S. Hardy, with especial reference to the talented Premier; and one expressive of confidence in the Dominion Government, were passed.

When the nomination had been agreed to unanimously and enthusiastically the President called upon the Attorney-General, Hon. A. S. Hardy, who was received with tumultuous applause. Mr. Hardy touched in a few opening remarks upon purely local affairs. Mr. Whitney had said that the early session was called to prevent his tour of the country, which had proved to be such a great triumph. Mr. Whitney had endeavored to say many damaging things, but so far as he could learn had not succeeded in saying anything of importance or that would invalidate the present Administration. The speaker was the one member left of the old and great Ministry headed by Sir Oliver Mowat, which had fought the great battle for the autonomy of the province against Sir John Macdonald. He was the one link connecting the present Administration with the one which had fought and won the fight for the province's rights and the ownership of half its present area. (Applause.)

Everything the Liberals had done was on record. Mr. Whitney claimed that the Government had become frightened and stopped his tour of the country, a tour that the leader of the Opposition said was such a triumph. The sum total of this great triumphal progress of Mr. Whitney's, so far as he (the speaker) was able to find out, numbered, was two converts—two disgruntled office-seekers. (Loud laughter.) Mr. Hardy concluded an eloquent address by saying that he looked forward with the most perfect confidence to a victory in South Brant, and to an equally pronounced victory for the Ontario Government all over the Province. The Attorney-General took his seat amid deafening applause.

Mr. Hardy's reception by his constituents, after a quarter of a century's service, was more enthusiastically cordial than ever even he has known in this intelligent and up-to-date riding.

MR. MULOCK'S GOOD FORTUNE.

Hon. Wm. Mulock, Postmaster-General, is congratulating himself and the country upon the excellent showing the Post Office Department has been making. Mr. Mulock has had, while in office a good deal of the pleasant fortune that comes to the man that works to deserve it. Beginning by saving a large amount of money in the mail contracts he has had the pleasure of seeing the receipts of the department rapidly increase. The Jubilee stamp issue was a stroke of business that brought a goodly sum into the treasury, and right on the top of that, instead of the temporary falling off in receipts that might have been expected, comes the present boom in business which has swelled the receipts by $240,000 in the last four months.

The Postmaster General is to be congratulated upon the prosperous condition of his department. Moreover, there is every likelihood that the latest regulations of the department will be also valuable as revenue-producers. Especially is this true of the new system, which permits business houses to use the front of private post cards for purposes of advertisement. There is no valid reason in the world why an advertisement should not be printed on the face of the card, and it is quite likely that this evidence of Mulock's business sense will be rewarded by yet another considerable addition to the revenue of his department.

The reduction on postage from Canada to Great Britain from five cents a half ounce to three cents an ounce might be expected to expose the department to a considerable loss. If the contrary should prove to be the case, as is not impossible, a double good purpose will be served.—Montreal Herald.

How Long Will This Piano Last?

The above question is asked by almost every piano purchaser before making a decision.

If you are discussing a Chickering Piano there is an emphatic answer.

No matter what YOUR age rest assured the piano will outlive you.

There is no one living who has ever purchased a Chickering piano AND WORN IT OUT.

Think of the number of children to-day practising upon Chickering pianos purchased by their grandparents.

There are thousands of Chickering pianos so purchased and so used.

Perhaps, they are not as good as they were 50 or 60 or 70 years ago, but the marvel is that they are in use at all.

The majority of pianos by other makers are worn out in a third the period.

These are simple Chickering facts.

High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

ROBT. FAIR'S.

During our Quick Reduction Sale before Christmas perhaps there's no department in our store where the Reduction will be more sweeping than in MANTLES AND JACKETS.

Last winter when we were closing out our matchless stock of Coats, &c., we did not hesitate to mark $12 and $15 garments at $5 and $6, in order to keep none over for another year. We propose this season to hew just as close to the line—let the loss be what it may. It sometimes pays to floor. A loss now accepted will enable us to clear out our whole stock in this department in a short time. Here are some of these Mantle Sacrifices:—

FOR $3.00 A lot of Ladies' Fancy Tweed Coats, very special, formerly sold at $7.50.

FOR $5.00 A lot of Ladies' German Tweed Coats, 30 inch fitting garments, formerly sold at $8.50.

FOR $6 25 A lot of Tailor-made German Coats, well finished, formerly sold at $10.

FOR $8 50 Ladies' Stylish Rough Frieze Cloth Coats, formerly sold at $12.50.

The balance of our Misses and Children's Jackets are also all reduced on a par with the above changed figures ranging at $4, $4.50, $4.75 and $5, or about $3 to $3.50 off former selling prices.

This is the way we have of keeping our Stock fresh. There is no reason why the Handsome and Useful should not combine in Holiday presents.

ONTARIO ASSEMBLY.

Five Minute Session of the Legislature Yesterday.

THE PROVINCE'S BLIND PEOPLE.

The Debate on the Address to be Continued To-Day by Mr. Willoughby—Mr. Stratton of Peterboro to Follow Him—A Patron Bill for Municipal Audits—A Batch of Petitions Presented.

Toronto, Dec. 7.

The Legislature sat but five minutes yesterday, and beyond the presenting of several liquor petitions there was little routine business done.

The debate on the address will be continued to-day. Mr. Willoughby, who moved the adjournment, will be the first speaker and will be followed by Mr. Stratton of Peterboro.

An Important Bill.

Mr. Haycock gave notice he would introduce a bill to provide for the better auditing of municipal accounts. He says that at present one of the difficulties in auditing such accounts has been found not so much in the matter of non-payments as in the receipts not having been credited, especially where one municipality has made payment to another. The bill provides that the treasurer of every municipality who pays money to the treasurer of another shall, on January 1 of each year, send a statement over his own signature and sealed with the corporate seal to the head of the municipality to whose treasurer he sends the money. This statement is to be used by the auditors in auditing the accounts. The bill also provides that the registrar of every municipality shall also make such return, and it also provides for permanent auditors, as in the case of cities.

Ontario's Blind People.

The report of the Inspector of Prisons and Public Charities has been completed and is now in the hands of the Provincial Secretary, who will present it to the Legislature this week.

It is a matter of congratulation that blindness is on the decrease. In 1881 there were 200 blind students in the Brantford Institute, while last year the number had decreased to 140. There has been a large corresponding decrease in the expenses of the institution per capita as well as in the aggregate. Last year it cost $267 per pupil to run the institution, while for the past 12 months it cost but $256. A remarkable feature of the report is that it shows more Methodists going blind than any other denomination and that in proportion more English go blind than other nationalities. A majority of the patients are from 13 to 17 years of age.

Petitions Presented.

The County Councils of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry have presented a petition in which they claim that the law regarding the sale of lands for taxes is unfair. They say that such proceedings are attended with so much formality that fraud or mistakes are frequent in selling lands belonging to non-resident owners. They ask for a more direct manner.

The Synod of Niagara has presented a petition for a bill to permit it to sell church property and buy land for a see house for the bishop. Such power is in doubt.

Petitions for radial railways have begun to come in. The latest is one from Smith Falls.

Municipalities Do Not Want It.

The temperance people sent a blank form and an invitation for every municipal council to send in to the Government, asking for power to control hours of sale of liquor. Though hundreds of such petitions have come in from other sources, only one has been presented by a municipal council. This is very good proof that municipalities are not anxious to have the power.

Mr. Byron O. Lott, the Liberal candidate for North Hastings, had an interview with the Premier yesterday afternoon.

A DOUBLE COLLISION.

One of the Atlantic Greyhounds Strikes the Allan Line Steamer Corean Twice in Dense Fog.

Halifax, N.S., Dec. 7.—The Allan Line steamer Corean, from New York, bound to Glasgow, put in here yesterday in a damaged condition, having been in a collision at sea with a big ocean liner, name unknown. She came down on the Corean at 12 o'clock Saturday night during a dense fog, suddenly appearing on the port side in a mist and dashing past like a race horse. The officers on deck saw the unknown Atlantic greyhound tower above them for a moment in the night, then they knew that their ship had been struck, and the next moment they were alone on the waste of fog enshrouded water. The only sound heard was that of the impact as the two ships came together. It was a glancing blow, the colliding steamer's bow having forged ahead of the Corean's before the steamers came together. Then the two must have been swung around by the collision, for the Corean was struck almost immediately near the stern. The second shock was not nearly as heavy as the first. Four of the bow plates were smashed in, several feet of bulwarks and rails were carried away, angle iron were broken and the deck shattered for a space of a few feet. No one was seriously injured. There were four hundred cattle on dock, but none of them were injured. All the damage was found to be above the water line, but it was rather more than would have been safe to venture across the Atlantic with, so Captain Stewart decided to make the 165 miles to Halifax.

CASE OF ALPHONSE CYR.

An Interesting Experiment With Lockjaw Anti-Toxine—His Life to be Saved if Possible.

Ottawa, Dec. 7.—Alphonse Cyr, a laborer, is in the Water street Hospital, supposed to be suffering with lockjaw. He was taken there yesterday and his condition is growing more serious. A week ago Cyr jumped on a rusty nail while at work in Booth's lumber yards. The nail pierced his foot and since that time he has suffered very severe pain. Yesterday he felt his neck and his jaws becoming a little stiff and sore, and he gradually grew worse. A telegram has been sent to Montreal to have a supply of anti-toxine sent to Ottawa immediately. Drs. Provost and Freeland have hopes that if the case is dealt with at once the man's life may be saved. This a case that is not by any means common and few cases of it have been cured.

The taxation of church property was advocated by Rev. Dr. Saunders at this morning's meeting of the Ministerial Association. Dr. Saunders advanced several pronounced views in an excellent paper dealing with the sphere of a Christian minister. He said: "The Christian minister is a citizen and ought to aim to be the best in the State. All that concerns their welfare ought to live in his heart's core. To be careless and indifferent to any rational interest is to be recreant to his high trust. He should pay his taxes like a man and vote as if he were casting his ballot on the judgment seat. If he can be intimidated he is a poltroon and not a minister of God. If he can be cajoled he is a buffoon. If he sells his vote he is a traitor." He attacked the civic administration, stating that the finances were being squandered, not merely by contractors, but by those in trust.

The reports which come from Montreal periodically about Shortis, the Beauharnois murderer, now in the penitentiary, are evidently manufactured by parties interested in the prisoner. One time Shortis is to be released, and at another time he is to be removed to Kingston. The latest is that he is to be sent to Ireland. The Department of Justice knows nothing of these reports, as the matter has not been before them one way or another.

Ottawa may have another company supplying light. The Deschenes Electric Company have applied to the City Council for a charter to supply electric light and power in the city. They will lay underground wires into the city. This will create competition with the present electric company, and probably lead to a reduction in the price of electric light.

Notes.

Hon. W. S. Fielding, who has reached New York from England, intends staying a few days at Halifax before coming to Ottawa.

Mr. John Davis, Mayor of Windsor, Ont., is here and had an interview with Mr. Paterson, Minister of Customs.

Hon. Dr. Borden sails from New York on Wednesday.

De Kuyper, the gin maker, has started another trade mark case against Milchers, who is accused of an infringement of the former's trade mark.

Lieut.-Col. Humphreys of the 6th, Halifax, has withdrawn his resignation.

Hon. A. B. Routhier, Superior Court Judge in the Province of Quebec, will, it is said, be appointed Lieutenant-Governor of the Northwest Territories, and Hon. Francois Langelier, M.P., a judge in his place. Judge Routhier was made a judge in 1873.

Distress from Earache.

"I was troubled with earache for a long time," says Miss J. Johnson, Innisfail, N. W. T., "and after trying diff rent remedies without succes, used Hagyard's Yellow Oil as a last resort and I can really say that it cured me so completely that I have never had earache since."

GERMANY'S ACTION.

Two Cruisers Arrive at Port au Prince.

HAYTI GIVEN EIGHT HOURS' TIME

Submission or Bombardment the Alternative—The Terms Very Galling—Hayti Willing to Pay the Lueders Indemnity—The German Naval Bill—In Kiao Chou Bay.

Port au Prince, Hayti, Dec. 7.—The trouble between Germany and Hayti, as a result of the alleged illegal arrest and imprisonment of Herr Lueders, said to be a German subject, reached a crisis yesterday. Two German cruisers entered this port during this morning and an ultimatum from the German Government, was delivered to the Hayti Government giving the latter eight hours in which to grant the demands of Germany for an indemnity to Herr Lueders.

The members of the diplomatic corps here believe the Government of the republic has decided to accept the conditions of Germany. In anticipation of trouble, the citizens of German nationality sought refuge yesterday on board two steamers which were at this port.

Hayti Willing to Pay.

Berlin, Dec. 7.—A despatch to The Frankfort Zeitung from Washington yesterday says the Republic of Hayti is ready to pay Germany the indemnity demanded in behalf of that country for the alleged illegal arrest and imprisonment of Herr Emil Lueders.

GERMAN NAVAL BILL.

Prince Hohenlohe Declares That an Efficient Navy is a Necessity.

Berlin, Dec. 7.—The Reichstag yesterday began the debate upon the first reading of the Government's naval bill. The Imperial Chancellor, Prince Hohenlohe, said: "We absolutely require an efficient navy to maintain the position created for us by the army. This conviction has gained ground with very large sections of the population, and I declare, in the name of the Federated Governments, that they consider as an imperative necessity that the navy should be strengthened, and that its strength should be fixed by legislative enactment."

The Secretary of the Navy declared that the present system of voting naval supplies must be changed, and he appealed to the Reichstag favorably to consider the Government's measure.

Herr Schoenlank, Social Democrat, said he thought it curious that the flaws in the navy had only now been discovered. Attempts were being made, he claimed, to frighten the people with phantoms and excite them to a craving for glory, and, the speaker asked, how could this be German policy? "We will, without unnecessary acerbity, but at the same time without weakness, protect our rights and interests." (Prolonged cheers.)

The House soon afterwards adjourned until to-day.

In Possession of Kiao Chou Bay.

London, Dec. 7.—A despatch to The Daily News from Shanghai says:

Two hundred German marines and sailors, with two machine guns, on Friday last (Dec. 3) entered the City of Kiao Chou and took possession of the city walls and gates. They were not molested, the Chinese troops retreating as the Germans advanced.

Italian Cabinet Crisis.

Rome, Dec. 7.—The Cabinet yesterday formally tendered its resignation to King Humbert, who reserved his decision. It is expected that the Marquis Di Rudini, the present Premier, will be entrusted with the task of re-forming the Ministry.

At the meeting of the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, Marquis Di Rudini announced the resignation of the Cabinet, and the House adjourned.

King Humbert has entrusted the Marquis Di Rudini with the task of constructing a new Cabinet, and the Marquis asks time to reflect.

Gaudaur's Proposition to Wray.

Rat Portage, Ont., Dec. 7.—Jake Gaudaur, champion oarsman of the world, says that he has decided to make Wray of Australia, who professes an ardent desire to get a race with him, a proposition towards that end. Gaudaur will not go to England merely to row Wray for £200; in fact, such a challenge shows insincerity on the part of Wray. Gaudaur's expenses alone would be £100, and he will go if this is also gauranteed. It is an interesting fact, Gaudaur says, that Wray's is the first challenge he has received for his title since he won it from Stanbury last year.

The Poirier Murder Case.

St. Scholastique, Que., Dec. 7.—The preliminary trial in the Poirier murder case was resumed at 2.30 p. m. yesterday. Judge Demartigny on ascending the bench ordered the court room to be cleared, and will allow nobody but prisoner's counsel and witnesses on the stand to be present at any more of the sittings. Every witness will be charged to withhold his testimony from outsiders. His Honor thinks this course necessary in order to procure an unbiased jury at the forthcoming trial before the Queen's Bench.

Navigation at Toronto.

Toronto, Dec. 4.—The harbormaster has taken in the buoys, with the exception of those at the eastern gap. These will be left out for a few days, until the Algonquin and Rosedale arrive. During the month of November, 1896, 74 vessels came into port here, and during the same month last year 92 vessels arrived. Last year navigation closed on Dec. 14, and it is expected the last boat this year will arrive about the same time.

The Great Blood Purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures.

Sufferers from any disease caused by impure blood should never be discouraged about taking Hood's Sarsaparilla because other medicines have failed to give relief. Remember Hood's Sarsaparilla cures when all others fail. Read this statement:

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Dear Sirs:—I think it my duty to let you know what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. I was suffering with severe headaches daily and also with catarrh. One day a paper was left at my house and in looking it over I read of your great medicine's value to my fellow sufferers. I reasoned that if it cured them, why would it not cure me, although I must own I had some doubts about it, as I so-called cures which had failed even to relieve me. At last I procured a bottle and after taking all the medicine the headaches had left me and my catarrh trouble was much better. I continued taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and have derived so much benefit from it that I would advise any one troubled with impure blood to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier. I feel better now than I have for years, thanks to Hood's Sarsaparilla." Mrs. E. Grey, 27 St. Nicholas St., Toronto, Ontario. Remember

ONTARIO'S TEXT BOOKS.

OUR EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM AND ILLINOIS' COMPARED.

The Advantage with Ontario—The Spoils System in Operation in Illinois—School Books Changed Frequently and Different Series in Use in One State—Books Cheaper in Ontario.

(Special Correspondence of the Globe.)

Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 10.—No one man in the Ontario Cabinet had ever had so much adverse criticism heaped upon him as has the Hon. George W. Ross, Minister of Education. Conservative speakers would lead one to believe he was almost criminal. Sir John Macdonald's remark that "the most sticks are found under the tree that bears the best apples," surely applies to Mr. Ross. If the good people of Ontario had to live in Illinois a while they would return to their native province with a most profound respect for the man who has defended their interests in the face of temptations no doubt as alluring as have caused the betrayal of the public trust by the people's representatives in Illinois.

In education as well as everthing else, we judge results by the amount we get for our dollars. To show that the Ontario public gets full value for its money let us compare the cost of education there with what it costs in the State of Illinois. In the first place the Province of Ontario has a uniform system of education. Illinois has not. By a uniform system I mean that in Ontario the text books used are the same the Province over, and that teachers in one part of the Province are required to pass identically the same examinations as those in another. The same general laws apply to the transaction of school work all over the Province, and there are no vital differences which make the removal of a family from one locality to another a serious matter to the pocket-book on account of the change of schools.

THE SUPERINTENDENT OF EDUCATION.

The chief educational officer of a city or borough here is called a Superintendent, and his duties are much the same as our own inspectors. However, though he is a teacher he has not the free hand that an Inspector has. He has greater difficulties, too, for he has to break in his new teachers without their having, in many instances, any professional training. He holds his position only from year to year, and if he is worldly wise he begins to lay plans for next year's appointment as soon as he gets this year's. Now, I would not have it thought that these gentlemen are not cultured and highly worthy of their position. In most cases they are, but there are exceptions. Still, nearly always there is much anxiety, and many needed reforms are never started because of the surety that if they were undertaken by the Superintendent he would not be permitted to finish them. The position of Superintendent is one of the "plums" given, of course, to one of the faithful, and no matter how good the work of the said officer may be, if the opposing party is successful in the next election, his head promptly goes into the basket, not because of inefficient work but because the new directors had promised his position to some one else in return for services performed during the campaign. He does not hold his place because of merit, but as a political reward in many cases. Then a man must keep in with his own party. The Superintendent owes his position to certain members of the board. The members owe theirs to the faithful work of Billy Muldoon, who, though he may not be able to write his name, insists that he must have his say in matters of education. There being no examinations to pass, a candidate for a position sends in an application, giving several names as references. The board sends out a paper to each of these references, asking certain questions regarding the character and ability of the applicant. If he or she happens to be the son or daughter of one of Billy's friends, and the aforesaid Billy is applied to as a reference, you may have your doubts as to the value of his advice from an educational standpoint, but not from a political one. If he is very much interested in the applicant's success he will attend the board meeting with a host of his followers and what Billy says goes. The applicant gets the position and the certificate together, but of course such a certificate is of no value except in the district where it is obtained. Innocently enough, for Bloomington is a thriving city, I asked Superintendent Van Patten to-day if all his teachers were Normal trained. He didn't say much, but he had a far-away look in his eye. I inferred he was thinking of a Superintendent's "happy hunting ground." Anyone can see that such a system cannot give as good results as that used in Ontario. The Ontario people get better teachers for their money than the people of Illinois do.

SCHOOL BOOKS GALORE.

When one takes up the text book subject he is more and more impressed with the superiority of Ontario's system. Each school district here has the right to chose its own series of text-books, but the law provides a fine of $25 for each school director who votes for a change of books within the limit of four years from a previous change. In most places the books are changed each four years, and in some places oftener, for the rival publisher is willing to pay the fine for the privilege of supplying a populous district with his goods.

The people of Ontario are told each succeeding campaign that they are being robbed by the text-book publishing houses. That the books are being changed too often, that there are far too many books used, and many other things equally untrue. The books sold in this state are sold all over the Union, and therefore the cost of manufacture is just as low as that of the Ontario books. This is not all. In the second, third and fourth books in Ontario the arithmetic, readers, etc., of the eldest child of a family are passed downwards until the one set of books does service for two or three children. Here that never happens. The books are changed too often for that. Suppose a boy gets into the fourth reader in September. He must have a full set of books. In April the new members take their places on the board, and perhaps a new Superintendent is appointed. At any rate it is decreed that new text-books are to be used. The boy must now be fitted out with a complete set of new books, and the old ones not half used yet. The Public School books of Ontario were changed in 1885, but time was allowed so that children in certain readers would finish their course in their respective grades without requiring to purchase a new book until they were promoted, when they would have to have a new book anyhow. Of course the discarded books were of no use to the younger children in any of those families, but while Ontario books have been changed only once in that time, in almost every school district in this State the books have been changed three or four times. More than that, some of the books, whose prices I quote below, are only Part I. of a book. To complete the Public School course, Part II. and in some cases Part III. will be required. Thus, an arithmetic that in Ontario would suffice for use during the whole Public School course will do only for a part of it here, and the pupil in the higher grade will have to secure a more expensive book, even if the series is not changed, with the odds two to one that he will have to purchase Part II. of the present series and part two of a new one also.

Besides this frequent changing, the books for the whole State are not uniform. If they were things would not be so bad. Circumstances often require that a family living in one place must remove to another. In that case it is very seldom the two districts use the same books. From the table below you can figure out the cost of a set of books for a a family of five or six children of school ages. This is especially burdensome on the poorer classes, for they are the ones who move oftenest. I have frequently inquired of parents here why their children were not at school, and have received the answer that they have just moved here from —— and cannot afford to buy new school books for the little ones. Thus the children grow up with little or no education.

A COMPARISON OF PRICES.

Below is a comparative table of the cost of the books used by pupils in the third reader in Ontario and those used by pupils in the fifth grade in Bloomington, Ill. This would vary slightly in different cities. It is hard to get at the standing of the pupils using such different books, but the pupil in the fifth grade here has much the same work as the senior third class in Ontario, and its position in the eight grades makes it about the position in the course of studies.

ONTARIO HAS THE ADVANTAGE.

This comparison will serve as an example of the difference in the number and price of books in Ontario and Illinois. The cost of the books used in a whole Public School course here, according to data kindly furnished me by Superintendent Van Rettan, would be $14 26, while the books for the Ontario course would amount to considerably less than one-half that amount, and the graduate of the Ontario Public School would have much better education than the graduate of the same class of schools here. In the above tables all account of slates, pencils, paper, etc., was omitted.

It is customary when a good point is noted in the Ontario school system to look very solemn and make some remark commending the work of the late Dr. Ryerson. Certainly Dr. Ryerson deserves credit for the excellent work he did, but it is not right to credit him him with things he did not do. Mr. Ross deserves the credit for the change from the old country board to the Provincial certificates and for the manner in which he effected the change in the text books, by which two achievements he gave the taxpayers better value for their money.

VICTORY OVER DYSPEPSIA

Is Easy and Quick With Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets

There is no need to tell those who suffer with Dyspepsia or Indigestion what is the matter with them.

They know it only too well.

The great object with them is how to get cured.

They can be cured, easily, simply, and surely. There's no earthly reason why any person should suffer with dyspepsia, indigestion, heartburn, sour stomach, or any similar disease of the digestive organs. It is rank foolishness to do so.

Why?

Because Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cure these diseases quickly, positively and simply.

There's no secret about how they do this. They do the work your tired-out stomach cannot do. At the same time they tone up and strengthen the stomach, fitting it to again do its own work properly.

There can be no failure. If the stomach were paralyzed in every part, Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets would digest the food taken into it. That's what Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are made for. And that's what Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will do.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, each box containing the double treatment, can be procured from all druggists, at 50 cents a box, or will be sent, on receipt of price, by the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

Shocked and Frightened.

Weak, nervous people having heart troubles are easily shocked and frightened. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills fortify the nerves, restore regular action to the heart and cure every form of heart and nerve trouble. Mrs. Gladys McMillan, Toronto, says: "Milburns Heart and Nerve Pills cured me of nervousness and palpitation. I was so nervous that the least noise would startle me; but am now perfectly well."

Piles! Piles! Itchin Piles.

Symptoms—Moisture intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate becoming very sore. Swayne's Ointment stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumour. All druggists or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Low's Worm Syrup is a safe, sure and reliable worm expeller. Acts equally well on children or adults. Be sure you get Low's.

How Long Will This Piano Last?

The above question is asked by almost every piano purchaser before making a decision.

If you are discussing a Chickering Piano there is an emphatic answer.

No matter what YOUR age rest assured the piano will outlive you.

There is no one living who has ever purchased a Chickering piano AND WORN IT OUT.

Think of the number of children to-day practising upon Chickering pianos purchased by their grandparents.

There are thousands of Chickering pianos so purchased and so used.

Perhaps, they are not as good as they were 50 or 60 or 70 years ago, but the marvel is that they are in use at all.

The majority of pianos by other makers are worn out in a third the period.

These are simple Chickering facts.

THE 55TH CONGRESS.

President McKinley's Deliverance to This Body on

PRESSING LEGISLATIVE SUBJECTS

The Currency Problem—The Annexation of Hawaii—A Waiting Policy Recommended Concerning Cuba—Reciprocity—Sealing Question—Alaska and the Yukon—The Bimetallic Commission.

Washington, Dec. 7.—The Hall of Representatives presented an animated appearance long before the hour of noon arrived. The corridors were filled with jostling, moving crowds and before 11 o'clock yesterday the galleries which overlooked the floor were black with people. The bright sunlight sifting through the stained glass of the ceiling intensified every bit of color, gilding the brass railings, glorifying the floral tributes and bringing into bright relief the gay dresses of the ladies in the reserved galleries.

President McKinley's address to the 55th Congress first expressed his pleasure at meeting the Congress, and then went on to give his ideas of various current questions. After declaring that "time will be needed to testify to the efficacy of the tariff legislation," President McKinley first directed their attention to

The Currency Question.

The President said: The work of putting our finances upon a sound basis, difficult as it may seem, will appear easier when we recall the financial operations of the Government since 1866. On the 30th day of June of that year we had outstanding demand liabilities in the sum of $728,868,447. On the 1st of January, 1879, the liabilities had been reduced to $443,889,495. Of our interest-bearing obligations, the figures are even more striking. On July 1, 1866, the principal of the interest-bearing debt of the Government was $2,332,331,908. On the first day of July, 1896, this sum had been reduced to $585,037,100, or an aggregate reduction of $1,747,294,108.

With the great resources of the Government, and with the honorable example of the past, before us, we ought not to hesitate to enter upon a currency revision which will make our demand obligations less onerous to the Government and relieve our financial laws from ambiguity and doubt. The evil of the present system is found in the great cost to the Government of maintaining the parity of our different forms of money—that is, keeping all of them on par with gold. Nobody is obliged to redeem in gold but the Government. The law which requires the Government, after having redeemed its United States notes, to pay them out again as currency funds, demands a constant replenishment of the gold reserve.

The serious question is, Shall we continue the policy that has been pursued in the past, that is when the gold reserve reaches the point of danger issue more bonds and supply the needed gold, or shall we provide other means to prevent these recurring drains upon the gold reserve? If no further legislation is had and the policy of selling bonds is to be continued, then Congress should give the Secretary of the Treasury authority to sell bonds at long or short periods, bearing a less rate of interest than is now authorized by law.

I earnestly recommend as soon as the receipts of the Government are quite sufficient to pay all the expenses of the Government, that when any of the United States notes are presented for redemption in gold, and are redeemed in gold, such notes shall be kept and set apart and only paid out in exchange for gold. If we are to have any era of prosperity in the country, with sufficient receipts for the expenses of the Government, we may feel no immediate embarrassment from our present currency; but the danger still exists, and will be ever present, menacing us so long as the existing system continues.

I recommend that the issue of national bank notes be restricted to the denomination of ten dollars and upwards. If this suggestion I have herein made shall have the approval of Congress then I would recommend that national banks be required to redeem their notes in gold.

The most important problem with which this Government is now called upon to deal pertaining to its foreign relations concerns its duty towards Spain and the Cuban insurrection. The story of Cuba for many years has been one of unrest, growing discontent, an effort towards a larger enjoyment of liberty and self-control; of organized resistance to the mother country, of depression, after distress and warfare, and of ineffectual settlement to be followed by renewed revolt. For no enduring period since the enfranchisement of the continental possessions of Spain in the Western continent has the condition of Cuba or the policy of Spain toward Cuba not caused concern to the United States.

Of the untried measures, there remain only: Recognition of the insurgents as belligerents; recognition of the independence of Cuba; neutral intervention to end the war by imposing a rational compromise between the contestants, and intervention in favor of one or the other party. I speak not of forcible annexation, for that cannot be thought of.

After reviewing the "practicable aspects of a recognition of belligerency and its inconveniences and positive dangers," the President reaches the conclusion that "the recognition of the belligerency of the Cuban insurgents is now unwise, and therefore unadmissible," but he adds, "Should that step hereafter be deemed wise, as a measure of right and duty, the Executive will take it."

By a special message, dated the 16th of June last, I laid before the Senate a treaty signed that day by the plenipotentiaries of the United States and of the Republic of Hawaii, having for its purpose the incorporation of the Hawaiian Islands as an integral part of the United States and under its sovereignty. The Senate having removed the injunction of secrecy, although the treaty is still pending before that body, the subject may be properly referred to in this message because the necessary action of the Congress is required to determine by legislation many details of the eventual union, should the fact of annexation be accomplished, as I believe it should be.

The logic of events required that annexation, heretofore offered but declined, should in the ripeness of time come about as the natural result of the strengthening ties that bind us to these islands, and be realized by the free will of the Hawaiian State.

The treaty was unanimously ratified without amendment by the Senate and President of the Republic of Hawaii on Sept. 10 last, and only awaits the favorable action of the American Senate to effect the complete absorption of the islands into the domain of the United States. What the conditions of such a union shall be are matters which the treaty has wisely relegated to the Congress.

The President refers briefly to the Nicaraguan Canal, saying that its utility and value to American commerce is universally admitted. When the commission which is now surveying the route makes its report it will be submitted to Congress with such suggestions as the President may think advisable.

Reference is made at length to the bimetallic commission appointed last April, and the efforts of the commissioners to reach an agreement with the nations of Europe. They have, the President says, been diligent in their efforts to secure the concurrence and co-operation of European countries, but up to this time have not been able to secure an agreement contemplated by their mission. The commissioners have not made their final report, as further negotiations are pending.

In order to execute as early as possible the provisions of the third and fourth sections of the Revenue Act approved July 24, 1897, I appointed the Hon. John A. Kasson of Iowa a special commissioner plenipotentiary to undertake the requisite negotiations with foreign countries desiring to avail themselves of these provisions. The negotiations are now proceeding with several Governments, both European and American. It is believed that by a careful exercise of the powers conferred by that act, some grievances of our own and of other countries in our mutual trade relations may be either removed or largely alleviated, and that the volume of our commercial exchanges may be enlarged, with advantage to both contracting parties.

The efforts which have been made during the two previous years by my predecessor to secure better protection of fur seals in the North Pacific Ocean and Behring Sea were renewed at an early date by this administration, and have been pursued with earnestness. Upon my invitation the Governments of Japan and Russia sent delegates to Washington, and an international conference was held during the months of October and November last, wherein it was unanimously agreed that under the existing regulations this species of useful animals was threatened with extinction, and that an international agreement of all the interested powers was necessary for their adequate protection.

The Government of Great Britain did not see proper to be represented at this conference, but subsequently sent to Washington, as delegates, the expert commissioners of Great Britain and Canada, who had during the first two years visited the Pribyloff Islands, and who met in conference similar commissioners on the part of the United States. The result of this conference was an agreement on important facts connected with the condition of the seal herd heretofore in dispute which should place beyond controversy the duty of the Governments concerned to adopt measures without delay for the preservation and restoration of the herd. Negotiations to this end are now in progress, the result of which I hope to be able to report to Congress at an early day.

International arbitration cannot be omitted from the list of subjects claiming consideration. Events have only served to strengthen the general views on this question expressed in my inaugural address. The best sentiment of the civilized world is moving toward the settlement of differences between nations without resorting to the horrors of war. Treaties embodying these humane principles on broad lines without in any way imperilling our interests or our honor shall have my constant encouragement.

The territory of Alaska requires the prompt and early attention of Congress. The conditions now existing demand material changes in the laws relating to the territory. The great influx of population during the past summer and fall and the prospect of a still larger immigration in the spring will not permit us to longer neglect the extension of civil authority within the territory or postpone the establishment of a more thorough government. The startling, though possibly exaggerated, reports from the Yukon River country of the probable shortage of food for the large number of people who are wintering there without means of leaving the country are confirmed in such measure as to justify bringing the matter to the attention of Congress.

Secretary Gage transmitted to Congress the estimates of appropriations required for the service of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1899, as furnished by the several executive departments. The total amount called for by the estimates is $469,647,885, which is about $82,000,000 in excess of the appropriations for 1898, including deficiencies and miscellaneous, and about $41,000,000 more than the estimates for 1897.

These amounts include estimates for rivers and harbors, $48,738,160, and fortifications and other works of defence, $13,278,561.

BRITISH COMMENTS.

Various Views Expressed on President McKinley's Deliverance.

London, Dec. 7.—The Daily Chronicle describes President McKinley's message as "weak and colorless compared with the vigorous handling of public questions to which Mr. Cleveland accustomed us." It says: "The explanation of this is simple. Mr. Cleveland was in front of Congress; Mr. McKinley is behind it. The President's comments on the currency issue are positively childlike in their simplicity. It is safe to prophesy that his treatment of the Cuban question will be received with a storm. The annexation of Cuba would be a deplorable mistake, but the reasons for refraining from that course are not the milk and water ones McKinley advances."

The Morning Post, after paying a tribute to the President's "fine sense of duty, in the face of domestic trouble, in sending the message at the appointed hour," specially praises President McKinley's treatment of the currency question.

The Daily Telegraph says: "It used to be America's proud boast that she had no foreign policy. Judging from President McKinley's message, the new world is no more free from the burdens of diplomatic negotiations than the old."

The Daily Mail says it is "very satisfactory that President McKinley comes out so strong against the jingoes."

A Complimentary Concert.

It was announced a few days ago that Mr. Thos. Dunn would leave town shortly to take residence in Chicago. In view of his departure his friends are arranging a complimentary concert to be held in Bradburns Opera House on Tuesday evening, Dec. 21st. An excellent programme is in preparation, the programme being in charge of leading local musicians. Of course Mr. and Mrs. Dunn will assist in the programme, and other local musicians will also contribute. It is extremely probable that a very large number will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing Mr. Dunn for the last time in his capacity of a citizen of Peterborough. Mr. Dunn is a baritone of specially fine voice and method and has for years contributed to the success of local concerts in aid of church and charitable objects, and his services have always been given free of charge, and a bumper house should be present on Dec. 21st, to recognize Mr. Dunn's past large services to the best musical entertainments of the town. Further particulars as to the concert will be given in a few days.

Thursday's Concert.

The chorus on Thursday night next will sing some gems of unaccompanied four-part writing by the best composers, among them being Henry Leslie's stirring setting of "Scots Wha Hae."

Douglas Bird, the tenor, has on his programme several numbers that are bound to meet with favour, while Miss Alexander is sure to take the audience by storm with her "Jubilee day in London."

Seats are being rapidly taken and the public are advised to secure places on the plan at once as the audience bids fair to be very large. Plan at Sailsbury's. Seats, 50, 35 and 25c.

The Toronto World says:—No better tribute to the popularity of an entertainer could have been bestowed than the fact that nearly 3000 people turned out in last night's storm to the annual recital given by Miss Jessie Alexander at Massey Hall. The Kingsley selection was given with great dash and aroused patriotic feeling to a high pitch. Charles Dickens' funny production aroused much merriment and "Brave Brave Cameron," accompanied by the subdued strains of "Cameron Man," by the band evoked warm recalls. The Romeo and Juliet excerpts were taken from the passage following the balcony scene; after the marriage, and the potion scene, in all of which Miss Alexander's dramatic power was made fully manifest. But the piece de resistance was Miss Alexander's own description of her experience on a [illegible] day morning. The audience [illegible] incessantly at the true-to-life pic[illegible]own, and the applause was uproar[illegible] at the close.

WILLIAM PITT.

An Eloquent Address by Mr. Daniel O'Connell Last Evening.

A good sized audience assembled in the Catholic Literary Association rooms Monday evening, and the entertainment provided was a most enjoyable one in every respect.

Mr. T. J. Begley occupied the chair and the programme opened with a brilliantly executed piano solo by Miss White. Mr. W. Moncrief in his vocal number sang with excellent taste, and was followed by Misses Burns and Delaire in a clever exhibition of club swinging. Mr. E Maybee contributed a vocal solo in excellent voice and earned a hearty recall. Miss G. McCabe followed with a recitation, which she rendered in a very able manner. Mr. Jas. Wyer contributed a cornet solo to the evening's programme, and this proved to be an excellent number. During the evening the Glee Club rendered two choruses in a very creditable manner.

Of course the event of the evening was the address on William Pitt, by Mr. Daniel O'Connell. This was indeed a literary treat. The speaker in opening referred to the condition of Great Britain at the time William Pitt entered the political arena. Though only twenty-one years of age when he began to take an active part in the affairs of the country, still he had been well instructed in political economy and statescraft by his father, the Earl of Chatham. His matchless eloquence and his thorough grasp of everything pertaining to politics, made him the terror of his political opponents, and his integrity, honesty and humility won for him the love and respect of all. As a statesman he was a success and as an orator he had no peer. Reference was made to the great ability Pitt displayed in dealing with foreign matters relating to his country, and also to his refusing knighthood and other honours which royalty was anxious to load him with. The speaker next referred to Pitt's connection with Irish affairs and stated that he had during his political career shown himself to be a warm friend of Ireland and anxious to introduce legislation with a view to benefitting the condition of that country, and actually did so. If it had been in his power to carry out his proposed Irish legislation, that country, the speaker said, would not now be clamouring for the re-establishment of an Irish Parliament on College Green, and the Irish people should always remember Pitt with feelings of gratitude. Mr. Pitt was here compared to the great Emancipator, Daniel O'Connell, and in eloquent language the speaker referred to the great Liberator's undying love for Ireland, and his matchless eloquence, in which he was in many respect superior to Pitt. Hon. Mr. Gladstone and Hon. Edward Blake were also incidentally referred to in the closing sentences of what proved to be one of the most scholarly addresses ever delivered in the rooms.

Mr. L. R. Keogh in a brief address moved a vote of thanks, which was seconded by Mr. F. Quinlan. Ven Archdeacon Casey and Mr. Thos. Cahill also added a few words, expressive of the pleasure and delight they experienced in listening to the address.

The programme concluded with the National Anthem.

THE SPARRING EXHIBITION.

A Big Crowd at the Opera House Last Evening—Some Clever Work.

Almost every lover of athletic sport was in attendance last evening at the Opera House to witness the sparring exhibitions which were announced to take place and in consequence the audience was a large one.

The Fire Brigade Band kindly turned out in the interests of the sport and gave several selections in front of the Opera House.

Owing to a misunderstanding the pianist did not turn up and in consequence several good numbers had to be dropped from the programme. Messrs. Moncrief, Butcher and Miller, however, put in a turn in this line which carried away the house and earned for them a well merited encore. This is a trio which is becoming very popular in town, a fact which is testified to by the statement that they were called upon to fill three engagements at different concerts during the evening and were recalled each time.

The sparring exhibitions were all very exciting. Three of them took place between young amateur pairs and some skilful and scientific work was seen, the entertainment winding up with four two-minute rounds between Mr. Jim Graham and "Buffalo" Costello, which were watched with the keenest interest. The former had the weight and strength, but Costello's beautiful work in stopping the heavy blows which were rained in on him was as fine a sample of self-defence as could be seen, and although he is well known as a clever young sparrer, his true value is very evidently an unknown quantity as yet.

The bag-punching contest between J. J. O'Connor and Jas. White, of Detroit, did not come off, owing to the non-appearance of the latter, although he had been sent his expense money. In consequence of White's default the forfeit money was paid over to Mr. O'Connor, who gave a fine exhibition on the the bag, the more intricate movements, however, being impossible owing to the slope in the stage floor, which affected the board and caused the bag to rebound with great uncertainty.

A large number of local sports will accompany Costello and several of the local boxers to Lindsay to-morrow evening, when they will all go up against strange men. Something good may be confidently expected.

THE OTONABEE LODGE CONCERT AND AT HOME.

A PLEASANT EVENING WITH THE ODDFELLOWS.

The Programme Was Excellent and the Entire Evening Was Greatly Enjoyed by all Who Were Present—An Informal Hop.

Otonabee Lodge of Independent Oddfellows last evening commemorated the fifteenth anniversary of the resuscitation of the lodge by holding a concert and At Home. The beautiful suite of apartments occupied by the local Oddfellows was thrown open to the guests, of whom there were sufficient present to fill the big lodge room to the doors, whilst the overflow occupied the numerous ante rooms.

The evening's programme was opened by the rendition of the instrumental duet, "La Ballad," in dashing style by the Misses Hurley. Dr. Bell, P.G.M., then briefly addressed those present, explaining the excellence of the aims and objects of Oddfellowship and reviewing the history of Otonabee Lodge from its institution in 1846 until it became so involved in 1880 as to lead the members to decide on disbanding. In 1873, he explained, Peterborough Lodge of Oddfellows had been organized and succeeded so well as to induce some of the old members of Otonabee to endeavour in 1882 to bring about the resuscitation of that lodge, with the result that it was now a flourishing branch of the Order.

The musical portion of the programme was then continued by a solo and chorus of great merit by Mrs. Seward, Miss Pascoe and Messrs Squires and Skitch. It was entitled "Victoria the Rose of England." Little Aggie Patterson followed and, as usual, carried the house with her in her comical parody on snoring. Mrs. Bert Brown's fine vocal selection, "The Church Across the Way," was fully appreciated, as was Miss Pascoe's delightful rendering of "The Christening" as a recitation. Mr. Moncrief, who is fast working himself up into being a prime favourite in Peterborough, greatly pleased the audience with his vocal solo, after which the Banjo Club made its first appearance in public and created a most favourable impression by their rendition of the "Mill Dam Galop."

The second portion of the programme was opened with an instrumental duet on the piano by Misses Edith Hall and Ethel Wrighton. The selection chosen was Mattei's Valse, and it was given with a crispness of touch and such rythm and time as to merit the applause which it secured. "The Song of the Steeple" was given in splendid style by a new male quartette composed of Messrs. Morphet, Squires, Harvey and Skitch. The public will be anxious to hear them again this winter. "Beautiful Moonlight," a vocal duet by Mrs. Seward and Miss Pascoe was well rendered, being given in perfect harmony. Mr. Alf. Kingscote's solo, "The Four Jolly Smiths," was given with a swing and go that took well with the audience.

A string trio on the mandolin and guitar proved one of the most pleasing numbers on the programme, being given by Miss Winnie Dobbin, Miss Boyler and Mr. Alf. Cox. This was followed by "The Three Students from Jerusalem," by Messrs. Moncrief, Butcher and Miller, and the number was certainly a winner, the trio being brought back twice by the enthusiastic applause which their clever character song evoked.

The programme was closed by the second appearance of the Banjo Club, the number being quite as well received as the first. The singing of the National Anthem brought the concert to a close, after which refreshments were served in the dining room. Later on the young people indulged in the pleasures of an informal hop for an hour or two.

The accompaniments during the concert were most acceptably played by Mr. J. Crane and Miss Ida Melrose.

The evening proved one of the most pleasant of the many which have been spent within the hospitable walls of the lodge. The managing committee was composed of Messrs. J. W. Miller, Jas. Edgecumbe, Dickson Jewett, Will Quinn, Harry Morgan and George Armstrong.

PERSONAL.

Messrs. Ashe and Code, of the Standard Bank, Norwood, were in town last evening.

At the opening of the new Central Methodist church in St. Thomas, at which Rev. Dr. Carman preached the dedicatory sermon, Rev. H. T. Crossley sang at the morning service the solo, "De Massa ob the Sheepfold," and in the evening "The Pearly Gates."

Mr. N. R. Lee, familiarly known as "Nate," of Elkhorn, Wisconsin, who left Ashburnham eighteen years ago, is home visiting old friends. Mr. Lee is in business for himself in the west, and is one of the many boys from this district who have done well for themselves in the world.

FORTY HOURS DEVOTION.

A Solemn Religious Ceremony Began This Morning at St. Peter's Cathedral.

This morning at 9 o'clock the Forty Hours Devotion began at St. Peter's Cathedral with a solemn high mass. A large congregation was present. V. Rev. Archdeacon Casey was celebrant, Rev. Father Scanlan, deacon, and Rev. Father Phelan, sub-deacon.

At the conclusion of the mass the Blessed Sacrament was borne in procession by His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, from the altar through the several aisles of the church and returned to the sanctuary where it was placed on a throne above the altar. The procession was composed of the bishop, clergy and sanctuary boys.

The altar was beautifully decorated by the sisters of the Congregation with lights and cut and blooming flowers. On the return of the procession to the altar the litanies were chanted and the clergy retired to the vestry.

The devotion of the forty hours consists principally in the Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament on a throne over the high altar during forty hours, which corresponds to the time the body of our Lord rested in the tomb. During this forty hours the faithful visit the church, pray and make special acts of reparation to our divine Lord for the insults given to His sacred humanity. During these hours all the faithful are expected to receive Holy Communion.

This evening at half past seven there will be a special sermon on the Eucharist, by Rev. Father Fitzpatrick and to-morrow evening a sermon will be delivered by Rev. Father McColl, of Eanismore, on a different aspect of the same subject.

To-morrow will be the feast of the Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary, a fete d' obligation. Masses will be sung at 6, 8, 9 and 10 o'clock a. m.

REPORT OF FIRE APPLIANCE INVESTIGATION.

Mr. White read the report of the committee appointed to investigate the fire appliances of other towns and cities:

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—In accordance with instructions received from you, we visited several cities and towns to enquire into the matter of fire appliances, and especially had in view the equipment of the fire departments of other municipalities as compared with the equipment of our own department.

We had a conversation with the inspector of the Underwriters' Association, who advised us to visit the city of Brantford, which we did. Brantford is in Class A, and in its equipment are line noted five horses (one of which is used by the chief) one hook and ladder waggon, two hose waggons, and one Hayes extension ladder truck which cost $2,400. The chief and ten men are on constant duty. The fire alarm system is an automatic one with 32 alarm boxes. The chief of the brigade looks after the alarm system, and also tests the electric current of the street lamps to see that the proper candle power is furnished. No poles or wires are allowed to be placed or shrung on a street without his sanction, and the top cross arms of all pole lines are reserved for the use of the city. The city owns the waterworks and it is the policy of the corporation to place as many hydrants near large factories and in the centre of the city as are needed to give first-class protection, the first cost of putting in the hydrant being the only cost, and being about equal to the price of a length of hose. The waterworks, we were informed, are paying to the city a revenue of 12 per cent on the cost of the system. The chief, Mr. Calder, advised that if this town decides to put in a new fire alarm system we should secure the services of an expert to locate the boxes and prepare specifications upon which tenders should be asked.

We also visited Woodstock, which is in Class B. The fire department equipment includes one hose waggon, one team, one man on constant duty, a hook and ladder waggon (not kept in the hall), and about 1,000 feet of hose. The fire hall is a small one. The brigade consists of fourteen call men. The fire alarm system is an automatic one with seven or eight boxes, but does not give good satisfaction.

Stratford is in class A. It has a new and roomy fire hall, hose waggon, hook and ladder waggon, Silsby steamer of about the same age as ours, hand as vage waggon, one team and eighty-seven hydrants. The hook and ladder truck is drawn by a team from a livery opposite the hall. The brigade consists of the chief, one foreman and driver on constant duty, and twenty-six firemen, five of whom sleep in the hall. The chief here also tests the current furnished for the street light. The alarm system is an automatic one with sixteen boxes. The specifications for it were furnished by Chief Calder, of Brantford, and it was put in under his supervision by the United States Fire and Police Electric Co., of Boston. It cost $2,670. Our equipment is in some respects superior to that of Stratford and in all respects equal, with the exception of the alarm system and the hall and the fully paid chief.

Belleville is in class B. It has one hose waggon, one horse hook and ladder waggon, one team not used exclusively for fire purposes, fourteen call men with no call boxes in their houses, six automatic alarm boxes and automatic bell, and one man, the teamster, in the hall.

In each place the alarm is struck on a tower bell and not on a clock bell. The Underwriters' Association is pressing class B towns for improvements.

No place in class B that we visited had a fire department as well equipped as ours to cope with a fire, and we believe, both from our knowledge of the work our department does and from a comparison of its equipment with that of other municipalities in the same class, that this town should at least be retained in class B by the Underwriter's Association.

367 GEORGE STREET.

The young man who starts in business life with a good athletic training back of him will be able to stand more than the man who has not had the same advantage. Nevertheless, if he overworks and neglects his health, he is likely to fall a victim to some fatal malady like his less fortunate brother.

There is only one safe road for a man to tread in the matter of health. That is the road of eternal vigilance. No man, no matter how strong he may be naturally, can with impunity neglect the little ills and indispositions of life. These little disorders are what make the big ones. When a man suffers from headaches and loss of appetite, feels drowsy and dull during waking hours, cannot sleep at night and is nervous and shaky at all times, he is in a dangerous condition. If he long neglects his condition he will find himself a very sick man. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best of all medicines for the many diseases that are caused by an impaired digestion and insufficient and improper nourishment. It creates a hearty, healthy appetite; it makes digestion and assimilation perfect; it invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and nerve tonic. It is the best of all medicines for nervous disorders and it cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption, if taken in its earlier stages, before the lungs are too far wasted. For chronic, bronchial, throat and nasal affections it is an unequaled remedy. An honest dealer will not suggest some inferior substitute.

Rev. C. M. Lemond, (P. O. Box 307), Quanah, Hardeman Co., Texas, writes: "I write to say that during the late trouble between the States it became my duty as well as privilege to speak in the open air at night, which produced slight hemorrhages and loss of voice from which I had suffered more or less for a number of years, until that God-send 'Golden Medical Discovery,' given to the world by the inventive and scientific brain of Dr. R. V. Pierce, was obtained. After six bottles had been used the pains and aches in my lungs began to give way, and now I feel that, with a judicious course of life I may live many years. I thank God for giving to the world a man who has done so much for suffering humanity."

SCHOOLS AND POLITICS.

A Scheme With Real Estate Trimmings That Won In Oregon.

"Speaking of schools in relation to politics," said the ex-boomer from Oregon, "always reminds me of a campaign in which I was interested some years ago. The Douglas county representative in the Oregon state legislature, realising that his popularity was not exceedingly great, had been talking of building a new state normal school, presumably at Roseburg, the county seat and his own home. This caused great consternation among the 350 inhabitants of the little city of Drain, who had been profiting by the courtesy title of 'Drain Academy and Oregon State Normal school,' under which the school there had been run since 1885. The postmaster, who kept a drug store and sold school supplies, took counsel with his sister-in-law, who dealt in millinery and ran a boarding house for students, and she sought the mayor, at whose general merchandise emporium she was the principal customer.

"The mayor was a man who thought slowly, but to a purpose, and, having set himself the task of devising some way of circumventing the member from Roseburg, he passed the next three days in profound cogitation. He conceived a scheme whose various elaborations and ramifications were too diversified for him to handle alone, and he came to me for help. I had just gained considerable influence in the county through backing a projected railroad to the coast, and also as a real estate dealer and sawmill owner. With my business methods and the mayor's knowledge of the conditions confronting us our plans were soon put into operation. First, we suggested the candidacy of an ambitious young Drainite, a dealer in leather goods and hardware, for member of the legislature, taking all the wind out of his opponent's sails by heartily indorsing the talk in favor of a new normal school. Meantime we had a large grain field of the mayor's, which had begun to lose its fertility on account of overcultivation, surveyed into city lots, and as soon as our candidate had received the regular party nomination we put the town site of East Drain, with its streets named after conspicuous men of the state, on the market and gave one of its centrally located blocks for the new normal school.

"Well, everything came to pass exactly as we had planned. Our candidate was elected, and the building of the new normal school on the site we gave was authorized. We sold a sufficient number of East Drain lots to more than pay for the land and all expenses. The contractors on the new school were men who had aided the legislation authorizing it, and they got their supplies from the mayor, their hardware from the member and their lumber from me. My mill also supplied lumber for other buildings in East Drain, including a new boarding house for the milliner, who has prospered ever since. The postmaster's increased business soon warranted his moving into one of the two brick buildings in the city of Drain, and the former dealer in leather goods and hardware is still member of the Oregon legislature."—New York Sun.

STRIKING INCIDENTS.

SCENES THAT WERE PHOTOGRAPHED ON THE MEMORY.

The Professor Heard Governor Brough Make His Last Speech With Head Bared. General Buell and the Sergeant Crazed With Thirst at the Spring.

"Some of you youngsters," said the professor, "wonder how we old fellows remember the prominent men of 30 or 50 or 40 years ago so well. Because we associate them with some particular event, not necessarily of any importance, but serving to bring the men associated with it vividly before the mind. For example, I saw old Governor Brough of Ohio scores of times, but whenever I think of him I do not see him as he walked in his unwieldy way along the streets nor as he sat in his office, a dominating presence, nor as he appeared on state occasions, nor when he raged in controversy with the strongest men in the nation over the conduct of the war, but I see him as he stood one night on a pile of bricks, just outside Capitol square in Columbus.

"The fall of Richmond had been announced. The people were wild with excitement and enthusiasm. The understanding was that the governor would speak to them that night, and, standing on a pile of bricks at the corner of High and State streets, he talked to the people of the great news and what it meant to the nation. While he was speaking it began to rain, and still he spoke on. Those in the crowd who had umbrellas raised them, and there was a general shout for the governor to put on his hat. As he stood there that minute, with the raindrops pattering down on his bald head and splattering and sparkling in the light of the street lamp near, Governor Brough always comes to me.

"He paid no heed to the rain, and in his deep, resonant voice he said to the calls of the crowd: 'I will not put on my hat. A man must stand uncovered in the presence of an event that means so much to this people.' And he talked on, the people standing in the rain and glorying in every word he said. That was the last speech made by Governor Brough, because the cold that resulted from the exposure took him down to death.

"Brough was one of the very strongest men of that period in public life, but do you know that I heard one of the most prominent ladies in Ohio urge that he be not renominated because he was so reckless in his use of tobacco? She forgot the ability, honesty, earnestness and zeal of the man who had received the largest majority ever given a candidate for any office in Ohio and made a violent campaign against him because he had a rough way and because he was such an inveterate tobacco chewer."

"I remember General Buell," said the sergeant, "not as he appeared in the battle of Shiloh, not as he appeared in full uniform at grand review, but as I saw him on a forced march, when he wore the negligee or fatigue dress. Our company had come, with dry throats and empty canteens, to a large spring that burst from the earth with force enough to turn the wheels of a mill. The men proceeded to fill their canteens and drink their fill. An orderly sat on his horse near and advised the men to be very careful in filling their canteens so as to leave the water clear for those who came after. A little apart from him on a splendid horse sat an officer in a straw hat. The man and the horse, even though the man was in so simple a dress, made a fine picture, but the boys did not look carefully enough at either to recognize the officer or the horse.

"One of the sergeants, crazed by thirst, plunging forward to the spring, intent only on getting the clear water to his parched throat, put one foot into the shallow edge of the spring. Instantly there came from the man in the straw hat the quiet and imperious order, 'Take your foot out.' The sergeant, irritated beyond endurance by what he regarded a trifling matter, turned and said insolently: 'Mind your own business, sir. I will have no quartermaster's clerk giving orders to me.'

"As though he had been a part of the man the splendid horse made one jump toward the spring and toward the sergeant, and the man in the straw hat said, with increased emphasis and imperiousness, 'Take your foot out,' and the bewildered sergeant recognized the commander in chief of the army. He stepped back and saluted, and then General Buell said quietly, looking down with a sort of sympathy into the dismayed face: 'Fill your canteens, but be careful. Thirty thousand men must take water from this spring before night.'

"Those who remembered what a mudhole a thousand men make of a spring understood why General Buell stood guard on that day."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

ANOTHER VICTORY WON.

Kincardine was the Scene of the Contest—The Victory was thorough and Complete—An Interested Person Tells of it.

KINCARDINE, Ont., Nov. 29th.—The case of Mr. Herb Brown, a finisher in Watson & Malcolm's furniture factory here, is the talk of the town at present. Mr. Brown was a continual sufferer from kidney disease. The urinary system became involved, and his condition grew very serious. That great benefactor, Dodd's Kidney Pills, conquered the disease and made a new man of the victim. Mr. Brown cannot say enough in praise of the remedy which has done so much for him. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the great favourite in this district, where many remarkable cures have been made by them. They have not failed in a single case.

People Praise It.

UNCLE JIM'S DANCING.

Uncle Jim, he'd never been
To any city ball
Until he come a-visitin
The folks in town last fall;
Could dance until you couldn't rest,
Knowed how to fling his heel,
But all the dance he knowed wus just
The old Virginny reel.

So when they took him to the ball
The gals had lots of fun.
He went a-slippin erost the hall
An bumpin every one.
Of course he couldn't waltz, but they
Just made believe he could.
They kept on whirlin him away.
'Twus worse than splittin wood.

Jest serious as could be he kept
A-goin roun an roun.
On all the ladies' trains he stepped
When he warn't fallin down.
He stood it just as long as he Could stand it; then he throwed
His hat down till they laughed to see,
Then jerked his coat an blowed.

He give his galluses a hitch
An squared himself, an then
As quick as that they seen him pitch
Right 'mongst the gals an men.
'Twas dancin now without a doubt,
Fer then they seen him peel
His weskit off an jump about
In a Virginny reel.

BE WISE.

Try a Proved Medicine on the first DANGER SIGNAL.

On the first hint of heart or nerve trouble try a proved medicine, one that has cured others, and will cure you. Don't wait for the second danger signal, but take the right remedy in time.

Mrs. E. James, 36 Arcade St., Montreal, Que., says, "For several years I have been troubled with my heart and nerves. My heart would palpitate terribly, and when it did so, I could not go up-stairs without resting. I would have severe attacks of despondency, and got so bad at last, that for two weeks I could not go up-stairs to my room. My blood became weak and impoverished, due to an attack of la grippe. I would have a dull heavy pain in my heart, together with terrible headaches, and took remedy after remedy, but without avail.

"Then I heard of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and started taking them. From the very first I gained rapidly, and am now better than I have been for years. My heart and nerves are all right, and my whole system thoroughly toned and invigorated, the distressing symptoms from which I suffered having completely left me. I cannot too highly recommend these wonderful pills as they have made a perfect cure in my case." 220

A MUTUAL FRIEND.

Howard, desiring to bring Ferguson and Walker into a fellowship like that of Damon and Pythias, set them so far apart that oceans roll between them and deserts parch and bake. This is, of course, a figure of speech, for Ferguson and Walker both live in Chicago, where there are no oceans or deserts.

But the feeling of loathing which has risen up to separate these two men whom Howard had hoped to make firm friends accomplishes the purpose of desert and ocean and mountain chain too. And yet the two men have met but once, and then only to say "How d'ye do?"

Howard lives in Pocatello, Ida. To Pocatello a year ago went Ferguson, journeying on some affair connected with the railroad company which pays him well for knowing intricate and hidden things about the transportation business. Ferguson was in Pocatello for two weeks. It was a gloomy sort of exile, and but for the presence of Howard, whom he met on the first day of his visit, he would have suffered horrible pangs and gripings of lonesomeness, but Howard, bright, entertaining and all informed, was as a wellspring of happiness and made the railroad man's stay in the sunburned regions of Idaho a pleasant vacation, and when Ferguson was ready to leave Howard said to him:

"Now, old man, I want you to be sure and meet my friend Walker. It's a shame that two such splendid fellows should live in the same town and be strangers. I've written a letter of introduction, and you just walk around to his place when you get back to Chicago and go out and take one on me. You'll like Walker and he'll like you."

Ferguson thanked Howard with an easy conscience, for he, too, thought it would be pleasant to meet one whom Howard recommended for his worth.

Then he returned to Chicago.

The letter of introduction nestled in his pocket for a month, quite forgotten. At the expiration of that time Ferguson received a note from Howard, who wanted to know something about a business matter which they had discussed in Pocatello. As a postscript Howard added the question:

"You have seen Walker, of course? Great fellow, isn't he?"

"Walker, Walker—let me see," Ferguson mused. "Who in thunder is Walker? Oh, yes. That fellow I have the letter of introduction to. Well, I really must call on him."

The same mail which bore the missive to Ferguson also carried one to Walker. Howard, among other things, wrote these words: "You remember Ferguson, whom I asked you to call upon? What do you think of him? He's the right sort, isn't he?"

"By George," Walker cried on reading Howard's letter, "he did ask me to drop in on somebody named Ferguson, to whom he had given a letter for presentation to me. And I've clean forgotten it. Wonder where the man's to be found?" He examined the directory's list of Fergusons, and then, with some show of disappointment, said to himself: "Pshaw! His office is down in the Grand Central station, three miles away. Well, next time I'm over that way I'll stop." Then he called for his stenographer and dictated a letter telling Howard that he had enjoyed his visit with Ferguson immensely.

Two weeks afterward Ferguson received further documents from Pocatello.

"The matter you were examining into," Howard wrote, "turns out to be a pretty good thing, and I'd advise you to hang on to it. I'll keep you posted on developments. I'll not let them fool you. By the way, what do you think of Walker? You haven't told me."

"Thunder and lightning!" Ferguson uttered, "I ought to have called on Howard's friend a month ago. Here he is doing me all kinds of good turns out there in Pocatello and I haven't gratitude enough to go and meet the man he asked me to." He would have rushed out forthwith to commune with Walker, only he saw that the directory located the man away off on the North Side.

"I'll take that letter around to him next week," said Ferguson.

He did not, however. He promptly forgot all about Walker until a fortnight passed and information came from Pocatello that "the property is up 20 per cent in value. Give my respects to Walker the next time you see him."

"Next time I see him," Ferguson repeated. "Let's see. Did I say I had already met him? I guess I must have told Howard something like that. Well, I'll have to lie it out on that line if it takes all summer." So he answered Howard's letter by saying that he and Walker had together seen a play the night before and had had a most enormously good time. He even repeated some anecdotes of Howard's earlier life which he declared Walker had told him. "I'd like to know whether Walker is married or single," Ferguson thought. "I've got a bully story I could tell about him if I only knew. Deggone him! I wish I didn't have that letter of introduction to him. He's getting to be a kind of nuisance."

About the same time Walker, writing to Howard, was saying how much he was indebted to the western man for the pleasure he had drawn from his companionship with Ferguson.

"Only I wish to heaven Harry hadn't been so fervent in his desire to have me meet the fellow," he observed to himself. "I suppose that, as he says, this man Ferguson is all right, but I haven't time to go skating all over this town looking him up. I presume I ought to have gone and dug him out for Harry's sake a long time ago, but I keep forgetting it, and now I've involved myself in a foolish mesh of lies about my experiences with Ferguson, whom I have not met, and whom, to tell the truth, I'm getting so I don't want to meet."

Out in Pocatello Harry Howard was delighted with the tidings he received from Chicago. "It's a great satisfaction," he told himself, "to bring two good men together this way. It's really a noteworthy thing to be the author of a firm friendship between two first class people. Only I hardly think I understand this last letter of Ferguson's. I thought Walker had only two children, and here Ferguson writes me about his little girl. She must have been born in the last year. There were certainly only two boys when I passed through Chicago last summer. I'll send Ben my congratulations."

When Walker received the sheet conveying honest Harry Howard's good wishes for the best and brightest future for little Miss Walker, he ran his fingers through his hair and looked dazed. "When did I say anything about a new baby?" he wondered. "I must have written him some lie about that fellow Ferguson's child. I think I have described the man's wife and children and father-in-law and the mortgage on his house in my communications with Howard. Harry's always asking new questions, and the chances are that Ferguson has no family, and Howard thinks it was a slip of the pen and that I wrote about my own new baby—which I haven't got. Heavens, I wish this business had never started! I wish I'd never promised to call on Ferguson. I wish Ferguson would get run over by a cable car or come to some definite and permanent end. I'm getting to hate the very name of him. I'll bet he's a cheap skate anyhow who has imposed upon Howard's good nature. Why should I go drilling three miles into town just to meet him and say: 'How are you? I know a friend of yours.' I shan't do it."

Ferguson had already come to a similar conclusion. "Howard's a first class fellow, and he made things mighty pleasant for me in Pocatello," he reasoned, "and it would have been no more than white for me to call on that friend of his at first, but I've got so blamed tired of the very mention of the name that it fills me with loathing. I believe that if I were to meet that pirate of a Walker I'd want to throw bricks at him. I thought the first lie I told about him would let me out, but the falsehoods have multiplied upon themselves until I don't remember half the facts I have reported concerning that outlaw whom I have never seen."

Two weeks ago Ferguson and Walker met. Ferguson, entering the library of his club, was accosted by a fellow member, who introduced his visiting friend, Walker. The two glared at each other, and Ferguson hurried into the billiard room.

"I have changed my mind about presenting an application for membership," said Walker to the man who was escorting him. The next day Ferguson met the member who had introduced Walker and said, "I'm sorry, old man, but if it is your intention to offer that fellow's name for membership I'll certainly do my best to get him blackballed."

And this was the consummation of Harry Howard's kindly designs of reviving Damon and Pythias.—Chicago Record.

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realizing that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

A Personal Item.

Mrs. Wm. Hambly, Belleville, Ont., says: "My husband was troubled with kidney complaint, rheumatism, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, etc., and could not get relief until I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills for him. He has now used four boxes in all and is perfectly cured."

Doan's Kidney Pills are the ones that cure. Remember the name, DOAN'S.

High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract.

TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia—Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Scores of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—Says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What life come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

As though our chief aim and mission was to make it easier for people to have and to give FURS. No matter whether the Fur need is a simple scarf or an elegant Fur Wrap, it is safely met here, because we know the Fur business thoroughly and turn our knowledge to mutually helpful account.

PETERBOROUGH'S FIRE APPLIANCES.

he claimed that he had not approved of our present system of fire alarm, yet only three years ago he recommended that we should add four boxes to the system. His report as given in a letter from the Secretary of the Underwriters' Association, dated Feb. 15th, 1894, contains this clause: "There are only four electric alarm boxes. I think there should be double that number at least." And the Secretary pressed this point until the council in that year added the new boxes in accordance with their recommendation. The inspector had no fault to find with the way the brigade turned out to a fire, but expressed a fear that something might happen.

If the council is forced to make a change, and decides to do so, we recommend that the Underwriters' Association be consulted as to placing Peterborough in Class A, provided our department is put on a footing equal to that of Stratford, that is, by putting in an automatic alarm system and having a paid chief.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. M. WHITE,
Chairman Committee.
J. D. CRAIG,
Asst. Chief Fire Brigade.

Councillor White explained that there were complaints of inefficient fire appliances in all the towns visited. He said Peterborough's system was ahead of that of any other town in the same class that was visited. Brantford, according to Mr. White, had a most complete fire system.

In answer to Mr. Best, Mr. White said that Brantford in Class A, got no better insurance rate than Woodstock in Class B. Mr. White was of opinion that the Underwriters' Association did not know what it was doing. He thought Peterborough was well enough off as it was. Mr. Maldrum advised that the attention of the Underwriters' Association be called to the excellent telephone service (400) over which nine tenths of the alarms came in and which were more effective than a fire alarm system.

The report was referred to a committee of the whole council.

POULTRY AND PET STOCK EXHIBITION.

Mr. H. C. Winch addressed the council, asking for a grant for the three days' exhibition of the Poultry and Pet Stock Association Exhibition and Bench Show for Dogs, to be held on Jan. 18th, 19th and 20th. There had been exhibits promised to both shows from several towns and cities to compete for a prize list of $200. He urged the claims of the exhibition upon the council for a grant, and he invited the council to the exhibition.

Mr. F. D. Cockburn, president of the association, referred to the fact that other towns had given municipal grants, and referred also to the benefit in the development of the poultry industry that had resulted from State aid in the United States.

Referred to the Finance Committee to report at next meeting.

POLLING PLACES, ETC.

Mr. Dawson introduced a bylaw to fix polling places and appoint deputy returning officers for the annual municipal and school board elections, which was passed, fixing the following polling places and appointing the following returning officers:

No. 1 Ward—First door south of Mrs. Dunsford's grocery—Jos. Lundy, deputy returning officer.

No. 2 Ward—Market Hall—Chas. Cameron, deputy returning officer.

No. 3 Ward—J. and W. Metherell's shop—John Irwin, deputy returning officer.

No. 4 Ward—Wm. Lee's shop, Smith street—G. W. Powell, deputy returning officer.

SNOW PLOUGHING.

Mr. McWilliams introduced a bylaw to authorize contracts for snow ploughing, which was passed, awarding the contract for the North Ward to Zimiri Blodgett for $74, and Robert Nicholls, for the South Ward for $60.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Mr. Deane introduced a bylaw to make arrangements between the town and Children's Aid Society respecting a shelter. The bylaw was passed establishing the house, corner of Charlotte and Stewart streets, (owned by Mr. H. Best) as a shelter under the act, to be under charge the Children's Aid Society, and authorising the payment of $200, to be paid in equal monthly instalments.

OTHER RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. McWilliams brought up the matter of the C.P.R. encroachment on Wolfe street and Park street, and the clerk was instructed to write and ask the town solicitor whether the C.P.R. had a right to have a sliding rail on Park street, and also as to the Company's obligation to pay rental for the portion of Wolfe street used by the Company.

Mr. Dawson moved, seconded by Mr. Cobb, a resolution confirming the appointment of Mr. Bartlett as assistant sewer inspector.—The motion was adopted.

Mr. Robertson moved, seconded by Mr. Dawson, that the fine of Wm. Breckenridge for driving on the sidewalk be remitted.—Carried.

Mr. Best moved, seconded by Mr. McWilliams, that the Railway Committee of the Privy Council be informed that the town objects to the water spaces on the C. P. R. spur line being closed, for sanitary and other reasons—Carried.

Mr. Best moved, seconded by Mr. McWilliams, that a deputation be appointed to wait upon the Ontario Government for the purpose of having the water front between Wolfe and Water streets tranferred to the town for sanitary and other reasons.

The motion was carried, and the mayor and Messrs. McWilliams, Best, Dawson and Davis were appointed a deputation to wait upon the Government to press the request implied in the above resolution.

A motion to issue a cheque for $1,000 on account to the Ontario Sewer Pipe Co. was passed, and the council adjourned at 10.30.

How many young men and young women are cut off just as the future seems brightest and fullest of promise! They are taken away by the disease which causes over one-sixth of all the deaths in the world—the disease which doctors call consumption. There is absolutely no reason in the world why consumption should be fatal—why it should be even serious. It is a disease of the blood and can be cured absolutely and always by purifying and enriching the blood. The only exception to this is the case where the disease has been neglected and improperly treated until the disease is stronger than the body—until the body has become so weak as to have lost the ability to recuperate. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption if used according to directions. It also cures all lingering coughs, bronchial and throat affections.

Send 21 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, illustrated.

RANCHING.

Written up for Eastern Readers by an Old Asphodel Boy.

The following letter was received by Mr. J. A. Howard from Mr. John Grady, (son of Mr. Timothy Grady, of Asphodel), of Calgary, Alberta :

"SOUTHERN ALBERTA"

Is described as the "Paradise of Stockmen." It would seem almost like disloyalty to say anything depreciatingly of its pasture so long we have heard of its great growth of bunch grass standing three and four feet high, its wild rye waving higher than horses' heads, the wild pea vine and vetches whose rank profusion was oftentimes a bar to rapid riding. All this until a few years ago was quite true. In the valley in which this description has been written there was cut from 200 acres more than 300 tons of bunch grass and 10 tons of wild pea vine, from one sloping of the hill sides, but the onward march of settlement has wrought a vast change.

are now along the banks of all the streams. They are fenced in and in most of them are grown small crops of grain. In winter they form the pasture for the ranchers' stock. During the summer the cattle of both large and small ranches graze upon the open prairie. After the 20th of July anyone may cut all the hay he likes from any part of the Government land. As this consumes all the grass left by the cattle it may easily be seen how every year the prairie is stripped to barrenness of all its herbage, so that one has no difficulty in watching the manœuvres of gophers that are 200 yards away. From the everlasting snow capped hills of the west issue innumerable streams of pure, cold water, that after countless windings, that clear their currents and break the velocity of their passage, converge and form our large rivers that find their outlet in the great Saskatchewan into Winnipeg.

For ages these impetuous mountain torrents corroded their gravelled or clayed beds until now in many places the pretty streams find their way through the bottom of deep gulches or canyons and form natural walls or immense irrigating reservoirs that must assist nature in yielding our future supplies of hay and grass. There is a paucity of names for rivers here; nearly all the feeders of our large streams have a north fork, a middle fork, a south fork, and again some of the forks have a north and south fork. To a stranger the rivers are a bewildering maze.

The great event of the year is the ROUND UP.

The spring one is the most important, for then the calves are branded and counted, the older cattle are numbered and the stockmen know how much richer he is. In the fall the later born calves are rounded up and branded, while the beef cattle are rounded up and sold. The range must be carefully ridden over by cowboys so that no cattle are overlooked. A careless cowboy may be the means of enabling the thrifty rancher to take unto himself several unbranded calves known as mavericks. When these are weaned from their mothers their ownership cannot be traced and an alert stockman secures them and therefore increases his herd by leaps and bounds. Stray cattle from across the line are invariably picked up in this way. The origin of maverick is interesting. In the early days of Texan cattle ranching nothing was done with the strays and unbranded weaned calves. One Capt. Maverick made it his business to brand them for himself, and in a few years he had one of the largest herds in Texas. The stockmen then took to selling them at the end of every round-up and applying the proceeds to pay the round up expenses. This practice has since been recognised in all the stock districts of the west and the word Maverick has become classic English. The whole of the stock country is divided for convenience into stock districts, four or five adjoining districts combine and round-up all the cattle within their limits. Representatives are sent from the nearest outlying districts to drive forward any cattle that have strayed beyond the limits of their own grazing country.

The round-up outfit consists of a number of tents, a mess waggon and cook. Each cowboy has from seven to twelve saddle horses at his command. These when not ridden are herded day and night by relays of Indians and half-breeds so that a round-up camp is a pretty sight with its group of square and bell-shaped tents, its prairie schooner mess waggons, four or five bands of horses numbering from 150 to 200, to say nothing of cattle and frisky calves, whose untamed and roving spirits give the cowboys many a gallop to bring them back to camp again.

WESTERN COOKING.

Visitors are always welcome and served with plates and mugs of granite. The cook freely dispenses steak, sweet wholesome bread, clear strong coffee, fragrant tea and a choice selection of fruit, whose excellent quality would reflect credit on any graduate of a new York cooking school.

The bucking contests, the feats of cattle roping, the feats of the wild-west rider rider are indulged in, and so long as Alberta has a round-up, there will not be lacking abundance of material to supply Buffalo Bill with the dramatic personnal of a wild west show.

Result of a Test.

The following letter taken from the Daily Ontario, Belleville, speaks for itself :—

BELLEVILLE, 18th Nov., 97.

C. C. Leavens, Esq., People's Coal Co'y, City :

DEAR SIR,—Your letter enquiring how the test I made of your coal against Scranton coal, received from Mr. Stewart, resulted: Mr. Butterfield had one ton of each hard put in, I found your coal got up to heap much quicker and lasted one day and a half longer than the other. From the appearance of the coal I did not expect it to do so. I told Mr. Butterfield your coal is the most satisfactory.

MANTLES AND JACKETS

.... AT ....

ROBT. FAIR'S.

During our Quick Reduction Sale before Christmas perhaps there's no department in our store where the Reduction will be more sweeping than in MANTLES AND JACKETS.

Last winter when we were closing out our matchless stock of Coats, &c., we did not hesitate to mark $12 and $15 garments at $5 and $6, in order to keep none over for another year. We propose this season to hew just as close to the line—let the loss be what it may. It sometimes pays to lose. A loss now accepted will enable us to clear out our whole stock in this department in a short time. Here are some of these Mantle Sacrifices:—

FOR $3.00 A lot of Ladies' Fancy Tweed Coats, very special, formerly sold at $7.50.

FOR $5.00 A lot of Ladies' German Tweed Coats, perfect fitting garments, formerly sold at $8.50.

FOR $6.25 A lot of Tailor-made German Coats, well finished, formerly sold at $10.

FOR $8.50 Ladies' Stylish Rough Frieze Cloth Coats, formerly sold at $12.50.

FOR $4.00 Ladies' Black Frieze Cloth Coats, formerly sold for $6.00

FOR $8.50 Ladies' Black Golf Capes, Lined with black and white checks, formerly sold for $12.50.

FOR $7.50 Ladies Coloured Golf Capes, formerly sold at $9.50.

The balance of our Misses and Children's Jackets are also all reduced on a par with the above changed figures ranging at $4, $4.50, $4.75 and $5, or about $3 to $3.50 off former selling prices.

This is the way we have of keeping our Stock fresh. There is no reason why the Handsome and Useful should not combine in Holiday presents.

THE LEGISLATURE

Another Day's Debate Upon the Address.

ST. JOHN ON THE FLOOR 4 HOURS

His Desire That the Members Seriously Consider the Question of How the Provincial Pigs Were Kept Causes Laughter and Amusement—Dr. McKay's Effective Reply.

Toronto, Dec. 9.—The galleries in the Legislature were crowded yesterday afternoon and evening by ladies and gentlemen anxious to hear the arguments pro and con that would be used upon the stump at the approaching provincial election.

The Conservative side of the question was presented by Mr. St. John, who spoke for over four hours in good form, causing considerable laughter and amusement when he desired the members to seriously consider the question of how the provincial pigs were kept. He was followed by Dr. McKay, who, in an able speech, pointed out how the Opposition drew in their horns in the House when called upon to make good their statements made upon the stump.

The Estimates To-morrow.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt stated he would bring down the estimates to-morrow and would deliver the budget speech on Tuesday next.

Mr. St. John renewed the debate upon the address. He said he could not understand where the Minister of Education stood in politics. He had delivered an eloquent address advocating preferential trade with England; how could Mr. Ross reconcile this policy with the pro-American policy of the Hardy-Ross Government. He assured the House the Government timber policy had been to favor Americans and a policy of the classes against the masses, the capitalist as against the laborer. He referred to the fact that a recent investigation had disclosed that thirteen million feet of lumber had been stolen by the Moore Lumber Company and that one Macdonald, a Government employee, had been a party to the fraud. When this steal was discovered Macdonald was not discharged, and the American company that had cheated the people of Ontario were not punished by the forfeit of their license.

Hon. Mr. Hardy—"You are quite wrong, Macdonald was dismissed—(laughter)—and the fraud had been shown up only because the Government had insisted upon a thorough investigation."

Mr. St. John, continuing, said the license held by the company should have been taken away. He thought it a bad thing to have a Liberal Government in power at Toronto while Liberals were in office at Ottawa, and quoted from a speech of Sir Oliver Mowat's in 1886 in support of this idea. He then devoted over an hour to the "Piggery" he had discovered at the Humber amid the laughter of the House. He claimed that the Piggery had cost $7000.

Hon. Mr. Hardy—"You claimed on the stump the cost to be $35,000."

Mr. St. John, continuing, said he could not secure the proper figures, (laughter) but gave $7000 as the cost supplied him by Inspector Noxon.

The Reform Champion.

Mr. McKay followed, and said he did not wonder people flocked to hear Mr. St. John on the stump, since he could give such a good performance and so eloquently represent a man making groundless statements. (Laughter.) It had been charged the Government was pro-American in its policy. There was a member in the House who was an annexationist, but he had never sat upon the Government benches, no, but Mr. Sol. White had sat as one of the leading lights in the Conservative ranks. (Cheers.) Considerable had been said with reference to the action of the Government in passing legislation regarding loan and trust companies. It had been charged this legislation was in the interest of certain prominent Liberals who were directors of these companies. Nothing had been said of Sir Frank Smith, Mr. W. R. Brock and many other leading Conservatives who were fellow directors upon the boards of these loan companies. (Hear, hear.)

A Lie Nailed.

Certain members of the Opposition had been crying out daily that the Public Accounts Committee was a partizan committee, and then amid the laughter of the House he read a resolution that had been passed by the members of the committee and signed by Conservatives as well as Liberals congratulating the chairman of the committee upon the fairness of his rulings and thanking him for the courtesy he had shown members of the committee on both sides of the House.

Gentlemen of the Opposition had denied nearly every statement attributed to them while on the stump by their own newspapers. When brought to book in the House and called upon to make good the statements they had made in the country they evaded the duty by denying the reports, as though the newspapers would in every case be wrong. The leaders of the Opposition had promised if they came into power to do away with the succession duties law and wipe out the act which had reduced the number of county councillors. Both these measures had lightened the burdens of the tax-payer and were most popular with the people. The Government had been attacked because of the increase in the cost of managing the public institutions of the province, notwithstanding that yearly the inmates were increasing in number and the method of treatment more modern than formerly. Would the Opposition wish less money spent in the interests of agriculture though its cost was going up yearly? (Hear, hear.)

The Opposition was still attacking the Agricultural College at Guelph and pointing out that this institution did not pay its way. Of course not. Why should it be expected to pay its way any more than a collegiate institute? The Agricultural College was to the farmers what other colleges were to other classes and was dear to them. He quoted the opinions of English and German agricultural experts to show the high opinion these men had of the institution. Mr. St. John had seen visions of late. He had seen his leader and himself upon the treasury side of the House. (Laughter.) The Liberals were going into the fight confident of victory under their new leader, for whom they had every respect and in whom they reposed every confidence. (Cheers.) The Liberals entered the fight without control of the ballot box as Conservatives always had. Since the House had been called and the lame arguments of the Opposition heard, Liberals would enter the fight with greater hope of success. The Opposition had gone up and down the country saying the Government was afraid of them, and yet when given an opportunity upon the floor of Parliament they sat dumb, and except in trivial matters they had no complaint to make. He invited the Opposition to state their whole case and say the worst things they could, that the people might have complete information before being called upon to vote,

The Public Accounts.

Bowman for Bruce.

Another candidate recently chosen is Mr. Charles M. Bowman of Southampton to contest the North Riding of Bruce. Mr. Bowman is a careful and successful business man, and in purchasing supplies for his tannery comes into contact with the people throughout the majority of the municipalities. Though young in years, he enjoys the confidence and esteem of the business community, as well as the good will of the farmers of the riding. At the convention which nominated him there was present as a representative of a local paper one of the leading Patrons in the country, and his report of the proceedings contains prominent reference to the keynote of the gathering, which was unanimity and enthusiasm. Mr. Bowman is a son of the late I. E. Bowman, who for many years represented North Waterloo in the Dominion House of Commons. "Bowman and good government" is the rallying and winning cry in North Bruce.

LIBEL ON A POST CARD.

Divisional Court Confirms the Decision in a St. Thomas Action.

Toronto, Dec. 9.—At the St. Thomas Assizes, at which Mr. Justice McMahon presided, Dr. Lionel J. Mothersill of Port Stanley secured a verdict for $50 damages and costs against George W. Young, a mail clerk living at St. Thomas, for libel. The offence was the sending through the mails to the plaintiff of a post card on which were statements reflecting on Dr. Mothersill's ability and character.

At Osgoode Hall the Divisional Court confirmed the verdict yesterday, dismissing with costs an appeal made by the defendant, who contended that, even if he had sent the post card complained of, nobody had read it but the plaintiff.

"In our own city," remarked Chief Justice Armour, "we have people who see pictures posted up when they are bound by their view of modesty not to look at them. I don't know why they do, but they do. Doubtless somebody read that card before it reached its destination. If we should grant the appeal libelling with post cards could go on unpunished. I am afraid we cannot grant the appeal."

THE SIX DAYS' CYCLE RACE.

The New York Press Describes the Tortures Racers Endure.

New York, Dec. 9.—When the third day of the six-day bicycle race opened in Madison Square Garden, just half the number of original starters were still forging their way around the track. The frightful pace set by the leaders on Monday and Tuesday had done its work well. Of the dozen and a half who were still straining every nerve to win fame and money, there will probably be only about a dozen who will finish out the race. The rivalry between the French and German riders is one of the curious features of the contest. Schinner, Miller and Waller, when on the track together, always encourage each other, and make combined efforts to get the better of Rivierre and Stephane, while the Frenchmen stick close together and coach each other in their native tongue.

The Press says: 'In a great circle of pain, like tortured beasts driven on and on till they die or go mad, the wretched creatures in the debasing thing that is called a six days' bicycle contest labored before curious crowds. No bull that ever was burned and slashed in an arena was treated so cruelly; no crowd that ever watched him rage at his tormentors till they slaughtered him cheered at a spectacle more savage. It was a nightmare made treat to see the beings, thin, crouching, cadaver-like, flit by. Had corpses risen suddenly from the morgue to begin a ghastly race, the sight could have been little worse."

Last year's champion, Teddy Hale, whose agonized face we here present, is now making up ground. He is almost 175 miles behind the leader, but nevertheless he crept up from tenth place, which he held last night, to eighth place and is certain to go up much higher before the end is reached.

At 2.15 this morning the score of the leaders was: Miller 1265.6, Rice 1180, Schinner 1162.1, Rivierre 1145.1, Moore 1115.2, Waller 1114.8, Pierce 1083, Hale 1073. Miller is 179 miles 6 laps ahead of the record for 74 hours.

Mrs. Gauthier Taken to Port Arthur.

Pembroke, Ont., Dec. 9.—Mrs. Gauthier, the woman accused of poisoning two men at Port Arthur in February last, and whose trial took place here Tuesday, was taken to Port Arthur by last evening's train, in charge of Constable Barraud of Pembroke.

A Petition for Commutation.

Galt, Dec. 9.—A petition is being circulated in Galt praying for the commutation of the death sentence and the imposition of a life sentence instead upon Allison, sentenced to be hanged on Feb. 4, 1898, for the murder of Mrs. Anthony Orr.

Commutation for Mrs. Sternaman.

Cayuga, Dec. 9.—Mrs. Sternaman has been despondent ever since her sentence, and all her hopes are set on a new trial. The petition for a commutation of the death sentence is being largely circulated, and nearly all of the trial jury have signed it.

He Writes About His Condition—Wife and Children Helped.

WALLACEBURG, ONT.—The following letter will prove of interest to working men and others who may be in a condition similar to that of the writer:

"For three years I was subject to poor spells. I always felt tired, could not sleep at night and the little I could eat did not do me any good. I have been working at the barber trade for about 20 years and for the last four years I have been very closely confined and have had my meals very irregularly. I was taken with a and the doctors said it was caused by my stomach troubles. I lost flesh and became so weak I was hardly able to stand up to the chair to work. One day I happened to be looking over some testimonial letters and I thought I would try Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before I had taken two bottles I began to feel better and in a short time I felt finely and had gained 21 pounds in weight. I have taken nearly five bottles and now I feel like a man again. I am than I have ever been in my life. My wife and children have also taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for a blood medicine and realized much benefit from it. As for myself I cannot say too much for it. THE CONTRAST.

Quebec under Conservative rule has, with a population of 1,488,535, according to the census of 1891, an annual expenditure of over four millions, while Ontario, with a population of 2,114,321, or greater by 625,786, under a Liberal Government, has an annual expenditure of about three and a half millions. This lesson is a striking commentary upon the relative characteristics of the two parties; and the tendency of Liberal Governments to give superior public service at much lower expense is shown by the new Liberal—the Marchand—Government of Quebec having, at the first opportunity, introduced Liberal methods, and it proposes to cut down expenses from $4,783,578 in '96-7 to $4,077,280—a saving of nearly three-quarters of a million of dollars, in that provinces annual expenditure. Besides, it is worth note that with a much less expenditure, Ontario is more liberal than the Quebec toward important public services. While the Ontario Government spends the large sum of about $700,000 yearly for education, the Province of Quebec only devotes a little over $400,000 to that service, and while Ontario provides nearly $800,000 for hospitals and charities, Quebec only provides under the head of charity about $340,000. So that in Ontario, with a larger population, we have improved public service in these as well as all other branches, while the condition of Quebec is represented by an inferior public service, at much greater expense. The lesson is that Liberal Government means efficient and economical service, and Conservative rule means comparatively inefficient public service, and very much larger proportional expenditure.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

To men of all parties in Ontario or in Canada, says the Ottawa Journal, (Independent Conservative) one of the opening announcements of the session of the Ontario Legislature must be gratifying. It is that concerning greater care of the forests—particularly the announcement that special attention will be given to replacing the pine under suitable circumstances. This is a government action, and creditable to the government.

THE curtain comes down upon Sir Oliver Mowat as a public man, with red fire effects. He some time ago set up a claim to the right of the province of Ontario to the appointment of Queen's counsel in its own courts. The Dominion Government disputed this claim, and the question was referred to the court of last resort. The Imperial Privy Council has, as learned by cable, dismissed the appeal of the Dominion Government, and declared the Ontario statute valid. This is a victory for Sir Oliver, and he carries the "belt" as champion constitutional authority, to the serene seclusion of the gubernatorial chair.

TIMBER RESOURCES OF ONTARIO

Are the timber resources of Ontario nearly exhausted? Mr. Whitney, the leader of the Opposition, says they are, and that, as a considerable portion of the revenue of the province has hitherto been received from them, the Liberal Government, by squandering them, has brought the province to the necessity of submitting to direct taxation. The last great tract of timber land belonging to the province, said Mr. Whitney, is advertised for sale. In reply to this statement of the Opposition campaign manager, Mr. Hardy, the premier, declared that Mr. Whitney was mistaken in regard to all points. In the first place, after the tracts were all sold, the government would continue to receive a revenue from the timber lands, as the bonus paid was only a portion of the receipts which flowed into the treasury, and there were vast tracts of timber limits in private hands bought long ago upon which an axe had never been lifted, and upon which the province would collect dues as soon as their owners began cutting. From yearly dues over three-quarters of a million dollars annually was received. Of the lands still in the hands of the province there were the great stretches which begin some distance from the Ottawa river and run mostly south of the height of land to Lake Superior. The departmental surveyors reported this summer how for sixty miles they had traversed a tract of timberland of which nothing was formerly known, and which was in no respect inferior to the best timber lands of the older part of the province. Six years ago it had been estimated that there were ten thousand million feet of standing pine in the territories then known. Beyond the height of land their officers had reported great forests of large-sized spruce, a timber that was rapidly approaching the white pine in value. Mr. Hardy quoted the estimates of Mr. Pardee, that in his time there was enough timber in sight to last a hundred years under the careful methods of protection from fire and wasteful cutting that were now required. There can be no doubt that the Liberal Government's management of the timber [illegible] Province of Ontario has been careful and prudent, and has been so business-like as to have secured for the province a considerable share of their value. This policy was inaugurated and [illegible] in by the Ontario Government while the Dominion and Quebec governments were almost literally giving away to favourites the timber lands they controlled.—Montreal Witness.

LADY SPEAKERS POPULAR.

The popularity of lady speakers at the Farmers Institutes having been established beyond doubt by the reception accorded to occasional lectures by members of the gentler sex, the Department of Agriculture has placed Miss Laura Rose, of the Guelph Agricultural College, staff on the official list of lecturers. Miss Rose, who is assistant instructor in the dairy department, has several lectures prepared, among them being "A Morning in an English Dairy" and "Dress, its Health, Influence and Beauty." SUICIDAL DYSPEPSIA

Positively Averted by Using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Does Dyspepsia kill?

Yes! In thousands of instances Dyspepsia has given the invitation to death.

This may be a startling statement. But it is a true one.

Dyspepsia unchecked causes a melancholy, hopeless feeling. Soon this merges into dark and dreary despondency. Then follows insanity—which is the second stage of despondency.

The invariable tendency of all who suffer from melancholy insanity, is to commit suicide. In nine cases out of ten they succeed.

Thus Dyspepsia leads to death.

Now, there's not the least necessity for this. It need not be so, and can be prevented as easily as you can fall asleep. There's no secret about how it is done. Simply use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets—one or two after each meal—for a couple of weeks, and the thing is done.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are a perfectly perfect digestive. They digest the food themselves. They don't need help.

Sometimes [illegible]stipation accompanies dyspepsia and [illegible]estion. In each box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets is a supply of smaller tablets that are the most perfect bowel regulators ever made. Taken with Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets they fit the bowels to perform their duty which is supplementary to the digestive process.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have never failed, never will fail, cannot fail to cure any case of Indigestion, Dyspepsia or other stomach trouble. They digest the food, strengthen the stomach, and banish dyspepsia and indigestion, naturally and rapidly.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, each box containing a full double treatment, can be purchased from all druggists, at 50c a box or will be sent on receipt of the price, by the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

How Long Will This Piano Last?

The above question is asked by almost every piano purchaser before making a decision.

If you are discussing a Chickering Piano there is an emphatic answer.

No matter what YOUR age rest assured the piano will outlive you.

There is no one living who has ever purchased a Chickering piano AND WORN IT OUT.

Think of the number of children to-day practising upon Chickering pianos purchased by their grandparents.

There are thousands of Chickering pianos so purchased and so used.

Perhaps, they are not as good as they were 50 or 60 or 70 years ago, but the marvel is that they are in use at all.

The majority of pianos by other makers are worn out in a third the period.

These are simple Chickering facts.

PROVINCIAL POWERS.

Judgment in the Queen's Counsel Case.

ONTARIO'S CLAIMS SUSTAINED.

The Little Republic of Hayti Completely Humiliated by the Big German—Spain and the U. S. President's Message—France is Preparing to Settle With Great Britain—Cable News.

London, Dec. 9.—(Telegram cable.)—The Privy Council yesterday gave judgment dismissing the appeal of the Attorney-General of the Dominion against the decision of the Ontario Court of Appeal, which was in favor of the Attorney-General of Ontario, in the case of the right to appoint Queen's counsel. Lord Watson, with associate law lords concurring, did not entertain any doubt that the Legislature of Ontario had ample authority to give the Lieutenant-Governor of the province power to confer precedence by patent upon such members of the provincial bar as he thought fit to select. The appeal was dismissed with costs to the province.

ACCEPTS THE SITUATION.

France Prepares the Way to the Settlement of Her Row With Britain

London, Dec. 9.—The St. James Gazette yesterday announced authoritatively that the British Government does not expect any further trouble with France regarding the Upper Nile regions, France having agreed to accept the situation. The danger was that the occupiers of that part of the country could divert the course of the Nile and render Egypt a waste.

The massacre of the French expedition under Major Marchand, reported by the Mouvement Geographique of Brussels to have occurred near Bahrel-Ghazel, apparently took place in the territory referred to by The St. James Gazette.

The King Took to the Bush.'

Lagos, West Coast of Africa, Dec. 9.—Additional advices just received from the interior, say the French troops had five engagements with the natives before effectively occupying Nikki, the capital of Borgu. The King of that country fled to the bush.

HAYTI HUMILIATED.

Germany Exhibits Its Mightiness to the Weak Little Republic.

Berlin, Dec. 9.—The official account of the collection of an indemnity from Hayti accompanied by a salute of the German flag, etc., at Port Au Prince on Monday last, says that after the ultimatum of Germany had been delivered to the Haytian Government, giving the latter eight hours in which to comply with the demands, the German cruiser Stein, which, with the Charlotte, was sent to enforce the contention of the German Minister, Count von Schwerin, cleared for action, and took up a position close to the Haytian war vessels. A diplomatic request for delay in the execution of the ultimatum was refused, and half an hour before the expiration of the stipulated time all the demands of Germany were conceded, and the sum insisted upon as an indemnity ($30,000 to be paid to Herr Lueders) was on board the Charlotte before 4 p.m. The Haytian Government's letter of apology to Germany arrived soon afterwards.

A Haytian Editor Arrested.

Port Au Prince, Hayti, Dec. 9.—M. Frederique, managing editor of the Journal Impartial and alleged author of the virulent articles attacking the Germans, who is accused of desiring to excite the population of this place against the Government, was arrested this morning and taken into custody on board a Haytian cruiser. At the moment of his embarkation there was much excitement in this city, but order was restored. The Government has at its disposition sufficient number of troops and is taking all the necessary measures to maintain order.

SPAIN AND THE MESSAGE.

Senor Sagasta Thinks it is Satisfactory—Imparcial Sees Evil Intent.

Madrid, Dec. 9.—The Premier, Senor Sagasta, in an interview regarding President McKinley's message to Congress, is quoted as saying he thinks the message satisfactory, "because the threat to intervene in Cuba was made merely to give satisfaction to a portion of American opinion, without the intention of executing it."

Continuing, the Premier remarked that the Government would not make a declaration on the subject; said he believed the President's words would have influence with the insurgents, and announced that the Cortes would not be convoked until the Government had ascertained the effect of the message upon Congress.

The Imparcial, commenting on the message, says:

"It shows a certain cleverness and evil intention when it refers to filibustering expeditions. McKinley speaks with what appears to be excessive cynicism to those who have not lost all sense of justice. The Government must show the Yankees that the Spanish flag floats over Cuba, and that they have yet to tear it down."

BEES AND THEIR KEEPERS.

Inspector McEvoy Reported Finding 34 Apiaries With Foul Brood Disease in Them This Year.

Hamilton, Dec. 9.—The Bee Association yesterday morning listened to a capital paper by Inspector McEvoy, being the report of his year's inspection throughout the province. During the year he visited 64 apiaries in the various counties, and found the foul brood disease in 34 of them. Steps were at once taken to stamp it out. He had also found hives diseased through the use of old combs.

SMUGGLED CANADIAN TURKEYS.

Birds Worth $600 Seized and Sold by Plattsburg Customs Officials.

New York, Dec. 9.—News was received yesterday that several wagon loads of smuggled turkeys were seized by United States Customs officers at Plattsburg, N.Y., and Berkshire, Vt. French-Canadian farmers have been attempting to dispose of their Christmas poultry without considering Uncle Sam's claim in the transaction, and, as a result, some $600 worth of confiscated turkeys have been sold at public auction by the customs officials at Plattsburg. Nearly all of this consignment came from Bedford and Lacolle, in Quebec, and several warrants have been issued for the arrest of Canadian farmers living along the frontier for violating the revenue laws of the United States.

A LONDON EPISODE.

A Prominent Contractor Cured of Bright's Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

London, Dec. 6—Not since the great election trial some years ago, has any London episode created such widespread excitement as has the case of G. E. Brady, of 229 Talbot street.

Mr. Brady, a prominent contractor, suffered for years with Bright's Disease. Doctors and special remedies failed utterly to help him. In despair he tried Dodd's Kidney Pills, and was cured by a few boxes.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have proved themselves, in this city, to be the only remedy that will positively cure every case of Bright's Disease, Diabetes and every other kidney complaint. They have never failed here. People will buy no other medicine.

TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia—Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Secres of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So Says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

SINGLE TAX AND THE COMING SOCIAL CRISIS.

SPLENDID ADDRESS OF MR. W. A. DOUGLAS B.A., ON THE SUBJECT.

The Merits of the System Lucidly Explained—Fine Audience Present—Deep Interest Awakened.

Last night the large audience at the Sons of England Hall, which included a good many ladies, indicates how the interest in that important subject of social economics, the Single Tax, is growing. The most significant feature of the audience was that it was composed of the most substantial intelligent and thinking citizens of the town.

Rev. H. Symonds occupied the chair, and in his few introductory remarks, referred to the importance of the social question, and remarked that it was not for us to place the responsibility on any particular class. The importance of the subject demanded a free, fair and full discussion, for, history showed that repression in any form was disastrous to the power exercising repression. The chairman paid an eloquent tribute to the late Henry George, the pioneer apostle of the Single Tax, and indicated what a profound impression his life and works had had upon the world.

"THE COMING SOCIAL CRISIS."

The speaker of the evening on this subject was Mr. W. A. Douglas, B. A., of Toronto. He is saturated with his subject and it bristles all over him like quills upon the fretful porcupine. He has a pleasant presence and but for a frequent indistinctness of utterance, there is nothing to mar the enjoyment of the arguments he presents. His address, which occupied about an hour and a half, during which he held the wrapt attention of his audience, broken only at intervals by applause as some pat point was made, was of a character difficult to report, being illustrated by blackboard diagrams, which served to impress the arguments advanced. The lecture was more didactic than entertaining, though at times strains of impassioned and earnest eloquence were woven in among the tissue of hard facts. A report of less than three or four columns can give no adequate idea of the address, and it should be heard to be fully appreciated. A general summary will indicate the trend of the lecturer's contention.

The speaker called attention to the lack of harmony in the development of society on this continent. It was no longer the paradise of the labouring classes, but society was sharply differentiated every generation more and more into the classes and the masses. The condition of the labouring classes was no more hopeful to-day than it was fifty years ago; but the fortunes of the millionaires were vastly greater.

The speaker then proceeded to discuss the cause of this severance—why those who produce the wealth should enjoy so small a share, while many who produce little or nothing should grow into fortunes monstrous and excessive. To explain this development, the speaker pointed out the marvellous reductions in the cost of manufactured goods—steel from $50,000 per ton to $50 per ton; cotton goods from a pound to sixpence, and other products made similarly cheap. But while in manufactured products we could introduce improved processes of production; in the case of land, especially in town sites, the prices advance to figures almost fabulous—in New York, from $24 per acre in 1626 to a hundred million times that figure to-day, many acres in that city selling for upwards of ten million dollars cash; in Chicago, from nothing at the beginning of this century to one thousand millions to-day; in Toronto, from nothing in 1800 to eighty or one hundred millions at the present time. While, therefore, labour was ever coming to the market with goods cheaper and cheaper, it met an obligation ever dearer and dearer. It is this increasing obligation, compounded with the increasing cheapness of its goods, that ever keeps labour on the border of penury. So that no matter what improvements are made in the mechanical or other arts, in better organization of labour, in better currency or other methods, labour could receive only the pittance to secure a bare animal existence; for, as rapidly as he increased the abundance of his product, it was taken from him by the owner of the valuable land. Here, the speaker pointed out, was the cause of that severance which keeps the producer of abundance in a condition of scarcity, while the fact that population makes land more scarce carries the landowner to greater and greater abundance.

This wrong must be rectified, said the speaker, or civilization must be a failure. The question of questions, therefore, at the present time was: How can we secure to every one the right to produce, and then the right to enjoy the benefit of his products? Look, therefore, at the essential difference between these two things—first, the goods produced by industry, and second, the low values caused by the community. The crops, the houses and the machinery were the products of individual toilers; the land value was due to the presence of the community, of population. In taxing, therefore, we had no right to assess the products of industry. They belong to the individual, but we were bound in honesty to assess exclusively the value of the land which is caused by the community. Having once established this rule, then no longer could one part of the community demand everlasting tribute from the other; but every man would have to perform some service and confer some benefit on his fellows before he could demand a benefit in return. The relation of something for nothing could no longer exist, but the universal relationship then would be enrichment for enrichment, abundance for abundance. The speaker prefaced an eloquent peroration by pointing out that the relationship described, which keeps the poles of society far apart—wealth and poverty continually increasing, was a legitimate subject for legislation, and that without recognition of the eternal principles involved, legislators were groping in the dark.

At the conclusion of Mr. Douglas' address Rev. Mr. Symonds spoke of the extremely lucid presentment of a difficult subject which they had heard and said that Mr. Douglas would answer questions in reference to the subject.

In answer to several questions which showed the intelligent interest taken by the audience in the lecture, Mr. Douglass said he did not think it would be wise to introduce the single tax principle at once; better do it by degrees as was being done in Ontario as represented by the exemption of certain products of the farm—grain, orchards, cattle, reapers. Manitoba taxed unoccupied lands like occupied lands. The speaker agreed with Mr. Hampden Burnham's scheme of compensation, which had also received the approval of the late Henry George. Further questioning brought out the fact that the single tax had been adopted and applied in a more or less limited degree in Manitoba, Northwest Territories, British Columbia, New South Wales and to portions of Australia. In the latter country the new mode of taxation had compelled the owners of large stretches of land to cut up their properties and ask idle men in the cities to occupy them, and thus industry was increased. In answer to a question by Mr. A. McCallum, which involved the fact that he was designing the reconstruction of a mill that would do more work than the old one, and dispense with the work of fifty men and what was to become of them, was to place them upon the land, of which millions of acres were waiting for occupation.

Mr. Burnham moved, seconded by Mr. Stone, a cordial vote of thanks to the speaker of the evening, which was enthusiastically carried and the meeting closed with "God Save the Queen."

BELLEVILLE DOG SHOW.

Arrangements being made to hold one in the City of the Bay.

The Belleville Intelligencer publishes the following call for a meeting of dog fanciers to be held there on Friday night:

"The proposed dog show to be held somewhere in Belleville is a capital idea, if it can be brought to a successful issue. We understand from several of the fanciers that a meeting is to be held at the Hotel Quinte on Friday evening next. In Belleville we have a number of citizens who own well-bred canines, and we have no doubt others who live in adjacent places who could be induced to bench their animals. While speaking of a show of this kind, would it no be well to endeavour to form a Central Ontario Association, composed of Kingston, Peterborough and Belleville, each to hold a show in mid-winter one year in turn, at the same time inviting fanciers in the other small towns to join the association; also to hold the shows under the auspices of the C. K. C. Association.

"This we think could be done if the proper parties take hold of the project and help it forward. Let everyone who owns a kennel or takes an interest in "man's best friend" attend the meeting on Friday night. All the cocker spaniels, fox terriers, great Danes, St. Bernards and beag'e hounds will be in attendance."

NEXT YEAR'S COUNCIL.

Its Composition Very Hard to Determine at Present.

It is puzzling to try and ascertain how next year's town council will be composed, as nearly all the councillors of the present year appear to be undetermined as to whether they will allow their names to go before the ratepayers again.

Mr. J. B. McWilliams will be in the field and Mr. J. M. White. Mr. Adam Dawson and Mr. Robt. Neill announce that they do not again desire to run, and Messrs. T. H. G. Deane and Henry Best are at present undetermined.

Amongst the new names mentioned are those of Mr. Robt. Weir for the Third Ward, and Mr. A. J. Gough and Mr. Harry Phelan for Ward No. 2. Mr. A. L. Davis will not again go to the polls. Mr. W. H. Meldrum is undecided and Mr. Graham, of the North Ward, is out of town.

BAILEY AGAIN ARRESTED.

He is Charged With the Deliberate Robbery of a Cripple.

Richard Bailey is again in trouble, and this time the charge against him is a serious one, inasmuch as he is under arrest charged with deliberately "going through" William Bradley, a cripple, who was staying at the Little Windsor.

Bailey was before the magistrate yesterday afternoon at half past four and remanded until Monday next.

On two other occasions the prisoner has been in the police court. The first time he was charged with neglecting to support his wife, and only a few days ago he was arrested for stealing a turkey from in front of Mrs. Fleming's grocery on Park street. As he was shown to have been drunk on the occasion of the theft he was allowed to go on suspended sentence.

ELECTRIC LIGHT AND WATER WORKS.

THE SUBJECTS OF DISCUSSION AT THE ASHBURNHAM COUNCIL.

The Village Fathers think they are Taxed too Much for Street Lighting —The Water Works Question to be Settled Next Wednesday.

At the meeting of the Ashburnham council last evening with Reeve Adams presiding, there were present Councillors Johnston, Smith, Rutherford and Morgan, were received and referred as follows:

COMMUNICATIONS

From the Dominion Alliance, asking the council's signature to a petition to the Legislature to allow the majority in municipalities to prohibit the sale and limit the time of the sale of intoxicating liquor.—Received.

From the Hamilton Water Pipe Company, asking for an opportunity of tendering for the supplies needed if a water-works system was introduced in the village.—Received.

From the Children's Aid Society, asking for assistance to aid them in sustaining the Shelter.—Received.

From James A. Meldrum, Toronto, asking for information concerning the further issue of Village debentures.—Received.

From the Peterborough Light and Power Co., refusing to accept a cheque for $413.50 in payment of their account to Sept. 20th, last, and stating that light would be furnished the village on the same terms as it is now supplied to the town per lamp, provided two more lights were procured. The latter proviso was made in order that the company's revenue from the village would not be reduced on the whole by the reduction charged per lamp.—Received.

From Brown Bros., stating that they had been awarded the contract for supplying the municipalities with a treasurer's cash book, and asking for an order for same.—Received.

From Superintendent Henderson of the Peterborough Water Co., as follows re water supply to the village of Ashburnham:

I am instructed to forward you as follows: At a joint meeting of the councillors of the village and Ashburnham and the directors of the Peterborough Water Company, held on the 22nd inst, the village council submitted the following propositions: That the village council would undertake the work of laying the mains from the east end of Hunter street in the town of Peterborough, where it strikes the river Otonabee, and across said river and along Elizabeth street, and streets adjacent thereto, in the village of Ashburnham, valves, hydrants and standpipes to be connected to mains according to the plans produced by the village corporation. That the Water Company supply all water needed to operate the system named for use, through hydrants for fire purposes only, and standpipes for street watering purposes only, at an annual charge of five per cent. on the cost of said works per annum for a term of years, for a term of years, to be agreed upon by the Water Company and the Ashburnham council. The Water Company to have in addition one half of the annual rate derived from all private services that may be in use in the village during said term, based on the rates now charged for water by the said Company in the town of Peterborough, the cost of said service from the mains to the street line to be divided between the corporation of Ashburnham and the Water Company. The corporation of Ashburnham to own such services on the streets which form part and parcel of said system.

It was moved by Messrs. Hatton and McKee, that the proposition of the village council be accepted, provided all work done on proposed system is carried out under the superintendence of Mr. Henderson, and on specifications to be prepared by him—the corporation of Ashburnham to pay the Water Co for his services, the Water Company to have the right at any time during said term to purchase said system at its cost price.

Received.

ACCOUNTS.

On motion of Councillors Johnston and Smith, the following accounts were ordered to be paid:

T R Manico	$ 2 50
J C Sullivan	2 50

RESOLUTIONS.

Moved by Councillors Rutherford and Johnston, that the communication from Mrs. Warde, on behalf of the Children's Aid Society be received, and that this council grant ten dollars towards said Society for present expenses, and that the treasurer be instructed to issue his cheque in favour of the Children's Aid Society for the amount—Carried.

Mr. D. Lane's dog tax was remitted on motion of Councillors Morgan and Smith.

On the matter of the street lighting being taken up Councillor Morgan was in favour of allowing the matter to lay over until next year. He rather thought the Light and Power Company was trying to dictate to the village in stating that two more lights would have to be taken, and urged that if they were the company be taxed for putting their poles on the village street to an amount as would even the matter up.

Councillor Johnston thought that, perhaps, the council was trying to dictate regarding the price as much as the company was trying to dictate concerning the number of lamps to be used.

Councillor Smith asked if the company could charge the village the full rate of $60.00 per lamp if a settlement was not reached.

Reeve Adams explained that Peterborough had been paying $60.00 per lamp for an all night service. As the village was not getting an all night service this amount could not be charged. The town had received a reduction of 20 per cent., and the same reduction should be given the village. At the beginning of the year when the electric lighting contract expired a new one was not entered into, the arrangement being that a rate be agreed upon later. Hence the dispute.

On motion of Councillors Rutherford and Morgan the communication of the Light & Power Company was received and the company requested to meet the council next Wednesday evening to consider the terms of a new contract.

On motion of Councillors Smith and Johnston the communication of the Railway Co. was received and referred to a Committee of the Whole Council.

SNOWPLOUGHING,

Tenders for snowploughing were received as follows:

NORTHERN DIVISION.

Wm Frith	$40 00
Jos Valois	60 00

SOUTHERN DIVISION.

Thos Mitchell	$35 00

Moved by Councillors Johnston and Smith that the tender of Wm. Frith be received for north portion of village, his tender being the lowest, at $40. Said tenderer to give two securities for the amount of tender, the work to be done to the satisfaction of the Street Inspector.—Carried.

As there was only one tender for the Southern Division and it was much higher than that of last year quite a discussion ensued on the advisability of accepting it.

Moved by Councillors Rutherford and Morgan that the letting of the contract for snowploughing of South Division be laid over until the 15th December, and that tenders be received until that date for same.—Carried.

Moved by Councillors Smith and Johnston that this council apply to the present session of the Ontario Legislature to have the Drainage Act amended, empowering municipal corporations to compel owners and occupants of lots through which creeks and spring freshets pass, to clean the course to a sufficient size to let water and ice pass through freely, and in the event of neglect or refusal on part of owners or occupants after 30 days, said corporation be empowered to do so, charging the same to said owner or occupant of such lots, and that the clerk be instructed to forward this resolution to the representative of this riding at Toronto under the seal of this corporation.—Carried.

Council then adjourned for one week.

CHRISTMAS BAZAAR.

It Will Begin on Tuesday Under the Auspices of St. Joseph's Hospital and the House of Providence.

A bazaar will be held in the Opera House beginning on Tuesday next and lasting for the balance of the week for the purpose of raising funds for St. Joseph's Hospital and the House of Providence.

A similar affair was held two years ago and proved to be very successful, but this year's bazaar will be even more so, as the quantity and quality of the fancy work already contributed far surpasses anything of the kind which has ever been received for previous sales of this nature.

A new feature which is to be introduced at the bazaar is the cheapness at which the articles contributed will be sold—the Sisters merely desiring to realize the cost of the material out of the fancy work without charge for the time occupied in making them up.

It goes without saying that the Opera House will be the general rendezvous for purchasers of Christmas gifts next week, as everything in the way of beautiful fancy work, as well as articles of underwear, etc. will be placed on sale at most reasonable prices. Much of the work has been done by the Sisters, and is consequently finished in the most perfect manner, and includes amongst other things: Aprons, centre pieces, cushions, toilet and sofa, table covers, drawn work, netted work cosies, panels, head rests, fancy baskets, crotchet mats, boxes of various kinds, piano drapes, photograph holders, fine hand-painted work, crepe paper work, shaving cases, pastel work, a large assortment of beautifully dressed dolls, silk and lawn handkerchiefs beautifully worked, children's suits, and underwear for ladies and gentlemen. Every article mentioned above is of the latest and prettiest designs. There are other ornaments and trinkets too numerous to mention.

ALL SAINTS' CHOIR.

It Was Most Hospitably Entertained by Mrs. D J Lundy Last Evening.

The choir of All Saints church, to the number of about twenty, accompanied by Rev. W. L. Armitage, repaired last evening to the residence of Mr. D. J. Lundy, Aylmer street, in response to a cordial invitation extended by Mrs. Lundy.

The evening was most enjoyably spent in the singing of choruses and social intercourse, Mr. Frank Wilson and Rev. Mr. Armitage contributing several solos to the evening's pleasure. Later on refreshments were served and before the choir dispersed a hearty vote of thanks was passed to the kind hostess. The national anthem was sung at the close of the evening.

WANTED IN HUNTSVILLE.

A Horse Trader Arrested and Held for Instructions.

Charles Colwell is getting quite an experience in police court matters. Within the last two weeks he has appeared as both witness and defendant in two cases and now he is behind the bars as a prisoner being under arrest on the authority of the following message from the Chief of Police in Huntsville:

"Arrest and hold under warrant Charles Colwell. He is a horse-trader. He will be around the hotels. He is fair complexioned, fair moustache, height, about 5 ft. 11 in., weight, about 180 or 190 lbs, age 25 or 30 years. If you find him, arrest him and wire me at once."

Colwell made the acquaintance of the police through his horse trade with a citizen, when the animal which he gave dropped on the road before its new owner could get it home. Colwell was also before the magistrate day before yesterday and was fined for keeping three dogs without a license.

As soon as he was arrested last night a telegram was sent to the Huntsville Police Department.

THE LATE REV. M. CONNOLLY.

A Warm Tribute to the Worth of his Former Curate, by Mgr. Farrelly.

At the "Month's Mind" for the late Rev. Michael Connolly, of Hastings, held at St. Michael's church, Belleville, on Tuesday, Rev. Mgr. Farrelly paid a fitting tribute to the worth of the deceased, in the course of which he reminded his hearers "of their Catholic duty, to always remember in their prayers the dead in general, but in a more special manner the dead priests in particular. The priesthood is a precious and heavenly treasure, entrusted by the ordinance of God to the care of a frail earthly casket, which, as the years pass by, must needs sometimes become somewhat affected by the dross of the world which surrounds it. The deceased had fulfilled his duty well and nobly and, no doubt, through the mercy of his God had obtained the crown of the good and faithful priest. He (the speaker) was in a position to testify to his merits, as he had been his curate for two years, during which time he had learned to admire him for his noble qualities as a man and his careful and conscientious fulfilment of priestly duty. He condoled with his beloved curate at the loss of such a brother, and expressed his personal sorrow for one whom he loved and admired."

The following were the priests present on the occasion: Right Rev. Mgr. Farrelly, Belleville; Very Rev. Dean Murray, Trenton; Rev. J. J. Connolly, Belleville; Rev. Thos. Spratt, Wolfe Island; Rev. J.J. McDonough, Picton; Rev. Thos. Davis, Madoc; Rev. J. J. Hogan, Napanee; Rev. Thos. Murtagh, Marmora; Rev. Alex. Carson, Frankford; Rev. Thos McCarthy, Read; Rev. J. J. Fleming, Tweed, and Rev. J. Collins, Brighton.

Result of a Test.

The following letter taken from the Daily Ontario, Belleville, speaks for itself:—

BELLEVILLE, 18th Nov., 97.

C. C. Leavens, Esq., People's Coal Co'y, City:

DEAR SIR,—Your letter enquiring how the test I made of your coal against Scranton coal, received from Mr. Stewart, resulted: Mr. Butterfield had one ton of each kind put in. I found your coal got up to heat much quicker and lasted one day and a half longer than the other. From the appearance of the coal I did not expect it to do so. I told Mr. Butterfield your coal is the most satisfactory.

Yours truly,
BENJ. SERVISS,

THE RING.

The local sparrers who went to Lindsay were well pleased with the evening. Peterborough talent proved too much for the Lindsay men in every round.

Writing of the late John Fleming and the services he rendered the sport of boxing, George R. Sims, the famous dramatist, says:

"To many people the idea of a 'glove fight' still still suggests a brutal exhibition amid debasing surroundings. One evening at the National sporting club under the rule of John Fleming, would have been to those good people a liberal education. They would have found a building crowded with a representative assemblage of Englishmen. They would have seen peers of the realm, judges, jockeys, officers of the army and navy, diplomats, bookmakers, members of Parliament, clergymen, pugilists, stockbrookers, physicians, artists, musicians, and literary men whose names are household words, sitting side by side. They would have found the most perfect order, and an exhibition of the spirit of fair play which if a characteristic of our race. Not long ago an American of high official position told me that he had never respected the English people so much as he did after witnessing a contest between an American and an English boxer at the National Sporting Club. 'This would be impossible in America,' he said, 'our spirit of partizanship would be bound to make itself felt. You have done more than make boxing a display of science—you have carried it into the region of chivalry.'"

A desperate looking man, with two drawn revolvers, is not a pleasant person to meet at a lonely cross-road. Most men will go a long way out of their road to avoid such an encounter. The same men will recklessly neglect their health and court death in the guise of consumption or some other equally fatal disease. One-sixth of all the deaths each year are due to this most fatal of maladies.

Until very recent years, consumption was considered absolutely incurable. It is now known to be curable. During the past thirty years it has been demonstrated that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease before the lungs are too much wasted, also bronchitis, asthma, laryngitis and all diseases of all the air-passages. It acts directly on the lungs, driving out all impurities and disease germs. It soothes the cough, facilitates expectoration, thus thoroughly clearing the lungs. It purifies and enriches the blood and tears down, carries off and excretes old, inert, half-dead tissues, replacing them with the new, firm, muscular tissues of health. It is the great appetite sharpener, blood-maker, flesh-builder, nerve-tonic and restorative. Thousands who had been given up to die have been restored to complete, robust health by this marvelous medicine. Do not buy from unscrupulous dealers who try to force upon you something beside what you ask for. There is nothing to take the place of it, or, which is "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery."

"I had the grip, which left me feeling miserable—no strength and a cough," writes Mrs. C. Maynard, of East Lyme, New London Co., Conn. "As some of my family died with consumption, I was frightened. I began taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. After taking the second bottle I felt much better, and am now well."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure constipation.

THE HUSBAND'S SOLILOQUY.

When we clean house, I'm homeless for a week.
When we clean house, my life is cold and bleak.
My wife she works away
And "airs the house" all day.
Oh, what a disarray
When we clean house!

When we clean house, woe fathomless is mine.
The things are shook and hung upon a line.
I cannot find my clothes,
And where my meerschaum goes
The future only shows
When we clean house.

When we clean house, I feel that I have sinned.
When we clean house, we mostly live on wind.
We have our little snacks
And dine on beats and whacks
And soap and carpet tacks
When we clean house.

To Preserve Wooden Posts.

As a result of some experiments carried on in Germany to discover some efficient and permanent method of preserving wooden posts that have to be set in the ground, the following deductions have been made: In setting posts for fences or other purposes, care should be taken to turn them upside down, that is, to reverse them from the position which they had while growing as portions of a trunk of a tree. The reason for this is that the capillaries of a tree are so arranged as to promote the ascent of fluids from the root upward. Consequently, a log set in the ground in the same relation as the trunk of a growing tree will draw moisture from the ground to a considerable height; and the wood so moistened will decay; while if the log is set with the other end up the action of the capillaries tend to oppose the ascent of the moisture, and the wood resists decay much longer. Another means for preventing the decay of such posts is to protect them with some waterproof covering just below the surface of the ground, where they are most exposed to soaking from rains. An experiment was made in France by furnishing alternate posts with a protecting ring, made by slipping on a drain pipe, and filling the space between the inner surface of the pipe and the post with tar and sand. The top of the pipe was set just at the level of the ground, and it was found that the posts so protected lasted just five times as long as those which had been set in the ground without protection. The cost of the application was about sixty cents for each post, but it seems probable that a simple wrapping of tarred paper would have answered the purpose, provided no holes had been driven through it and the paper had been sealed with a coating of tar.

THE INDIA CAMPAIGN.

Operations Will Be Postponed Until Spring.

HAYTI AT LAST FORCED TO YIELD

The Germans Have a Brush With the Chinese, But the Emperor of the Celestial Kingdom Declares That the Invaders May Not Permanently Occupy the Kiao Chou Bay.

London, Dec. 8.—According to a despatch to The Morning Post from Bombay, the operations of the British punitive expedition, under Sir William Lockhart, on the northwestern frontier of India, which began about the middle of September last, will cease presently and be resumed in the spring.

GERMANY AND CHINA.

Celestials Seem to Know Their Rights and Will Maintain Them.

Pekin, Dec. 8.—The Chinese Government has caused it to be made known that up to the time of the German occupation of Kiao Chou Bay no claim was made by Germany for reparation as a result of the murders of the two German missionaries, Nies and Hennle, and that there were no other differences between the two Governments. Consequently, the Government of China points out, the missionary question is regarded as a pretext to obtain a naval station, which, it is shown, Germany has long coveted. The Chinese Government, it is said, in conclusion, will never consent to the Germans remaining at Kiao Chou Bay, as their presence there deprives China of a harbor, which, since the war with Japan, has been regarded as the most suitable naval base of operations.

A Brush With the Enemy.

London, Dec. 8.—A special despatch from Shanghai says: On Friday last Capt. Becker, with 210 German marines, left Kiao Chou Bay to occupy the surrounding villages, whence they proceeded to capture the city. The Chinese forts opened fire and the Germans replied, killing three of the garrison, which thereupon fled in disorder.

SPAIN'S MISFORTUNES.

Sagasta's Efforts Too Late to Reconcile the Implacable Enemies of Spain.

London, Dec. 8.—The Daily Chronicle publishes yesterday a letter from a correspondent in Havana, who says: "Sagasta's efforts are too late. Under Weyler's vile regime half the Cuban population disappeared, and the remaining half has been converted into the implacable enemies of Spain, enemies who will absolutely refuse to accept Spain's word.

"The central provinces are a desert waste. The sugar industry can only be restarted by the infusion of American and English capital. Few dare to invest. The island is lost to Spain, and it is clearly the duty of the United States to intervene in the interests of humanity and civilization and to end this fearful inferno."

Outrages in Macedonia.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Dec. 8.—Alarming news reached here yesterday from Macedonia. The Albanians are reported to be committing great excesses at Debra and Kitchevo, and the surrounding districts, killing men, outraging women and looting cattle. The local authorities are powerless, wholesale prosecution and arrests of Bulgarians by Turks are also reported from the Bulgarian frontier. The news has caused great excitement here.

Outrage by Turkish Soldiers.

London, Dec. 8.—The Daily Mail reports that a party of Englishmen, including Robert Barr, the novelist, while touring the Mediterranean, were seized by Turkish soldiery at Suediah, a port of Asiatic Turkey, 18 miles southwest of Antioch, on Nov. 28 last. They were detained 26 hours in prison and experienced much ill-treatment before they were liberated. The Daily Mail says that the Government has addressed a "serious remonstrance" to Turkey.

Fatal Boxing Bout.

London, Dec. 7.—Walter Croot of Newcastle, Eng., who was defeated for the bantam-weight championship of the world at the National Sporting Club last night, by Jimmy Barry of Chicago, died this morning of the injuries he received during the contest.

Anti-Jewish Riot in Roumania.

Vienna, Dec. 8.—A despatch from Bucharest, the capital of Roumania, says that yesterday a fanatical mob, 20,000 strong, armed with iron bars and cudgels, attacked the Jewish quarters, pillaged the shops and destroyed windows and furniture.

ANOTHER VICTORY WON.

Kincardine was the Scene of the Contest—The Victory was thorough and Complete—An Interested Person Tells of it.

KINCARDINE, Ont., Nov. 29th.—The case of Mr. Herb Brown, a finisher in Watson & Malcolm's furniture factory here, is the talk of the town at present. Mr. Brown was a continual sufferer from kidney disease. The urinary system became involved, and his condition grew very serious. That great benefactor, Dodd's Kidney Pills, conquered the disease and made a new man of the victim. Mr. Brown cannot say enough in praise of the remedy which has done so much for him. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the great favourite in this district, where many remarkable cures have been made by them. They have not failed in a single case.

UP-TO-DATE.

A Fast Train to be Put on the Intercolonial Railway Between Montreal and Halifax.

Montreal, Dec. 8.—Fifty miles an hour including stoppages from Montreal to Halifax. This is the new policy that will soon be inaugurated on the Intercolonial. Mr. Adolphe Davis, a very capable engineer, and at one time superintendent of the North Shore Railway, between Montreal and Quebec, has been appointed consulting engineer of Government railways, and he appears to have been given a free hand by Hon. Mr. Blair in securing the best possible rolling stock for the Government road, and in carrying out radical reforms. After visiting the leading manufacturing centres of the continent Mr. Davis found what he considered to be the best and most powerful locomotive at the Baldwin Works, Philadelphia, and upon the new consulting engineer's recommendation it was purchased and brought to Montreal.

The locomotive is a double compound of the newest Vaudain patent, mounted with a boiler 60 inches in diameter, 27 feet long, with a grated surface of 26 feet. She is what is called a 10-wheeler, having a truck of 4 wheels and 6 fly wheels, 6 feet across. This engine, which will be known on the I.C.R. as No. 168, will have a capacity for hauling 12 Pullman coaches, 2 baggage and 1 express car up the steepest grade on the Intercolonial Railway, at a rate of 50 miles an hour, or she will run up and down the medium grades at 70 miles an hour. He likewise said that it was the intention of the department to equip the railway that in a year's time regular express trains will run from Montreal to Halifax and vice versa at the rate of 50 miles an hour, including all stoppages, etc.

Mr. Davis said that the road bed of the I. C. R. was as good as that of any single track road in America, and he added that the new locomotive will serve as a model for many others of the same kind, which the Government intend having made in Canada.

Railway Strike Abandoned.

London, Dec. 8.—As a result of the refusal of the Right Hon. Charles T. Ritchie, President of the Board of Trade, to interfere in the name of the Board in the present labor dispute, with a view to arranging a conference, in order to avert a strike, the idea of a general railway strike has been abandoned.

GUELPH, Nov. 23RD, 1897.

DEAR SIRS,—

For years I was troubled with periodical sick headaches, being affected usually every Sunday, and used all the remedies that were advertised as cures and was treated by almost every doctor in Guelph but without any relief. One doctor told me it was caused by a weak stomach, another said it was hereditary and incurable. I was induced by a neighbour to try SLOAN'S INDIAN TONIC, and am happy to say I did so. A few doses gave immediate relief and one bottle and a half made a complete cure. This was three years ago and the headaches have never returned. I was also troubled with asthma, and nothing helped me like Sloan's Indian Tonic. I can heartily recommend it to all, and will be glad to give any particulars to any one afflicted as I was.

Had to Stop and Rest Because of Heart Trouble.

Mrs. Elias Cook, 109 Palmerston Ave., Toronto, says: "Seven years ago I had the grip, followed by inflammation of the lungs. I have been afflicted ever since with heart trouble. To walk anyway fast would make me gasp for breath, and many a time I have had to stop on the street to rest and regain my breath.

I had bad smothering spells at night, and my nerves were much unstrung. Anything annoying or worrying me produced extreme weakness, and would set my heart beating so fast that I thought I was dying. Sometimes I would become so nervous as to tremble like a leaf.

I began taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills early last February, and have been getting better ever since. My nerves are much stronger. I can walk without difficulty, and the palpitation, fluttering of the heart, shortness of breath and nervousness trouble me no more.

I gladly recommend these pills as the best medicine I know of for heart and nerve troubles on account of the great good they have done in my case." 231

Spain and a Conquered Race.

The idea of conquered races enjoying the most minute liberty of action by natural birthright was regarded in Spain as absurd. Little by little pressure was brought to bear on the king and his counselors, producing a gradual relaxation of the fetters which bound the new subjects to their forced allegiance. Trade, created by the Spaniards, which finally extended to half castes, was confined exclusively to commerce with Spain. Both in the far east and the far west the exact size and number of packages shipped, the number of voyages per annum to and fro of the Naos (government trading galleons), contents of bales, etc., were all regulated, and no one could ship without a boleto or public permit, which could only be obtained from the unscrupulous officials who had come to fill their pockets by the most corrupt means. Permission had to be solicited again and again to perform almost any act beyond the common necessities of life. One could neither travel, quit or enter the country, read, write, assemble in a group, build a house nor plant a field without license.

In the Philippine islands the natives were forced to think like their masters, to dress as they were told and to adopt the religion of their conquerors under the severest penalties of torture and frequently of death. In Mexico official appointments to the Manilla dependency were publicly sold. Until the American colonies were lost to Spain hardly one Spaniard in a generation carried capital to these new possessions to develop their natural resources. Foreigners were jealously treated as intruders, and the European influx sprang generally from the lowest social orders, who acted like wolves let loose among a fold of sheep. —Westminster Review.

OUTPUT OF TWO FORESTS.

The Almost Inconceivable Amount of Lumber Cut In Wisconsin and Minnesota.

"The Story of a Pine Board" is the title of an article by W. S. Harwood in St. Nicholas. Mr. Harwood says of the lumbering in Wisconsin and Minnesota:

About 4,160,000,000 feet of logs were cut in the season of 1895—that is to say, what is equivalent to 4,160,000,000 pieces of board 12 inches square and 1 inch think. I wonder if even the lumber men themselves, and the log cutters, and the manufacturers of lumber in the great mills, realize what an enormous amount of lumber this is. Why, it would build a house around the globe, with a main room ten feet high and a large attic, ceiling up the inside walls and roof with sweet, fragrant pine. It would put down a matched floor, and then, when the house was all completed, there would be left enough lumber to build tight board fences on either side of the house 3½ feet high the whole distance around the globe. Besides all this there would be shingles enough for a good portion of the house, and then, if the mighty builder of such a globe girdling house wanted to fit it up a little more neatly, there would be a large supply of laths, and, I suppose, the plasterers could furnish him enough stucco and lime.

Or if he wanted to construct a roof shelter for all the people on the globe our mighty builder could accommodate them all, allowing to each man, woman and child a clear space of two square feet in which to stand, and still have room left over for 500,000,000 men with the same room in which to stand. And, to look at it in still another way, this same builder would have material to construct a bicycle path of pine, a little over two feet wide, from the earth to the moon, for there would be nearly 800,000 miles of board a foot wide and an inch thick. In sawing this lumber up into the required length and thickness there was a great waste in sawdust—so great, indeed, that the sawdust pile would stand 112 feet high on a city square and 500 feet square at the base, and this is saying nothing about the vast amount of pieces of slabs which are split up into kindlings.

This enormous quantity of lumber represents merely the output of two forests—one in the northwestern part of the state of Wisconsin, and the other in the northern part of the state of Minnesota, and at the rate the logs are being cut up there will not be a piece of pine forest standing in all this vast region at the end of ten years unless something is done by the government to put a stop to the ravages.

The confidence of the people in Hood's Sarsaparilla is due to its unequalled record of wonderful cures.

MR. LAMAR PAID TWICE.

General Lee Tells a Story of the Justice's Absentmindedness.

General Lee tells this story of ex-Senator Lamar, while the latter was a member of the United States supreme court.

"He was in a herdic one day," said General Lee, "and, as was not unusual with him when not actively employed, was almost entirely oblivious of his surroundings. He was a deep thinker, you know. Well, he forgot to pay his fare. The driver rang his bell, and finally another passenger called his attention to it.

"'They're ringing for your fare, I think,' said the man to Judge Lamar, touching him on the knee.

"'Is that so?' asked the judge, starting up. 'I had forgotten all about it.' He then pulled some silver pieces from his pocket and selecting a dime dropped it into the box.

"The passenger who had observed his action, said to the judge as he resumed his seat: 'Didn't you make a mistake? The fare is 5 cents.'

"'Why, so it is. Excuse me,' replied the jurist, and again making his way to the cash box he put in a nickel, after which he took his seat, confident that he had discharged all his obligations, as he had, indeed, and more.

"And so far as I know," continued General Lee, "he never realized his mistake. The best part of the story is that it is true. Goodby. I get off here." —Washington Star.

A Quaint Scotch Wedding Custom.

A quaint wedding custom still prevails in many of the little country towns and mining villages in Scotland. When a wedding is held, the contracting parties make their guests pay in full for the eating, drinking and dancing facilities which are usually provided on such occasions. The practice still seems to survive even in Glasgow. A correspondent observed a notice posted up in the Cowcaddens—a low class Glasgow thoroughfare—informing the public that a soldier would shortly enter into the bonds of wedlock, and that twopence would be charged for admission to the ceremony and an additional sixpence imposed for attendance at the wedding feast. The practice seems to be peculiarly Scotch, but sixpence certainly seems moderate enough for a marriage supper.—Westminster Gazette.

The Useless Men.

"Married life isn't what it is cracked up to be," remarked Mrs. Grimesleigh. "When I married Daniel, I thought it would be so handy to have a man about the house; but, Lor', that's all it amounted to. He's never at home when he's wanted for anything, and if he is he's tired or busy or something or other, and so I have to go to work and do the thing myself. 'S far as I can see, men are only in the way when they are in the house and out of the way when they're wanted."—Boston Transcript.

The sciara, a wormlike insect of forests of Hungary and Norway, is only a tenth of an inch long, yet in migrating, in July or early August, the creatures are said to stick themselves together in a serpentlike mass often 40 to 50 feet long and several inches thick.

D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realizing that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Them, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract.

"WHAT SHALL I GIVE FOR CHRISTMAS?"

This is the Question of the Day!

What better suggestion to Husband, Father or Brother than Furs for Mother—Wife—Sister—or Sweetheart, and vice versa. Furs always have and always will, most easily, delightfully and economically solve the question in this land of "The Lady of the Snows."

—Here's a lot of dainty warm Fur Ruffs, with heads and tails, comprising Sable, Mink, Grey Lamb, Opposum and Black Martin. Price $2.00, $2 50, $4.00, $5.00, $7.50 and $10.00.

—Eleven designs in Collarettes—Electric Seal, Grey Lamb, German Mink, Persian Lamb and Seal Combination, Chinchilla and Seal Combination, etc, $4 50 to $18.00.

—A few Choice Sable and Persian Lamb Collarettes at $20.00, $25.00 and $30.00.

—We cannot keep Fur Gauntlets in the back ground, they are in ever increasing demand—and such values—$1.25 buys a Grey or Black Lamb Imitation. $2.50 to $4.00 buys a serviceable Astrachan or or Electric Seal Gauntlet, for lady or gentleman.

—Children's Grey Gauntlets in Imitation Lamb 75c; the real Grey Lamb costing $but 3.00 to $4.00.

—We show Gauntlets in Persian Lamb, Seal, Beaver, Otter, Coon and Matassini Buffalo at special prices for Xmas shoppers.

—Then Capes are always very givable, showing good judgment in the purchaser and giving comfort to the wearer; $1.50, $2.00, $2.75, $4 00, $5.00, $6.00 and $7.50 buys beauties in Baltic Seal, Nutria, Wombat, Astrachan, Grey Lamb, Beaver, German Otter and Persian Lamb.

—Ladies' delight in Muffs. It is not often one gets such values in these handsome articles—an extra large Siberian Bear Muff for $2.00, a quantity of commoner sort at 75c to $1.25.

—Some extra choice Sable and Brown Bear Skins have contributed to the making of a quantity of fine Muffs which cannot be excelled anywhere—$6.00 to $11.00.

—Fur Storm Collars, Fur Capes, Fur Jackets, Fur-lined Cloaks, Men's Coats, Robes, etc., in too large variety to be here enumerated. George W. Vanderbilt, youngest son of W. H. Vanderbilt, is taking a trip to Europe and the Orient. Before leaving New York he placed on his life a policy of $1,000,000, on which the annual premium is $35,000 for 20 years, when payments will cease, the policy being payable at death. The policy is said to be the largest ever written by one company.

HAS SHE GONE DOWN?

Rumor That Troopship Avoca Foundered With 1000 Soldiers on Board.

Halifax, N.S., Dec. 9.—There was a startling rumor in circulation yesterday that the British troopship Avoca had foundered at sea, and that all on board were lost. The report could not be substantiated. No information of the kind has been received by the naval authorities here, and nobody else is able to confirm the story. The Avoca was last reported at Jamaica, sailing from there a short time ago for Cape Town with about 1000 soldiers on board. While at Jamaica she was docked and cleaned.

Is This the Right Vessel?

London, Dec. 9.—The rumor cabled from Halifax that the British troopship Avoca, bound from Jamaica for Cape Town, with 1000 troops on board, has foundered, is not credited here. According to a telegram received yesterday from Teneriffe, the Avoca, supposed to be the troopship, has arrived at Ascension Island, though the date of arrival is not given. It is noted as bearing on the two despatches that the 1st Battalion Liverpool Regiment, consisting of eight companies, is under orders from Jamaica for Cape Town.

Little Blaze at Oshawa.

Oshawa, Dec. 9.—About 9 o'clock last evening an alarm of fire was given from the house of A. Hindes, on Simcoe street, occupied by Thomas Kennedy. The flames were soon checked by the fire department and most of the contents saved, the rest being damaged by smoke and water.

How many young men and young women are cut off just as the future seems brightest and fullest of promise! They are taken away by the disease which causes over one-sixth of all the deaths in the world—the disease which doctors call consumption. There is absolutely no reason in the world why consumption should be fatal—why it should be even serious. It is a disease of the blood and can be cured absolutely and always by purifying and enriching the blood. The only exception to this is the case where the disease has been neglected and improperly treated until the disease is stronger than the body—until the body has become so weak as to have lost the ability to recuperate. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption if used according to directions. It also cures all lingering coughs, bronchial and throat affections.

The 250th Presbyterian Anniversary.

Toronto, Dec. 9.—The conference for the celebration of the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the Standards of the Presbyterian Church was concluded last night. All through the attendance at the various sessions and the interest taken in the papers read has been very great. Yesterday three sessions were held. In the morning at one time it looked as though there would be a controversial discussion over certain doctrines set forth in the Confession of Faith, but this was cleverly sidetracked by Professor McLaren.

In Niagara's Rapids.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Dec. 9.—Walter McCulloch, a prominent civil engineer of this city, had a miraculous escape from death in the rapids yesterday. He was running some lines near Goat Island, when, stepping on a log, the bark gave way and he was precipitated into the rapids above Goat Island Bridge. He was swept under the bridge, where he grasped one of the piers and managed to hold on until rescued.

The Bacon Folly.

It was inevitable that the Bacon folly should proceed to commit suicide by piling up extravagances. By some methods one can prove anything, and accordingly we find writers busy in tracing Bacon's hand in the writings of Greene, Marlowe, Shirley, Marston, Massinger, Middleton and Webster. They are sure that he was the author of Montaigne's essays, which were afterward translated into what we have always supposed to be the French original. Mr. Donnelly believes that Bacon also wrote Burton's "Anatomy of Melancholy." Next comes Dr. Orville Owen with a new cipher which proves that Bacon was the son of Queen Elizabeth by Robert Dudley, and that he was the author of the "Faerie Queene" and other poems attributed to Edmund Spenser.

Finally we have Mr. J. E. Roe, who does not mean to be outdone. He asks us what we are to think of the notion that an ignorant tinker like John Bunyan could have written the most perfect allegory in any language. Perish the thought! Nobody but Bacon could have done it. Of course Bacon had been more than 50 years in his grave when "Pilgrim's Progress" was published as Bunyan's, but your true Baconizer is never stopped by trifles. Mr. Roe assures us that Bacon wrote that heavenly book, as well as "Robinson Crusoe" and the "Tale of a Tub," which surely begins to make him seem ubiquitous and everlasting. If things go on at this rate, we shall presently have a religious sect holding as its first article of faith that Francis Bacon created the heavens and the earth in six days and rested on the seventh day.—John Fiske in Atlantic.

Riot Among Laborers on the Soulanges Canal.

THE FRENCH FIGHT THE ITALIANS

Alexio Greico, an Italian, Killed, and Several of His Co-Nationalists Badly Wounded—The Italians Up in Arms Over the Way They Have Been Treated—Two Arrests.

Montreal, Dec. 9.—A serious riot broke out last night between the French-Canadian and Italian laborers employed on the Soulanges Canal at Coteau du Lac, about 25 miles from Montreal. Alexio Greico, an Italian, was killed and several were badly injured. The Italians are up in arms and threatening trouble. Police have been sent from Montreal to the scene, and several arrests have been made.

Two Frenchmen Arrested.

Coteau du Lac, Que., Dec. 9.—A horrible murder took place here last night, when an Italian named Alexio Greico lost his life. There was a little fight yesterday at 3 o'clock, and the quarrel was resumed last night about 6 o'clock.

Two French-Canadians have been arrested. The coroner and detective are coming out. The Italians are very much excited, and there are about 150 patroling the streets of the town in search of the alleged murderers. The people are much alarmed and fear further trouble. At 10 o'clock the Italians appeared to be calmed down a little, but are still in search of the murderers, in groups of five and ten, and threaten to kill them on sight.

AN IMMENSE SUCCESS.

The Provincial Fat Stock Show at Brantford is Attended by Tremendous Crowds of People.

Brantford, Dec. 9.—The Fat Stock Show is proving a great success. The number of exhibits far surpasses any previous Fat Stock Show, and the quality is of the very best. The building inside has 17 arc lights, is nicely decorated with flags, etc., very comfortable and kept strictly clean. Last night there was a large attendance.

Yesterday the crowd was immense; all trains brought in visitors, and farmers drove in from all over the county. This, with our citizens in attendance, makes it appear as a gala day. The immense building that everyone thought so large is crowded to its utmost capacity with a stream of people passing through it all day. The judging commenced yesterday and will probably be finished early to-day.

THE LEGISLATURE

The Government Sustained on the Timber Question

BY A MAJORITY OF TWO TO ONE

The Patron Leader Speaks—He Praises the County Councils Act and the Engledue Deal—Mr. Whitney States the Opposition Policy—A Crushing Reply.

Toronto, Dec. 10.—The debate in the Legislature upon the address was concluded yesterday, and the Government sustained by a handsome majority of 27. In an eloquent and telling speech, Premier Hardy announced the Government timber policy, and exposed the close relations of Mr. Whitney, the Opposition leader, with American lumbermen. Time and again during the Premier's speech the leader of the Opposition pleaded for quarter, but the Premier told him he had made his bed and he could lie upon it.

The Patron Leader.

Mr. Haycock was the first speaker. He began by congratulating the city of Kingston as having been the birthplace of the two most talented and popular Lieut.-Governors who had ever held office in Ontario. He commended the Government for having called the House together early in the season, because it was a most convenient time for gentlemen from the country, more space would be given the speech in the press, and it also afforded all parties an opportunity to revise their campaign speeches. (Hear, hear.) He trusted the Government would continue to call the House together at this season. He thought the Opposition were making out a fairly good case against the Government as regards its competency to rule the country; the Government had also shown that the Opposition were also unfit to rule, but no one had suggested that the Patrons were not fit to run the affairs of the province. (Laughter.) It had been stated that the Patron movement was dead because their lodges were not meeting. The Conservatives and Liberals were not meeting weekly, yet it was not suggested their parties were dead. The fact was the Patron movement had never been so strong.

The County Council Act.

Radical as the act had been he believed the people of the province were satisfied with it. Not a single petition had been presented to the House protesting against the act, and not a single resolution had been passed in the councils themselves against the act. He hoped legislation would soon be introduced reducing Township Councils to three members and also greatly reducing the number of members of the Legislature. (Hear, hear.)

The Engledue Deal.

He commended the Government for their action in this matter. He would be pleased if five hundred such transactions could be consummated and all such land sold. At present the land was valueless and produced absolutely no revenue to the province. The facts were as follows: Engledue came along and offered the Government $20,000 as a guarantee of good faith, agreeing to spend $120,000 in three years if they would give them an option to purchase and pay for the lands at the market price if they found anything. The option asked was upon but one five-hundredth part of the gold land of the province. The Government agreed and gave the option. He hoped they would be able to make many more such deals. (Cheers.) He did not like the method of keeping public accounts. Expenditures could not be traced. It was not to be wondered, therefore, that certain members had made false statements upon the stump. Reference had been made to the fact that Mr. Hugh Miller had not been selling the Government so many drugs since he had signed the warrant for the arrest of Inspector Christie's son. The fact was that last year Mr. Miller had received $800 for drugs, more money than anyone else had received for drugs during the year. (Hear, hear).

The Surplus.

He had gone thoroughly into that question; had made a careful study of the accounts which handled as any business man would in his own affairs; taking account of the assets and actual liabilities did actually leave the surplus claimed by the Government. While he agreed with the Administration upon this point he thought they had been extravagant in the matter of the expenses for Government House. This institution should be abolished. He hoped, in dealing with the lumber question, the Government would not act in a spirit of retaliation It would be foolish for a small country like Canada to pick a quarrel with so large a country as the United States. He thought it would be unwise to prohibit logs going out of the country as it might greatly injure the lumbermen in Canada. It was stated Americans required our lumber. This was the argument used when Canadian barley was treated in the same manner. But Americans found in corn a substitute for Canadian barley, and since the cost of iron would likely be reduced fifty per cent. by Edison, it might be unwise to prohibit the exportation of logs. He thought it would be wise for the Government to increase the stumpage dues upon logs cut for export. He moved an amendment to the amendment expressing satisfaction that the Government intended dealing with the lumber question in the form of legislation.

Parry Sound's Member.

Mr. W. R. Beatty, Parry Sound, followed and made one of the most practical and sensible speeches delivered during the session. He spoke as follows:

"It was not my intention to take up the time of the House during the course of this debate, and would not have done so had it not been for certain remarks made by the member of West York with reference to the dismissal from the Government service of Mr. D. F. Macdonald, who has for some years acted as forest ranger in the Parry Sound and Muskoka district. Reflections were cast upon the character of this gentleman, and it was insinuated he had been a party to the frauds alleged to have been discovered as having been perpetrated by the Moore Lumber Co.

Now, Sir, I do not wish to be silent in this House when a civil servant, whom I believe to be an honorable man, is attacked, and who has no opportunity to reply. I have known Mr. Macdonald for over twenty years, and believe him to be a thoroughly honest and truthful man—a man who never cheated any man out of a dollar or a cent. It will be time to charge him with complicity in this affair when he has been proven guilty.

"Now, Sir, while I am upon my feet I desire to say a few words with reference to the timber policy of this province. It seems to me that since the Americans have made an attempt to close up our saw mills, and throw out of employment so many honest, industrious Canadian workmen, our Government should take such action as would mitigate the evil results of the legislation enacted across the line. I am speaking in the interest of the people who sent me here, Conservatives and Reformers alike, when I say they do not care for measures of retaliation except in so far as they will do them some practical good. It is simply a matter of business, and we want such a law enacted as will give our own laborers work, and keep our own saw mills in operation." (Cheers.)

Dr. McKay's Remarks.

Dr. McKay (Victoria) congratulated Mr. Whitney upon the fact that he was endeavoring to conduct the present campaign without appeals to religious bigotry and intolerance. He was trying honestly to gain power through the open door of Parliament and yet all the complaints used in years past against the Government on the cry—they favored Roman Catholics had still the same groundwork as before—why then was it that nothing was heard of any of these cries? Whitney personally was a good, honest man, but he was surrounded by a crowd of men the people of the province would never trust. (Cheers.)

The Other Side.

Mr. Charlton was listened to with great attention, it being the general impression he knew considerable about the timber question. He ridiculed the idea that the timber lands of the province were nearly depleted. He gave it as his opinion that the timber sales of the future might go on for 152 years at the same rate they had been sold since the Mowat Government gained power. He thought it would amount to confiscation and breach of contract if the Government, in their new bill dealing with the timber question, insisted upon any further restrictions than already embodied in the licenses issued. (Hear, hear.) He referred solely to limits already sold and paid for. There was undoubtedly a strong sentiment throughout the country upon this subject, but he was convinced this was because it was not understood.

The Opposition Policy.

Mr. Whitney having promised at the opening of the debate to speak again made good his promise last evening. He said the reasons for the calling of Parliament as given by the Ministers, their organ, The Globe, and Liberal members all disagreed. He was asked by the Government why he did not formulate his charges and make them in the House. Simply because he did not wish to play the Government game and did not wish to do so. He complained that Mr. Hardy had treated him unfairly in the debate. He stated again he was not satisfied with the manner in which the public accounts were kept. The Government had not proclaimed its policy on the timber question, but its policy could be guessed since the Ministers had applauded Mr. Charlton's remarks when he asked that the logs should be allowed to go to the United States. Mr. Charlton had said there was timber left yet enough for 152 years, how then could he excuse the Government for spending large sums each year in re-planting trees? He urged the Government to adopt his policy and at once refuse to allow Americans to take any more logs from Ontario.

A Crushing Reply.

Hon. Mr. Hardy was loudly cheered when he stood up to close the debate. With reference to the timber question he said Mr. Whitney looked upon this subject from a party standpoint and did not approach it in a manner its importance would demand. (Hear, hear.) This question had but recently become a matter of practical politics and this because of the recent action of the American Government, which action had wholly changed the conditions upon this side of the line. Mr. Whitney had allowed his political organ to dictate his line of argument, that the Government was treasonable; favoring Americans, etc. The Government was dealing with business men who had been invited to purchase. He wished the world to know that British law gave protection to alien and native alike. (Cheers.) When aliens were invited to pay money to Canada and in return receive logs they would be honestly and fairly dealt with. It was not the policy of the Government to act in the dishonest manner with Americans that their Government meted out to foreigners. (Cheers.) As a matter of fact Americans had but a very small proportion of the timber lands of Ontario, and upon most of the lands they did own Canadian capitalists and banks had advanced nearly the full value of the timber, so that if the Opposition's policy were adopted Canadians would be heavily burdened. Complaint had been made that the Government had not, in the speech from the throne, announced their full policy upon this subject. It was well known that the time to do this was when the bill would be brought down, and not when the foreshadowing speech was read. (Cheers.) He then read the contracts that had been made with holders of timber licenses which gave them absolute liberty to take logs away for one year, and asked if the Opposition wished the Government to break their word, back out of the contract, and sully the honor of a British Government. As the representatives of the Queen the Ministers had the honor of the Crown to uphold, and with the help of Heaven the Government intended to do so. (Cheers.) The Government had heard a deputation of Canadian lumbermen who had not asked that Americans should not be allowed to take logs away this year, but had simply asked that after these present licenses had expired next year then farther export should be prohibited. Some experts had said that such action upon the part of the Government would depreciate the value of limits on the Georgian Bay at least fifty per cent. Every timber limit in Ontario would be affected. Millions of money was involved and the Government had decided to call Parliament together that the whole matter might be threshed out and all interests heard by the representatives of the people. It was the intention of the Government to have the matter thoroughly discussed by the members, who would be given an opportunity to hear all the facts before action should be taken, involving over forty millions of dollars. (Cheers.)

Mr. Whitney Exposed.

Mr. Hardy then called attention to the fact that Mr. Whitney had accused the Government of having associated with Americans. A great deal had been said about the action taken by the Government with reference to the dismissal of Mr. Macdonald, who had allowed the Moore Lumber Company to steal logs. It was not known that many prominent members of the Opposition had waited upon the Government and prayed that Mr. Macdonald should not be dismissed; it was not known that hundreds of most respectable citizens within the district where he had lived and worked for 20 years had done the same; it was not known that Macdonald during his long term of office had made but one mistake, but that mistake was a grave one and with tears in his eyes he had dismissed him. (Cheers.) It was not known that the Moore Lumber Company had been compelled to pay the Government $11,000, and that the president of the company who had paid this money was associated with Mr. Whitney as a director in the St. Anthony Lumber Company. (Cheers.) Who was the associate of the American robbers? (Cheers.) It did not lie in the mouth of Mr. Whitney to say one word regarding Americans. (Loud cheers.) The vote on the address was then taken and the Government sustained by a majority of 27.

TWO BOYS DROWNED.

Charles Gamon and James McFarlane Lost Their Lives on Sunday Night.

Collingwood, Ont., Dec. 10.—Charles Gamon, son of the late Charles Gamon, solicitor, and James McFarlane, son of James McFarlane, furniture dealer, of this town, started about 12 o'clock Sunday night for the wharf to stay for the night on the fishing tug Dalton McCarthy. On Monday they could not be found and a feeling of uneasiness prevailed. The harbor was dragged to-day, and the body of McFarlane was found near the Grand Trunk Railway elevator, but, so far, the body of Gamon has not been found. No doubt both walked or fell over the side of the wharf while on their way to the tug. A searching party will continue to try and find the body of Gamon.

Almost Distracted

Dreadful Suffering by a Newmarket Woman.

The Bones in the Nose Affected—Face Would Swell Until Her Eyes Were Closed—How Relieved.

NEWMARKET, ONT.—"I have had a good opportunity of noting the great medicinal powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla. My wife has been a sufferer from catarrh for the past four years, and the disease had gone so far that the bones of the nose had become affected and particles had come away through an opening in the left side. Her eyesight was also affected to the extent that for nearly a year she was unable to read for more than five minutes at a time. She suffered and at times was almost distracted. She was treated by four different doctors, one of whom was a specialist. They all said they could not do anything for her, as the disease had gone too far. Her nose would swell about every three days until her eyes would almost be closed. Then it would break through and the swelling would subside for a day or two. About Christmas she commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and since that time has steadily improved. She has not been troubled with any swelling since, and the sore on the side of the nose has all healed. She is on the road to a complete cure. I cannot speak too highly of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I cheerfully recommend it to any person who is suffering with catarrh." W. H. FURMIDGE.

AN ERA OF PROGRESS.

REGULATION AND RESTRICTION OF THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC IN ONTARIO.

What Has Been Accomplished—Impressions of Dr. John Clifford—Dr. Chas. B. Spahr and the Women's Christian Temperance Convention — Toronto Alderman and Ontario Ministers—Reduction of the Number of Liquor Selling Places in Toronto and Throughout Ontario — Now and Thirty Years Ago.

A few weeks ago there passed through Toronto on the way to his home in old London a minister of the Nonconformist churches, who has attained to a position of commanding influence in the social and civil as well as the religious life of his own country. He had been on a trip around the world, visiting the countries of Greater Britain north and south of the equator, and everywhere he appears to have closely observed the people and their institutions. In Toronto he was accorded a public reception, and, in the speech delivered by him, thoughtful opinions were expressed on subjects of Church and State. "I am a patriot." and the welcome to me to-night is due not so much to me and the work I have done as to your recognizing in me the representative of that country—one who rejoices in the Greater Britain, and who welcomes the federalizing of the whole British people for the purpose of advancement. I am a Canadian, though I dwell in London. I am an Australian, though I dwell in London. I am a Londoner, though I am still travelling around the world. And the mere statement of that fact, illumined as it is by such facts as this—that one-fifth of the population of the globe is under the British flag, that one-fifth of the territory of this globe is under the British flag—I say, a recognition of that fact in the lives of the people of this country opens up

ILLIMITABLE RESPONSIBILITIES.

Our business is not to live for Canada only, not to live for England only, but to live for this great British Empire. God has committed to us British people the custody of those important principles upon which States are based, and by obedience to which they achieve the Divine ideal. He has made us the custodians of liberty of conscience, and we shall never have done our work for mankind until there is not a nation upon the earth that does not put as central to its collective life this principle of liberty of conscience." Speaking of the Public School system of Ontario, which some of our own critics attempt to decry and belittle, he said that we are far ahead of what they are doing in the old country. "I am free to say from what I have seen, that the educators in the old country would find it immensely to their advantage to come and inspect the work that is being done in this city of Toronto. There is a thoroughness in the drill, there is a completeness in your arrangements, there is an inventiveness in your methods of teaching, that seems to reach, I was about to say, the maximum of perfection." And, speaking of public questions which we have faced, and have done a great deal to master, he said:—"Your actions as a State seem to me to exhibit the operations of the collective conscience upon the development of the individual character in the highest form which I know. I am not aware that anything in connection with the Australian Colonies goes so far, and does so thoroughly make it difficult to do wrong—as our Christian statesmen, Mr. Gladstone, said —and easy to do right as your Ontario arrangements. Your legislation in these directions and your administration thus carry to such a degree of efficiency as to protect those who are in peril, to guard the weak and to help to firmer standing those who have again and again fallen. I congratulate you on your conception of the State. It is not the old Nonconformist conception of the State. You have gone beyond it. Retaining the old antagonism to the union of church and State, you have obtained and developed a larger conception of the functions of the State, and thereby increased the ministry of the State to the collective life, and thus placed one of the finest organs for the development of the individual life at its maximum of availableness for each individual citizen." These were the impressions of Dr. John Clifford, of London, speaking calmly, in a judicial way, of the people and the institutions of Ontario as he saw them and studied them. It was a splendid compliment, the full value of which is more likely to be recognized in England than among ourselves, with whom the characteristics which won Dr. Clifford's admiration are so familiar.

AN AMERICAN WRITER'S VIEWS.

Still more recently an American writer qualified by training as a careful observer of affairs spent a few days in Toronto, and his opinions are also upon record. The convention of the World's Women's Temperance Union attracted, among other representatives of the press, a staff member of the New York Outlook, better known, perhaps, as Dr. Lyman Abbott's paper. The Outlook is a weekly of the highest class; it is an influential organ of the best public opinion in the United States in the movement for social and political reform, and in sending to the convention one of its editors, Dr. Charles B. Spahr, it gave proof of the

in the cause of temperance. The editor was impressed by several things which he saw. Of Toronto itself he says it was the best possible place to hold the convention of the World's Woman's Christian Temperance Union. In the city of the world, Dr. Spahr affirms, would so warm a welcome have been accorded to a body of women advocating a radical position on the temperance question. "One of the first incidents the writer saw at the convention building was a Toronto alderman escorting the delegate from Iceland and the delegate from Japan to a carriage! Think of a new York alderman showing similar attention to delegates to a similar convention! Yet this Toronto alderman, I learned, was in no way identified with the extreme temperance wing of the board. In fact his views on the temperance question hardly came up to the average standard of the body. A Prohibition Alderman attracts no more attention in Toronto than a saloon-keeping Alderman in one of our continental cities." The favourable attitude of public sentiment toward the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was to this New York editor one of the most interesting features of the convention. At the banquet given to the delegates he noticed that one of the speakers was the Hon. A. S. Hardy, the Premier of Ontario. "His presence and address, however, were less notable, inasmuch as he is a Liberal leader; and in Canada, as in England, the party which favours free trade in necessities and comforts is the party which favours no trade in the things which injure the community." But Dr. Shahr mentions another speaker at the banquet who had no such party bias in favour of the work. "This was the Hon. G. W. Foster, one of the influential members of the last Conservative Ministry. Mr. Foster's

ADDRESS WAS AS SIGNIFICANT

as his presence. He described at some length the way in which temperance instruction was made compulsory in the Ontario schools through the efforts of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and expressed his hearty agreement with the Union that the cause of temperance was best promoted by teaching children the importance of total abstinence." A stranger may be pardoned for picking up the wrong name of a man in a strange country, but all Canadians will quickly recognize that the man who made this speech at the banquet was Hon. G. W. Ross, the Minister of Education, and not Hon. George E. Foster, the late Minister of Finance. Mr. Ross has been for thirty years a leader in the cause of temperance reform, and in the fourteen or fifteen years in which he has held the portfolio of Education he has done much in the aid of the temperance movement, besides providing for instruction on the subject in the Public Schools of the Province. Mr. Foster was not even present at the meetings of the Union, and whether his views have undergone a change or not it is certain that his voice is not as often heard now in favour of prohibition as in days before he was a Cabinet Minister.

HON. GEO. W. ROSS' WORK.

But how has it come to pass that public sentiment with us is so strongly in sympathy with the friends of temperance reform? It was not always so. A quarter of a century ago, and even less, the situation was wholly different, not in Toronto only, but throughout the whole Province. In the city 23 years ago there were nearly three times as many liquor licenses issued as there are now, although the population now is three times more than it was then. So also in the Province, with a population increased by half a million, the number of places licensed to sell liquor is less by one-half. Thirty years ago the much-lauded Government of a Sandfield Macdonald—in which Sir John Carling and the late Sir Matthew Cameron were influential members—passed an act that practically established free trade in liquor. Four years before an act was passed in which tavern licenses were limited to one for every 250 of the population, but in the act of 1868 that limit was omitted and it was left to be fixed by the local bodies. The result was that very few of the local municipal bodies accepted the responsibility, and to that failure was attributed many of the difficulties which had arisen. In Toronto in 1874, according to the report made to the Government, not more than one half of the places licensed as taverns came up to the requirements of the law. All over the country it was found that the councils had allowed too may taverns to be licensed, that the inspectors appointed by them were inefficient, and that hardly an effort was made to enforce the provisions of the law. Here in Toronto it was declared by those who ought to know that notwithstanding the large number of places licensed to sell liquor there were as many more places

SELLING WITHOUT LICENSE.

It was found that in many cases shops were converted into mere drinking places, at which people were in the habit of getting drunk, and that to a large extent saloons were resorts for drinking and gambling. Often the municipal inspectors connived at the violations of the law, and it was the rule rather than the exception that they had not courage to make reports adverse to the applicants for licenses. This was the condition of the country when the late Hon. Adam Crooks introduced his bill to amend the license laws in 1876. "Our community is thoroughly sensible now," Mr. Crooks said, "of the necessity of endeavouring to arrest the wide-spreading and increasing evils of intemperance. What the country wants is a measure that will be practical, that can be enforced, and that, as far as legislative enactment can do so, will afford a remedy for the evils of intemperance. Experience has shown forcibly and clearly that very much of the morality and social habits of the people are influenced, and ought to be influenced, by legislation." On these lines the Crooks act was framed, taking the administration of the liquor laws out of the hands of the municipal bodies and placing it in the hands of the Government, and regulating the traffic by many new and stringent provisions. The wisdom of the departure then made has been abundantly justified by experience, and if there is a healthy public sentiment in favour of temperance in Toronto and throughout the province it is due to the reforms adopted 21 years ago.

THE RESULTS ACHIEVED.

A few figures will clearly show the results that have been achieved, comparing the number of licenses issued in 1874 under the old law, in 1877 when the Crooks Act came into operation, and in 1897 after a trial of twenty years:—

In Toronto—	1874.	1877.	1897.
Tavern	209	128	125
Shop	134	109	51
Wholesale	21	23	8
Vessel	16	6	..
Totals	380	244	184

In the Province—	1874.	1877.	1897.
Tavern	4,793	2,845	2,747
Shop	1,307	729	333
Wholesale	23	25	23
Vessel	32	27	..
Totals	6,135	3,676	3,103

In Toronto in 1874 there was one license for every 128 of population, one for every 230 in 1877, and there is only one for every 690 this year. In the Province there was one for every 243 in 1874, one for every 440 in 1877, and there is only one for every 967 this year. These figures are based on the municipal censuses, which are convenient for comparison; but the actual population is about 10 per cent. more. Vessel licenses were abolished in 1889, and since that time no vessels sailing in Ontario waters are permitted to maintain a bar or to sell liquor under any form of license.

Reference has been made to the negligence of inspectors under the old law in the issuing of licenses to houses without regard to the required accommodation. The inspectors and commissioners appointed by the Government discharge their duties differently as shown by the fact that in many municipalities there are few or no places to which licenses are issued. Out of the 812 municipalities in the Province this year there are 187 in which no license has been granted, and there are 251 other municipalities where only one, and not more than two licenses are granted. Moreover, there are 673 municipalities, or 82 per cent. of all in the Province, in which no shop licenses are issued. And this is not a result of local option, for there are only 17 municipalities in which a local option by-law is in force.

Another point worth accentuating is the lessening number of prisoners committed to the county gaols for drunkenness in the Province. In 1877 the number was 4,032, and in the twenty years since then the maximum was reached in 1883, when the number of commitments was 4,897. In the year 1897, 1898 and 1899, when the Scott Act was in force in 26 out of 41 counties, the number ranged from 4,180 in the first of these years to 4,797 in the last. Since 1889 the number of drunkards committed has been steadily and rapidly falling, and last year it was only 1,907. In 1884 there was one conviction for drunkenness to every 428 inhabitants, and in 1895 only one to every 702. In Nova Scotia the number in 1884 was one to every 751, and in 1895 one to every 390, and Nova Scotia is often upheld to us as a model in the way of temperance reform.

The things which impressed Dr. Clifford and Dr. Spahr as noticeable in Ontario are apt to be overlooked by ourselves, because they are familiar. The stages of progress have been gradually reached, and the full effect of changes have developed slowly. It is only when attention is called to them in a sympathetic way by distinguished visitors who are themselves students of political and social reform, but who see the fruits of great reforms fully ripened for the first time in their experience, that we begin to realize our circumstances and to appreciate how much we owe to the statesmen who have been managing and directing affairs for us during the past quarter of a century. The educational policy and the temperance policy of the Government have been proven by what they have accomplished, but in many other ways besides the social, the moral and the industrial interest of the province have been cared for and advanced by those to whom the functions and responsibilities of Government have been entrusted by the people. It only when we read the strong-worded speeches of the men whose allotted task it is to find fault that we discover how much our servants, the Cabinet Ministers, are deserving of confidence and gratitude for all they have done so well.

How Long Will This Piano Last?

The above question is asked by almost every piano purchaser before making a decision.

If you are discussing a Chickering Piano there is an emphatic answer.

No matter what YOUR age rest assured the piano will outlive you.

There is no one living who has ever purchased a Chickering piano AND WORN IT OUT.

Think of the number of children to-day practising upon Chickering pianos purchased by their grandparents.

There are thousands of Chickering pianos so purchased and so used.

Perhaps, they are not as good as they were 50 or 60 or 70 years ago, but the marvel is that they are in use at all.

The majority of pianos by other makers are worn out in a third the period.

These are simple Chickering facts.

THEY WANT RECIPROCITY.

Boston Merchants' Association Hope for Better Understanding With Canada and Endorse McKenna.

Boston, Dec. 10.—At a meeting of the Boston Merchants' Association, held yesterday, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"The Boston Merchants' Association reaffirms the resolution unanimously adopted on Nov. 10, expressing its hope that enlarged commercial intercourse with the Dominion of Canada may result from the negotiations now pending between the United States and Great Britain, and reiterates its firm belief that a speedy adjustment of all disputed questions between Canada and the United States and the inauguration of a wise reciprocity of trade will conduce to the greater prosperity and progress of both nations. In reaffirming this resolve, the Board of Directors of the Boston Merchants' Association desires to express unanimous judgment, that for the broad interests of the United States and Canada alike, the construction of section 29 by Attorney-General McKenna should stand as the fixed law of the land, as doubtless intended by those who framed the section.

THE BUSY BEES.

An Able Address on Fruit Spraying by the Government Fruit Sprayer.

Hamilton, Dec. 10.—The bee men were yesterday addressed by W. C. Orr, Government Fruit Sprayer, on the subject of fruit spraying. He cautioned his audience against spraying trees while in bloom, as the effect was disastrous to the bees. The association, in return for the able address, elected Mr. Orr an honorary member, and then passed a resolution, petitioning the Government for a stricter inspection of nursery stock entering the country, with a view to preventing the ingress of the San Jose scale.

The names of R. F. Holtermann, Brantford, and J. Newton of Thamesford, were recommended to the choice of the Government when making the appointment of Dominion Apiarist.

Guelph will be the next place of meeting.

SUICIDAL DYSPEPSIA

Positively Averted by Using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Does Dyspepsia kill?

Yes! In thousands of instances Dyspepsia has given the invitation to death.

This may be a startling statement. But it is a true one.

Dyspepsia unchecked causes a melancholy, hopeless feeling. Soon this merges into dark and dreary despondency. Then follows insanity—which is the second stage of despondency.

The invariable tendency of all who suffer from melancholy insanity, is to commit suicide. In nine cases out of ten they succeed.

Thus Dyspepsia leads to death.

Now, there's not the least necessity for this. It need not be so, and can be prevented as easily as you can fall asleep. There's no secret about how it is done. Simply use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets—one or two after each meal—for a couple of weeks, and the thing is done.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are a perfectly perfect digestive. They digest the food themselves. They don't need help.

Sometimes Constipation accompanies dyspepsia and indigestion. In each box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets is a supply of smaller tablets that are the most perfect bowel regulators ever made. Taken with Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets they fit the bowels to perform their duty which is supplementary to the digestive process.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have never failed, never will fail, cannot fail to cure any case of Indigestion, Dyspepsia or other stomach trouble. They digest the food, strengthen the stomach, and banish dyspepsia and indigestion, naturally and rapidly.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, each box containing a full double treatment, can be purchased from all druggists, at 50c a box or will be sent on receipt of the price, by the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

The Rosedale Abandoned.

Kingston, Ont., Dec. 10.—At noon yesterday the wreckers returned from the wrecked Rosedale, having abandoned the vessel. All movable things were taken off and brought here. She is headed northwest, 16 feet under the stern and 14 under the bow, and broadside to the prevailing winds. The water came in so fast that she could not be moved. The attempt to pull her off caused the water to gush in and drive the men from the hold.

Trouble in Rossland Over Finances.

Rossland, B.C., Dec. 10.—A suit has been commenced to quash the two by-laws recently submitted to the approval of the taxpayers of Rossland. An effort is being made by influential citizens to prevent the present civic government from handling any more of the city's money.

THE PREMIER IN OIL.

Mr. Pebbles' Painting of Sir Wilfrid Laurier

WORTHY FAME OF THE ARTIST.

Consideration of the Question of a Papal Nuncio for the Dominion—1210 Canadians Brought to Live Under the Flag By the Repatriation Scheme.

Ottawa, Dec. 10.—Mr. Frank M. Pebbles, the artist from Chicago, has completed the painting of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the result is worthy of his fame. The picture is full-length, standing figure, life size. The shading is perfect and the expression as life-like as art can make it. The Premier is dressed in his familiar "Prince Albert," and stands in an easy position. The painting is to be on exhibition in the Russell House.

About a Papal Ambassador.

Ottawa, Dec. 10.—In regard to His Holiness the Pope sending a nuncio to Canada, the members of the Government who were spoken to on the subject yesterday say that they have heard nothing of the matter.

It is possible that some of the bishops in Canada may have made a suggestion of this kind to the Vatican, but how it is to be carried out it is difficult to see.

Britain does not recognize any such authority at present. There is, for instance, no nuncio in London, but there is in France and most other nations.

The question therefore arises, Will the Pope, through Britain, establish in Ottawa what is not recognized elsewhere in the British possessions? It is not likely that this will be done. The most that could be expected would be that a Papal Delegate might be located in Ottawa for the purposes of the Church, but not in any way connected with, or officially recognized by, the Administration.

Such, at any rate, is how the question is viewed in official circles.

1210 Canadians Reclaimed.

Ottawa, Dec. 10.—Mr. Scott, general manager of the Quebec and Lake St. John railway, and Mr. P. V. Savard, M. P., were here yesterday and handed the Premier a memorandum regarding the working of the railway company's repatriation scheme. At the last session a vote of $6000 was passed for this scheme, and it was understood that it would be continued if the results proved successful. During the year 1210 colonists have been repatriated, of whom all but fifteen have remained. These have been located in the Mistassani, St. John and St. Jerome districts. The company's agent, Mr. Dupont, is now in New England, and is ready to forward 84 more families from Manchester, all of whom emigrated from the Lake St. John district. The company ask the Government to guarantee the vote of $6000 a year, for ten years.

May Free Mrs. Gauthier.

Ottawa, Dec. 10.—Provincial Detective Rogers and Detective Flannigan yesterday found in the possession of a farmer at Dorion Island, near Ottawa, the Belgian gun with which Mrs. Gauthier alleges Provost shot the two Frenchmen at Port Arthur last February. This discovery attaches the crime to Provost and may lead to Mrs. Gauthier's discharge on the charge of murder.

Rusty Nail and Death.

Ottawa, Dec. 10.—Alphonse Cyr stepped on a rusty nail a week ago. His foot swelled and he was taken to the Water Street Hospital. After three days of intense pain he yesterday succumbed to lock-jaw.

While Unloading Grain.

Ottawa, Dec. 10.—Robert Nesbitt, farmer, of Black Rapids, dropped dead while unloading a load of grain at the McKay Milling Company's mills in this city yesterday. Apoplexy was the cause of death.

Mr. Bell's Berth Filled.

Ottawa, Dec. 10.—W. P. Smith was yesterday appointed engineer of Government Buildings at Toronto in place of ex-Ald. Bell, deceased.

Car Repairer Killed at Brantford.

Brantford, Dec. 10.—G. V. Hendershott, car repair, G. T. R., was in some unaccountable manner killed at the G. T. R. Market street station yesterday. The deceased was engaged wiping the wheels of the train previous to its departure. It is supposed he was between two freight cars, and his head was caught between the bumpers when the engine backed to take up the slack. He leaves a wife and three children.

His Punishment.

Visitor—So that scorcher is compelled to ride a wheel all through eternity. Do you think that is severe enough punishment? I should think it would be mere pleasure to him.

Satan—Ah, there could be no greater torture invented for him. Just notice that he is compelled to ride a '96 model.—New York Journal.

A LONDON EPISODE.

A Prominent Contractor Cured of Bright's Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

London, Dec. 6—Not since the great election trial some years ago, has any London episode created such widespread excitement as has the case of G. R. Brady, of 229 Talbot street.

Mr. Brady, a prominent contractor, suffered for years with Bright's Disease. Doctors and special remedies failed utterly to help him. In despair he tried Dodd's Kidney Pills, and was cured by a few boxes.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have proved themselves, in this city, to be the only remedy that will positively cure every case of Bright's Disease, Diabetes and every other kidney complaint. They have never failed here. People will buy no other medicine.

Hagyard's Yellow Oil cures all pain in man or beast; for sprains, cuts, bruises, callous lumps, swellings, inflammation rheumatism and neuralgia it is a specific.

People Praise It.

DEAR SIRS,—I have often had coughs and colds, as well as bronchitis. Norway Pine Syrup cures me every time. I recommend it as a perfect cure for all throat and lung troubles.

BABY'S SKIN

Freed from all Eruptions, Made Pure and White by

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

Mothers take a pride in having their Infants' skin of that delicate pink and white—soft as velvet. When torturing and disfiguring eruptions seize upon the little body, they want a remedy that will not disappoint nor fail. Time and again Dr. Chase's Ointment has proven itself a specific for all skin diseases to which babies are peculiarly subject.

MRS. CHAS. K. MOSS, of Berlin, Ont., had a little baby 6 months old, with itching sores on her body. Dr. Chase's Ointment cured her when everything else failed.

Another mother who holds Dr. Chase's Ointment in high esteem is MRS. JAS. BROWN, Molesworth, Ont. Her baby boy was covered all over the face, sides and hips with Eczema. The first application of the Ointment stopped the itching, and 3 boxes effected a complete cure.

These are but samples of the hundreds of mothers who are delighted with Dr. Chase's Ointment.

A cordial invitation is extended to all the ladies of Peterborough who have not yet visited the "Blue Ribbon Tea" parlours, 395 George street, and enjoyed a cup of this splendid tea, which has no equal. The company intend serving their delicious teas free of charge for another week, and every lady when down town shopping and feeling weary and tired, should not fail to step into our comfortably furnished parlours, and be revived by a rich, strong and delicious beverage. All ladies visiting the "Blue Ribbon Tea" parlours are made welcome. Those who do not use the "Blue Ribbon" should ask their grocer for it. Blue Ribbon Tea is so much superior to all other teas that it is positively lonely for want of comparisons.

Grand Fancy Goods Opening.

The ladies have been taking advantage of the unusually interesting opening display of fancy goods, which commenced this week at Miss S. Armstrong's Millinery and Fancy Goods store, George street. The quantity and quality of the work shown surpasses any of Miss Armstrong's previous displays of this nature. A large proportion of the ornamental hand work shown was made on the premises and is the clever handiwork of Miss Armstrong's assistants in the store. These include table drapes, piano drapes, tea doilies, elaborate cushions, photo holders, toilet, sofa and table covers, centre pieces, drawn work, crochet mats, head rests, shaving cases, handkerchief cases, etc. There is also a beautiful display of comb and brush sets, fancy baskets, ostrich feather fans, toilet bottles, collar and cuff sets, trays and a lovely lot of Christmas novelties and pretty trinkets, always so pleasing and appropriate for holiday gifts. The sales have been good and those who have not yet paid a visit to the store should not miss this exhibition.

QUITE UP TO CONCERT PITCH.

St. Paul's Choir Concert a Success in Every Way—Splendid Choral Work—Good Solo Singing and Excellent Elocutionary Entertainment—An Immense Audience Assists in the Great Success.

It is often quoted that "a good name is better than riches," and this was exemplified last night. Mr. John Crane, organist and choirmaster of St. Paul's, has achieved a splendid reputation for giving first-rate concerts. He is a capable and conscientious trainer, and he has the good fortune to have about him a choir that is willing to put the work upon the selections taken up in order to present them in the highest style of the choral art. In tribute to this reputation the opera house was crowded last night with an audience representative of the best culture and musical spirit of the town, and that all were delighted with the programme presented is witnessed by the enthusiastic reception of almost every number; in fact, the programme was practically repeated in response to the demands of the audience.

Everything was admirably arranged. The stage was beautifully decorated with flowers, and when the white clad girls of the chorus, backed by the sombre attire of the male members, was revealed by the rise of the curtain, the sight was as pleasant to the eye as their splendid singing was to the ear.

The programme sheet was a pleasant concession to the public convenience. The words of all choruses were printed on the last page, a very great assistance to those not familiar with the selections.

The programme opened with the National Anthem, arranged as a chorus by Sir Michael Costa, and it is seldom that an audience in Peterborough has heard so faultless and effective a presentation of the grand old theme whose rich melody girds the earth every day, and it had to be sung again. Excellent as was the work of the chorus in the opening number, their subsequent work brought even greater delight. Barnby's "Sweet and Low" is a gem of composition and the conductor and chorus recognized this in their exquisitely delicate and effective treatment of it. Of course it was inevitable that a repetition should be demanded; and was given. Many considered this the gem of the evening; one enthusiastic lady, a musician of much culture, and by virtue of her acquirements, a judge, said that when the soft refrain "sweet and low" was being breathed rather than sung by the choir, so delicately were the piano effects produced, she closed her eyes and could almost fancy that she was in, what was her conception of, heaven. It is a deep pleasure to read Tennyson's tender lyric "Sweet and Low," but to hear it sung as it was sung by Mr. Crane's chorus was the luxury of enjoyment. The third chorus, unaccompanied, was a grand production of Leslie's choral arrangement of "Scots Wha Hae." All the fire, force and pathos of the selection were given with charming fidelity. Sullivan's "I hear the soft Note" was another choral gem, and so delightfully was it sung that many thought it was the best, but that was the general feeling of each number as it was presented. It was re-demanded and repeated and asked for the third time. The closing chorus, the sterling old favourite, "Hail Smiling Morn," by Hullah, was sung with splendid vim, and was a fitting close to the contributions of the choir, whose work throughout was worthy of the highest praise. The attack was excellent, the fine balance of the parts, joined to the delicate and judicious shading, were productive of exquisite effects. The crescendi were smoothly and admirably worked up, the harmony was not to be improved and altogether the singing of the choir was delightful. Mr. Crane is as good a conductor as trainer and the success achieved is verily largely due to the intelligent response to his leading.

Mr. Douglas Bird, who has been heard in Peterborough before, has no reason to complain of the reception he received, for the recalls to his four numbers must have constituted a large draught on his repertoire. He opened with Molloy's "Carnival" and had to sing an encore. He perhaps gave the greatest pleasure in Adam's "Mona," for in response to a loud recall he sang, as it has never been sung in Peterborough, except by himself, that sweetest of Moore's melodies, "Oft in the Stilly Night." It's character is just suited to Mr. Bird's style and he sings it exquisitely. He also sang "The Golden Bar" with great acceptance. His closing number, "The Palms," though better adapted to a tenor robusto, and not well fitted to Mr. Bird's voice and method, was so well received that he was compelled to sing again. His singing of the ever sweet "Far Away" was a gem of sweetness. Mr. Bird's metier is in selections involving delicate affetuoso and piano effects and in these he has few equals on the lyric stage.

The individual heroine of the evening, so to speak, was Miss Jessie Alexander. Her mignonne and captivating personality and contagious presence are potent aids to the splendid exercise of her elocutionary art. Her chic and captivating style is associated with a rare originality of theme. She is a charming interpreter of her own works. Her little head is not all ingenuousness—she knows how to touch the popular chord. Her opening number, "The Jubilee Celebration in London," was superb. Her effective references to Canada and Sir Wilfred Laurier being the prominent features of the great procession, were greeted with enthusiastic applause, while her reproduction of the "asides" of the occasion were a triumph of imitative work. There was no escape for her, and she had to come again. Her "Hyde Park orations the Sunday after Jubilee" was quite fetching, and her repeat number was of the character that demonstrated that Miss Alexander can "do the baby act" to perfection, her imitation of children being endlessly funny. In her more ambitious number, the "White Ship," she gave evidence of her ability to read heavier selections, and a delicate vein of satire and dramatic power ran through "Looking Backward." Jessie Alexander is the petite reine of entertainers, and Canada has just reason to be proud of her.

If the concert was a little long it was the fault of the audience, which insisted on doubling it up. But, primarily, it was Mr. Crane's fault. He provided a programme of which the audience could hardly get enough, and both himself and the chorus are to be heartily congratulated upon the magnificent success of last night's concert.

Mr. Crane, in addition to conducting, played Mr. Bird's accompaniments as they should be played, and Miss Roger furnished excellent accompaniments to the choral numbers.

Though last night's chorus is called St. Paul's choir, of which it is largely composed, it also contains representatives of several other church choirs in town. It is worth while suggesting that, while the chorus is together and in such excellent shape, that it would be a good idea to convert it into a permanent organization.

HORSE STEALING.

Harvey Manley Placed Under Arrest Charged With the Theft of a Colt.

Chief Rossel received a message yesterday from Cobourg inquiring the whereabouts of one Harvey Manley, wanted there on a charge of horse stealing.

The Chief and Officer McGinty, after considerable trouble and a long drive out in the country finally located their man as working in a foundry in town and placed him under arrest.

This morning Constable Adam Dickson, of Cobourg, came up for the prisoner and stated that Manley formerly lived on a farm in the township of Hamilton, where Hiram Dolley, a toll-gate keeper, pastured his colt. On leaving the farm in March, 1896, Manley sold the colt to a storekeeper at Garden Hill. On learning of this Mr. Dolley traced Manley out but agreed to settle the matter on payment for the colt. This was agreed to, but the money was never received, so the matter was placed in the hands of the police with the above stated result.

GAME COCK STOLEN.

Mr. John McManus' Chicken Coop was Forced Open Last Night.

Mr. John McManus, of Lake street, called at the Police Station this morning to complain of the theft of a fine game cock from his hen house last night.

At about ten o'clock three men drove up to the door in a cutter, and offered to buy the bird for a dollar, but on account of it having been highly prized by a deceased son, Mr. McManus would not have sold it under any circumstance.

This morning, however, he found that during the night the lock on the door of the coop had been picked and the cock stolen.

The case was immediately placed in the hands of the police.

COLWELL'S CASE.

He Will be Taken to Huntsville in the Morning to Stand Trial.

Constable McFayden, of Huntsville, arrived in town this morning, for the prisoner, Chas. Colwell, charged with horse-stealing, and will return north in the morning.

The constable states that as far as he can learn the prisoner went to a retired farmer named Morley, living near Huntsville, and arranged with him to get a team of horses for which he was to settle in two days, after he had made a certain deal for stock which he was anxious to carry through. A couple of days later as he had made no report, Mr. Morley's boy looked him up and asked for a settlement, but he was put off until next day, and that was the last seen of either Colwell or the team.

King of Turkey.

On Wednesday last P. J. Carey, of Cobourg, the turkey king, held his annual fair, when hundreds of farmers arrived in town with their turkeys. Upwards of four thousand turkeys were bought, aggregating about twenty tons. This was a much larger amount than Mr. Carey expected, but all, with the exception of a few that were not brought in according to directions, were bought. Early in the morning waggons and sleighs commenced arriving from all parts of the county, heavily laden with turkeys, and for hours the large staff engaged to assist in taking the birds in were kept busy. No time was given for meal, and by six o'clock the entire force looked as though they had been run through a wringing machine. Throughout the day hundreds of people visited the place where the turkeys were being received, and were amazed at the quantity received.—Cobourg Post.

FLOODED HIS LAND.

The Creek Rises in the Spring and Floods Henry Hillier's Premises.

The committee recently appointed by the town council to investigate the complaint of Mr. Henry Hillier, regarding the flooding of his premises by the creek, visited the premises this morning, and decided to recommend the council to grant Mr. Hillier $9 towards the expense involved in taking steps to prevent his land being submerged by the spring freshets.

KIT'S JUBILEE LETTERS.

New Letters From London to be Issued in Book Form.

"Kit" is a household word to the readers, especially, of the Mail and Empire, and her Jubilee letters as published in that newspaper, are shortly to be issued, suitably illustrated, in book form. Kit's enemy, if she has one, for this is to be her first book, will be in high glee, but her thousands of admirers will be more delighted with perusing her pen pictures of the Diamond Jubilee celebration. Kit is an an Irishman—which is hardly an Hibernicism for she wields a virile pen—with masculine vigour, rounded off with an indescribable feminine grace. Her pen is apt to prick a bubble or touch a heart, for Kit's heart is in the right place. She writes from the heart and that's the why her words get to the heart. In descriptive work she excels. Her command of language is great, but she is no martinet, for her words are not marshalled in stiff phalanges, but trip sportively and spontaneously, and always gracefully. She means what she says and, what is rare, says what she means. She is abnormally developed on the sympathetic side of her warm Irish nature. She has a Dickensian detestation of shams and while kindly and tender in her writings, she gives no quarter to moral, religious or social humbug. Such a writer is the writer of the Jubilee letters, which George N. Morang, 63 Yonge street, Toronto, is to bring out in 16 mo. cloth at 75c. We commend the first born book of our con—connoisseur, Kit, to the reader who desires to possess a delightful souvenir of the Jubilee celebration.

BELLEVILLE, 18th Nov., 97.

C. C. Lemens, Esq., People's Coal Co'y, City:

DEAR SIR,—Your letter enquiring how the test I made of your coal against Scranton coal, received from Mr. Stewart, resulted: Mr. Butterfield had one ton of each kind put in. I found your coal got up to heat much quicker and lasted one day and a half longer than the other. From the appearance of the coal I did not expect it to do so. I told Mr. Butterfield your coal is the most satisfactory.

A BOGUS "MERCHANT" EXPOSED.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

SIR,—Although it is very probable that "Merchant's" letter which appeared in the Times this morning, was written in the sanctum of that wide-circulated newspaper (?) it may be just as well to offer a few words of explanation in order to pull the mask off Mr. "Merchant's" face.

In the first place, I have no doubt that both myself and my well-known predecessor, Mr. C. B. Routley, are the parties who are hit at as "the people who advertise holiday bankrupt stock," so there need be no beating about the bush as to who the writer of "Merchant" had in his mind.

In the second place, I have declined to advertise in the Times because I cannot afford to pay for its million circulation and the enormous influence which it wields. That may partly account for the letter.

In the third place, the writer of "Merchant" is, I'll bet my hat, a toy merchant who keeps a toy shop in the Times building. That may also account for the letter.

In the fourth place, and lastly, just let me say in a word that I control the stock of fancy goods advertised on the corner of Water and Hunter streets, placed there because of the want of room in my store on George street, and for the purpose of dividing the large crowd of holiday shoppers who make my old established stand their headquarters. Mr. C. B. Routley is simply here as a friend to assist me during my busy holiday business, and I know many of his old friends will be glad to see him. Another thing: Mr. Routley is on the collector's roll of the town of Peterborough, and to-day pays twice as much taxes as the whole Times building put together, and surely if he wanted to ought to have at least equal civic privileges with the Times people.

Yours truly,
C. F. KUTZBACK.

LIBERAL CONVENTION.

The reader's attention is called to the convention of the Liberals and supporters of the Provincial Government, called in the Opera House, Peterborough, for to-morrow afternoon, at one o'clock p.m. to select a candidate to contest West Peterborough in the Local Legislature at the coming general elections. As before stated, the meeting will be addressed by Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture in the Ontario Cabinet, by Hon. Senator Cox, of Toronto, Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., and others.

It is expected that there will be a large attendance of the electors of West Peterborough in sympathy with the Hardy-Ross Government so that the candidate selected may represent, to as great extent as possible, the electorate of the riding.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

THE RING.

The Lindsay Post speaks as follows concerning the Peterborough talent which went to Lindsay on Wednesday:

The athletic exhibition in the old opera house last was poorly attended, but was worthy of strong support. Unfortunately for the promoters of such enterprises, E. W. Johnston and his friends worked Lindsay for a rich harvest some years ago, and people have been shy—very shy—of sparring and wrestling matches ever since. A few more events carried out on the lines of last night's exhibition will restore the confidence of the sporting element, and then a first class attraction such as "Buffalo" Costello will receive proper recognition.

The first set-to last evening was between J. Cotey, of Lindsay, and —— —— of Peterborough. It was a four round "go" and was alone worth the price of admission. Cotey has improved very much since last year, and his cool demeanor under his frisky opponent's rushes won him deserved applause. —— —— is a clever youngster, and strikes like a pile driver. He secured a knock-down in the first round, but the spectators were at a loss to decide which was the better man or boy.

The second event was a go between Stewart, the "Soo Kid," and —— —— of Peterborough. It was a very pretty contest while it lasted, the honours being with the Peterborough boy from the outset. Stewart was rushed all around the ring, and the pace was so hot that he became winded, the result being that he was compelled to give up in the middle of the second round. He made a very good showing in the first round, but was clearly outclassed by his clever opponent.

The third set-to was between Prof. Young and Dave Fisher, and the crowd settled back in their seats with a sigh of satisfaction. The fight was a "hot un" from the first call of time. The professor knows how to handle his dukes, but he found a Tartar in Dave. Both men were hit often, and while the professor spared his opponent on several occasions he was kept busy and had to dance a lively jig to avoid some of Dave's sledge-hammer body blows. During a brisk interchange of compliments in the last round he was sent to grass.

Bag punching by J. J. O'Connor followed and his work was a revelation to the onlookers, the elbow movements being particularly catchy. That he is a hard and rapid hitter was made plain to all.

The programme was brought to a close with a four-round set-to between Prof. Young and Costello, which served to demonstrate the latter's cleverness as a defensive fighter. Young went at him "hammer and tongs," and many of his blows would have meant a knock-out had they landed—but they didn't. Costello did not wish to force the fighting and struck light blows, but they were not love taps by any means. A blow landed at the close of the round sent the professor down, but he arose smiling to receive the applause to which he was entitled for the pluck displayed in entering the ring against so formidable an opponent.

Blenheim People talk for the Public Good on an Interesting Subject.

Our representative interviewed Mr. J. Holland, the popular shoemaker, Talbot St., with the following results. Said Mr. Holland:

"Speaking of myself I have had seven pains in the small of my back, in both sides and between my shoulders for over seven years and I was also troubled with urinary difficulties, dizziness, pain in the head, etc., so much so that I could get but little sleep, and frequently got up as tired as when I went to bed, and feeling totally unfit for work.

"I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and they have cured me of all my kidney troubles. They have taken away the tired feeling, built up my system, and made me feel like a new man.

"My son James, now 13 years of age, was attacked four years ago by malaria, which left him with severe pain in the back and weakness of the kidneys. He has been troubled in that way ever since, and until he took Doan's Kidney Pills could get no relief, but they have cured him entirely.

"It is no wonder that I speak highly of these remarkable pills, for they are undoubtedly the best kidney cure in the world, seeing that they cured both myself and son in such a short time." 291

JOHN ADAMS KASSON.

Appointed Special Envoy for Negotiation of Reciprocity Treaties.

The President has decided to appoint a special commissioner, with plenary powers, to carry into effect the reciprocity provisions of sections 3 and 4 of the Tariff Act, approved July 24, 1897. It was found, upon making an investigation of the matter, that the regular force of the department of state is at present so overcrowded with pressing business that serious delay in carrying out the expressed wish of Congress would inevitably follow if, in addition to the usual routine work of the department, its officers were required to perform the special examinations and negotiations essential to carry forward the will of Congress as expressed in the sections above referred to. Moreover, the pressure for early and consistent action in the arrangement of measures of reciprocity has been very great from foreign countries, as well as from our own citizens.

The interest of the President in reciprocity is especially keen, and during his connection with the tariff legislation of 1890, while chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives, the inclusion in that law of a reciprocity provision was conclusive of his determination to foster and promote American industry and commerce by this means. In view of these facts the President has designated Mr. Kasson, of Iowa, as such special commissioner, with Mr. Chapman Coleman, of Kentucky, as secretary, and Mr. John Ball Osborne, of Scranton, Pa., as assistant secretary.

The commissioner is charged particularly to look after the agricultural interests, both north and south, not forgetting the large and constantly increasing manufacturing interests east of the Alleghanies.

Mr. Kasson has had a varied experience in diplomatic negotiations, and has shown much ability in all with which he has been connected. He was Minister to Austria from June 11, 1877, to May, 1881; Minister to Germany from July 4, 1884, to March, 1885. He was also one of the commissioners to represent the Government of the United States at the conference held in Berlin concerning Samoan affairs, and is one of the signatories of the Berlin General Act, concluded June 14, 1889. He was then commissioned as special envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary, his commission bearing date March 18, 1889. Preceding his diplomatic service, Mr. Kasson was for many years a member of the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives, and in that place became thoroughly familiar with all aspects of the tariff question and the debate on that subject.—Chicago Lamp.

EDUCATED IN CANADA

OTANA WATANNA HAS WON SUCCESS WITH HER PEN.

Some Hint of Her Personality—Why She Succeeds With Magazine Readers—Her Experience Is as Great as Usually Falls to a Woman Double Her Age.

Kitishima Kata Hasche is the real or family name of the clever Japanese girl who is winning fame by writing for the magazines and newspapers under the pen name of Otano Watanna while more dollars come from her work as stenographer. Miss Hasche, or as she prefers to be called, Miss Watanna—the two names meaning the same thing, but belonging to different Japanese dialects—although scarcely past her twenty-first birthday, has seen more of life and experience than the average woman of twice her age. The realism which makes her fiction so true to life and so keenly interesting is based on a knowledge of life and the world which has been acquired in the most practical way.

Born in Yokohama, Japan, she was taken by her parents, and in company with the three brothers and nine sisters who shared with her their care and supervision, to Liverpool, England, and from thence to Manchester, before she was 8 years of age. The journey from Japan to England was made by sailing vessels, and occupied an entire year.

From Manchester the family emigrated to Canada, settling in Montreal, and it was in this city that Miss Watanna received most of her education. Shortly after entering her teens she taught herself shorthand, totally unaided except by a book on the Pitman system of shorthand, and she left Montreal when only 16, to go to the West Indies as court reporter and correspondent for The News-Letter of Kingston, Jamaica. While filling this position, she was the only woman allowed to be present at the sessions of the British Parliament, and her reports, differing from those of her fellow-workers in that they were unofficial, were witty and sarcastic enough to call general attention to their writer.

A severe attack of yellow fever, with its consequent weakening of the entire system, made necessary her return to

OTANA WATANNA.

New York, and Miss Watanna's oldest sister now occupies her former position in Jamaica. Another sister, also a writer, is married to one of the best known philosophical and scientific writers of America.

After remaining in New York for some months Miss Watanna went to Chicago. Here she made the acquaintance of Miss Florence King, the woman lawyer, who possesses the distinction of being the only representative of her sex to be registered at the United States patent office, and by Miss King was set afloat in the business and literary circles of Chicago. At present the Japanese writer is busily occupied with stenographic work during a portion of every day, the remainder of her time, including many midnight hours, she devotes to the writing of short stories and poems.

Some of these stories, nearly all of which deal with Japanese life and customs, and which are peculiarly fresh and unhackneyed in treatment, have been recently accepted by the editors of Munsey's Magazine, The Ladies' Home Journal, The Black Cat and The Iroquois Magazine. The Metropolitan Magazine was the first to bring out a bit of the Japanese writer's work, and she has also contributed to some of the leading newspapers in eastern cities. A Japanese novel, written by Miss Watanna some time ago, is soon to be dramatized as a serious representation of Japanese life and tragedy, and K. G. Gillette has been asked to prepare the manuscript for stage use.

In person Miss Watanna is decidedly and distinctively Japanese, in spite of the slight admixture of English blood which flows through her veins and beneath her olive skin, and her long, dark, almond-shaped eyes, slender hands and straight, black hair could belong to no nationality in the world save that of the gentle Jap. She is taller in stature than are the ordinary women of her race, but her voice, notwithstanding that she speaks excellent English, is also that of a Japanese woman, and she possesses that shrinking from publicity and attention which characterizes the woman of Japan to a marked degree. It was for this reason that she adopted her nom de plume. Miss Watanna is the first Japanese woman, so far as known, to enter the business world in a clerical capacity, and she is also said to be almost alone in her determination to follow literature as a life work.

ANOTHER VICTORY WON.

Kincardine was the Scene of the Contest—The Victory was thorough and Complete—An Interested Person Tells of it.

KINCARDINE, Ont., Nov. 29th.—The case of Mr. Herb Brown, a finisher in Watson & Malcolm's furniture factory here, is the talk of the town at present. Mr. Brown was a continual sufferer from kidney disease. The urinary system became involved, and his condition grew very serious. That great benefactor, Dodd's Kidney Pills, conquered the disease and made a new man of the victim. Mr. Brown cannot say enough in praise of the remedy which has done so much for him. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the great favourite in this district, where many remarkable cures have been made by them. They have not failed in a single case.

Cereals Pay Better Than Sugar.

Washington, Dec. 9.—United States Consul Stephan, at Annaberg, Germany, reports to the State Department that a considerable reduction will take place next year in the area of land devoted to beet-sugar culture in Bohemia. The reason is the high prices now paid for grain, and on the other hand the very low prices paid for beets, making it more profitable to cultivate cereals than sugar.

Newspaper Changes in Hamilton.

Hamilton, Dec. 9.—George Wrigley, formerly editor of The Farmer's Sun, and G. H. Graham, editor of The Whitby Chronicle, have been chosen editor and business manager respectively of The Templar Publishing Company. Mr. W. W. Buchanan remains as general manager.

Burglary at Waterloo.

Waterloo, Ont., Dec. 9.—Burglars forced an entrance into the butcher shop of H. B. Dulring, King street, by forcing the back door, some time during the night. Previously they stole augers and tools from Contractor Moogk's work shop, with which they bored a hole in the top of the safe and blew off the doors with a powder fuse. About $80 was secured and it looks like the work of professionals.

Miss Flora Gault is Missing.

Deckerville, Mich., Dec. 9.—Miss Flora Gault, once a seamstress in C. Trevethan's tailor shop, is missing. Her lodge dues were sent from Minden City, but her brother, Rev. A. Gault of Smith's Falls, Ont., has been there and also in Cass City, without obtaining any clue of her whereabouts. Mr. Gault has gone to Port Huron, where he intends employing detectives.

GUELPH, Nov. 23RD, 1897.

DEAR SIRS,—

For years I was troubled with periodical sick headaches, being affected usually every Sunday, and used all the remedies that were advertised as cures and was treated by almost every doctor in Guelph but without any relief. One doctor told me it was caused by a weak stomach, another said it was hereditary and incurable. I was induced by a neighbour to try SLOAN'S INDIAN TONIC, and am happy to say I did so. A few doses gave immediate relief and one bottle and a half made a complete cure. This was three years ago and the headaches have never returned. I was also troubled with asthma, and nothing helped me like Sloan's Indian Tonic. I can heartily recommend it to all, and will be glad to give any particulars to any one afflicted as I was.

TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia—Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Scores of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So Says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What life means to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

Death Loves a Shining Mark.

"She is an only daughter and only seventeen," writes Mrs. H. H. Conklin, of Morten Avenue, Batavia, N. Y., in a recent letter addressed to Doctor R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. "We began your medicine in May (the 'Favorite Prescription'). My daughter then was very wasted, in fact we did not think she could live long. She had profuse menstruation which was of long standing; also a bad cough. We had spent a great deal of money and worried a great deal. When she began taking your medicine her weight was only eighty-seven pounds. She now weighs from ninety-eight to one hundred all the time and is well. Is cured entirely of her difficulty, has no cough at all, and all for eight or ten dollars. It had gotten to be a serious question with us. We had done all we could for her. We are truly grateful to you for all your kind advice and sympathy in the matter. We feel that you are a personal friend."

No living physician has a wider practical experience or enjoys a higher reputation in the treatment of diseases peculiar to women than Dr. Pierce. In cases of this nature he will send by mail careful professional advice without charge, and instructions whereby the most obstinate ailments may be entirely overcome. His "Favorite Prescription" is the only proprietary remedy ever designed by an educated, authorized physician specifically to cure women's diseases. It is the only medicine which makes motherhood perfectly safe and comparatively easy and painless.

Say "No" and stick to it when urged to accept a substitute.

PERSONAL HEROISM.

This Quality Is Still a Factor in Modern Warfare.

Modern weapons have not changed the art of war very much, after all, if this campaign on the Afghan frontier is a criterion, and rapid fire guns have not decreased the need for personal heroism of the old-fashioned, melodramatic sort. It is true that a battle between Englishmen and Indians on one side, and some slightly civilised mountaineers on the other, gives few data from which to deduce what an engagement between two European armies would be, but it does give some. The attacking force was provided with weapons of the most modern kind, while the tribesmen were not entirely destitute of the same implements. The fortunes of the day turned, however, not on cannon that fired themselves many times a minute, or on rifles that sent out a score of bullets while an old muzzle-loading musket would send out one, but upon officers who would shout, "Follow me!" and upon men who would do the following. Machinery is well enough in its way, but for some time to come success in war, as in most other things, will be the result of human courage and human determination to do or die, if need be to do and die. It is the personal element that counts when the critical moment comes, and the English invaders won that useless bridge not because they had better arms than their foes, or even because they had the right on their side—which is a bit doubtful—but because a certain colonel, after making a speech at which the auditors in a metropolitan theatre would smile wearily if they heard it from beyond the footlights, proceeded to commit suicide in the way that once was called glorious by everybody. All this is deplorably illogical and archaic, no doubt, but it's an illogical and archaic world, and though we use lots of machinery, the really difficult jobs are still performed by hand and heart.—New York Times.

Horticultural Notes.

A Good Shade Tree.—Where there is an abundance of room, the silver maple is a good tree to plant for shade; but where there is not much space to spare and shade is desired, the Norway maple is better. In light soil the sugar maple does very well; but the Norway maple prefers a heavy one.

A Favorite Vine.—Clematis Jackmanni is a great favorite about Philadelphia, being seen on numerous porches mixed with other vines. Its flowers display handsomely when the vine is planted in conjunction with one of the white honeysuckles so common hereabouts.

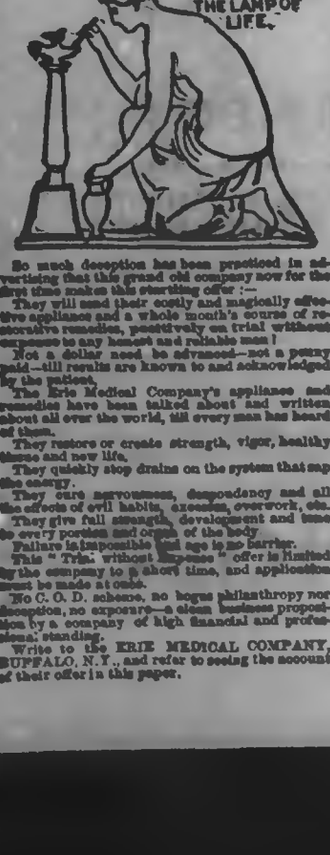
Free Trial To Any Honest Man

The Foremost Medical Company in the World in the Cure of Weak Men Makes this Offer.

HEALTH AND ENERGY ASSURED. HAPPY MARRIAGE, GOOD TEMPER, LONG LIFE.

In all the world to-day—in all the history of the world—no doctor nor institution has treated and restored so many men as has the famed ERIE MEDICAL CO. of Buffalo, N. Y.

This is due to the fact that the company controls some inventions and discoveries which have no equal in the whole realm of medical science.



So much deception has been practiced in advertising that this grand old company now for the first time makes this startling offer:—

They will send their costly and magically effective appliance and a whole month's course of restorative remedies, positively on trial without expense to any honest and reliable man!

Not a dollar need be advanced—not a penny paid—till results are known to and acknowledged by the patient.

The Erie Medical Company's appliance and remedies have been talked about and written about all over the world, till every man has heard of them.

They restore or create strength, vigor, healthy tissue and new life.

They quickly stop drains on the system that sap the energy.

They cure nervousness, despondency and all the effects of evil habits, excesses, overwork, etc.

They give full strength, development and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Failure is impossible and age is no barrier.

This "Trial without Expense" offer is limited by the company to a short time, and application must be made at once.

No C. O. D. scheme, no hocus philanthropy nor deception, no exposure—a clean business proposition by a company of high financial and professional standing.

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, BUFFALO, N.Y., and refer to seeing the account of their offer in this paper.

A WALL CABINET.

One That a Boy Can Make With His Own Hands.

A useful cabinet can be made almost any size for the wall space that may be devoted to it in a room, but for general use it can measure about three feet long and proportionately high.

Make the end boards thirty inches high and eight inches wide, and the bottom of each should be cut out to form a bracelet effect, as shown in the illustration.

The top board should measure thirty-seven inches long and each of the shelves thirty-six inches. They should conform in width to the side boards or ends, and they need not be more than half or five-eighths of an inch in thickness.

To fasten the woodwork together drive slim screws through the ends of the top and down into the upper ends of the side boards, and each shelf is to be attached to the end boards by means of screws driven through the side boards and into the ends of each shelf.

The wood construction will then appear as shown in the figure, and the position of the screws may be seen as indicated by the dots on the side of the end board.

To finish the top nicely a strip of cornice molding can be mitered around the upper edge of the cabinet, and a piece can be purchased at a carpenter shop for a few cents a running foot. The woodwork may be painted or stained any desirable color, and if preferable a back can be made for the cabinet of thin ceiling strip. The backing is not necessary, however, as the wall paper forms a good background.

This cabinet should be very securely anchored to the wall, as the weight of books and vases placed on the shelves would necessarily make it heavy.

Little brass anchoring plates for furniture that is to be hung against the wall can be purchased at hardware stores, and three of them should be securely screwed fast to both the top and bottom shelf.

To the under side of the top shelf

A MODEL BOOK SHELF.

a rod and ring can be attached, so that light curtains may be hung from them, and at one side of the cabinet the curtain may be draped back and caught with a ribbon, as shown in the illustration. This will be found a convenient nook for bric-a-brac, books and photographs, and some large vases and plates can be accommodated on the top.

After a Severe Cold.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured me of scrofula. I was weak and debilitated and Hood's Sarsaparilla built me up and made me strong and well. After a severe cold I had catarrhal fever. I again resorted to Hood's Sarsaparilla which accomplished a complete cure." SARAH E. DEVAY, Annapolis, Nova Scotia.

Hood's Pills are the favorite family cathartic, easy to take, easy to operate.

SUPPOSED TO BE FUNNY.

The Usual Way.—Kate—Do you call Helen a beauty? Mattie—Yes, indeed—to her face.—Chicago News.

(He has come for her in a buggy, and she objects to the turnout.) "You are very particular; you put on more airs than a music box!" "Well, I don't go with a crank, any way."—Harlem Life.

A Thrust.—Miss Sears (an old rival)—You must feel very sad when you think about your late husband. Mrs. Tears (with sarcasm)—Yes, but any husband is better late than never.—Brooklyn Life.

"I came to ask for your daughter in marriage, sir," said the young man. "Have you any money of your own?" asked the careful parent. "Oh, you misunderstand me, sir! I do not want to buy her."—Yonkers Statesman.

In the Collection.—"Religion," observed the layman, "costs a pretty penny." The clergyman who would rather be right than preach politics smiled wanly. "No," he replied, "a battered, ill-looking penny, as a usual thing."—Detroit Journal.

An Expedient Amendment.—Mrs. Enpeck—Another mysterious suicide—unknown man throws himself from cliff. Mr. Enpeck (thoughtlessly)—Bet his wife was at the bottom of it. Mrs. Enpeck—Sir-r-r! Mr. Enpeck (hurriedly)—Of the cliff, my love; not the suicide.—Judge.

Ethel—Oh, dear me! I don't know what to think! Algy asked me last night if I wouldn't like to have something around the house that I could love, and that would love me! Edith—Well? Ethel—Well, I don't know whether he means himself or whether he is thinking of buying me a dog.—Tit-Bits.

Highest Authority.—"Where did you get your information?" asked the editor of the yellow journal. "From the butler," answered the reporter. "It would never do to quote the butler, would it?" mused the editor. "You better merely say that we have it on the highest authority."—Chicago Evening Post.

Window Panes as Irons.

"Is that a new sort of window decoration?" asked a visitor in Chicago, as he stared at the front windows of a fine house on one of the avenues. Several squares of embroidery were plastered in each pane of glass, giving them a unique and startling appearance.

"No," said his companion, "that is a large boarding house, and those are the signs of the domestic laundry. It is a handkerchief wash drying on the window glass."

"But surely," said the visitor, "people who live in such style as that must be able to send their handkerchiefs to a laundry?"

"It is because they live in such style that they are reduced to such makeshifts. You would be astonished at the narrow system of counting pennies to which those people resort. That is only one."

"O give me my little thatched cottage again," hummed the visitor. "But why do they flaunt their economy in the front windows?"

"That is one of the secrets of its success. They take the wet handkerchiefs and plaster them on the glass to which they adhere like glue until they are dry. Then they come off without a wrinkle, and do not even require pressing in the family Bible or the dictionary. Oh, I tell you it is a great scheme for the poor boarder! I know, for I have been there myself!"—Chicago Times-Herald.

A Cut Beneath Her.

Lady of the House—Oh, yes, Jane; I asked Mrs. Johnston to let her little boy and his nurse call to go walking with you and the children.

Nurse—Well, ma'am, I hope as you don't expect me to go walking with that young person? I don't think you can be aware as she is only a nurse-housemaid! —Punch.

D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realising that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

A Personal Item.

Mrs. Wm. Hambly, Belleville, Ont., says: "My husband was troubled with kidney complaint, rheumatism, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, etc., and could not get relief until I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills for him. He has now used four boxes in all and is perfectly cured."

Doan's Kidney Pills are the ones that cure. Remember the name, DOAN'S.

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

AN AWFUL SPECTRE.

His Satanic Majesty Invades a Hornerite Meeting and Drives the People From the Church Near the Village of Madoc.

A very strange thing occurred recently, says the Tweed News, at a Hornerite meeting, held at the meeting house of that sect situated about seven miles north of Madoc, known as "McCoy's." The night of the occurrence of which we speak was dark and dismal, and one well calculated to strike terror into the stoutest of hearts upon the slightest cause for alarm. The people came as usual to the place of meeting, an old wooden building, through the cracks and crevices of which the wind blew with many a ghostly and wierd sound, and as they gathered together there seemed an indescribable something about the place which they knew not, but which created an uneasy restless feeling about them impossible to describe. As the meeting progressed, and as the preacher had arrived at that part of his discourse in which he had occasion to speak of the devil, there arose immediately in their midst, through and from beneath the floor, a spectre so awful in appearance that the audience and preacher alike were wholly paralysed with fear. The former had hardly ceased speaking when there rang out a voice terrible to hear: "I am the devil, I'll have you; ha, ha, ha." Fire issued from his mouth and nostrils. He needed not thus to proclaim himself as from his appearance his identification was an easy matter. He is described as having two horns, one protruding from either side of the head, a cloven foot and a clanking chain, two flaming eyes like balls of fire and a large appendage at the rear. His ears were perpendicular and pointed at the top and a fiery blaze encircled his whole body and head. His figure was tall and slim and his position erect, and when he spoke the building shook as if by an earthquake.

He had not yet ceased his sardonic "ha, ha," when the terrified people and preacher alike rushed pell mell for the door over seats and one another in their frantic endeavours to rid themselves of so awful a presence. Following them closely this fiery fiend's sardonic voice was again heard and seemed more terrible than before. "I am the devil, I'll have you, ha, ha." No further warning was needed, the terrified people fled in all directions, leaving "His Satanic Majesty" in full possession of the their meeting house.

So fully convinced are these people that they saw the devil that they have abandoned the building, and no meetings have been held there since. It is also said that a Hornerite will now travel several miles round rather than pass it.

The above was a carefully planned joke put up by some of the lads of the neighbourhood.

WILL HAVE TO RETIRE.

A Number of Militia Changes to Place Early in January.

The Cobourg Post is authority for the following: Yesterday we were informed by a gentleman who is in "close touch with the ministry" that the Government intends to strictly follow the recent orders published regarding the retirement of officers in the militia who have reached the age limit. In such a case it is pretty certain that Col. Rogers, Major McCaughey, Major Guillet, Capt. Bonnycastle and others will have to "go by the board" and others appointed to fill their place. Our informant stated that [the change would likely occur next month as the Government was anxious to appoint their successors at as early a date as possible so as to allow the new men to get into shape for camp early next summer. The officers above named are all old veterans, and much regret will be expressed at their retirement, but they may take comfort in the fact that there are others who are growing old. The same story is being told all over the country. Is the Post inspired?

How many young men and young women are cut off just as the future seems brightest and fullest of promise! They are taken away by the disease which causes over one-sixth of all the deaths in the world—the disease which doctors call consumption. There is absolutely no reason in the world why consumption should be fatal—why it should be even serious. It is a disease of the blood and can be cured absolutely and always by purifying and enriching the blood. The only exception to this is the case where the disease has been neglected and improperly treated until the disease is stronger than the body—until the body has become so weak as to have lost the ability to recuperate. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption if used according to directions. It also cures all lingering coughs, bronchial and throat affections.

Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, illustrated.

ARRESTS AT BRAMPTON.

In Connection With the Clark-Bradley Fraud Case—Developments Expected.

Brampton, Dec. 10.—In connection with the well-known Bradley-Clark conspiracy case, Provincial Constable Heffernan has made three more arrests. Acting on instructions from the officer, Mr. Bradley, jr., Hugh Henry and a man named Bowles were arrested at Campbell's Cross and taken to the jail here.

A row in the Bradley family is said to have led to the arrests in question, and startling developments are expected when the case comes up. The young man Bradley arrested is a son of one of the principals in the conspiracy to defraud case. The father was sentenced to one year in jail in November last, but secured his freedom on the advice of the jail physician, Dr. Heggie, having served six months. The prisoners were allowed out on bail.

FAT STOCK AT GUELPH.

The Annual Event Brought Together a Lot of Animals and Poultry.

Guelph, Dec. 10.—The Guelph Fat Stock Show opened here yesterday afternoon. As regards the show, it was up to the mark in quality, though the number of entries is not so large as at the Provincial last year. The cattle were very fine, and, if not superior, were equal to anything that has been shown in Guelph during all the years of the existence of the club. It was all fat stock that was shown, and no breeding animals.

There was a large show of sheep, pigs and poultry.

In the evening a banquet was held in the Commercial Hotel. Very interesting speeches were delivered by Hon. Thomas Ballantyne, Col. Birch, Chicago; Mortimer Levering, Lafayette, Ind., and others.

.... AT ....

ROBT. FAIR'S.

During our Quick Reduction Sale before Christmas perhaps there's no department in our store where the Reduction will be more sweeping than in MANTLES AND JACKETS.

Last winter when we were closing out our matchless stock of Coats, &c., we did not hesitate to mark $12 and $15 garments at $5 and $6, in order to keep none over for another year. We propose this season to sew just as close to the line—let the loss be what it may. It sometimes pays to lose. A loss now accepted will enable us to clear out our whole stock in this department in a short time. Here are some of these Mantle Sacrifices:—

FOR $3.00 A lot of Ladies' Fancy Tweed Coats, very special, formerly sold at $7.50.

FOR $5.00 A lot of Ladies' German Tweed Coats, perfect fitting garments, formerly sold at $8.00.

FOR $6 25 A lot of Tailor-made German Coats, well finished, formerly sold at $10.

FOR $8 50 Ladies' Stylish Rough Frieze Cloth Coats, formerly sold at $12.50.

FOR $4.00 Ladies' Black Frieze Cloth Coats, formerly sold for $6.50

FOR $8.50 Ladies' Black Golf Capes, Lined with black and white checks, formerly sold for $12.50.

FOR $7.50 Ladies Coloured Golf Capes, formerly sold at $9.50.

The balance of our Misses and Children's Jackets are also all reduced on a par with the above changed figures ranging at $4, $4.50, $4.75 and $5, or about $2 to $2.50 off former selling prices.

This is the way we have of keeping our Stock fresh. There is no reason why the Handsome and Useful should not combine in Holiday presents.

THE ENGINEERS' POLL

Rejection of the Employers' Proposals Probable.

£75,000 LOSS TO THE WORKMEN.

British Criticism of Hon. Edward Blake's Recent Toronto Speech—Suggested That Lord Aberdeen Question Him Respecting His Statement About Canada's Position in War.

Glasgow, Dec. 11.—The polling of the non-union engineers upon the proposals made by the employers at the conference of Federated Employers and the Amalgamated Society of Engineers was taken yesterday. The figures are as yet unknown, but it is said that the men have rejected the employers' proposals. The balloting of the unionist engineers will end to-day.

LOSS TO THE WORKMEN.

£75,000 in Wages Have Been Lost to the Strikers in the Engineering Trade.

London, Dec. 11.—Sir William Grey, the principal shipbuilder of Hartlepool, has issued a statement of the condition of the shipbuilding industry, in which he says that the engineers' strike has caused a reduction of the output of eight large steamers, which means a loss of £75,000 in wages.

The London Trades Council has issued a circular to all labor organizations in the Kingdom, inviting their opinion on the question of calling a national conference of labor unions, with a view of giving effective support to the striking engineers, and also to arrange a plan of action to be observed in future industrial disputes.

BRITAIN TO BLAKE.

Suggested That Lord Aberdeen Question Mr. Blake as to His Statement About Canada's Position in Case of War.

London, Dec. 10.—(Telegram cable.)—The speech of Hon. Edward Blake at the banquet to Lord Aberdeen at the National Club, Toronto, Wednesday night, has been much talked of here. The impression is that Mr. Blake would have Canadians believe that they can never get anything out of Great Britain, no matter what the Dominion may do to benefit British trade. This is regarded as an Irish separatist assertion.

The following sentence in Mr. Blake's speech has been vigorously criticized. In his speech Mr. Blake said: "Confederation was accomplished, and since Confederation has been accomplished, the English Government have in the most unmistakable fashion given the Government of Canada to understand that from that time forth we must not expect that the British people or the English Government should be called upon to take any very active part in the defence or protection of Canada . . that if we should unhappily come into collision with the United States, it was our own arms and our own stout hearts that we must look to for protection."

It is suggested that Lord Aberdeen should ask at what time Canada was made to understand any such thing, and also who were the parties to the understanding.

Honor to a Toronto League.

The Secretary of the Navy League credits the Toronto branch of the organization as being the first which seriously mooted the idea of securing colonial seamen for the British navy.

A Fortune in a Book.

London, Dec. 11.—At the sale here of the library of the late Earl of Ashburnham, Caxton's translation of "A Booke of the Hoole Lyfe of Jason," from the French of Raroule Lefevre, one of the earliest productions of Caxton's press, having been published at Westminister about 1477, was bought by Mr. Pickering, the publisher, for £3100. The copy is perfect and unique.

Nile Expedition to Go Ahead.

London, Dec. 11.—According to a despatch to The Daily Mail from Cairo, 600 British troops will take part in the advance of the Anglo-Egyptian expedition in the Soudan, which was postponed after the capture of Berber last September, in order to avoid the hot season.

A Celebrated Architect Dead.

London, Dec. 11.—Mr. John Loughborough, the distinguished architect and member of the Royal Academy, is dead.

HER SCALP TORN OFF.

Painful Accident at Hespeler—A Weaver's Hair Caught in the Machinery.

Hespeler, Ont., Dec. 11.—Annie Kniesehewsky, a weaver employed in A. W. Brodie's big woollen mill here, met with a very painful accident while at work in the mill yesterday afternoon. Her loom did not work properly, causing the shuttles to fly out, and while leaning backwards against the adjoining loom watching the loom-fixer at his work, the machine she was leaning against was started up by its operator, and caught her hair in the gearing of the head motion, winding it in and tearing a portion of it off, with a large piece of the scalp, also severing a portion of the left ear and loosening the remainder of the scalp from the skull on the left side of the head. Parts of the machine had to be taken apart before the unfortunate girl could be released.

ON CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE.

Sixteen Year Old Boy to Hang for a Crime of Which He Says He is Innocent.

Halifax, N.S., Dec. 11.—At Truro yesterday morning Lyman Bartt, aged 16, was sentenced to be hanged March 8, for the murder of Asard Dever, an Armenian peddlar, who was shot dead in a road near Truro two months ago. The boy was convicted on circumstantial evidence, there being no witness to the crime. He has maintained his innocence throughout.

AN INSOLVENCY LAW

For the Dominion is to Be Discussed by Boards of Trade When Mr. Fielding Returns.

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 11.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier has informed the Board of Trade that immediately upon the return of Hon. Mr. Fielding, the Finance Minister, the Government will receive a deputation of Boards of Trades to discuss the question of a Dominion insolvency law.

Quebec's Governorship.

In official circles here it is generally accepted that Sir Adolphe Chapleau will remain at Spencerwood till March or May next. It is stated that on leaving he will probably travel for a time, but that he will make his home in Montreal.

Newspaper Postage Regulations.

Hon. William Mulock has issued some instructions regarding the free mailing of newspapers, bearing specially on the question, who are subscribers. After some introductory the instruction says: "Postmasters are therefore requested to bear in mind that no person can be considered as a subscriber to a paper or periodical who has not himself ordered it." A lengthy explanation ensues, which amounts to this, "That for a special purpose a third party may pay for and have sent to a second party for a time any paper, and the publisher may mail free, but that one person cannot make another a subscriber. In case of a number of papers from any particular office suddenly increasing, an explanation may be demanded." The circular concludes. "The responsibility will always rest upon publishers of proving when called upon to do so that the papers they send free are legally entitled to that privilege."

Charles Sturrock's Coal Case.

The petition of Charles Sturrock for an order compelling the G. T. R. to refund him $1079 overcharge rates on coal was dismissed, the Railway Committee deciding that they could only decide questions of general policy and not individual cases. This was a case for a court of law.

A SCRAMBLE FOR LIFE.

Turkish Baths Took Fire in Quebec and Five "Patients" Had to Hustle.

Quebec, Dec. 11.—Shortly after midnight yesterday fire broke out in the Turkish bath recently built, in fact hardly completed, and completely destroyed the building and its contents. It seems there were five gentlemen in the baths at the time at various stages of the Turkish bath treatment, who had to make hasty exit, while the manager of the baths in endeavoring to locate the source of the fire was overcome by the smoke and very nearly suffocated. He was removed in a very weak condition. Several young women who are employed in the Victoria Hotel as chambermaids, but who slept in the upper portion of the burnt building, escaped rather scantily attired by means of the viaduct leading into the hotel.

FROM THE HUB TO THE GOLDEN GATE.

ADDRESS BY REV. MR. PATTERSON OF COOKE'S CHURCH.

The Eloquent Toronto Divine Speaks Most Interestingly to a Large Audience in St. Andrew's Church.

Rev. Mr. Patterson, Toronto's well-known pulpit orator, and pastor of Cooke's church, spoke last evening in St. Andrew's church to a large audience, taking as his subject "From the Hub to the Golden Gate by way of Chicago," being a narrative of his experiences and the scenery through which he passed when on the way several years ago to the great World's Christian Endeavour Convention in San Francisco.

The citizens of Boston, he said, claimed that their city is the hub of the universe, and it certainly is the hub of the United States, as around it cluster the most historic memories of the continent. There's the old North Church, and you fancy you can see Paul Revere on his fiery steed, waiting to carry his message. You go out of the old South Church and can again see the English horses stabled in it. Lexington, too, with its memories and the old tavern still embedded in it. All these things recall to our minds the great blunder which George III. made. The place also recalls the liberation of the slaves and its many reminiscences.

On Banker Hill a great monument has been erected as the people of the United States think that although they were defeated there by the British, yet in consideration of the numbers opposed to them, and the circumstances it was in reality a victory, creating the thought that God who sees the forces and realizes the circumstances may record many a seeming defeat in the world as a great spiritual victory.

There are a great many interesting things to recall of the great men of Boston. There were Emerson and Longfellow (the greatest of their poets.) I have stood on that bridge, said the speaker, and fancied I could realize Longfellow's feelings when he wrote his memorable poem.

There is no centre that has as many cities connected with it as Boston. There are fully twenty five of them connected with the Hub by street cars, ranging in size from five thousand to sixty thousand inhabitants. There is Salem, with its old tales of witchcraft, and Plymouth, where you could stand and fancy you could see through the centuries and watch the pilgrims disembarking on the rock and drinking from the spring which is still preserved and from which a visitor must drink. There are to be found the relics of those who crossed in the Mayflower, the Bible of John Alden Hanging and the sword of Miles Standish.

THESE PILGRIM FATHERS

were the foulders of the republic. Sometimes in the present age it is thought that they were too strict in their religious views, but now the pendulum of the nation has swung to the other extreme.

Coming northward in our journey, we past that river which divided the Land of the Maple from that of the Eagle—the river which bears on its bosom more traffic than any other river in the world. Passing on, we are now in Chicago—the thirdest and, at the same time, one of the healthiest cities in the world. There we find Mr. Mosely and his students doing their grand work in the Colportage Mission. I never saw the power of Money so illustrated as in Chicago. The Auditorium seats 6,500 people, and yet hours before the time of the meeting the streets were jammed with people waiting to get in to hear him. Seven thousand men were admitted in the evening of which I speak, and so many more were excluded that street car traffic on the street was blocked completely.

Armour's stock yards were visited—covering fourteen acres and where 7,000 men were daily employed.

The speaker then gave a very vivid description of the manner in which the cattle, hogs and sheep were slaughtered and prepared for the market in Chicago.

GREAT STOCK YARDS.

The audience was then taken across the limitless western prairies and the sandy deserts, where the beautiful green spots, known as oases, are most interesting to see.

Denver was the next city entered—40 years ago a mining camp and now a city of 120,000 inhabitants. Fourteen miles from Denver you have the great chain of the Rockies, where the snow capped mountains are all in view and as the city is 5,000 feet above the level of the sea itself a grand view can be had of the plains just passed over.

Seventeen miles from here are the Colorado Springs, above which Pike's Peak towers in all its magnificence.

The Garden of the God's lies six miles further and here there are some strange sights to be seen in the way of fantastic shapes in stone—the three graves, the Kissing Lions, the balancing rock, the Toadstools and all kinds of animals. It is really a marvellous place and must be seen to be appreciated, as description of same is beyond human power.

There are three ways of getting to Pike's Peak—by the carriage way, the trail and the railway. By the latter method it is nine miles to the top and in this nine miles there is an elevation of 9,000 feet. At the top is a restaurant and an observatory and the sight from the latter is incomparably grand—the greatness and the majesty and the power of God seems borne in upon you as they gaze out on the limitless expanse.

In going on to

we have to pass through the Royal Gorge, where the train creeps through a narrow defile and the cliffs reach straight up to immeasurable heights, making the stars visible in broad daylight.

The speaker then gave a brief history of the rise and fall of the Mormons, daring which he paid great tribute to the organizing power of Brigham Young, whom he termed the Napoleon of the nineteenth century. The Mormons being persecuted went west across the plains and founded Salt Lake City, which bears a close resemblance to Jerusalem, in the shadow of the mountains and nestling beside the great Salt Lake into which streams and rivers empty but none issue, as in the case of old Jordan entering the Dead Sea by Jerusalem. The place was a desert when the Mormons selected it as a site for their city and diverting the rivers out into the desert made it a place of gladness and the city is now a place of great interest.

The great Mormon temple seats about 11,000 and the acoustics are so perfect that if you drop a pin on the altar you can hear it in the futhermost corner. The choir ranges in number from 400 to 1,000 and the service is a magnificent one, the temple being constantly filled at the different services.

The streets of the city are beautiful beyond description, being the widest in America.

Starting on from Salt Lake towards the Golden Gate we crossed the great Nevada Desert, with not a single blade of grass. Then on through for 40 miles, where the train has to go beneath shelter to keep from being blocked. On we go down into beautiful California, where the flowers are always in bloom and in such profusion that ten cents would purchase enough to start a flower show.

The party started one Tuesday morning in June and on the following Wednesday got into San Francisco.

Rome was built on seven hills—San Francisco, it is said, on one hundred. The temperature only varies about eleven degrees—from 51 to 62, and the climate is a most invigorating one, being far different from the mild temperature of Oakland, just across the river.

The baths are something wonderful to see, being so arranged to to afford accommodation for 30,000 people to sit and watch the bathers and listen to the music which is furnished.

Then there is Chinatown. It doesn't matter whether you visit it during the day or night, The Chinese sleep at all hours and work at all hours, and it is a most interesting place to visit, seeming to be a portion of China transferred to America.

At the close of the great convention Rev. Mr. Patterson crossed the continent on the Overland Limited, and just ten days later was in Belfast. Preaching there on a Sunday morning, he was back in Toronto on the following Saturday, showing that in reality the world is but a small place after all.

At the close of the interesting address a vote of thanks to the speaker was moved by Rev. Dr. Torrance and Mr. Tully, and most cordially carried.

Previous to the address Miss Waddell sang a very pretty Scotch selection.

How many young men and young women are cut off just as the future seems brightest and fullest of promise! They are taken away by the disease which causes over one-sixth of all the deaths in the world—the disease which doctors call consumption. There is absolutely no reason in the world why consumption should be fatal—why it should be even serious. It is a disease of the blood and can be cured absolutely and always by purifying and enriching the blood. The only exception to this is the case where the disease has been neglected and improperly treated until the disease is stronger than the body—until the body has become so weak as to have lost the ability to recuperate. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption if used according to directions. It also cures all lingering coughs, bronchial and throat affections.

Send 21 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, illustrated.

He Reclaimed His Jewels.

One day while Rabbi Meir was away from home teaching at college, his two children were suddenly taken ill and died. When on returning he inquired about them, his wife, Beruria, first gave him an evasive answer, and then, leading the conversation to another topic, related to him how a man who had left some jewels in her care had come to reclaim them. "Am I to give them back?" she asked. "How can you put such a question?" said he, "of course you are to return them to the owner." Beruria then took her husband into the chamber where the two children were lying, and, pointing to them, while her tears were overflowing and her heart was nearly breaking, she courageously said: "The owner has come to-day and reclaimed these jewels in our trust."—From The Talmud.

The King and the Haymaker.

George III. was one day visiting a small town in the south of England, and being anxious to see something of the country, took a solitary walk. He came to a hayfield in which there was one woman at work. The King asked where all the rest were and was told that they had all gone into town to see the King.

"Why didn't you go to?" asked he.

"Pooh!" she answered, "I wouldn't go three yards to see him. Besides, they've lost a day's work, and I'm too poor to do that with five children to feed."

His Majesty slipped a sovereign into her hand and said:

"When the rest come back, tell them that while they were gone to see the King the King came to see you and left you his portrait in gold to remember him by."

Chocolate Biscuit.

Chocolate biscuits are a novelty for a luncheon and are delicious when carefully prepared. Break six eggs, separating the whites and yolks. Add to the yolks half a pound of powdered sugar and beat the mixture thoroughly. Beat up the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth and add three-quarters of a cupful of flour that has been thoroughly sifted. Stir the flour in, taking care that the "cells" of the beaten eggs are not broken. After this add four tablespoonfuls of freshly-grated chocolate. Pour the batter in little paper cases and bake in a moderate oven until they are light and thoroughly done.—Boston Budget.

Things get started in the wrong direction.

Something is needed to check disease and start the system in the right direction toward health.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with hypophosphites can do just this.

It strengthens the nerves, feeds famished tissues, and makes rich blood.

"77"

FOR

GRIP

Since the deadly epidemic of La Grippe came from Russia in 1890, there has been no remedy so successful as Dr. Humphreys' Specific "77." It meets the epidemic condition and is the cure for all its manifestations; taken early cuts it short promptly; taken during its prevalence it preoccupies the system and prevents its invasion; taken while suffering from it a relief is speedily realized.

The headache, backache and influenza are of comparatively small consequence and are easily controlled, but the cough or bronchial irritation is more serious, particularly in the feeble or when the vitality is impaired; hence, the danger and necessity of prompt and continued use of "77" until every vestage of the disease is eradicated.

"77" cures Colds, Grippe, Influenza, Catarrh, Pains in the Head and Chest, Cough and Sore Throat.

Ask for Dr. Humphrey's Specific Manual of all Diseases at your Druggists or Mailed Free.

An Important Bill.

Hon. Mr. Dryden—To prevent the spread of the San Jose scale. He explained that this was a new pest unknown in Canada until early in 1897. It had been discovered in California and had gradually spread over the United States. It is one of the most destructive insects known. It is most difficult to eradicate it once it has gained a foothold because of its smallness. It is so diminutive that it cannot be seen with the eye alone. It was at first supposed the pest would not live in Canada because of the cold, but the proof of the unreliability of this was found in the fact that it was already found in fruit trees grown in Ontario. He thought the Government should be allowed to compensate owns of trees the inspectors found necessary to destry. He proposed giving 25 per cent. of the value of trees. He would give more but feared many fruit growers would take advantage of the compensating clause to sell their trees in this way if the full value were paid. The bill was read a first time.

Notices of Motions.

Mr. Crawford gives notice that he will on Monday enquire of the Ministry:

(1) What is the total amount that has been paid by the Province of Ontario for printing, stationery, supplies and material of every description to the firms of Warwick Bros. and Warwick Bros. & Rutter, Toronto, during the past ten years? (2) What was the total amonnt paid the above firms for paper? (3) What was the value of type and other materials supplied to the above firms by the Government of Ontario during the past ten years? (4) What is the amount that has been paid by the Government of Ontario for stationery purchased from and supplied by the above firms during the past ten years?

A HIGH, FULL COLOUR.

Diamond Dye Cardinal One of the Most Fashionable and Most Useful Colours.

Millions of packages of this wonderfully rich and popular colour are sold every year.

Fast Diamond Dye Cardinal is noted for its strength, fastness and beauty of colour. One package dyes two pounds of silk or all-wool goods a standard shade that will never wash out. It colours over with grand results all shades except green.

The Fast Diamond Dye Cardinal for dyeing cotton and mixed goods is the only Cardinal for cotton dyeing in the world that is fast to light and soap. One package makes a fast and everlasting cardinal on one pound of cotton or mixed goods.

Be not deceived with crude imitations or soap grease dyes. Ask for the "Diamond" and you will always have success.

A Friendly Bar Examination.

A Georgia correspondent sends us this account of a young man's oral examination for the bar by a local committee before an old judge, who was also an old acquaintance of the candidate. Being asked, "What is arson?" he scratched his head and finally said, "I believe that's pison, ain't it?"

On this the old judge, to help him out, says: "Tut, tut, Jim. Suppose I were to set fire to your house and burn it down, what would that be?"

With quick and emphatic reply Jim says, "I think it would be a dad drattled mean trick."

But although this answer was not technically accurate Jim was in the hands of his friends and was honorably admitted.—Case and Comment.

A LONDON EPISODE.

A Prominent Contractor Cured of Bright's Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

London, Dec. 6—Not since the great election trial some years ago, has any London episode created such widespread excitement as has the case of G. E. Brady, of 239 Talbot street.

Mr. Brady, a prominent contractor, suffered for years with Bright's Disease. Doctors and special remedies failed utterly to help him. In despair he tried Dodd's Kidney Pills, and was cured by a few boxes.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have proved themselves, in this city, to be the only remedy that will positively cure every case of Bright's Disease, Diabetes and every other kidney complaint. They have never failed here. People will buy no other medicine.

Distress from Earache.

"I was troubled with earache for a long time," says Miss J. Johnson, Innisfail, N. W. T., "and after trying different remedies without succes, used Hagyard's Yellow Oil as a last resort and I can really say that it cured me so completely that I have never had earache since."

Karl's Clover Root,

SUICIDAL DYSPEPSIA

Positively Averted by Using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Does Dyspepsia kill?

Yes! In thousands of instances Dyspepsia has given the invitation to death.

This may be a startling statement. But it is a true one.

Dyspepsia unchecked causes a melancholy, hopeless feeling. Soon this merges into dark and dreary despondency. Then follows insanity—which is the second stage of despondency.

The invariable tendency of all who suffer from melancholy insanity, is to commit suicide. In nine cases out of ten they succeed.

Thus Dyspepsia leads to death.

Now, there's not the least necessity for this. It need not be so, and can be prevented as easily as you can fall asleep. There's no secret about how it is done. Simply use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets—one or two after each meal—for a couple of weeks, and the thing is done.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are a perfectly perfect digestive. They digest the food themselves. They don't need help.

Sometimes Constipation accompanies dyspepsia and indigestion. In each box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets is a supply of smaller tablets that are the most perfect bowel regulators ever made. Taken with Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets they fit the bowels to perform their duty which is supplementary to the digestive process.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have never failed, never will fail, cannot fail to cure any case of Indigestion, Dyspepsia or other stomach trouble. They digest the food, strengthen the stomach, and banish dyspepsia and indigestion, naturally and rapidly.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, each box containing a full double treatment, can be purchased from all druggists, at 50c a box or will be sent on receipt of the price, by the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

People Praise It.

DEAR SIRS,—I have often had coughs and colds, as well as bronchitis. Norway Pine Syrup cures me every time. I recommend it as a perfect cure for all throat and lung troubles.

LIZZIE HARDY,
Mayfield, Ont.

A PRACTICAL VIEW OF IT.

The folks that write of fields of green where birds and daisies rule,
I'll bet you, never struck them fields and plowed a Georgy mule,
And them that write of tinkling bells in dells
where cattle roam,
I'll bet you, never had to drive the scampering cattle home!

And them that sing of woodlands sweet and softly sighing pines,
I'll bet you, never had to tramp through prickly briers and vines
And cut a cord of wood or two! No matter what they say,
The country ain't as purty as it looks from far away!

Just jes 'em come and try it—where people have to rise
Before the sun has blazed a way along the chilly skies
And work from then until the stars look from the darkening dome—
I'll bet you, 'fore the day was done they'd all make tracks for home!

And yet they keep on singing of country life
"so sweet"
And leave out all the mortgages and notes we have to meet!
We thank 'em for their compliments, for all the words they say,
But still we ain't as purty as we look from far away!

—Frank L. Stanton in Atlanta Constitution.

He Benefited Humanity.

There is an oriental story of two brothers, Ahmed and Omar. Both wished to perform a deed whose memory should not fail, but which might sound their name and praises. Omar, with wedge and rope, lifted an obelisk on its base, carving its form in beautiful devices and sculpturing many a strange inscription on its sides. He set it in the hot desert to cope with its gales. Ahmed, with deeper wisdom and truer though sadder heart, digged a well to cheer the sandy waste and planted about it tall date palms to make cool shade for the thirsty pilgrim and to shake down fruits for his hunger.—Jewish Messenger.

A blow ball match was held at the close and of course the Yankees won by one point. The boys' prayer meeting at 7.30 was an interesting one. A. Froude gave a good address on prayer.

MR. STRATTON IS THE CHOICE

Of the West Peterborough Liberal Convention.

HE RECEIVES THE UNANIMOUS NOMINATION.

Large Gathering of the Electors From all Parts of the Riding—Addresses by the Mover, Seconder and Candidate—Hon. Senator Cox and Hon. John Dryden Speak.

One of the largest and most enthusiastic rallies of the Liberals of West Peterborough ever assembled on a nomination occasion was gathered at the Opera House this afternoon to nominate a candidate in the interest of the government, to contest the representation of West Peterborough in the Ontario Legislature at the approaching Provincial general elections.

Dr. R. W. Bell, President of the West Peterborough Reform Association occupied the chair, and expressed his pleasure at seeing so large a gathering of the electors of all shades of politics and from all parts of the riding. He referred to the importance of the occasion that had brought the gathering together. It did not seem long since the last convention in that hall to nominate a candidate for the local Legislature. Since the last convention the former premier had been made Lieutenant-Governor of the Province he had so long been premier of, and he had been succeeded by Hon. Mr. Hardy, who had served his political apprenticeship with one of the most capable administrators this or any province or state had ever possessed. Mr. Hardy was, perhaps, more familiar with the wants and wishes of the province than any other man in public life to-day, having acted for the past twenty-four years as, successively, representative, Provincial Secretary, Commissioner of Crown Land, and now premier of the premier province of the Dominion. He had associated with him an excellent cabinet and his Government was in every way progressive, economical and capable and worthy of the continued confidence of the electorate. He would not occupy the time of the convention with any lengthened remarks, as they were to listen to addresses by a member of the Ontario Cabinet, Hon. John Dryden, the experienced and efficient Minister of Agriculture, Hon. Senator Cox and the candidate whom they had yet to nominate. He would therefore call for nominations as the first order of business.

There were present on the platform besides the chairman, Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture, Hon. Senator Cox, Mr. Richard Hall, Mr. T. G. Hazlett and Mr. Peter Hamilton.

MR. STRATTON NOMINATED.

Mr. Peter Hamilton in rising to nominate Mr. J. R. Stratton as the candidate of the supporters of the Ontario Government, to contest the representation of West Peterborough in the Local Legislature, after referring to the frequent recurrence of nominating conventions, spoke of his long and intimate association with the Liberal party. In all this time he had noted the unworthy cries to which the party opposing the Liberal party had recourse and to-day the principal cry against the Liberal party was in connection with the Michigan log matter. He pointed out the preposterous nature of the idea that the Government of Ontario would for one moment make the slightest movement in the direction of sacrificing a single interest of Ontario for the benefit of Michigan. He paid a high tribute to the worth of Canada and Canadians, and strongly denounced the various religious cries that had been raised as election issues. The Government should be judged on its record and should no longer have public confidence when that record was not in the interest of the country. About twelve years ago he had the pleasure of nominating a candidate who had against him only his youth, but he went into the fight against a strong candidate and was elected by a majority of 33. Four years later he had had the honour of nominating the same gentleman, who was again elected by over 500 majority. (Cheers.) Four years later he had again the honour and pleasure of nominating the same gentleman again, and his record as a representative was of so high a character, and he had so admirably served the riding, that he was returned by a majority of nearly 800, (Cheers) and though he did not pose as a prophet, he predicted that the capable attention Mr. Stratton had given his representative duties, and the high popularity he had deservedly won by his courteous and obliging disposition to friend and foe alike, was of so pronounced a character that he (the speaker) believed at the close of the poll on election day he would be returned by a majority of 1200. (Cheers.) Mr. Hamilton went on to express the hope that Canadians would drop the miserable religious cries that tended to separate them, and unite to develop the splendid resources that made Canada one of the best countries in the world. He had the greatest pleasure in the world in nominating Mr. J. R. Stratton, Esq., as the candidate to contest West Peterborough in the approaching Provincial general elections, (great cheering.)

Mr. G. M. Elliott said he had great pleasure in seconding the nomination. Mr. Stratton had been a representative who had most faithfully and efficiently discharged his duties. He enjoyed to a very high degree the esteem of both political parties that compose the electorate, and he had no doubt that the electors would show their appreciation of his great services on election day. (Great applause.)

There being no other nominations the chairman declared Mr. Stratton the nominee amidst enthusiastic applause, which was renewed, as Mr. Stratton advanced to address the meeting.

THE CANDIDATE'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Stratton in rising to address the convention was received with enthusiastic applause. He said that he would indeed count himself eloquent if he could even in an approximate degree express his thanks and appreciation of the hearty nomination tendered him, which, in view of the unanimity and cordiality of it, rendered any hesitation as to its acceptance unnecessary; and he did accept it with a determination to do credit to the selection by the employment of every legitimate effort to achieve success. (Cheers.) He considered it a very great honour to be nominated by the electors of West Peterborough for the fourth time in succession and he felt justly proud at enjoying the confidence of the electors of the riding to so high a degree.

In 1886 when a young and untried man the supporters of the Mowat Government honoured him with the nomination. At that time he was taken on trust and returned by a narrow majority over a strong candidate. In 1890 his first term as a representative was approved, and the electors in him and endorsed his course by a majority fifteen times greater than that of his first election. In 1894 he was again selected as a candidate and the result was a majority very largely increased. He did not refer to this in the way of idle boast, but to point the moral that a representative who faithfully and earnestly endeavoured to discharge the duties of his representative position was, as a rule, certain of securing the confidence of the right-thinking portion of the electorate; and his majorities were sufficient to emphasize the fact that West Peterborough was a constituency that was composed of broad-minded electors who placed more value in a representative upon effective and faithful service than upon a mere party name. During the twelve years he had the honour of representing West Peterborough he had endeavoured to the full extent of his ability and opportunity to serve the best interests of the riding and the Province of Ontario and, while it would not become him to suggest that he had succeeded, yet the repeated assurances of confidence, capped by the assurances that this afternoon afforded, might be regarded as an evidence that his efforts to faithfully perform his representative duties towards the riding and the province with some degree of success.

HAD NOT BEEN UNATTENDED

In accepting the nomination, he did so with pleasure, and with confidence in the belief that he would have the co-operation and support of, not only the Liberals of West Peterborough, but of many others who do not bear the same party name, and he might refer to the fact that he had received assurances from many of the latter who had not hitherto supported him.

Of course they were aware that a few evenings ago a meeting of Conservatives was called to nominate a candidate. There were many of the more liberal-minded element of the Conservative party who had the fairness to recognise the satisfactory nature of the representation the riding had enjoyed at the hands of a member of the Liberal party, and who did not think that a contest was necessary in the best interests of West Peterborough. But there were others, who from motives that were not, perhaps, so much patriotic as personal,

DESIRED A CONTEST,

even if they were themselves to be the victims of the election. They were prepared to accept defeat for the sake of the profit of distributing the spoils of patronage in the remote event of Mr. Whitney and his friends gaining the Treasury benches, hoping to gain positions for themselves that might be a solace for their rejection by the electors. At the convention of the Conservatives of the town of Peterborough a candidate was nominated, and it would be only fair to the audience to tell them, what very few could know, who this gentleman was. His name was Mr. J. W. Garvin, at present a life insurance agent. He came to Peterborough about four years ago as inspector of the Public schools of the town. He was, after serving for a time, asked by the School Board to send in his resignation, but having a different estimate of his own importance from that of the School Board, he refused to do so, and was dismissed from his position. He seems to have an itch for politics. In his native county, Simcoe, he endeavoured to secure the nomination, but even in his home where he was best known his abilities

DID NOT RECEIVE RECOGNITION, and he was not selected. However, he had better luck in West Peterborough and managed to engineer a convention that would give him the nomination. Personally, the speaker said, he would say no word of disparagement of Mr. Garvin. In seeking the nomination he had gained, he was simply exercising the right of every citizen. In his private capacity Mr. Garvin had his friends and it was generally held that the position of a private citizen was (one he was best qualified to adorn, and the speaker felt sure that the electors would take the same view. Mr. Stratton said he was not in a position to say when the elections would be brought on—whether in early spring after the close of the session or later, but whenever they were brought on he was ready to enter the fray and he did not fear the result. He had every assurance from the best members of the electorate, independently of party affiliations, that he still enjoyed the confidence of the people and that what he had been able to do for the benefit of this riding would not pass without recognition. He had every reason to assert that the Government he supported had established by its past record of effective government a very strong claim upon the support of the electorate at large, and the Government, like himself, were ready to submit their record and their policy to the approval of the people with every confidence of the verdict being in their favour. Of course the Government would be

JUDGED UPON THEIR RECORD,

and if that ground of judgment were accepted there need be no fear of the result. The attitude of the opponents of the Government showed a disposition to fight shy of the appeals upon which they went to the country in previous general elections. The roar of clamour against the Ross Bible was not now heard, the crusade against separate schools had been called in and the optics of the Green Eye-opener, were it to be hoped, closed forever. Yet these disturbing issues had as much force now as

HENRY GEORGE.

An Admirer Fairly and Clearly States the Views He Promulgated.

The sudden death of Henry George on the eve of the Mayoralty election in Greater New York, where he was a candidate, has awakened a wide interest in his views. In "Social Problems," he says:

To prevent government from becoming corrupt and tyrannous its organization and methods should be as simple as possible, its functions be restricted to those necessary to the common welfare and in all parts it should be kept close to the people and as directly within their control as may be. We have ignored these principles in many ways and the result has been corruption and demoralization, the loss of control by the people and the wresting of government to the advantage of the few and the spoliation of the many. The line of reform, on one side at least, lies in simplification. * * * I am not denouncing the rich, nor seeking by speaking of these things to excite envy and hatred; but if we would get a clear understanding of social problems we must recognise the fact that it is to monopolies which we permit and create, to advantages which we give one man over another, to methods of extortion sanctioned by law and by public opinion, that some men are enabled to get so enormously rich while others remain so miserably poor. * * * Beneath all political problems lies the social problem of the distribution of wealth. This our people do not generally recognise, and they listen to quacks who propose to cure the symptoms without touching the disease. * * * We are steadily differentiating a governing class or rather a class of Praetorians, who make a business of gaining political power and then selling it.

In Mr. George's first work, "Progress and Poverty," his views are most clearly worked out. In that he traces the worst features of society to the pressure for leave to work, which is making tramps of laborers and mechanics, crowding the farmers off their farms and harrassing the commercial and professional classes. The overcrowding of every ocupation he traces to an artificial scarcity of land, due to the system that enables the idle holders to secure profits. Every attempt to extend the farming districts over new areas or to enlarge the cities is obstructed by the land speculator, who creates an artificial scarcity by merely holding for a price. Mr. George would remedy this by taking the rental value of land irrespective of improvements for public revenue and abolishing all other taxation whether tariffs, license fees or direct imposts. It would throw the bulk of taxation on the cities and towns where the greatest land values exist, the value of farms being due mainly to work on them and in consequence exempt.

THE LATE HENRY GEORGE.

Henry George.

Elected October 29, 1897.

The polls are closed; the count is made;
Yet no one heard the inspector's voice.
A viewless voter cast the vote;
A silent power declared the choice.

No cheering answers the result
From comrades or the mighty throng
Of those for whom he lived and toiled
And whom he loved so well and long.

No canvasser will change the count
With juggling figures as of yore.
The candidate-elect no court
Can unto private life restore.

Elected? Yes, to higher place
A thousandfold than mayor's chair,
A place befitting his brave heart,
A place forever free from care.

The polls are closed; the count is made;
The hero-candidate has won.
To us is left the solemn task
Of finishing what he begun.

WOMAN AS AN ARBITRATOR.

Miss Fisher Settled a Factory Trouble Where Men Had Failed.

That Miss Clara J. Fisher of Milford, the first woman ever chosen to act as expert assistant to the State Board of Arbitration and Conciliation, was able in the recent difficulty between the B. H. Spaulding Company of Milford and its employes to fulfil her duties to the satisfaction of both sides testifies to her freedom from petty prejudices as well as to her large-minded sense of justice.

Miss Fisher is a pleasant-faced young woman, something over 30, who lives with her aged aunt in the pretty little manufacturing town of Milford, the picturesque name of which makes one hark back to the days when a rushing stream rather than a roaring stream turned the wheels of the mills.

Graduated from the town high school, Miss Fisher came out into the world with a pretty clear notion that she would like to be a teacher, but the fact that just at that time a friend was entering upon work at the Knowlton straw factory, in a neighboring town, decided her to enter mill life.

In a year or two her duty to her aged aunt, for whom she now tenderly cares, called her back to Milford, and after temporarily working in a village dry goods store she accepted the position of overseer in the straw factory of B. H. Spaulding. For nine years she acceptably filled the place, having charge of a room in which sixty women were employed. During these nine years she became conversant with every detail of the work of making straw hats, and although it is now two years and a half since she left the work no one could have more thoroughly understood the employes' side of the question than she does.

Miss Fisher is a young woman of far more than ordinary girl determination and ambition. During the latter part of her services as forewoman she studied to fit herself to become a stenographer, and ultimately secured a good position in Milford, at this work, whereupon she resigned at Spaulding's.

Miss Fisher had always been very popular with the girls working under her at Spaulding's, and at the time of the recent strike the employes called upon her repeatedly, and asked her to serve them as assistant to the Board of Arbitration. She at length accepted and promised to serve to the best of her ability.

With the man appointed by the board at the suggestion of Spaulding, the employer, Miss Fisher visited, besides Spaulding's factory, six other similar mills, comparing the work and the conditions with those at the factory under consideration. At all six the investigators were received with courtesy, only two out of the six refusing to give information. They withdrew as politely as possible.

Miss Fisher found the surroundings in the factories inspected all that could be desired and the relations between employes and employed extremely pleasant. In no factory visited had there ever been a strike, difficulties being settled quietly to the satisfaction of both parties.

In two weeks the Board of Arbitration, with the assistance of Miss Fisher and the other expert, settled the Spaulding difficulty satisfactorily, the sewing of 100 yards of straw being the unadopted for payment. For her services to the board Miss Fisher and her coworker received each $7 a day and expenses.—Boston Globe.

THE RETIRED BURGLAR.

His Curious Experience in a House With Creaking Stairs.

"You know how the stairs puff up," said the retired burglar, "after you stop using 'em nights? You crowd 'em down close together, solid, treading on 'em all day long, and then when you let up on 'em the fibers of the wood lift up again, and the stairs seem to swell. You know how they creak, sometimes, and snap a little, when you go down 'em first in the morning, and some of the steps yield a little under the tread? That's them settlin' down into place again.

"I love to hear 'em in the morning. It seems kind o' like the stairs wakin' up and speakin' to you as you go along down. But I don't like to hear 'em at night. And at the time I go about they've had a chance to do considerable puffin' and no matter how velvet-footed a man may be he can't lessen his weight very well, and so I learned early to tread near the wall or near the banisters going upstairs, and not on the bow in the middle. The creak, or the little soft snapping, that sounds so pleasant in the morning, and that nobody wouldn't notice then, sounds mighty loud at night, when everything is still. If anybody was awake, you could hear it from one end of the house to the other. To be sure, it might not alarm anybody, because there's other sounds in a house at night; sounds that just make themselves. Due, I suppose, to changes in temperature. Boards swell and shrink and shift a little, and you might hear a little snap somewhere in the house at any time of night. But I always hated to hear the stairs creak when I was going up 'em, all the same. Because I always thought that as likely as not it would wake up somebody, and that I should find somebody sitting up in bed looking for me when I looked into the door of a room, and, as a matter of fact, that did sometimes happen.

"I looked one night, after a wretched pair of stairs, into a half-lighted room, where I saw a man sitting up in bed, over on the other side of the room, and looking plumb at the door that I was standing in. As I told you, I was always on the lookout for just this thing, but this man surprised me, for all that. He sat there in bed all keyed up, and looking square at me. I could see him perfectly plain, and I knew he could see me just as plain, and I expected every minute he'd find his voice and begin to holler.

"But, instead of that he threw the clothes back off his legs and swung his legs around out of bed, and stood up. He put his right hand out to locate a chair that stood by the head of the bed and then started for the door, hands out a little each side of him, and feelin' out a little on both sides and sort of ahead of him as he came along.

"Humph! Blind! He'd heard the noise and was going to look for it. I might have stood there and slugged him easy as he went by, but I didn't want no 'rastle with a blind man. I just went out and left him there looking."—New York Sun.

HE WAS CALLED DOWN.

How a Dude Bluffed an Irate Chicago Husband.

"I was up in Chicago a few days ago,' said a well-known Clevelander, "when I witnessed what struck me as being a very funny incident. A young man was standing in front of one of the big hotels puffing leisurely on a cigar. He was a slender young man, well-dressed, and held his head up. Something about his appearance attracted my attention, and I was just trying to recall his face when a big fellow with his hat on the back of his head came charging up the street and suddenly stopped at sight of the young man.

"'By George,' he said, 'I believe you are the fellow?'

"The young man never moved a muscle.

"'Yes, by George,' fumed the big man, 'I believe you are the identical dude.'

"'Are you speaking to me, my friend,' quoth the young fellow.

"'Yes,' snarled the big chap. 'I'm speaking to you. You are the dude who winked at my wife in the restaurant. I know you.'

"'That's where you have the advantage of me,' said the young fellow coolly.

"'Come, come,' said the big man, and his face turned very red. 'I won't be bluffed.'

"'That's right,' said the young fellow, 'but are you sure you have the right man?'

"The red-faced citizen looked at him with a savage frown.

"'I could tell in a minute if you talked fast,' he said. 'The fellow who insulted my wife lisps.'

"'Doth he?' drolled the young man. 'I lithp, too, when I take a nothion.'

"The big man snorted with rage.

"'Curse you,' he said, 'I've a great mind to smash you right here on the street.'

"The young fellow threw away his cigar and let his arms fall at his sides.

"'See here, my friend,' he said, 'you are making a ridiculous exhibition of yourself. If you raise a finger to me I'll pitch you across the street. As far as winking at your wife goes, I want to tell you I've too much taste to wink at a woman who is stupid enough to fancy you. In the second place, I don't know your wife from Lucretia Borgia, and I'm equally positive that I never saw you before. And now you may continue your interesting hunt.'

"And the young fellow turned on his heel and stalked along.

"Say, it was the neatest calling down I ever saw, and it makes me chuckle even now."—Cleveland Leader.

THE DOMESTIC WOMAN.

Three Paragraphs That Sum Up Many of Her Excellencies.

Woman as a rule is domestic, and the number is comparatively few who cannot find in the environments of home all of the best elements of happiness. To the loyal, loving, womanly heart and mind nothing can be of greater importance than the comfort and well being of each member of the home circle. As a wife her sphere is far from limited if one pauses to consider that by making the home bright and cheerful in many ways besides the mere creature comfort she is a helpmeet indeed, and buoys up the flagging spirit and brings comfort to the weary husband in times of perilous business affairs. Again, she has been known to give wise counsel at such times simply because her mind was not burdened with a load of affairs of state or trade.

As a mother, truly here is her throne, and her sway is unlimited. Too much cannot be said for all the dear women who have never either registered or voted, save by their influence on the boys over whom the divine right of motherhood has exerted such an influence that good citizenship became a subject of early and earnest thought and study. And the wise of our lands are no prouder as they go forth to cast their first ballot than are the earnest, loving, domestic women who have held them in training for twenty-one years. For he speaks for her, and of her influence even these. Many of the great men in history have been called "mother boys," and to the credit of the domestic woman be it said, seldom has a mother boy been a failure.

As a dear companion, guide and friend to her daughters the domestic woman stands pre-eminent, and to her wise thoughtfulness and care these girls will look back long after she has passed away and try to emulate her example in the culture of those who may be committed to their care.

"And you say," said his employer, "that you followed your master through the entire war?"

"He was a great soldier, was he?"

"Well, suh," replied the old man, "I couldn't tell much erbout dat. He wuz runnin' so fas' all de time, it wuz hard ter keep up wid him. All I does know is he wuz purty swift!"—Atlanta Constitution.

How Long Will This Piano Last?

The above question is asked by almost every piano purchaser before making a decision.

If you are discussing a Chickering Piano there is an emphatic answer.

No matter what YOUR age rest assured the piano will outlive you.

There is no one living who has ever purchased a Chickering piano AND WORN IT OUT.

Think of the number of children to-day practising upon Chickering pianos purchased by their grandparents.

There are thousands of Chickering pianos so purchased and so used.

Perhaps, they are not as good as they were 50 or 60 or 70 years ago, but the marvel is that they are in use at all.

The majority of pianos by other makers are worn out in a third the period.

These are simple Chickering facts.

ENGAGED!

SHE.

She lingers still in the driving mist,
Striving to keep his shadow in sight.
There's a tremulous smile on the lips he has kissed.
In her eyes shines a new sweet light,
And the sodden landscape fades away.
A shining path spreads before her feet.
Love's deathless domain she has entered today,
And, oh, to be living is sweet!

HE.

He, hurrying off to catch the train,
Hopes that his people will like the match.
What a lucky girl such a husband to gain,
For she wasn't much of a catch.
Well, the deed is done; the victim must pay.
How much did that dress cost she wore tonight?
She should make her own; there's a saving that way.
Once married, he'll set all such things right.
—E. D. Pierson in New York Sun.

LOST HIS BEARD.

"Rezonville! Gravelotte! Montretout! What a long time ago it all seems—half a lifetime, monsieur!" said my old friend Philipe Alibert, the ex-dragoon, as we stood before Brisset's picture in the salon of 1894. "Yes, that is Gravelotte—I was there. Is the picture like it? Oh, no doubt! The artist knows—I cannot tell. I had to fight, not look about.

"You want an anecdote of our troop, monsieur? Well, you shall have one. You may take it that we were picked men. There was but one youngster among us, and to us old mustaches his beardless face seemed strange. Ah, he was handsome, with the beauty du diable, fairly tall and very slim. He had a caustic tongue, and nothing pleased him better than to use it on us, his comrades, in such a manner that we feared him and left him to himself. How it was we could not tell, but Leon St. Paul carried everything before him. Did one of us offer attention to a pretty grisette merely pour passer le temps, Leon would cut him out and cover him in his retreat with confusion. This, in truth, was bad enough when the intent was merely to amuse oneself, but, more, it is hard to bear when a man was in earnest, as poor Cambert was with Mam'selle Marie Emmanuel, the vivandiere.

"A good creature, that Marie. We were devoted to her to a man, but she reserved her smiles for Leon, and, if I must say what I think, the inmost recesses of her heart for monsieur le docteur.

"Poor Marie! M. Vendome thought nothing of her.

"Cambert hated Leon and would often say while stroking his thick, black beard: 'This young cockerel crows too loud, messieurs. We must cut his comb for him.'

"'There are plenty of Prussian combs for cutting, Corporal Cambert,' our sergeant would reply. 'Let us carve them, my friend, before we practice on each other. Who knows?' he added thoughtfully on one occasion. 'The time may come when we shall none of us have the heart for crowing.'

"Ah, well, the campaign was in its infancy then, and France, like a bride who decks herself for her nuptials, had gone out to espouse the god of war, little dreaming what the children of her marriage bed would be. But to my story, monsieur. It was the eve of Gravelotte, and Cambert, moody as usual, came across Leon trifling with Marie, the vivandiere. He found her smiling into the youth's handsome, beardless face, and in a burst of sarcasm unusual with him—for monsieur will understand that he had no great command of language except for cursing—he said to her, 'Mam'selle Marie Emmanuel, if you would have us continue to be your slaves, at least give us a man for a rival.'

"Leon's face turned scarlet. 'Man or boy,' he answered, 'I will wager my silver rosary, blessed by the holy father himself, against that beard of yours, of which you think so much, that I ride before you into the fight when next we charge the Prussians.'

"'Agreed!' replied Cambert lightly. 'Have the goodness to accept my assurance mademoiselle, that I shall present you with a silver rosary in a little time.'

"'Marie shall have the rosary, but she shall also have your beard to stuff a pillow for her favorite poodle,' answered Leon, and then, looking daggers at each other, they parted.

"The morrow was the day of Gravelotte, and we heard that we were to charge the blue tunics and drive them out of the plantation of hop vines behind which they lay concealed.

"'Ah, this is work for men,' granted Cambert, as he looked to the left, on which side rode Leon, with myself next in line.

"'Look to your beard, Cambert,' answered Leon, laughing scornfully. 'You will never carry it into another fight.'

"The word was given, and off we went. Tell you about it? What shall I say? Only that the air was thick with a mist which smelled of sulphur and that a swarm of bees from hell itself seemed buzzing round our ears.

"Ping! We were not half way across the space which intervened between our starting point and those green rows of hop vines, each one masking a blue coated Prussian, when I got it! My right arm was stung by one of those bees and the bone shattered. I transferred my saber to my left hand and let my reins fall on the neck of my gray mare. On she went, her head down, her neck stretched out, her nose to the ground.

"'God of war!' I said to myself. 'Had it only been my left arm some Prussian should pay for this!' I was thinking of myself, of course, for it is not good or agreeable to charge Prussians with one arm useless, but I saw what passed near me—I saw very well, though the gray mist seemed turning red.

"Young Leon was the next. A bullet struck him below the breast just above the belt, a little to the side—a disagreeable spot that! Strike yourself with your fist, monsieur, so— just there, and you will know what I mean. I heard him groan 'O Jesu!' and saw him throw out both his hands into the air. Then I knew what had happened.

"In another instant he would fall backward over his horse's haunches and lie on the ground with a Prussian bullet in his internals and his comrades' horses trampling the beauty in his young face. On I went, the blood trickling down on to my saddle, my teeth gritting together and a pretty strong resolve in my soul to see some Prussian fluid very soon.

"'Holy Virgin!' Jean Joseph Cambert's voice reached me through the screaming and the hissing of the bullets. He was speaking grimly. 'Courage, comrade,' he said; 'you win your wager, for you ride before me toward the enemy's line.' And, monsieur, it was so! Leon St. Paul had been caught as he fell, and lay across the saddle of his rival, supported by his left arm.

"What followed then? You must picture it for yourself, for I cannot. Some of us never reached the hop vines, some never returned, but those who left us had Prussian comrades on their journey to the other world, be sure of that. Ah, ha, on that journey a good soldier of France is comforted by the presence of a detested Prussian, though in life no road is broad enough for them to travel amicably.

"When it was over we returned, and we three, Cambert, St. Paul and I, were still together.

"Cambert bore St. Paul to the place where M. Vendome and Marie Emmanuel were at work. They were both covered with blood and sweat. The surgeon groaned as we brought the youth in, for, as I have said, he loved St. Paul, but Marie uttered a cry which was hard on Cambert and made him look more grim than ever.

"I was in very great haste to part company with my right arm, but I stood aside to give young Leon his chance. A right arm is a good friend and sticketh closer than a brother. But even the best friend is sometimes de trop.

"The surgeon ripped the garments up with his scissors and tore them from the wound, disclosing the white flesh of the patient's body, but just then Leon roused and tried to drag himself on to his side, away from the healer's hand, muttering something that seemed to imply that, exclusive to the last, he would not be touched or handled in our presence.

"The surgeon drew back irresolute, which was indeed strange with moments so precious and gaping wounds waiting for him on every side.

"Then it was that the vivandiere spoke, turning to those who stood within the door of the hut, moved by such curiosity as men can feel who are used to scenes of blood.

"'Go, go, my friends,' she said; 'monsieur must find that bullet, and this is no place for you. You all have had mothers, women of France, sisters, some of you wives or sweethearts. Retire, I beg. If I come to the door of the hut and say, 'My friends, it is the death'—here her strong voice broke—'then pray—pray for the soul of a brave daughter of France.'

"We who had called the young soldier comrade and loved or hated him for his smiling, handsome face cast a strange look upon the silent figure under the doctor's hands. We saw with opened eyes, and every head was bare in an instant, for patriotism and the courage which God himself gives sometimes to his weakest commanded our respect as no other earthly attribute might.

"The doctor, with a gasping sob, turned to us as we drew toward the door of the hut. 'I loved the youth,' he said. 'I find that I have loved our sister. It is well that you should go—she wishes it—but courage, my brothers, the time has not yet come to say of our brave comrade in arms—may the soul of the faithful departed rest in peace.'

"Well, monsieur, my arm was taken off and I did well enough. They extracted that bullet from young Leon's body, and the doctor kept it. A bit of German lead, of course, but made precious by a countrywoman's blood. They moved us to the house of a wealthy patriot, and she lay in the temporary ward among the men, but separated by a screen. My bed was next to it.

"Cambert came to visit us, clean shaven, and not half so fierce and grim without his mustache. When he left, he was weeping like a child.

"One day I heard Marie Emmanuel talking to the patient behind the screen, and then I heard the voice of Leontine St. Paul.

"'How shall I face my comrades,' she said; 'how meet them, now I no longer dare to wear the dress in which they knew me?'

"And the vivandiere answered: 'Meet them, dear friend, as the wife of our brave surgeon. He loves you—I have said it. Surely such women as you were meant to be the mothers of our future heroes.'"

"And what became of Cambert?" I demanded.

"Oh, he married," said the old soldier. "He has sons and daughters. Perhaps he married Marie Emmanuel. I have seen his daughter. She is very like Marie."—Cora Langlois in New York Journal.

Must Have Been a Loose Screw.

For several minutes the young man did not speak. His heart was too full. It was enough for him to know that this glorious creature loved him; that she had promised to share his fate. With a new and delightful sense of ownership he feasted his eyes once more upon her beauty, and as he realized that henceforth it would be his privilege to provide for her welfare and happiness he could have almost wept with joy. His good fortune seemed incredible. Finally he whispered tenderly:

"How did it ever happen, darling, that such a bright, shining angel as yourself fell in love with a dull, stupid fellow like me?"

"Goodness knows," she murmured absently. "I must have a screw loose somewhere."—Pearson's Weekly.

SIGHTSEEING IN LONDON.

A Chicago Girl Notes That English Women Have Large Feet.

"Under these circumstances we took our first drive down Piccadilly, and Europe to me dates from that moment," writes Miss Lilian Bell in The Ladies' Home Journal. "The ship, the landing, the custom house, the train, the hotel—all these were mere preliminaries to Europe, which began then. People told me in America how my heart would swell at this and how I would thrill at that, but it was not so. My first real thrill came on me in Piccadilly. It went all over me in little shivers and came out at the ends of my fingers and then began once more at the base of my brain and did it all over again.

"I remember nothing definite about that first drive. I, for my part, saw with unseeing eyes. My sister had seen it all before, so she had the power of speech. Occasionally she prodded me and cried, 'Look, oh, look quickly!' But I never swerved. 'I can't look. If I do, I shall miss something. You attend to your own window and I'll attend to mine. Coming back I will see your side.'

"When we got beyond the shops, I said to the cabman:

"'Do you know exactly the way you have come?'

"'Yes, miss,' he said.

"'Then go back precisely the same way.'

"'Have you lost something, miss?' he inquired.

"'Yes,' I said, 'I have lost an impression, and I must look till I find it.'

"We did it all over again that afternoon, and that second time I was able in a measure to detach myself from the hum and buzz and the dizzying effect of foreign faces, and I began to locate impressions. My first distinct recollections are of the great numbers of high hats on the men, the ill hanging skirts and big feet of the women, the unsteadying effect of all those thousands of cabs, carriages and carts all going to the left, which kept me constantly wishing to shriek out, 'Go to the right or we'll be killed!' the absolutely perfect manner in which traffic was managed and the majestic authority of the London police."

CARE FOR EMPLOYEES.

The Plan Which a Large Manufacturer Found Successful.

The question, "What is to become of the old man?" is one that is frequently discussed. Generally it is meant to apply to men who have not been able to save sufficient money to support them in their declining years and whose economic efficiency has become impaired by the passing of years. To be dependent upon their children or relatives is a humiliation that would imbitter that part of their lives which should be free from care. The almshouse is a horror of degradation from which they shrink. In some countries the governments have endeavored to solve the problem by a system of labor pensions. This is done in Germany; but, despite its merits, it still savors of charity or paternalism.

A few individuals have sought for a solution in this country. In at least one community the employer of 1,000 men insures the lives of all his workmen up to $3,000, and after 25 years of continuous service an employee may retire and continue to draw full wages as long as he lives. To do this the employer says that it costs him not over 1 per cent of his wages account, which he regards as the cheapest possible insurance against strikes and against the disturbance caused by constantly changing his working force. He puts by every year that small percentage of his profits to the account of wear and tear upon labor, just as he does a larger percentage to the account of wear and tear upon machinery. He is an earnest advocate of a national labor pension and insurance system—not by the government, but by an association of employers.—New York Mail and Express.

A Story of Abernethy.

This is the story of Dr. Abernethy which Tennyson used to tell. A farmer went to the great doctor complaining of discomfort in the head, weight and pain. The doctor said, "What quantity of ale do you take?" "Oh, I taakes my yaale pretty well." Abernethy (with great patience and gentleness), "Now then, to begin the day — breakfast, what time?" "Oh, at haafe past 7." "Ale then; how much?" "I taakes my quart." "Luncheon?" "At 11 o'clock, I gets another smack." "Ale then?" "Oh, yes, my pint and a haafe." "Dinner?" "Haafe past 1." "Any ale then?" "Yees, yees, another quart then." "Tea?" "My tea is at haafe past 5." "Ale then?" "Noa, noa." "Supper?" "Noine o'clock." "Ale then?" "Yees, yees I taakes my fill then. I goes saleep arterward." Like a lion aroused, Abernethy was up, opened the street door, shoved the farmer out and shouted out, "Go home, sir, and let me never see your face again. Go home, drink your ale and be damned." The farmer rushed out aghast, Abernethy pursuing him down the street with shouts of "Go home, sir, and be damned."—St. James Gazette.

then; had as much excuse now as then. Their abandonment was proof that either no ground had existed for these cries or that they were raised for the purpose of gaining power at any cost and snatching a verdict at the expense of the harmony of the community.

At any rate these cries were silent now and there was an evident desire on the part of the Opposition not to disturb their repose. Still there was some difficulty in deciding what the policy of the Opposition was. During the past summer the leader of the Opposition and his lieutenants had made a tour of the Province to enlighten the electors, and it was presumed that in his public addresses Mr. Whitney had laid down the policy with which he would go to the country at the general elections. But that supposition was a mistake. When the House met Mr. Whitney had practically repudiated every important statement he had made on the stump. He had not said what he had said, and he would not be bound by it. It was therefore a little difficult to arrive at but anyway they were "again the Government" which they attacked and denounced in general terms without seriously successful attempts at furnishing anything like proofs of their charges.

He did not intend taking up their time on this occasion with any lengthened reference to the public questions that were now before the people, as there would be other and more convenient opportunities of discussing them later on. But it seemed to him that a government that had had control of the revenue and expenditure of the Province from 1873 to 1896 and had expended in that time about eighty millions of dollars, that had accumulated a surplus of $4,760,982; that had each year of those twenty-five years, with the exception of seven or eight, kept their expenditure within their income—a government which did all this, he repeated, had a claim to be considered a good government, especially in view of the results of government in other provinces, and in the Dominion under both Liberal and Conservative rule; and a government that had such a record had a claim upon the support of the people of the Province. It was charged against the Government that some of the items of expenditure are larger now than they were twenty-five years ago, and to those who take an interest in financial questions it would be instructive to make a comparison of certain items of expenditure in 1871 with the same items in 1896; and the items he would select for consideration were those which represented direct payment of money to the people for their benefit, and to the lessening of local taxation. For instance, the grants made to education in 1871, were $351,326, and in 1896 this had increased to $762,457, an increase of $351,151. The grant to agriculture and arts in 1871 was $76,381, and in 1896 it was $192,042, an increase of $115,661. The grant made to hospitals and charities was $40,290, and in 1896, $194,615, an increase of $154,325. The amount granted to public asylums, etc., in 1871 was $171,423, and the amount granted in 1896 of $796,567, an increase of $625,144. The grant for the administration of justice (which include only the amounts handed over directly to county treasurers) in 1871 was $104,049, increased in 96 by $79,267. The grant made to colonization roads in 1871 was $35,049, and in 1896 it had grown to $102,719, an increase of $47,310. Altogether the total amount paid directly to the people for the several services just mentioned in 1871 was $798,828 in 1896, the amount was $2,165,716, or a grand total increase of $1,366,880. This seems to be a large amount, but it must be remembered that the increase consists in the expenditure of public money for the direct benefit of the people and that it represents a saving of a similar amount in local taxation, for if these service were not provided for by the Government the people would have to put their hands in their pockets to pay for these services or go without them. The speaker went on to show what the total payments for the several services would have been if the same scale of payment as that adopted in 1871, were continued for twenty-five years. Under that scale the total payments would have been for education, $8,782,650; for agriculture and arts, $1,909,525; for hospitals and charities, $1,006,500; for asylums, etc., $4,285,575; for administration of justice, $2,061,225; for colonization roads, $1,385,225, or a total in twenty-five years, according to the scale of payment in 1871 of $19,970,700. But the Government did not think it wise that such important services should be crippled for want of sufficient funds, and the grants had been increased as circumstances required, and with the consequence that the actual payments for the services under consideration had amounted in 25 years to the following sums:—Education, $14,115,370, an increase of $5,332,720; agriculture and arts, $3,285,650, an increase of $1,376,125; hospitals and charities, $2,376,304, an increase of $1,509,804; asylums, etc., $14,623,944, an increase of $10 338,369; administration of justice, $3,533,441, an increase of $932,216; colonization roads, $3,774,718, an increase of $1,389,493. The total actual grants therefore for 25 years had been $40,909 427, an increase of $20,938,727. It will thus be seen that the present Government for the various services mentioned, no less a sum of money than $20,938 727 more than they would have received had the same scale of expenditure been maintained and on the same scale as in 1871. There is therefore nothing to complain of in the increased expenditure. It was necessary to maintain the efficiency of the public service and it was for the benefit of the people—the people were the direct gainers. It is to be pointed out that the objections of the Opposition crop out only or chiefly at election times. As an instance taken for evidence, the ten years ending 1896. During that time the total amount of the supply bills submitted to the House was $43,7?9,111. It would be supposed that if the Government had been as recklessly extravagant as the Opposition on the stump try to delude the people into believing, that they would have made a better fight against the expenditure proposed in the House and would have tried to have it reduced. They would have objected to it. But what were the facts? Out of a total of nearly forty-four millions proposed and voted for expenditure in the Legislature the Opposition in the past ten years objected to the comparative trifle of $311,000, or only three-quarters of a mill to the dollar. This shows that if the Government has been extravagant the Opposition has not tried to prevent it. And that they have not tried to prevent proves it one of two things, that the expenditure proposed by the Government was proper and in the public interest on that the Opposition were false to their trust and if they cannot watch what they call an extravagant government they are not fit themselves to be entrusted with the government of the country. The fact was that, in the first place the Ontario Government was for out of a total expenditure of about eighty millions made in twenty-five years there is no proof, indeed there is no charge, that one single dollar was dishonestly expended. And it was an economical Government, for while it aimed to support ever public service liberally, it also aimed at and succeeded in doing that work for the least possible expenditure of money. Of course a Government may in the course of a quarter of a century have made some mistakes in administration or policy. They would not be human if it had been otherwise, but in the main they had succeeded in giving this province clean, capable, honest and effective Government, and on their past record they were abundantly worthy of a renewal of the confidence they would seek at the approaching general elections. (Loud cheers.)

HAS RETURNED TO THE PEOPLE

After referring briefly to one or two other public questions, the speaker said that he would have other opportunities for addressing them, and he would give place to others; and after again thanking the convention for the honour of their unanimous nomination, and declaring his complete confidence in the result of the contest, Mr. Stratton resumed his seat amidst enthusiastic applause, similar to that which had frequently interrupted him during his address.

Hon. Senator Cox and Hon. Mr. Dryden addressed the immense gathering which, in spite of the bad roads, packed the opera house from stage to entrance, but a report of their remarks is held over.

A SHELL BURST

And he Thought the Buzzing in his Head was Caused by it—Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder Undeceives him and Cures a Case of Chronic Catarrh of Thirty Years' Standing.

"I have had chronic catarrh ever since the war. The disease effected my hearing greatly. There was a disagreeable ringing in my ears which I had attributed to the fact of a shell bursting near me while in an engagement. I used three bottles of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder and my catarrh has entirely left me. The noises in my head have also ceased. It is a great medicine—so easy and pleasant to apply. I have no hesitation in recommending it as a quick and certain cure for catarrh in its most acute form."—J. C. Taylor, 210 N. Clinton ave., Trenton, N. J. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

ALARMING!

The frequency of Heart Troubles gives Collingwood people no need for alarm. Its ravages can be stopped.

"For a number of years," says Mrs. J. W. Gardiner, Napier St., Collingwood, Ont., "I have been afflicted with nervousness and weakness of the heart. The symptoms constantly became more distressing and alarming as the disease advanced. I had violent palpitation and fluttering of the heart which naturally made me weak. My sleep was disturbed with frightful dreams and my mind wandered at night. In addition to this my blood was much impoverished, causing sleeplessness and fatigue. I became thin and lacked bodily vigor. Dizziness and weak eyesight, blurred vision, etc., added to my distress, and at times I found it difficult to breathe after slight exertion and felt always tired and weary.

"At Mr. Carpenter's drug store I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills in March last, and from that time began to get better and gain in strength and weight. By their remarkable tonic action they brought my entire system to health and strength again, gave me restful, refreshing sleep, enriched my blood and restored vitality, and in every way conferred great benefit upon me. I cannot say too much in favor of this great medicine as a tonic for all forms of physical weakness caused by wrong action of the heart or nerves."

BARRETT'S BLOOD IS UP.

A Policeman in Troy, N. Y., Chased Him With a Gun and Arrested Him—Now He Asks Compensation.

New York, Dec. 10.—A despatch from Troy, N.Y., to a morning paper, says;

The English Government, through its ambassador, has made a claim at the State Department at Washington, on behalf of Patrick Barrett of Montreal, for compensation for his illegal arrest in this city some weeks ago.

On Nov. 18, Barrett arrived in the Union Railway station here, from his home in Montreal, at about 3 o'clock in the morning and started down Broadway on his way to Watervliet to visit his father, who was seriously ill and to whose bedside he had been suddenly called.

Barrett was in a hurry and was going at a pretty fast gait when he was hailed by a policeman. He thought some one was trying to hold him up and started to run. The policeman fired several shots at him, and finally caught him. Barrett told the policeman that he was going over the river to visit his father, who was ill, but the policeman was not convinced until he had accompanied Barrett to the house in Watervliet and heard his story corroborated by members of the family.

Barrett is a British subject and was very indignant over his arrest. When he returned to his home, he notified the Crown officials with the above result.

That great benefactor, Dodd's Kidney Pills, conquered the disease and made a new man of the victim. Mr. Brown cannot say enough in praise of the remedy which has done so much for him. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the great favourite in this district, where many remarkable cures have been made by them. They have not failed in a single case.

SCHOOLS OF ONTARIO.

Principal Macvicar Speaks of the System Discussed and Its Adoption Suggested.

Montreal, Dec. 10.—At the meeting of the Protestant Board of School Commissioners yesterday the chairman, Rev. Principal Macvicar, paid a high tribute to the system of free education in Ontario. The question of aiding people who are too poor to pay for the education of their children is one which often comes before the commissioners, and is difficult to deal with. The members of the Board yesterday agreed that some such system as that in Ontario ought to be adopted. The annual report of the Board, which was adopted at the meeting, showed that the cost of the High School education was nearly $60 per pupil, while in the common schools it is a little over $20. The cost to parents is from $40 to $60 for each child in the High School, and an average of about $10 in the Public Schools.

AN ARMY INCREASE,

Lord Lansdowne Discusses the Question Last Night.

GERMANY TO LEAVE KIAO CHOU

Premier Sagasta's Opinion of President McKinley's Message - Spain Will Fight if the United States Interferes in Cuban Affairs—The Clyde and the Avoca Both Safe.

London, Dec. 10.—The Marquis of Lansdowne, Secretary of State for War, speaking last night at Edinburgh, outlined the military policy of the Government.

Lord Lansdowne, after remarking that the country had been confronted during the last few months with difficulties in every part of the globe, not of her own seeking, especially mentioning the Behring Sea and Venezuelan controversies, said that three army corps were required, adding that two must be available for offensive purposes abroad.

He asserted that he was still of opinion that only a moderate service with the colors was expedient, but he hoped to be able to increase the establishment of each home battalion, thus securing a larger margin of seasoned soldiers by contracting with small numbers of reservists, who, for extra pay, would agree, if necessary, to rejoin the colors during the first year of reserve.

In summing up the policy of the Government, Lord Lansdowne said: "Our intention is to maintain what is good of the present system, and to supplement it where deficient."

MOHAMMEDANS

Are Sinking Mutual Animosities to Rally Round the Sultan.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 10.—Throughout Russian Asia there is general unrest among the Moslems. It is attributed to the exaggerated reports of the Turkish victory over the great Greek Empire, which have spread through the length and breadth of the continent.

The authorities even fear that the revival of brigandage recently noticed in the Caucasus is decided almost solely against the Government officials and the unprecedented phenomon of Georgians displaying hostility toward Armenians has become manifest. The danger is so serious that a conference of Caucasian Governors has been convoked to concoct measures of pacification. Travellers in Central Asia report an extraordinary fervor among the Moslems of different races. The are sinking their mutual animosities and declaring that they are first of all Mohammedans, with the Sultan as their common chief.

SAGASTA SPEAKS FOR SPAIN.

If the United States Intervenes in Cuba There Will Be Trouble.

Madrid, Dec. 10.—At a Cabinet Council yesterday, at which the Queen-Regent presided, the Premier, Senor Sagasta, outlined the opinions of the European press regarding President McKinley's message to Congress, the majority of which, the Premier said, were favorable to Spain. He further declared that, in the event of the United States wishing to intervene in Cuba, it would find the Government prepared to defend the rights and honor of Spain.

Referring to the military operations in Cuba, the Premier informed the Cabinet that the results obtained were satisfactory.

Both Vessels Are Safe.

Valetta, Island of Malta, Dec. 10.—The Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company's steamer Clyde, concerning whose safety there were fears, has arrived here safely from Marseilles.

Cape Town, Dec. 10.—The British troopship Avoca, from Jamaica for this port, has arrived here safely. Reports of the Avoca being lost were not credited in London.

Peary and His Meteorite.

London, Dec. 10.—Lieut. Peary, the Arctic explorer, paid a visit yesterday afternoon to the British Museum, where he was met by the director, Sir William Fowler, and Curator Fletcher of the Mineralogical Department. Mr. Fletcher examined a specimen of the Cape York meteorites discovered and brought to New York by Peary, and unhesitatingly declared that it was certainly of meteoric origin. He added that no specimen in the British Museum had meteoric characters more sharply or more clearly shown than those of the Cape York meteorite. This is the opinion of one of the foremost authorities of the world, and it has so thoroughly convinced Dr. J. Scott Keltie, Secretary of the Royal Geographical Society, that it is considered by him to have settled the controversy as to the genuineness of the Cape York meteorites.

KIAO CHOU CHANGES.

And Britain and France May Have Something to Say About It.

London, Dec. 10.—A despatch to The Times from Pekin says that yesterday (Thursday) the Tsung-Li-Yamen telegraphed the Viceroy of the Province of Chi-Li north of the Province of Shan Tung, that China, having complied with her demands, Germany undertakes to evacuate Kiao Chou at a date to be fixed hereafter and will receive instead as a coaling station the Sam-Sah Inlet in the Province of Fo-Kien, over against the Island of Formosa.

The Times commenting editorially upon the exchange of Kiao Chou for Sam-Sah, says: "Germany, spontaneously or otherwise, has shown deference to the wishes of Russia; and France and England may have something to say to the creation of a great German naval station at Sam-Sah."

HEART HOPE.

Raised in an Instant After the Use of Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart—A Potent Liquid Remedy—And no Case too Acute for Immediate Relief and Certain Cure.

"For fifteen years I was a great sufferer from heart disease. All this while I was in the hands of one of our best physicians from whom the only encouragement I could obtain was that I was liable to drop off at any moment. I had many times read of cures made by Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. Was induced to try a bottle of this cure, and to my surprise the very first dose gave me immediate relief. I felt encouraged and persisted. Before the first bottle was taken the dropsy, which had sorely troubled me, had disappeared, and when I had completed my second bottle, I felt as well as I ever felt." Mrs. John A. James, Wiarton. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

GUELPH, NOV. 23RD, 1897.

DEAR SIRS,—

For years I was troubled with periodical sick headaches, being affected usually every Sunday, and used all the remedies that were advertised as cures and was treated by almost every doctor in Guelph but without any relief. One doctor told me it was caused by a weak stomach, another said it was hereditary and incurable. I was induced by a neighbour to try SLOAN'S INDIAN TONIC, and am happy to say I did so. A few doses gave immediate relief and one bottle and a half made a complete cure. This was three years ago and the headaches have never returned. I was also troubled with asthma, and nothing helped me like Sloan's Indian Tonic. I can heartily recommend it to all, and will be glad to give any particulars to any one afflicted as I was.

BRING THE BEST RESULTS

"Save the women and children first!" is the instinctive cry of every brave man in a moment of peril, but in the every day concerns of life men who are ordinarily brave and kind forget the perils of trouble and disease that overhang their families. A man engrossed with his own affairs seldom realizes how hard his wife is working and that perhaps she is breaking down under the strain, and becoming weak and sickly; incapable of doing the family work or of looking after the children.

It is just as much a man's duty to look after the health of his family from day to day as it would be to give them the first thought in a moment of shipwreck or peril.

It does not cost anything more than a few minutes of time to write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute of Buffalo, N. Y., who will give the best professional advice free of charge with suggestions for inexpensive home-treatment whereby any of the family who are weak and ill may be put on their feet again well and strong and hearty.

For thirty years Dr. Pierce has successfully treated many of the most obstinate and apparently hopeless cases of severe chronic disease. His medicines are known throughout the whole world for their astonishing efficacy. His "Golden Medical Discovery" is the most perfect remedy for all weak and debilitated conditions of the system. It gives power to the digestive organism to transmute the food into muscular flesh and active energy. His "Favorite Prescription" is the most successful medicine ever devised for the delicate ailments peculiar to women.

His "Pleasant Pellets" are the best mild and natural laxative for constipation.

A FAMOUS PHOTOGRAPHER.

Mrs. Cameron, Who Was a Friend of Herschel and Tennyson.

In The Century V. C. Scott O'Connor has an article on "Mrs. Cameron, Her Friends and Her Photographs." Mr. O'Connor says:

A feature of her personality which lay at the root of her great success as a photographer was her love of all that was beautiful. "She was always took by a face," as an old woman in Freshwater who remembers her put it to me. Charles Turner said the same thing in poet's language when he told her, in the sonnet he addressed to her on leaving the isle of Wight after a visit, that she "loved all loveliness." In obedience to this impulse she invariably stopped and spoke to any one, however unknown, whether in a great London thoroughfare or a village lane, whose beauty attracted her. "I am Mrs. Cameron," she would say. "Perhaps you have heard of me. You would oblige me very much if you would let me photograph you. Will you let me do so?" And by such bold and unconventional means she prevailed on many, absolute strangers though they were, to sit to her.

One of her models captured in this way was a young lady come as a summer visitor to Freshwater. Mrs. Cameron, engrossed at that time in some remarkably fine studies illustrative of the "Idylls of the King," was at a loss for a model for Queen Guinevere. But the advent of the fair stranger settled all her doubts. Here was a beauty suited to her purpose, and within the hour she had carried her off to lunch and subsequent photography.

The lady proved a most kind and indefatigable model. The village postman had already been secured for King Arthur, and Mrs. Cameron's picture of him in this character is one of the best things in the collection. A friend, going one day to Dimbola, found the young lady looking rather fatigued.

"Oh," she said, with an expressive gesture, "I am so tired."

Supposing her fatigue was the result of a long walk on a midsummer day, my friend made some suitable reference to the matter, but the young lady answered with a smile:

"Oh, no. I have not been for a walk. I have been lying on the floor for the last two hours, clutching the postman's ankle."

Mrs. Cameron, ever kind and unselfish, possessed the faculty of bringing out such qualities in others. In 1879 she died, a few months after her last return to Ceylon.

"As the day died," her sons wrote to Lord Tennyson, "as the day died on Sunday, January the 26th, the sweet, tender, gracious spirit of our beloved mother passed away in peace." No death could have been more calm, more beautiful, than hers

Lincoln's "Selfishness."

Mr. Lincoln once remarked to a fellow passenger on the old time mud wagon coach on the corduroy road which antedated railroads that all men were prompted by selfishness in doing good or evil. His fellow passenger was antagonizing his position, when they were passing over a corduroy bridge that spanned a slough. As they crossed this bridge and the mud wagon was shaking like a Sucker with chills, they espied an old razorbacked sow on the bank of the slough, making a terrible noise because her pigs had got into the slough and were unable to get out and in danger of drowning. As the old coach began to climb the hillside Mr. Lincoln called out, "Driver, can't you stop just a moment?" The driver replied, "If the other feller don't object." The "other feller"—who was no less a personage than at that time Colonel E. D. Baker, the gallant general who gave his life in defense of Old Glory at Ball's Bluff—did not "object," when Mr. Lincoln jumped out, ran back to the slough and began to lift the little pigs out of the mud and water and place them on the bank. When he returned, Colonel Baker remarked, "Now, Abe, where does selfishness come in on this little episode?" "Why, bless you soul, Ed, that was the very essence of selfishness. I would have had no peace of mind all day had I gone on and left that suffering old sow worrying over those pigs. I did it to get peace of mind, don't you see?"—Springfield (Ills.) Monitor.

Those Who Endure

the pains of rheumatism should be reminded that a cure for this disease may be found in Hood's Sarsaparilla. The experience of those who have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for rheumatism, and have been completely and permanently cured, prove the power of this medicine to rout and conquer this disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the One True Blood Purifier, and it neutralizes the acid which causes the aches and pains of rheumatism. This is why it absolutely cures when other liniments and other outward applications fail to give permanent relief. Be sure to get Hood's.

Spain and a Conquered Race.

The idea of conquered races enjoying the most minute liberty of action by natural birthright was regarded in Spain as absurd. Little by little pressure was brought to bear on the king and his counselors, producing a gradual relaxation of the fetters which bound the new subjects to their forced allegiance. Trade, created by the Spaniards, which finally extended to half castes, was confined exclusively to commerce with Spain. Both in the far east and the far west the exact size and number of packages shipped, the number of voyages per annum to and fro of the Naos (government trading galleons), contents of bales, etc., were all regulated, and no one could ship without a boleto or public permit, which could only be obtained from the unscrupulous officials who had come to fill their pockets by the most corrupt means. Permission had to be solicited again and again to perform almost any act beyond the common necessities of life. One could neither travel, quit or enter the country, read, write, assemble in a group, build a house nor plant a field without license.

In the Philippine islands the natives were forced to think like their masters, to dress as they were told and to adopt the religion of their conquerors under the severest penalties of torture and frequently of death. In Mexico official appointments to the Manilla dependency were publicly sold. Until the American colonies were lost to Spain hardly one Spaniard in a generation carried capital to these new possessions to develop their natural resources. Foreigners were jealously treated as intruders, and the European influx sprang generally from the lowest social orders, who acted like wolves let loose among a fold of sheep.—Westminster Review.

Paying the Cook.

In old times to dine with a nobleman cost more in tips to the servants than a club dinner. James Payn relates that Lord Poor, a well named Irish peer, excused himself from dining with the Duke of Ormond upon the ground that he could not afford it. "If you will give me the guinea I have to pay your cook (fancy!), I will come as often as you choose to ask me," which was accordingly done. The duke, however, had not the pluck to stop the practice. Lord Taafe, a general officer in the Austrian service, did what he could. He always attended his guests to the door. When they put their hands into their pockets, he said: "No. If you do give it, give it to me, for it was I who paid for your dinner." To Sir Timothy Waldo must be given the credit of putting an end to the monstrous practice. After dinner with the Duke of Newcastle he put a crown into the cook's hand. It was rejected. "I do not take silver, sir." "Very good, and I do not give gold." This courageous rejoinder "caught on," and the day of vails to cooks was over.

DAREDEVIL HEROISM.

Brave Rescue of General Payne by Some Negro Volunteers.

"The most daredevil piece of heroism I ever saw was by some negroes before Fort Pillow, when I was a prisoner inside the fort and General Payne was lying in front of it with his leg shot off," was the way Charles Cotton of Company C of the One Hundred and Sixty-first New York infantry began a story of valiant rescue that he told to some negro veterans.

"General Payne's leg had been shot off in the first charge," he continued, "and he was lying hidden behind some rocks in front of the fort, when his troops were forming plans to rescue him. The scathing fire from the fort swept that spot, and no officer dared to command any of his men to go to certain death in what looked like a vain attempt to rescue their chief.

"While the men were deliberating a negro stepped up and said, 'We might as well run our chances now as any other time, and I for one will make the attempt.' He was a handsome fellow, and the spirit he displayed was at once equaled by that of 11 other negroes, who stepped out and volunteered their services. A stretcher was brought, and four of them started, but had gone only a few yards when every one was shot dead. A moment after four others of the volunteers rushed out, and, picking up the stretcher, carried it a few yards farther, when they, too, were killed. The four who were left went ahead as if nothing had happened, and two of them came back alive with the general, while the other two were left dead at the pile of rocks where General Payne had been lying. General Payne is still living, and, I am told, the two noble fellows who rescued him have wanted for nothing ever since."—Buffalo Express.

America's Literary Necessity.

America needs to start a new intellectual cycle, and it is superfluous to say that the way to start is not to rest in the boasted excellence of some light form of literature, for example, the American short story. It will take larger effort than this, and effort along lines ill beset, to bring out the American rival of Homer and Dante and Virgil and Goethe and Shakespeare. There is a deal of meaning in the remark attributed to Horace Greeley that what the United States needed was a sound thrashing, but that unfortunately no other nation on earth was big enough to give it to them. The old world is well worn. It is gradually approaching, from sheer weariness, a social if not a political federalism, in which America must be teacher, not pupil.

But the only lesson which America is now teaching the world in the ideal realm is precisely the lesson which Von Hartmann has already put in words—namely, that the literature of the future is to be as the farce which the Berlin business man goes to see of an evening by way of recreation. It is doing its best to prove that after Goethe the role of transcendent genius is no longer to be played. By way of bringing about a new movement in letters it would be an excellent thing if some profoundly one sided thinker should arise to shake to pieces the eminently respectable but fatally monotonous philosophy of the American schools.—J. S. Tunison in Atlantic.

A Definition.

A woman was being examined at the Old Bailey as a witness, when, to a question put by the barrister, Mr. C——, she replied, "Don't think to humbug me."

"Answer the question directly, woman, or I'll commit you," interrupted the recorder.

"Aye," said Mr. C——, "and tell us what you mean by humbug."

"Why," replied the woman, "if I was to tell you, Mr. C——, that the recorder was a gentleman that would be humbugging you and the court too."—English Exchange.

D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realizing that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

A Personal Item.

Mrs. Wm. Hambly, Belleville, Ont., says: "My husband was troubled with kidney complaint, rheumatism, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, etc., and could not get relief until I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills for him. He has now used four boxes in all and is perfectly cured."

Doan's Kidney Pills are the ones that cure. Remember the name, DOAN'S.

High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

Free Trial To Any Honest Man

The Foremost Medical Company in the World in the Cure of Weak Men Makes this Offer.

HEALTH AND ENERGY ASSURED. HAPPY MARRIAGE, GOOD TEMPER, LONG LIFE.

In all the world to-day—in all the history of the world—no doctor nor institution has treated and restored so many men as has the famed ERIE MEDICAL CO. of Buffalo, N. Y.

This is due to the fact that the company controls some inventions and discoveries which have no equal in the whole realm of medical science.

So much deception has been practiced in advertising that this grand old company now for the first time makes this startling offer:—

They will send their costly and magically effective appliance and a whole month's course of restorative remedies, positively on trial without expense to any honest and reliable man!

Not a dollar need be advanced—not a penny paid—till results are known to and acknowledged by the patient.

The Erie Medical Company's appliance and remedies have been talked about and written about all over the world, till every man has heard of them.

They restore or create strength, vigor, healthy tissue and new life.

They quickly stop drains on the system that sap the energy.

They cure nervousness, despondency and all the effects of evil habits, excesses, overwork, etc.

They give full strength, development and tone to every portion and organ of the body

Failure is impossible and age is no barrier.

This "Trial without Expense" offer is limited by the company to a short time, and application must be made at once.

No C. O. D. scheme, no bogus philanthropy nor deception, no exposure—a clean business proposition by a company of high financial and professional standing.

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, BUFFALO, N. Y., and refer to seeing the account of their offer in this paper.

Peterborough-MANUFACTURING FURRIERS-Toronto

A MINER RETURNED FROM THE KLONDYKE.

MR. WILLIAM DONNELLY'S EXPERIENCE THERE YEARS AGO.

He Was the First White Man to Run the White Horse Rapids and Great Canyon of the Yukon.

In the course another month one of Peterborough's ol izens will be on route for the Klondyke region in the person of Wm. Donnelly, but it will not be his first trip to the famous Yukon gold fields, as shortly after leaving Peterborough some twenty-two years ago, he and a pard struck up into the great nothern country on a prospecting trip.

They went overland by rail to San Francisco, and from there by steamer along the coast to Victoria, transhipping by another line to Sitka, and from there by canoe to the Chilliecot Pass. Here the party, which was composed of sixteen men all told, went down the Mackenzie and over the great divide, having banded together for protection against the Indians.

FINDING THE NATIVES FRIENDLY,

however, the party broke up into twos and threes, and scattered over the country—some going one way and some another. These were the first white men to brave the awful dangers of the pass and the ascension of the summit, of which so much has since been told.

The names of Dawson and Juneau and each men, after whom the camps in the region were called, are all familiar to Mr. Donnelly, who met each and every one of them during the four years that he spent between the Klondyke country and Alaska.

Gold was plentiful enough, but the difficulties, which were experienced in getting provisions was such that there seemed no possibility of the place ever being opened up.

Many of the places having such names as Cariboo and Sheep Camp were christened by Mr. Donnelly himself. The camp on the Yukon known as Cariboo was named from the fact that a cariboo was caught sight of crossing the river at that point, and Sheep Camp was so designated because the last sheep which the party had with them was killed at the last camp in the timber.

Although no one had ventured across the summit previous to the party mentioned, yet three years later there were fully 1,200 miners in the region.

Mr. Donnelly was the first man to run the White Horse Rapids in a canoe and though they are dangerous to the novice, he states that they cannot be compared to the "Canyon" in the Yukon river, where the river banks are of rock ranging in height from and when the two miners shot down into its dark recesses they knew not into what dangers they might be running and Mr. Donnelly states that when he felt the frail boat strike the first rock in the awful torrent he would have given all Alaska to be back in Peterborough again, but through they went and came out safely although the boat collapsed entirely shortly afterwards by reason of the terrific strain to which it had been subjected as it shot through the narrow gorge.

The old miner thought that there was some little exaggeration in the following verse:

The thrifty Klondyke housewife,
Her loving lord inquires,
Please wipe the gold dust off your feet
Before you come in doors.

But he stated that he had himself shining in the banks of the rivers or where it had been washed by the high water in the freshets.

SEEN THE FREE GOLD

As is usually the case in mining countries the pioneers in the Klondyke region brought out little gold with them, as they were taxed to the utmost to obtain sufficient provisions to carry with them in the long and perilous return journey, paying a dollar and a half a pound for flour.

There has been no exaggeration concerning the cold, the narrator stating that in the winter it ranged from 60 to 80 below zero all the time. There is no wind in the Klondyke country, else every living thing would perish. He has himself taken a saucer of quicksilver out of the cabin and brought it back in his hands frozen into a paste. The thermometer was then 32 degrees below zero. When it was seventy degrees below he has seen two gallons of water thrown into the air out of a dish fall to the ground a solidly frozen mass. These are stories which might easily be taken with a grain of salt had they come from any but one who has been in the country and is here to vouch for the the truthfulness of his statements and tell many more things even more incredible.

is a bad thing to take in the Yukon region in the winter, as a couple of drinks will stupefy the most hardened drinker and unless help is at hand he will quickly doze off, and dropping in the snow never waken.

It is just three years since Mr. Donnally was out on the Klondyke, or Reindeer River, which is its name as translated into English from the Indian tongue, and in going back next month he expects to find many changes, but with his great experiences aided by the travelling facilities now enjoyed he certainly should strike it rich. He will be accompanied by Mr. H. Clifford Shaw, of Rochester, who has been in Peterborough for the last few days completing all preliminaries for the trip.

A recent despatch from Victoria says:

Col Domville, M. P., who went north in the in the interests of the Klondyke-Yukon steamer company of London, says his company will build a waggon road through the White Pass, erecting a steel bridge over the canyon. The road will be ready by February. The company will also build steamers to run from Lake Bennett to White Horse rapids, around which they will have a tramway. From the end of the tramway they will have a steamer to run direct to Dawson City. These steamers, Col. Domvill, says, will be ready when the season opens. The waggon road through the White Pass is to be followed immediately by a railway.

Henry Brathnober, representing the Rothschilds, and Shirley Onderdonk, a son of the well-known railway contractor, leave for the north by steamer Topeka to-morrow.

COULDNT WRITE HIS NAME,

Nerves Shattered—Business Gone—Hope Gone—A Physical Wreck—Restored Completely by South American Nervine.

"Two years ago I was completely prostrated with nervous debility. I was so completely wrecked that I had to quit business. I tried best physicians, and numerous treatments and proprietary remedies with no relief. Reading testimonials of wonderful cures effected by South American Nervine I decided to give it a trial. Before I had taken half a bottle I received great benefit. I have taken several bottles and feel justified in stating that it is a wonderful medicine. Before taking it my nerves were so badly shattered I could not sign my name legibly. I feel that too much cannot be said in praise of it." E. Errett, Merrickville, Ont. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

.... AT ....

ROBT. FAIR'S.

During our Quick Reduction Sale before Christmas perhaps there's no department in our store where the Reduction will be more sweeping than in MANTLES AND JACKETS.

Last winter when we were closing out our matchless stock of Coats, &c., we did not hesitate to mark $12 and $15 garments at $5 and $6, in order to keep none over for another year. We propose this season to hew just as close to the line—let the loss be what it may. It sometimes pays to lose. A loss now accepted will enable us to clear out our whole stock in this department in a short time. Here are some of these Mantle Sacrifices:—

FOR $3.00 A lot of Ladies' Fancy Tweed Coats, very special, formerly sold at $7.50.

FOR $5.00 A lot of Ladies' German Tweed Coats, perfect fitting garments, formerly sold at $8.50.

FOR $6.25 A lot of Tailor-made German Coats, well finished, formerly sold at $10.

FOR $8.50 Ladies' Stylish Rough Frieze Cloth Coats, formerly sold at $12.50.

FOR $4.00 Ladies' Black Frieze Cloth Coats, formerly sold for $6.00

FOR $8.50 Ladies' Black Golf Capes, Lined with black and white checks, formerly sold for $12.50.

FOR $7.50 Ladies Coloured Golf Capes, formerly sold at $9.50.

The balance of our Misses and Children's Jackets are also all reduced on a par with the above changed figures ranging at $4, $4.50, $4.75 and $5, or about $2 to $2.50 off former selling prices.

This is the way we have of keeping our Stock fresh. There is no reason why the Handsome and Useful should not combine in Holiday presents.

THE LEGISLATURE

A Resume of Last Week's Lively Proceedings.

OPPOSITION'S TEAPOT TEMPEST

The Premier's Effective Handling of the Timber Policy of Mr. Whitney—Childish and Silly Tactics—The Patron View—St. John's Piggery—Ontario's Finances—A Surplus.

Toronto, Dec. 13.—The proceedings in the Local Legislature last week were most lively and interesting both for Government supporters and followers of Mr. Whitney, leader of the Opposition. The debate on the address was spirited and lively. The Opposition seemed to be straining every effort to coin some new and effective argument which would assist them on the stump during the campaign that will follow the session. When the debate opened Mr. Whitney seemed in good spirits and promised the Government he intended making things warm for them before the close. He and his followers left no stone unturned to place matters in their worst light, but after all said and done, the whole business amounted simply to a tempest in a teapot and gave the Government no anxiety from the beginning.

The Timber Policy.

Mr. Whitney was vigorous in his attack upon the Government's course with regard to its timber policy. He termed the Ministers the slaves of the American lumbermen and called upon them at once to prohibit the exportation of logs. His followers cheered his speech and seemed to think the Government placed in an awkward position. They were greatly surprised at the lofty position the Premier took upon the subject and at the conclusion of the debate began to wonder "where they were at." Hon. Mr. Hardy had clearly pointed out that if the Americans had an agent in Ontario that person was none other than the leader of the Opposition, who was the only Canadian member of one of the largest American lumber companies operating within the province. Mr. Whitney had called upon the Government to immediately command Americans to stop taking logs out of Canada, but in so doing he had shown a gross ignorance of the law which would make him ridiculous in the country. Mr. Whitney had quoted from the statute relating to the imposition of restrictions upon license holders and had interpreted it to mean that at any time the Government could refuse to allow logs to go out of the country. How childish and silly, not to say dishonest, his whole argument appeared when the Premier had explained the situation. He pointed out that the timber lands in question had been put up at public auction and the whole world invited to invest their money. It was true some few Americans had availed themselves of this opportunity and had purchased in good faith, had paid their money to the province believing the Government would act honorably with them, because it was a British Government and known in all times past to deal justly and fairly with citizen and alien alike. It would be a breach of contract, he submitted, and a confiscation of property to impose new conditions after the bargain had been signed and sealed and the money paid over. Such a course would not be consistent with the rights of property which had been sold and the licenses issued. No doubt Mr. Whitney saw that such a course might prove popular and of use for party purposes because the question which involved millions of money was not properly understood as yet by the people of Ontario, but the Government were the guardians of the people's honor as well as their property and were acting as the representatives of the Queen, they would not, therefore, bring reproach upon the Crown, no dishonor to the people by justifying anyone in saying they had broken faith with honest customers of the province and for the sake of political advancement break the word of the Crown once passed. The present licenses would expire in May next and it was for the Parliament to say what course should be followed after that.

The Patron View.

Mr. Whitney had expected to catch the Patron support by his timber policy and until Premier Hardy explained matters it is understood many of the Patrons intended voting against the Government, but the fair, manly and high principled stand of the Premier turned the scale in favor of the Government, the result being that every Patron in the House voted with the Ministry, which was sustained by a majority of two to one.

St. John's Piggery.

When the session opened it was understood Mr. St. John had some important revelations to make regarding the piggery out at the Humber. He had been going about the country stating how he intended exposing the dishonesty of the Government. He had stated boldly that the piggery had cost over $35,000, but when brought to book in the House he could not possibly get beyond a cost of $7000 and then admitted he did not sufficiently understand the public accounts to arrive at a correct estimate at all. The House gave him the laugh and the Ministers allowed him to go without further consideration. Mr. St. John had attempted to make a point of the fact one Macdonald, a wood-ranger, who had been dismissed for alleged dereliction of duty, had been re-engaged by the Government. He was called down by Mr. Beatty, a member of his own party, who reminded him it was time, in a British country, to condemn a man after he had been proven guilty

Ontario's Finances.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt will deliver his budget speech to-morrow, after which it is to be hoped the Opposition will give the country a rest about the surplus. One remarkable fact about the finances of Ontario is that it is the only province in the Dominion which is not in debt and has a surplus. It may be fairly supposed that in future the surplus will increase since the amount to be expended hereafter upon the public buildings will be comparatively small. The Parliament buildings, asylums, prisons, etc., are all paid for, and yet the treasury of the province contains after all expenses have been liquidated over half a million dollars. The Opposition will have an opportunity this week of stating what better state of affairs they would desire.

DEATH OF WILLIAM MACK.

The Recently Nominated Liberal in Stormont Passes Away.

Cornwall, Dec. 13.—William Mack, ex M.P.P., one of the most widely known and respected men in the United Counties, died here on Saturday.

Deceased was born in Lennoxshire, Scotland, in 1828, and came to Canada with his parents when a child in arms. They settled in Huntington County, Quebec. The son learned the milling trade and started the first grist mill built in Cornwall. He afterwards built the Express grist and flouring mills, and owned and operated them continuously until his death.

Mr. Mack was a member of the municipal council of the town from 1865 to 1868, was deputy reeve in 1869-70, reeve in 1871, deputy reeve in 1875 and reeve again in 1876. He was also warden of the united counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry in 1878. He was a life-long Liberal, and for many years represented Stormont in the Legislature, where he acted as whip. He was recently chosen to contest the riding in the Liberal interests at the forthcoming elections, the constituency now being held by the Patrons. Deceased was a Presbyterian and a very active member of Knox church. He was a man of the kindliest disposition, and one whose word was as good as his bond.

WILKINS LOST BOTH FEET.

Tried to Board a Moving Train, Caught His Toe and Fell Under the Wheels.

St. Catharines, Dec. 13.—Saturday night George Wilkins, employed on the Cataract Power Company's canal near this place, was trying to board a moving freight train from the G.T.R. station. He caught his toe and slipped, falling under the cars, having both feet mangled in a horrible manner, necessitating the amputation of both feet above the ankle at the hospital. Wilkins is an unmarried man, 23 years of age, and comes from Hamilton, which place he was evidently trying to reach to spend Sunday.

MRS. M'KINLEY DEAD.

The President's Mother Passed Away Sunday Morning.

MODEL MOTHER AND HOUSEWIFE

An Old Lady Who Was Remarkable for Her Vivacity, Which Stood Her in Good Stead Until the End of Her 86 Years—A Much-Loved Woman—Her Quiet Career.

Canton, Ohio, Dec. 13.—Mrs. Nancy Allison McKinley, mother of President McKinley, died at 2.30 o'clock Sunday morning.

Mrs. Nancy Campbell Allison McKinley, who was often called "Mother McKinley," was 86 years old. She was the daughter of Abner Allison, who was of English descent, and Ann Allison, nee Campbell, of Scotch ancestry. Her parents settled in Pennsylvania, but soon moved to Ohio and settled at New Lisbon.

James McKinley, grandfather of William, settled with his family of fourteen children, at New Lisbon, Columbia County, when the father of the President was a year and a half old. William McKinley, the elder, here met Nancy Campbell Allison, and married her. The young couple settled in New Lisbon, where three children were born to them, and they then moved to Niles, Trumbull County, where William McKinley, the President, was born. He was seventh in a family of nine children.

Nancy Campbell Allison's early life was spent amid simple household duties on her father's pioneer homestead. Here she acquired the strong constitution that carried her through a life of excitement and change and made her old age a marvel of health and vigor and kept her mind strong and peaceful.

She was married to William McKinley the elder in 1829. While she was widely known and beloved, her simple life presents few facts of public interest. She was considered to be a perfect type of womanhood and motherhood by thousands who knew her. The President loved and cherished her since he attained to honors and high position as he loved and cherished her when he was a boy.

It has been said of her that in no way did she betray her great age. She was vivacious and active up to the time when she was stricken with paralysis.

STEWART'S SLAYER.

Miners Tried to Arrest the Murderer, But He Had Armed Himself and Refused to Surrender.

San Francisco, Dec. 13.—A letter received here from Five Finger Rapids, dated Oct. 25, says: The Canadian Mounted Police have arrested a man named Henderson of Seattle for the murder of his partner, who gave the name of Stewart. The crime was committed on the banks of Marsh Lake some time during the early part of October. Henderson was camped near the settlement of miners, who left Lake Lindermann on Sept. 17.

Stewart was quarreling with Henderson over the disposition of some baggage. Henderson ran and secured his gun and shot Stewart dead. The miners in the vicinity heard of the crime and tried to arrest the murderer. The fellow armed himself and shut himself up in an old cabin.

A delegation of miners was then sent to Tagish Lake with instructions to inform the Custom house officers at that place that a crime had been committed. The mounted police were not in the district. Henderson surrendered to the officers and will be taken to Dawson or to the post nearest to that place.

Henderson's defence was that his partner killed himself, but according to a dying statement made by the murdered man the murderer shot at his partner without giving the latter any chance to defend himself. In the belief of some of the miners Henderson was out of his head when he did the shooting. He had been complaining of great suffering from a chronic disorder.

Men coming out from Dawson say that the restaurants are all closed and the scarcity of food is driving a good many out of the country.

OLD LADY ASPHYXIATED.

Mrs. Hartmann of Napanee a Victim of the Deadly Coal Gas.

Napanee, Dec. 13.—Mrs. Hartmann, an elderly lady, who has been ill for some time and staying with Miss Mary Clough and the latter's nephew on Centre street, was found asphyxiated by coal gas Saturday morning. The nephew, who slept upstairs, awoke in a rather dazed condition this morning, but managed to get downstairs, where he found Mrs. Hartmann dead and Miss Clough unconscious. The tea-kettle had been left off the back of the stove, allowing the gas to escape all night. Miss Clough is in a critical condition and may not recover.

Suffered Agony With Pains in the Stomach—Hood's Cured.

The testimonials in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla are as worthy of confidence as though they came from your most trusted neighbor. They are written by honest people who are grateful for the cures accomplished by this wonderful medicine. Read this statement:

"I was afflicted with severe pains in my stomach from which I suffered much agony at times. I was afraid to go any distance from home for fear of having an attack. I was treated for neuralgia of the heart without avail. At last my mother wrote and urged me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I have her letter before me at the present time and it reads as follows: 'My dear child, it grieves me to learn that you suffer so with your stomach. Do get a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and let me know the result, for I am confident

It Saved My Life.'

I am glad to state that I abided by my mother's advice and I am now healthy and strong. I never think of being without Hood's Sarsaparilla in the house. It is a great help to mothers while nursing. I have given it to my baby with satisfactory results. I cannot state all I would like of the many benefits I have known Hood's Sarsaparilla to give to other sufferers. I gladly recommend it." MRS. JOHN LA PAGE, 240 Church St., Toronto, Ont.

WEST PETERBOROUGH.

As will be seen by an extended report elsewhere, the convention of the Liberals of West Peterborough, held in the Opera House on Saturday, was the largest and most enthusiastic gathering for the nomination of a candidate ever convened in this riding. The size of the convention was perhaps less gratifying than its representative character. Every township of the riding, even the remotest, was well represented, and it would be impossible to have made a nomination that would have been a more general expression of the feeling of the constituency. Mr. Stratton's having received the unanimous nomination with such extreme cordiality is evidence of two things. It shows that his past representative career has been of the most satisfactory character, that he has left no effort unexerted to promote the interests of West Peterborough, and that he has been successful to a very large degree. It also shows that he retains the confidence of the people, and that the prospects of his re-election are not mere prospects, but an assured certainty—a certainty that, however, depends upon the united support and work of the friends of good Government in the riding. No cause is so good that it does not meet opposition, and the better the cause, the greater and, oftentimes, the more unscrupulous is the opposition. The present representative of West Peterborough has striven to give his services to the constituency without reference to party or individual; he has striven to see that every interest that demanded promotion received his support, and that, without reference to locality, circumstances of environment or personal or party associations, of those representing the interests to be served. Acting thus, with a broad impartiality, he has become recognized as the real representative of, not only those who supported his candidature on the several occasions he has been in the field, but also of all those who felt it their duty to oppose him. For this reason the numbers of those who have opposed him have become less, and the number of his friends has largely increased. That he has a good claim upon the support of the electors cannot be denied, and will, no doubt, be abundantly demonstrated at the close of the coming election campaign. The same moderate and impartial course as a representative that he has pursued for the past twelve years, will be pursued in the future, and the powers of usefulness that have been so energetically exercised in the past, amplified by experience and knowledge of the needs of the riding and province, will be at the service of the electorate. Moderate and large minded electors, with a stake in the riding, recognize that the interests of the riding will best be served by a representative who has himself a stake and an influence in the riding, who has a gratifying record for usefulness, and whose position and experience entitle him to be regarded as the man best qualified to serve the interests of West Peterborough.

The varied interests of Peterborough, which are of the first importance to our future progress, deserve specific attention, and it is particularly necessary at this time, aside from the interests of one candidate or another candidate, that a Liberal should be elected who should be able to present and be strengthened in presenting, the claims of this important constituency to the consideration of the government that has the power to implement such claims. The importance that is given by a government to the representations of a constituency gauged by the person presenting them, and if such a person is in sympathy with the Government and possesses the complete confidence of the riding, it is plain that his prospects of securing practical attention to the desires of the constituency are much more favourable than those of a representative who is hostile to the Government or untried fidelity and small influence. In the multiplicity of matters that engage the attention of a government, it is inevitable that local claims should require to be specially pressed and the representative best qualified to present such claims is one in sympathy and in favour with the government.

CAMPAIGN IN INDIA.

Sir William Lockhart's Management Highly Praised.

HE HAS 70,000 MEN IN THE FIELD

An Army Greater Than Wellington Had at Waterloo in Indian Defiles — In Face of Fierce Fanaticism Sir William Has Displayed Immense Resource—Other Cables.

London, Dec. 13.—Military circles are praising Sir William Lockhart's conduct of the campaign in India. The exciting events that have occurred in other quarters of the world during the last 30 days have diverted attention from the attempt to punish the Afridis. But the undertaking, in its way, is the most remarkable in which England has ever been engaged.

Lockhart has under his personal command a larger body of troops than was ever before commanded by a British General. He has 70,000 men in the field, more than Wellington had at Waterloo, where only 36,000 were actually British.

In the exceptionally difficult conditions, the mountainous and unknown country, the cold season, the labor of maintaining communication along a very extended line, and the fierce fanaticism of tribes that believe they are fighting in a righteous cause and for very existence, Sir William Lockhart has displayed remarkable ingenuity and resource.

The campaign has been suspended for severe weather, but Parliament will meet before it is resumed, and the demands of India, Central Africa and the Niger region may help the Salisbury Government to push through the bill for an increase of military strength, which Lord Lansdowne has outlined.

The proportion of officers killed in Lockhart's campaign is 43, as against 74 men. This is a state of things unheard of, even in the English frontier and desert war.

The Railway News correspondent at the front says that the native losses throughout have been far less than the British and Indian losses, and that the villages destroyed were merely the summer huts of nomadic tribes who live elsewhere most of the year, and which it will be no trouble whatever to rebuild.

SPAIN WANTS WAR.

If Its Premier Speaks for the People It is Decidedly Bellicose—Ready to Defend Rights.

Madrid, Dec. 13.—At the Cabinet meeting Saturday Prime Minister Sagasta read a digest of the comments of the European press on President McKinley's message to the American Congress, proving that a majority of the newspapers sympathize with Spain.

Senor Sagasta declared that if the United States eventually desired to intervene in Cuba they would find the Spanish Government ready to defend its rights and honor. He said in conclusion that he did not attach any importance to the attitude of certain Senators in Washington.

The Marquis de Villamejor, a member of the Spanish Senate, has addressed a letter to Premier Sagasta advising a public subscription for the purpose of raising funds to increase the strength of the Spanish navy. The Marquis offers to head the subscription with a donation of $50,000.

Spain Virtually Defies the States.

Madrid, Dec. 13.—The Imparcial Saturday published a strong article, in which it declares Spain will not accept the right of President McKinley to intervene in Cuba, in case of the war being prolonged, and demands that the government adopt "the same energetic attitude towards the United States as Germany adopted towards Hayti, because President McKinley's message is equivalent to questioning the right of [illegible] prepare for all eventualities and augment her navy "by organizing a subscription in which the whole nation, from the Queen to the most humble subject, should participate."

SPAIN NEED NOT FEAR WAR.

Weyler Says the Heroic Courage of Her Soldiers Makes Her Safe.

Barcelona, Dec. 13.—Lieut.-General Weyler has asked the Government to submit in the Chamber the notes exchanged with the United States on the subject of President McKinley's message to Congress. He declares that with the elements in Spain and the heroic courage of her soldiers she need not fear war with the United States.

RESCUED AT SEA.

The Crew of a Doomed Ship Saved by an Ocean Liner.

Queenstown, Dec. 13.—The Cunard Line steamer Etruria, Captain Ferguson, from New York, on Dec. 4, for Liverpool via this port, arrived here at 1.45 p.m. Saturday. She reports having sighted at 2.30 p.m. yesterday, 14 miles west of Fastnet, the British steamer Millfield, Captain Willis, from Baltimore on Nov. 28 for Belfast, flying signals of distress. The decks of the Millfield were being swept by heavy seas, her funnels were gone, and she was sinking. The Etruria stood by her for 12 hours, during which time the Cunarder manned a lifeboat and rescued the 26 men composing the crew of the Millfield. When the rescued men left the Millfield it was expected she would soon sink.

Ireland and the Vatican.

Rome, Dec. 13.—The Vatican, it is officially announced, has approved of Mgr. Martinelli, the Papal delegate to the Roman Catholic Church in the United States, visiting Ireland for three weeks. It is pointed out that this approval is a sign that Hibernianism is regaining favor at the Vatican. Other signs of this are said to be the retirement of Mgr. Schrieder from the staff of the university at Washington and the high moral position gained at Rome by Archbishop Keane, who is considered likely to be made a cardinal.

Marriage of Divorced Persons in Britain.

London, Dec. 13.—Extraordinary agitation has been evoked by the marriage on Nov. 24, of Miss Leila Bayard Crooke, a niece of Mr. Thomas F. Bayard, the former United States Ambassador here, to Mr. Lyon, who has been divorced, which caused the clerical party to interfere and make them get married in a church other than the one first selected. It has brought out a pronouncement from the Primate to the effect that he disapproves of such marriages, and that his Vicar-General hereafter will not license them.

The Bishop of Bristol and others have also forbidden their chancellors to license the marriage of divorced people, whether innocent or guilty.

HIS ONLY HOPE.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Saved Harry Stuart After all Other Remedies Failed.

LONDON, Dec. 13th.—In nine-tenths of the homes of London, the all-absorbing topic of conversation is Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Thousands of happy, grateful men and women, are telling of their rescue from Diabetes, Bright's Disease, Paralysis and other kidney diseases hitherto called incurable. All tell how how Dodd's Kidney Pills cured, after all other means had failed.

Harry Stuart, 164 Mill street, told our reporter to-day that a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him completely of long standing kidney disease and lumbago. Doctors could not cure him. Neither could other remedies. Dodd's Kidney Pills were his only hope. THEY CURED HIM. They never fail to cure any case of Kidney Disease.

A MILE A MINUTE TRAIN

Struck Charles Lloyd's Buggy and Hurled Him to Instant Death 90 Feet Away —Companion Only Stunned.

Tilsonburg, Ont., Dec. 13.—About 1 o'clock Sunday morning three young men left Tilsonburg in a buggy and drove northward to a hotel on the north side of the M.C.R. track, near the station. They were refused admittance, and one of the men got out of the buggy. The others started to go back, and were struck by the M.C.R. North Shore express, running about a mile a minute. The horse, which was across the track, escaped unhurt, and was found about a mile away. The buggy was smashed to atoms and one of the occupants, a man named Charles Lloyd, was hurled a distance of 90 feet and instantly killed. He head was crushed in and his teeth knocked out and both arms and legs were broken.

The other, a lad of 17, named Charles Chandler, was hurled a long distance, but escaped with a cut in the leg. He was unconscious for some hours, but was able to be taken to his home near Eden Sunday afternoon. Detective Heenan and Dr. Smith of St. Thomas were summoned, and the latter, with Dr. C. McDonald, attended to the injured man. An inquest was not deemed necessary, and the mangled remains of the unfortunate man were placed in charge of Undertaker Carpenter. The dead young man has relatives in the neighborhood. He will be buried this afternoon.

D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realizing that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

How Long Will This Piano Last?

The above question is asked by almost every piano purchaser before making a decision.

If you are discussing a Chickering Piano there is an emphatic answer.

No matter what YOUR age rest assured the piano will outlive you.

There is no one living who has ever purchased a Chickering piano AND WORN IT OUT.

Think of the number of children to-day practising upon Chickering pianos purchased by their grandparents.

There are thousands of Chickering pianos so purchased and so used.

Perhaps, they are not as good as they were 50 or 60 or 70 years ago, but the marvel is that they are in use at all.

The majority of pianos by other makers are worn out in a third the period.

These are simple Chickering facts.

ROBBED A CRIPPLE.

And was Sentenced to Six Months in the Central Prison.

Richard Bailey was sentenced to six months in the Central Prison, this morning, on the charge of the theft of a pocket book from the cripple who has been in town for the last week on a tricycle.

Bradley, the cripple, was the first witness called. He stated that he was lying down on a bench, on Wednesday, in the Little Windsor Hotel, where he was boarding, when the prisoner came up and, slipping his hand in his pocket, took his purse containing a small sum of money.

Mr. Mat. Jamieson, proprietor of the hotel, stated that the prisoner had taken a drink at the bar and slipped out without paying for it. Bradley called to him a moment later that he had been robbed, and told him who had committed the theft. A couple of men who were in the hotel at the time went after Bailey and one of them brought him back. He denied committing the theft, and produced some small silver as being all the money he had. On being told that the police would be sent for, he took something from his mouth and threw it under the stove. The witness picked it up and found that it was a one dollar bill partially masticated. Prisoner then said he wanted to wash but slipped out of the side door and ran down the street.

Mr. Fred Hall gave evidence of having found the purse in the vicinity of Water and Brock streets, where the prisoner went when he first left the hotel.

Mr. Finney testified to overtaking prisoner near Westlake's livery stable and bringing him back to the hotel.

Officer McGinty, who arrested Bailey, stated that when he went in the door of Mrs. Jackson's boarding house, where the prisoner lived, Bailey ran out the back way but he overtook him.

The prisoner then went into the box and told of recommending the Little Windsor to Bradley as a good place for him to board. He would not swear that he did not take the purse or have the dollar bill in his mouth, but said he could not recollect either circumstance.

The magistrate expressed considerable doubt as to whether the prisoner's memory could be trusted in such a case and remarked on the meanness of a man who would steal from a cripple. The above stated sentence was then imposed.

MR. STRATTON IS THE CHOICE

Of the West Peterborough Liberal Convention.

HE RECEIVES THE UNANIMOUS NOMINATION.

Excellent Addresses by Hon. Senator Cox and Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture—A Most Successful Convention.

Below is the completion of the report of the Liberal convention on Saturday, being reports of the addresses by Hon. Senator Cox and Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture:

Senator Cox.

Hon. Senator Cox, when called upon by the chairman, stated that he was very much pleased to be present—not as a speaker but as a ratepayer of West Peterborough, in which connection he still felt a great interest where the best and, he hoped, the last days of his life would be spent. (Applause.)

He had felt that he would like to attend the convention and shake hands with the owners of a large number of familiar faces, which he felt sure would be present and whom he desired to thank for the cordial support which they had given him when he sought their votes, as a candidate for the Dominion Parliament. He was astonished as well as greatly pleased to note the largeness of the convention, and thought the Liberal party was greatly for having aroused so much enthusiasm in what had been considered a Conservative riding, and having carried the Liberal flag to increasing victory at three elections. (Applause.) He felt confident that it had only been done by the support of such gentlemen as were present, and some of these old battles which he had fought had also doubtless contributed something to the successes also.

When the position of the Province of Ontario was compared with that of Quebec no one could help but feel gratified at the position held by the former in comparison. He congratulated the Province of Ontario on having an able, honest and efficient administration. (Applause.)

"I certainly and earnestly hope," continued Senator Cox," that the gentleman whom you have nominated this afternoon will be returned as one of the supporters of that able administration. (Applause.) There is no more worthy or efficient representative sitting in the House to-day and it is most desirable that West Peterborough have in that important legislative body, as well as have his services in other directions. (Applause.) He was very much gratified to see the position Canada was taking in the markets of Britain, and he was more than gratified that the business interests of Canada and this province more particularly were advancing. He didn't believe that this was entirely due to the change of Government but the accession to power of an honest and efficient administration had attracted attention to Canada and placed her in a foremost place in the world. (Applause.)

Continuing, the speaker congratulated the electors on having so efficient a representative in the Ontario House, and hoped that it would not be long before they would have an equally able man in the Dominion Parliament. In conclusion he stated that he was very much gratified to see such a unanimous and cordial nomination as had been Mr. Stratton's. A better man could not have been chosen, (applause) and he was sure the nomination would be followed up by a surprising majority for him when he was again returned. (Applause.) He prophesied that Mr. Stratton's 800 majority of 1894 would be increased to 1600 at the coming election, (applause) but urged that it be made 1601 if possible, as every vote counted, and one vote sometimes meant a good deal, as the Liberals of West Peterborough had lost one election by a majority of that size once. (Applause.) Peterborough should keep Mr. Stratton so long as he served them in the future as in the past. There were many interests continually coming to the front to be dealt with and a man of common sense was required to deal with them. He had proven himself a safe adviser—not rash in dealing with important interests—and moderate in everything he undertook. He should have an increased majority. He believed he would. His opponent was a comparitive stranger to the electors. (Applause.)

Minister of Agriculture.

Hon. John Dryden was greeted with liberal applause when introduced by the chairman. He assured the audience that he was most pleased to be present and observe the great enthusiasm with which the work of a convention was undertaken in Peterborough. Such matters as nominations were very easy to get on with when there was an outstanding man in the community, and it was even easier when that man was one who had been tried and had proven his ability to do the work required of him, and had not spared himself in his efforts to fulfil his duties. (Applause.) In the nomination of the afternoon he had seen that it was a case of the people seeking the man and not the man the position, as was the case in many instances, when men are anxious to get certain positions for what they could make out of them. He would venture to say that this afternoon the selection had been of the right man for the right place. (Applause.) Mr. Stratton had been a boy to the electors when sent to the Legislature for the first time, but now he was a full grown man in every sense of the term and able to hold his own with any man sent there from any part of the country. (Applause.) He congratulated the Liberals on the successful nomination which had taken place. Its enthusiasm argued well for the prophecy that Mr. Stratton would be the representative in the next Legislature of Ontario. (Applause.)

In a few months the Government must ask the electors for their verdict on the work of the last four years. The Government would not come before the people with the old leaders—many had dropped out. Adam Crooks, E.B. Wood, Sir Oliver Mowat and Christopher Fraser were all out of harness. The Government was coming before the people with a but with the same firm name as had been doing business for the last quarter of a century. (Applause.) Only one of the old leaders with whom the speaker entered Parliament was left—Mr. Hardy; all the rest were gone. He had known Mr. Mowat well, of course, and believed him to be an honourable and upright man to whom the affairs of the country could be implicitly trusted. He also knew Mr. Hardy and assured the convention that the country never had a better friend than he—not even excluding Mr. Mowat, as Arthur Sturgis Hardy was just as true to the interests of the people as Sir Oliver in his palmiest days. Any man who came to the Legislature with the object of putting up a job on the people would find himself very quickly sat on. If any official undertook to do wrong off would go his head. There never had been a man in the Ontario Government as true to the interests of the people as Hardy and the interests would be well preserved in his hands as in Sir Oliver's. (Hear! Hear!)

DIFFERENT SET OF MEN,

The Government had asked the verdict of the people many times before and its actions had always been endorsed, because the people, regardless of their political complexion, approved of the legislation which had taken place. As Mr. Stratton had said—the Government mistakes had been made, as in private life, but experience had been gained by these mistakes and the Government would not be apt to err in that direction again. These things will happen and they cannot be helped but the general trend of the Government was in the one direction and and a single set of principles governed their every action.

The first principle was that of "Equality of Citizenship"—which meant that every man, no matter what race, creed, colour, whether he was rich or poor, should have the same rights. This principle has been carried out in the statute book of the Province. In the Franchise Act, for instance, the Government said to the young man, "you shall have the right to say who shall govern the country" and nothing will do him so much good as to tell him this and ask him to take a hand in the affairs of state. It elevates a young man and inculcates in him a sense of responsibility.

Then there is the Educational policy which the Province has adopted. We lay a hand on every man, no matter how poor, and say through it, "We propose to give your children a reasonable education, free. The Government's bounden duty is to educate its people and education is thus over the country and the system is second to none in the world. It stands to-day better than any that can be found and educationalists from other countries come to study it. Then in line with this principle is the Factory Act. Through it the Government says to those who are obliged to work, "We will protect your health and your life whilst you are among the machinery," and the same principle is adopted concerning the employment of women and young girls. It was decided that they were being worked too hard, and the Province stepped in and put a stop to it, protecting them by regulating the hours. The last step in this direction was the Bakeshop Act, through which a penalty is affixed for

SOME SERMONS TO YOUNG MEN.

WHICH WERE DELIVERED IN THE LOCAL PULPITS.

An Exchange of Pulpits Took Place Last Evening Amongst the Members of the Ministerial Association.

As arranged the members of the Ministerial Association exchanged pulpits last evening, and addressed their remarks particularly to young men. Rev. Dr. Torrance and Rev. S. J. Shorey will not exchange pulpits till next Sunday evening. Owing to the press in news matter to-day the sermons delivered in St. Andrew's by Rev. Mr. Moore, and the in Charlotte street church by Rev. Mr. Dykeman are held over until to-morrow.

REV. J. G. POTTER, B. A.,

spoke in the Mark street Methodist church last evening, taking as his text, "Fight the good the good fight of faith," 1st Timothy, vi. chap, 12th verse, speaking as follows to young men:

The life of every young man is looked upon as a warfare whether all are conscious of it or not. That was in two fold. It is both internal and external. We can not look well after the interests of the inner without seeing it to be our duty to war against the outer forces. Nor can we be zealous in fighting against eternal evils and yet know that the inner life is not good. "Seek ye first the kingdom of God." Only the clean heart and life can have the victory within an awithout. The conditions of the inner life, too, has to do with our external life and it is therefore necessary to know the contending forces.

In the first place, a mastery of oneself is a necessity. "I bring into subjection my own body," said Paul. As we are victorious through Christ over our own lives shall we be eminently useful in the "good fight of faith" in the world around.

In the second place we need to see opposing forces. Sin, bad habits and customs, the drinking usages, strongholds of sin, licentiousness, imparity and all forms of evil that are set as traps for the young man. High Heaven commands not to give the battle to the devil. Young manhood has more and more to realize that this world will only be saved from sin in so far as they consecrate their powers and activities to the Saviour and His service. We have been purged from dead works to serve the King of Heaven, and having enlisted into His army and gathered round His banner, we must as good soldiers of Christ fight the good fight of faith. This fight of faith implies a knowledge of sin and a knowledge of truth, a belief in the supremacy and power of our Commander and Saviour and a confident trust in Him who has already pronounced victory on all who stand fast in the fight and who press on against the foe. These are the weapons of our warfare, the word and prayer. In considering the lives of Peter, John and Paul, who in themselves were weak, yet as followers of Christ "more than conquerors." Strong in faith and filled with Christian courage, it is an inspiration to all.

"The glory of young men is their strength." "I speak unto you young men because ye are strong." Surely Paul in writing to Timothy could urge upon him the consideration of a life that had been plucked as a brand from the burning, and he could exhort him to carefully flee those things that would prove detrimental to his growth in faith and grace, and fight the good fight that was now before him. As a true soldier he must be submissive, obedient, loyal, determined, intensely interested, enduring, reliant and ready to resist all allurements—like Joseph, never willing to be ensnared, even by the court of a sovereign; like Daniel, never compromising, even under the threats of the powers that be; like Nehemiah, never making an alliance with the foe, however plausible the temptation may appear. Christ calls every young man. Christ was a young man,—only thirty-three when crucified. He called young men around Him. The apostles were young men, all teaching us important lessons of fidelity to our Lord and Master.

A message came to Sir Colin Campbell at the Battle of Alma that Her Majesty's Guards were falling thick and fast beneath the shot, had they not better retire for a little while into safe quarters? The answer was:—"It were better, sir, that everyone of Her Majesty's Guards should lie dead on the battle field than turn their backs upon the enemy!" Yes; let us as young men die rather than live a coward's life. Rather let our eyes be sealed in death than behold the glory departed from a young life. An appeal was then made to the young men present to begin such a life or warfare, and to be resolved, with God's help to stand by the true and right through Christ, the Captain of our Salvation.

REV. W. G. CLARKE, B.A.,

in the Murray street Baptist church. The subject was "Chance." The text chosen was Eccles. ix. 1 Whatever cannot be reduced to a calculation, duly weighed and measured, foreseen and foretold by human reason, we attribute in our common, week-day language to "chance." Superficial observation justifies this to the mind of the unthinking or the unbeliever.

1. Solomon is reflecting only current opinion when he says "Time and chance happeneth to them all." He states his own personal conviction in the first verse of the chapter, "The righteous and the wise and their works are in the hand of God"—not of chance. Honest motives, earnest and persistent effort, common sense and honourable methods win. The man who trusts to luck or chance will fail.

2. The teachings and language of Scriptures generally are against "chance." God reigns, rules and establishes. Christ spoke after no such pernicious form. His promises are "yea" and "amen" to him that believeth. The soldiers' game of chance at the foot of the cross stripped Christ of His garments. And this talk of chance and luck strips God of power and divests Christ of His loving interest in our behalf. It denies the providence of God, and lands man in confusion, chaos and despair. Franklin, Watts, Newton, etc., were in the hand of God and for our good.

3. "The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord." Every step, word, thought, smallest concern, etc., are necessary as the threads and colours in the weaver's shuttle in the filling out of the pattern which God has in every life. Nothing so small as to be unimportant in the sight of God.

4. The bearing upon lives of young men is evident. So many are waiting at and bowing down before the shrine of "Chance." They are standing around, Micawber-like, waiting for something to turn up.

There never yet was a young man who fitted himself for life's duties but God found a place for him to fill equal to all his powers. Don't be ashamed of any honest work. "Commit thy way unto the Lord, trust also in him, and He will bring it to pass."

5. Chancing it for eternity is the supreme folly of man. The eternal truth unchangeable and irrevocable gives no encouragement to any man to run his chances for eternity. The language of God is positive and urgent. "Choose ye this day whom ye will serve," "Now is the accepted time." The danger of delay.

The roulette tables of Monte Carlo are manipulated so that the wary beginner, becoming intoxicated with repeated successes, stakes his all in one rash venture and is ruined. So many a young man starts out in dishonest ventures, until truth, honour, love, everything are risked for time and eternity. Then another turn of the wheel and all is lost forever.

Christ says, "Behold I stand at the door and knock." Young men! let the Saviour in now!

CHURCH CHIMES.

In the Mark street church Sunday morning Rev. Mr. Moore preached a helpful sermon from Galatians 5:7—"Ye did run well who did hinder you that ye should not obey the truth?" There are many hindrances in the Christian race. Every Christian should be a Christian worker. Few of us are perfectly satisfied with our present attainments. One hindrance to religion is the utter indifference of some professors of religion, while love of pleasure is another. Intemperance is a great hindrance to the cause of God to-day. The inconsistencies of many professed followers is another hindrance. So is evil speaking. Let us all aim to not be stumbling blocks in the way of others, and let us try to see how much we can do for God, not how little we can do.

Mr. Wm. Wand was able to be present and conduct his usual class at the close of the morning service.

The Sunday school at 2.30 was well attended, the attendance being the largest during 1897.

The evening service was conducted by Rev. J. G. Potter, B.A., of St. Andrew's, who gave a fine sermon to young men, taking as his text, I Timothy, 6.12, "Fight the good fight of faith." It should arouse activity among our young men.

Epworth League meets Monday evening, at 8. Everyone is welcome at the meetings.

The Wednesday evening prayer meeting will again be evangelistic. Song service at 6.30, regular service at 8.

Prayer meeting was held at Mr. Wand's last Friday night where a very solemn hour was spent. Those present listened to a most profitable testimony from Bro. Wand, who has been and is very sick. He assisted Bro. Stubbs so far as he was able to conduct the meeting. It is to be held at Mr. W. M. Mattchett's, Sophia street, next Friday evening. All who can come will be made welcome. Mr. Carton is to conduct the meeting.

Active preparations are being made for the annual Christmas tree and entertainment in the new town hall on Christmas night.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH.

The Visiting Chapter of the Guild will hold a special meeting this afternoon to consider the work of distributing charities to the poor at Christmas.

A cottage meeting will be held at Mrs. Whittaker's house in the Carlisle settlement next Thursday evening at 7.30 p. m.

The Men's Chapter of the Guild will hold their second open meeting for men at Mr. Henderson Nesbitt's house. All men of congregation are cordially invited to attend. The paper will be read by Mr. E. A. Peck and will be followed by discussion.

The course of sermons on "Schools of Thought in the Church of England," will be continued next Sunday evening, when Rev. H. Symonds will preach on "The Broad Church School of Thought."

A series of expository addresses is being given on Friday evening at 7.45 p. m. in St. Luke's church on "The Epistle to the Philippians." The public is cordially invited to these services.

Last night Mr. T.R. Clougher, of Toronto, one of the leading members of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew in that city, delivered a splendid address on the work of the laymen in the church, which was most attentively listened to by a crowded church. The whole service was hearty and the singing thoroughly congregational. Everyone was delighted with Mr. Clougher's address and hope to hear him again. In the afternoon Mr. Clougher addressed the Sunday school children and the Y. M. C. A. The men who heard him there showed their appreciation by almost all following him to St. Luke's.

ARTHUR BURNS ARRESTED.

After Being on the Other Side for Over a Year.

This morning Arthur Burns was arrested under somewhat sensational circumstances. The residence of his aunt was surrounded by the police and Burns found hiding under the bed in the other portion of the double house in which his relation resided, he having slipped through by a communicating door.

Burns was wanted on a charge of stealing a horse on Sept. 5th, 1896, from Timothy Welsh, of Otonabee, and just got home last night, having been absent from town ever since. He has been remanded until Thursday.

COULD HARDLY WORK.

He Was Ill—But Now is Well.

Mr. T. Sarchet, the well-known tailor, Court House Ave., Brockville, Ont., got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills sometime ago. He did this because he had been seriously troubled for over a year with pains in his back across the kidneys, together with headache, dizziness, tired feeling and a general sensation of weariness and lack of ambition.

Referring to the result of the use of these pills, Mr. Sarchet says, "I can tell you that the pains in my back while sitting at work, made it almost impossible for me to keep on. I took a great many remedies, but they did me little or no good.

"When I started taking Doan's Kidney Pills I had but little faith in them. Now I have the greatest faith in them, because I believe them to be the greatest specific in existence for all kidney and back troubles.

"I say this because they have completely cured me, and I say it out of gratitude, and so that others who suffer in a similar manner may derive like benefit from a knowledge of the virtues of these pills.

"I can recommend them highly to any sufferer from kidney or back troubles, and feel that if they are given a fair trial no case, however severe, can resist their medicinal effects. 392

RIVIERRE IS CRAZY.

The Result of the Terrible Strain Which the Six Days' Bicycle Contest Imposed on Him.

New York, Dec. 11.—The race has narrowed down to 15 riders. Miller still retains the lead of nearly 100 miles over Rice, the Wilkes-Barre miner. At midnight he was about 285 miles ahead of the world's record, and with 24 hours to spare he had covered a distance up to within a few miles of the great record established by Hale last year of 1900 miles. The surprise of the night was the retirement of Rivierre, the Franchman. He is believed to be actually out of his mind, is in a pitiable physical condition, and he is now under the care of physicians. Like most of the others in the race, Rivierre has given evidence during the frightful contest of having partly lost his mind. The awful strain after the first day had in a measure mentally unbalanced him, and this afternoon he leaped from his wheel, made an assault on an imaginary foe in one of the boxes, swearing and jabbering in his native tongue. His trainers rushed to him and put h..n on his wheel, but after making a few more laps he repeated the performance with even more insane rage than he had at first demonstrated. The result was that Rivierre had again to be taken from the track to return no more.

A LONDON EPISODE.

A Prominent Contractor Cured of Bright's Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

London, Dec. 6—Not since the great election trial some years ago, has any London episode created such widespread excitement as has the case of G. E. Brady, of 239 Talbot street.

Mr. Brady, a prominent contractor, suffered for years with Bright's Disease. Doctors and special remedies failed utterly to help him. In despair he tried Dodd's Kidney Pills, and was cured by a few boxes.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have proved themselves, in this city, to be the only remedy that will positively cure every case of Bright's Disease, Diabetes and every other kidney complaint. They have never failed here. People will buy no other medicine.

A Boy Killed by the Cars.

Casselman, Dec. 11.—Amable Lagutorre, 14 years of age, jumped on a C.A.R. passenger train as it was pulling out of the station yesterday afternoon. He fell between the cars and an arm and leg were cut off. The boy died a few hours afterward.

Crazy Calf to be Tried.

Edmonton, Dec. 11.—Crazy Calf has been committed for trial for the murder of his wife, Napewathum. He was drunk on whiskey supplied by L. Tarohue and J. R. Muskego. The latter will be tried for the murder of Little Duck. Napewathum was Little Duck's mother.

A Fair That Failed.

Halifax, N.S., Dec. 11.—The report of the Provincial Exhibition, held here in the fall, shows a deficit on capital account of $16,000, and a deficit on current account of $9000.

"Only nervous" is a sure indication that the blood is not pure. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood and cures nervousness.

A Personal Item.

Mrs. Wm. Hambly, Belleville, Ont., says: "My husband was troubled with kidney complaint, rheumatism, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, etc., and could not get relief until I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills for him. He has now used four boxes in all and is perfectly cured."

POLITICS IN QUEBEC.

The Chapleau Coalition An Idle Rumor.

A STATEMENT FROM MR. TARTE.

The Langelier Interview Discounted as Unworthy of Belief—The Sacred Relations of Leader and Trusted Fellower—No Truth in the Coalition Talk—Interview With Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Montreal, Dec. 11.—All the talk of a coalition between Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Adolphe Chapleau seems to be without foundation, according to Mr. Tarte's paper, The Patrie, and Mr. Tarte ought to know, for, according to the story, it was he who was arranging the whole affair.

Mr. Tarte's Paper Speaks.

Yesterday afternoon Hon. Mr. Tarte's paper, La Patrie, says: "Several of our friends have asked what we think of Hon. Mr. Langelier's interview. Our answer will be brief. The assertions credited to Hon. Mr. Langelier are so astonishing that we refuse to put faith in the veracity of the interview in question. We do not know anything of what took place between Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Langelier, but it is quite certain that the relations between a prime minister and a man of Mr. Langelier's position are generally confidential and sacred. As to Mr. Langelier's allegations regarding the pretended discussion of party affairs by Tarte, Dansereau, Decelles, Patterson and Chapleau, he knows very well that no such thing took place. Mr. Tarte went down to Quebec the other day with Hon. Mr. Patterson, in company with Mr. Decelles and Mr. Drolet, for the purpose of making a visit that had absolutely nothing to do with politics. Mr. Decelles is out of politics, and Mr. Drolet is one of the devoted friends of the Liberal cause. There is no question, either directly or indirectly, of a coalition between Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Chapleau, and in making this declaration we take the full responsibility, so this should be a sufficient answer to all that has been or will be said on the question. Mr. Langelier has rendered great services to the Liberal party, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who is a man of honor as well as a politician of a very high order, has never been disposed to ignore the member for Quebec Centre. We may also be permitted to add that during Mr. Tarte's recent visit to Quebec he discussed at length the affairs of the party with Mr. Langelier."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier arrived here this evening en route for Quebec.

SIR WILFRID SPEAKS,

But Only to Say That He Will Not Discuss Party Matters in Public.

Ottawa, Dec. 11.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier was asked yesterday if he had seen the interview with the Honorable Francis Langelier, published in the papers.

"I have," replied the Premier.

"Have you any observations to make upon it?"

"Not a word. I am not in the habit of discussing before the public questions which only concern the internal economy of the party. I will not depart from this rule. Moreover, Mr. Langelier is an old friend, for whom I entertain the most affectionate respect, and even if I differed with him I would not communicate the matter to the press. I am only sorry that on this occasion Mr. Langelier seems to have been influenced by newspaper rumors, for which there is not even a shadow of foundation."

MISS GALL FOUND.

Port Huron Police Located Her Under the Name of Laura Gough.

Port Huron, Mich., Dec. 11.—The police last night took charge of a girl who gave the name of Laura Gough, and her brothers took her home this morning. It has been learned that the girl Gough is Florence Gall, who disappeared from Deckerville, Oct. 5. Her parents live near Quebec, and, failing to receive word from her, they sent Rev. John Gall, her brother, to look her up. The police will not disclose the story, nor will they tell with whom she was found.

For 14 years Miss Gall had worked as a tailoress, most of the time with Charles Trevethan, formerly of Minden City and Deckerville, and now living at Cass City. Miss Gall began to work for Mr. Trevethan at her home at Cannington, Ont., 14 years ago, and came to this state with the family.

How many young men and young women are cut off just as the future seems brightest and fullest of promise! They are taken away by the disease which causes over one-sixth of all the deaths in the world—the disease which doctors call consumption. There is absolutely no reason in the world why consumption should be fatal—why it should be even serious. It is a disease of the blood and can be cured absolutely and always by purifying and enriching the blood. The only exception to this is the case where the disease has been neglected and improperly treated until the disease is stronger than the body—until the body has become so weak as to have lost the ability to recuperate. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption if used according to directions. It also cures all lingering coughs, bronchial and throat affections.

Send 21 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, illustrated.

A FEW DON'TS.

Advice That Has a Direct Bearing on Health and Happiness.

Perhaps you have all heard or read the advice contained in the following "don'ts," but it is good enough to be repeated over and over again. We take them from a paper that seems to think as we do about it:

Don't catch cold. Catching cold is much more preventable than it is generally supposed to be. Keep your feet warm and dry, your head cool, your chest well protected. Avoid exposure with an empty stomach. Take care not to cool off suddenly when you are heated. Keep out of drafts, wear flannels and be careful generally.

Don't sleep in the same flannels that you wear during the day.

Don't wear thin stockings or light soled shoes in cold or in wet weather.

Don't neglect personal cleanliness, but use the bath with moderation and in accordance with your general health. The daily cold bath is all right for the rugged, but it is a great tax upon the vitality of weak persons and should not be indulged in if the results are at all doubtful. Tepid water is always better for those that are not in robust health. Judge for yourself.

Don't keep the sun out of your living rooms and your sleeping rooms. Sunlight is absolutely necessary to put in proper condition the air that we breathe.

Don't neglect your house drainage. The first condition of the family's heath is a dry, sweet atmosphere.

Don't forget that Dr. Good Habits, Dr. Diet and Dr. Exercise are the best doctors in the world.—Philadelphia Times.

GENTLEMEN,—I thought I would drop you a note and let you know that the way Mr. McInnes, Inspector of the London Mutual, settled my loss was very satisfactory, and if I can send you any one to insure I will do so.

Yours truly, (Signed) PATRICK MURPHY.

PETERBOROUGH, 22nd Oct., 1896.

Messrs. Cox & Davis, Peterborough:

DEAR SIRS,—I am deeply indebted to you and your Company for the quick and good settlement of my loss on household furniture, etc., which happened night before last, and for the payment of same by cheque this day.

Yours truly, (Signed) MRS. ANNIE MARSHALL.

Mr. Richard Anglesy, of Smith, who had his barn and contents burned, says that Mr. McInnes, Inspector London Mutual, acted like a man that wanted to do the square thing between man and man, and settled his loss right.

In the heart of every man and in the soul of every woman there is a vacuum that can only be filled by a child. In America there are too many childless homes. All the love and passion of courtship and all the kisses of the honeymoon turn to bitter dust upon the lips of the wedded couple to whose home there never comes the patter of childish feet.

One cause, more than any other, contributes to making the tens of thousands of childless, and consequently unhappy, homes all over this country. The cause is often the unconscious fault of the wife. A woman who suffers from weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism is unfitted for motherhood, and if she has children it will probably be at the sacrifice of her own life. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a wonderful medicine for women who suffer in this way. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned in wifehood and motherhood. It makes them strong, healthy, vigorous, virile and elastic. It banishes the squeamishness of the expectant period and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It insures the little new-comer's health and a bountiful supply of nourishment. Thousands of homes that were childless and unhappy now echo with the prattle of healthy babyhood, as the result of the use of this marvelous medicine.

"When I began taking Dr. Pierce's medicines I was very sick," writes Mrs. R. D. Moore, of Schuyler, Colfax Co., Nebr., (Box 173). "I could not keep anything on my stomach, and kept getting worse. My husband got me two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, two of his 'Favorite Prescription' and four of his 'Pleasant Pellets.' (At this time I had been pregnant about two months.) I began taking the medicines, and in less than a week I could eat anything. The 'Favorite Prescription' is the best medicine in the world for prospective mothers. My health is better now than it has been for twelve years. My little girl is now six months old and is well and healthy. I do not think I should have had my baby if we had not obtained something to build up my system and strengthen me."

THE SHIP'S SURGEON.

WHY HE RESIGNED AFTER MAKING ONE ROUND TRIP.

A Horrifying Experience With a Madman—The Surgeon to Be the Subject Operated Upon—Saved by a Knife That Needed a Little Sharpening.

"When I first hung out my shingle," said a prominent New York physician to a group of friends, among them a reporter, "I thought it would be easy to dram up a good paying practice, but I soon realized my mistake. Patients were few. I didn't earn $10 the first month, and one day when I felt very discouraged and was thinking of giving up the study of the healing art for a more lucrative commercial pursuit I met a friend. The latter was the agent for a line of transatlantic steamers, and on telling him of my poor success as a physician he offered me a position as surgeon on one of his ships. I accepted the berth, and on the evening of the third day at sea I had an experience with a madman, which I shall never forget.

"The weather was very stormy, and as I in consequence had had but little sleep the two previous nights I felt rather drowsy and sat in a chair in my stateroom dozing. Suddenly I was awakened by a tremendous lurching of the vessel. Then I heard a loud knock at my door, and a tall, strange and very excited dark featured man hurriedly entered my cabin. The man's actions were so peculiar that I jumped to my feet and reached for a revolver which lay on my table, but I was too slow. The stranger had seized the weapon. I then asked the man gruffly what he wanted. He did not reply for some time and then, after locking the door and putting the key and my pistol in his pocket, said:

"'I'm not sick, doctor. I've come here,' exposing a long knife from the sleeve of his coat, 'by order of the captain to cut your throat.'

"For a moment I looked the stranger in the face, and his wild, steady stare soon convinced me that I had to deal with a madman.

"I am not a coward, yet even now the thought of that moment makes me shudder. There I was in a remote part of the ship alone with a madman of twice my physical strength, without a chance to escape or means to give alarm, and, being unarmed, entirely at his mercy. I therefore decided that resistance would be of the least service to me and that apparent acquiescence would be best. All this quickly flashed through my mind, and accordingly feigning the utmost indifference I could I said:

"'The captain's orders must, of course, be obeyed. But can you do the deed quickly?'

"'Oh, yes,' replied the madman, calmly surveying the knife which he held in his hand. 'I'm a butcher by trade and can do the job easily with this tool.'

"Here he paused to examine with his thumb the edge of the knife, which looked rather blunt, and as he did so an idea struck me, and I remarked:

"'Your knife does not seem to have a very keen edge. The trachea is tough, you know, and rather difficult to cut with such a blunt instrument.'

"The madman now looked at me with a curious expression, as if trying to read my thoughts, and then, after examining the knife more closely, seemed to think my suggestion a good one, for he said:

"'Yes, doctor, I think you are right. A little sharpening will do no harm, so if you don't mind waiting I will go to the galley and get the cook to help me put an edge on it with his grindstone.'

"This was exactly what I wanted, as, feeling sure he would not look the door after him, I thought my escape would be easy, but picture my dismay when on his departure I discovered that the door was locked as securely as before.

"What was I to do? I flung open the porthole and shouted with all my might for assistance, but the fury of the gale was now so great that all my efforts to make myself heard were of no avail. Then in a frenzy of despair I looked about for some weapon of defense, but there was not so much as a stick to be found in my cabin. I put my ear to the keyhole, and, thinking I heard footsteps approaching, I impulsively threw off my coat, went to the farthest end of the room and, standing as defiantly as possible, resolved to fight to the last.

"I remember then the door bursting open and the entry of the madman, not alone, as I expected, but securely pinioned and attended by two of the ship's crew in charge of the second officer. The relief of the moment was so great that it completely prostrated me, and I fell in a faint to the floor.

"When I came to my senses, I learned that the peculiar and excited manner of the maniac, the large knife in his possession and his anxiety to sharpen it drew suspicion on him and induced the officer to secure and bring him to my cabin to ascertain his condition. Needless to say I pronounced the man insane, and he was kept securely confined and watched day and night until the ship arrived in Liverpool, where he was handed over to the proper authorities. I returned to New York on the same vessel, but never went to sea in the capacity of a surgeon again."—Washington Star.

Always Felt Tired.

"I suffered with severe headache and loss of appetite and I always felt tired. I concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla and after taking one bottle my headache disappeared. I continued taking it until now I am never troubled with head ache and my appetite is good." LAURA GARLAND, 247 Claremont St., Toronto, Ont.

TENEMENT HOUSE FIRES.

Insurance Patrol Works as Faithfully For the Poor as For Those Who Are Insured.

There is an article in St. Nicholas on "The Fire Patrol," written by Charles T. Hill, who has contributed a series of papers to that magazine on the New York fire department. Mr. Hill says:

At fires in the homes of the poor these detachments of the patrol work just as earnestly and conscientiously to save property as they would in the expensively furnished mansions of the rich. At tenement house fires they are of great service. First, they aid in getting the people out; then, gathering the goods together, the patrolmen protect them from water with tarpaulin covers. The majority of these fires break out in the basements or cellars, then, following the air and light shafts to the top floor, they spread and do the greatest damage in the upper stories. To extinguish these fires the other floors below have to be flooded, and were it not for the fire patrol in many cases the poor families would lose everything they owned.

One of the captains of the patrol remarked: "Why, it would do your heart good if you could hear how profuse these poor people are in their thanks, and the blessings they shower on us when they find we've saved their things. They go running around, wringing their hands and crying, 'Everything's lost, everything's lost!' And then, when the fire is out, we lead them back and show them their things, as dry as a chip under the covers, and—well, say, there isn't anything they wouldn't do for us. Half the time they're not insured, and it isn't our business to protect people who are not, but we're not supposed to know everything, and our orders are to protect property first and find out whether it is insured afterward, and is is not our fault if we save the little all of a lot of poor creatures who half the time haven't a change of clothes to their backs. You bet we get to work just as quick in a tenement house fire as in a big house on Fifth avenue, and we do the same work in both places, no matter whether it's for the rich or the poor."

There are now 27 societies in the United States membership in which depends on descent from ancestors who distinguished themselves by coming over to America at an early date or by being officers in American wars prior to 1861. Most of them are in flourishing condition. The old aristocratic Cincinnati leads them in age.

UNCLE JIM'S DANCING.

Uncle Jim, he'd never been
To any city ball
Until he come a-visitin
The folks in town last fall;
Could dance until you couldn't rest,
Knowed how to fling his heel,
But all the dance he knowed was just
The old Virginny reel.

So when they took him to the ball
The gals had lots of fun.
He went a-slippin erost the hall
An bumpin every one.
Of course he couldn't waltz, but they
Just made believe he could.
They kept on whirlin him away.
'Twas worse than splittin wood.

Just serious as could be he kept
A-goin roun an roun.
On all the ladies' trains he stepped
When he warn't fallin down.
He stood it jest as long as he Could stand it; then he throwed
His hat down till they laughed to see,
Then jerked his coat an blowed.

He give his galluses a hitch
An squared himself, an then
As quick as that they seen him pitch
Right 'mongst the gals an men.
'Twas dancin now without a doubt,
Fer them they seen him peel
His weskits off an jump about
In a Virginny reel.

The Sloan Medicine Co.,
Hamilton.

GUELPH, Nov. 23RD, 1897.

DEAR SIRS,—

For years I was troubled with periodical sick headaches, being affected usually every Sunday, and used all the remedies that were advertised as cures and was treated by almost every doctor in Guelph but without any relief. One doctor told me it was caused by a weak stomach, another said it was hereditary and incurable. I was induced by a neighbour to try SLOAN'S INDIAN TONIC, and am happy to say I did so. A few doses gave immediate relief and one bottle and a half made a complete cure. This was three years ago and the headaches have never returned. I was also troubled with asthma, and nothing helped me like Sloan's Indian Tonic. I can heartily recommend it to all, and will be glad to give any particulars to any one afflicted as I was.

Free Trial To Any Honest Man

The Foremost Medical Company in the World in the Cure of Weak Men Makes this Offer.

HEALTH AND ENERGY ASSURED. HAPPY MARRIAGE, GOOD TEMPER, LONG LIFE.

In all the world to-day—in all the history of the world—no doctor nor institution has treated and restored so many men as has the famed ERIE MEDICAL CO. of Buffalo, N. Y.

This is due to the fact that the company controls some inventions and discoveries which have no equal in the whole realm of medical science.

So much deception has been practiced in advertising that this grand old company now for the first time makes this startling offer:—

They will send their costly and magically effective appliance and a whole month's course of restorative remedies, positively on trial without expense to any honest and reliable man!

Not a dollar need be advanced—not a penny paid—till results are known to and acknowledged by the patient.

The Erie Medical Company's appliance and remedies have been talked about and written about all over the world, till every man has heard of them.

They restore or create strength, vigor, healthy tissue and new life.

They quickly stop drains on the system that sap the energy.

They cure nervousness, despondency and all the effects of evil habits, excesses, overwork, etc.

They give full strength, development and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Failure is impossible and age is no barrier.

This "Trial without Expense" offer is limited by the company to a short time, and application must be made at once.

No C. O. D. scheme, no begging philanthropy nor deception, no exposure—a clean business proposition by a company of high financial and professional standing.

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, BUFFALO, N.Y., and refer to seeing the account of their offer in this paper.

Another of the Government's principles has been Integrity in Public Life—integrity in public matters. All have been found to recognize the fact that the Government is being carried on in the interest of the people, and not of the individual or the contractor. A man must represent his constituency and not himself. He must be the servant, and not the master, of the people.

NO BETTER ILLUSTRATION of this can be found than in the pile of buildings in the Queen's Park which is occupied by the members. It was erected without one dollar being wrongfully expended. An insinuation as affecting this statement was once made by a member of the Opposition, when Christopher Fraser had instantly risen and demanded an immediate retraction or the formation of a Committee of Enquiry on the spot. The member of the Opposition had to withdraw the remark on the request of his leader, Sir William Ralph Meredith. It was a proud thing to be able to claim to be a member of a Government, who as Mr. Stratton had stated, had expended over $60,000,000, and not a cent found its way into the wrong channel.

In the dark days through which Canada had recently passed, many had to hang their heads in shame when the finger was pointed at the action of high Government officials, but in all this time Ontario had continued to be the green oasis, where no wrong-doing had been permitted, and where the Government had been carried along on the principles of integrity in public life.

"Liberty" was another of the principles in which the Government prided itself. Liberty of the subject. The right of the subject to think and act for himself in this country had been declared. The Government had for all to express their opinion. They had been given the ballot. Election fights had been done away with, and a man was enabled to vote according to his convictions without anyone being the wiser. Every man was allowed to worship according to the dictates of his own conscience, and while the speaker deferred to the Roman Catholic in allowing him to worship as he saw fit, he expected the Roman Catholic to do the same by him.

"Progression" was another of the principles referred to. Ontario is a new country, and its people believe in seeing it developed. We are young, and haven't got our farms in working order yet. We are not yet in a position to sit down and let things drift, and the Government is not like the man who is afraid to spend a dollar in his business for fear he may never see it again. Bankruptcy would speedily overtake the farmer who did not erect buildings on his farm and construct drains, etc. True business principles demanded that a man must spend his money to put his property in such condition that he can realize the very best price for it at any time.

The Ontario Government would be ashamed to stand before the people if it had not spent the money which was entrusted to it to invest. It would be an acknowledgment that they did not know what to do with it of laying it out wisely. Then those men who criticise and croak at the Government would have some ground on which to work. They could say the people needed other men in power who knew the needs of the country and can expend the money in such a way as to reap the best return.

The real question is: Has the money been spent wisely and has good value been received in return? And the Government is glad to be in a position to say that there has been an increased expenditure every year as the needs of the country increased.

The first steps required in a new country is transportation facilities. How much would a farm be worth in Peterborough county if there were no railroads running into it? These railways would never have been constructed if it had not been for the assistance the Government had been able to render to their aid. Was that wrong? Let the Opposition say the expenditure has been wrongfully increased. It is possible and easy to talk in such a manner, and an insult to the intelligence of the electorate.

The railways are not enough, however, as they cannot run to every farm. How about the hardy pioneer? Are not colonization roads needed for him? This is the special work in which Mr. Stratton takes and gives so much of his attention. The Government has not hesitated about spending the money in making roads. It was the people's money and was spent for the people's benefit. It must be done and what is more it shall be done. Men living in this constituency know the value of colonization roads far better than I do.

Then there is the opening up of mineral lands and the Government will not hesitate to ask for considerable money for mining roads.

We have great industries in this country and our mining industry is increasing year by year, but the greatest of interest is that of agriculture, which I specially represent.

Many young men are anxious to start for the Klondyke just now, but would you be surprised if I say that we have better mines right here, on some of which you that are farmers are living. Yes, we have mines here that will prove just as lucrative as the Klondyke if properly worked. You can get to the bottom of a mine and exhaust it, but you can never get to the bottom of a good Ontario farm if you look after it.

Our mines are undoubtedly developing in Ontario and last year the minerals exported amounted to $5,000,000, but then butter and cheese exported was valued at $27,000,000, livestock at $26,000,000, wheat at $22,000,000, hay at $22,000,000 and so on. So we can see which is the most important interest. This is turning out wealth for the Province of Ontario. If it wasn't for these fields around the town where would you get your business. Farmers don't keep the money which the get. No money permeates so quickly through the country as that which falls into the hands of the farmer. If he doesn't prosper no one else will. Sometimes the farmer feels discouraged, but he should realize now that if he fails in his crops, all other business will fall with him.

Are we properly developing our Agriculture mines? Are we making any progress? Although passing through a depression, yet we have been able to produce more and more of wealth from this mine in this province. The Ontario Government is doing more for the development of agriculture than any territory in the entire world. We are taking the lead in agriculture not only in the Dominion, but of the continent and the world over, and we are doing it for less money than any other country. What have we got to aid us? Our splendid Agricultural College in Guelph, and at a recent convention in Scotland we were pointed out as the foremost instructors in the world. The Agricultural College is the best place in this country where a farmer's son can go if he wishes to develop into an all round man. He is not merely taught to handle a plough but he is given a sound English education covering and a special education in livestock, beekeeping, dairying and poultry raising under the most favourable circumstances. There is an atmosphere in the Collegiate Institute that inculcates a distaste for the farm, but a farmer who wants his boy to be a farmer need have no fear of anything like this if he sends him to Guelph. If a boy sees there it makes him desirous of becoming a farmer and he will come away an enthusiast. No investment of the public money is giving better returns than the Agricultural College—not in money but in the increased intelligence of young farmers.

Then the Farmers' Institutes are better attended every year by reason of the well-posted men the Government sends out to talk to the farmers every winter along any line on which they are particularly interested. There are also the dairying schools at Guelph, Strathroy and Kingston, giving special education in one of our greatest industries.

What are the results of all this expenditure of money on behalf of the farmers? We went to face the world at Chicago, where we could not have faced them if it had not been for this educational work, and in every department we took a first or a second prize. [illegible] has captivated Great Britain. Why? Because the farmers were educated up to the art of making it of the American product that there is no place for the latter in the English market. Although the Americans started even in the race they didn't have the means of receiving the same education as the Ontario farmers. We haven't succeeded as well with butter, but we will, as we are working along the same lines as we did with the cheese. A travelling dairy is out all through the summer months for purposes of instruction.

The speaker was proud of the Ontario farmers, and more proud of the efforts which the Government was making to advance their interests. In concluding he stated that he had tried to point out the business principles on which the Ontario Government was carried on, and he asked for the careful consideration of what he had said. He urged that everything be not taken for granted that appeared in the Mail and Empire, but that an effort be made to hear both sides of every argument.

After considering our record, he said, do you want a change?

What do the directors of a bank say after a prosperous year? Do they say to try a change? Would that be business?

Talking of change, what better have the Conservatives to offer in men—what better in principles?

They have nothing better to present and only talk of side issues in an endeavour to draw a herring across the trail in Mr. St. John's pig, which has been dragged up and down the country.

I want you to elect Mr. Stratton, continued Mr. Dryden. What are you going TO DO ABOUT IT?

The convention—Elect him!

Mr. Dryden—That's right. If such a convention as this says it will elect him it will be done, and I go back and tell Mr. Hardy that he has one safe constituency. (Applause.) And why should he not be re-elected? Have you not tried and proven him? I have known him even better than you do in his Parliamentary life and can tell you that no people have a man in the House more interested in the welfare of his constituency than Mr. Stratton, and the fact is I think he has been getting more than his share of the public money for his own constituency. You could not send a more capable man to the House, and when he asks us for favours none of us can resist him. We can't refuse him and that is why he gets so much.

Mr. Whitney says the people want a change. Surely the people of West Peterborough don't want to change to Mr. Garvin of whom I can find out nothing. Even the Conservatives would not like to see such a change, and I fully expect to see Mr. Stratton returned by a majority of 1500. (Applause.)

On Mr. Dryden taking his seat, a vote of thanks to him for his address was moved by Mr. Richard Hall and heartily carried, being followed by three cheers for the Queen, three for the Minister of Agriculture, and three for Mr. J. R. Stratton.

Dear Sirs,—Constipation for years has been my chief ailment; it seemed to come oftener in spite of all I could do. However some time ago I was told of Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pill, which I have done, with the result of what appears now to be a perfect cure.—Truly yours,

J. Harris.

THE LEGISLATURE

Premier Hardy's Joke About Clarke Wallace of West York.

MR. ST. JOHN'S "PIGGERY" AGAIN

Order of the House Granted Him for a Return of the Hogs Slaughtered or Which Died at the "Piggery"—Answers to Questions—Spruce Tree Plague—Mining Claims Regulations.

Toronto, Dec. 14.—The time of the Legislature was taken up chiefly yesterday afternoon by Mr. St. John, who never loses an opportunity to keep his "piggery" before the eyes of the country. He made little of his cry yesterday, the chief feature of the debate being the production of proof that he had been very far out in his calculation as to the cost of that institution. When first Mr. St. John started to speak of the cost of the piggery upon the stump he had placed it at $35,000, yesterday he was prepared to admit it had not cost more than $7000, and tried to shift his ground of complaint from the cost of the buildings to the selling of alleged diseased hogs. In this charge also he was put to shame. He denied that the hogs had been killed under the supervision of the Government inspector and described the man who had performed this office as short, stout and slightly lame.

Hon. Mr. Hardy—"According to your description it must have been your friend Hon. Clarke Wallace who officiated." (Laughter.)

Mr. St. John assured the House Mr. Wallace had nothing to do with it.

Those Pigs Again.

Mr. St. John moved for an order of the House for a return showing the value of the hogs which died, or were slaughtered at the Humber piggery during the outbreak of cholera in July, 1895. He said after the hogs had been killed, because of the cholera, some ninety of them had been sold as food. This, he considered, almost criminal.

Hon. Mr. Davis said the piggery had been established in the public interest. Previous to the time of its establishment the public institutions within the city of Toronto had each a piggery in connection with them that refuse might be properly handled. A Toronto by-law prevented the continuance of these piggeries, and, as a result, the Humber piggery was established. The land cost $1000 and the buildings $1537 and including the dwelling house, rebuilding, water supply, etc., in all $7030, not $35,000, as Mr. St. John had stated at Paris. (Hear, hear.) When the cholera broke out Mr. Andrew Smith, the Dominion Government Inspector, was asked to take charge of the piggery. He did so, and under his advice and direction everything that was done according to law was done. Mr. St. John had charged that some of the hogs killed were sold. This was true, but they had been dressed and sold under the direction of the Dominion Inspector. (Hear, hear.) The Government had nothing to hide in connection with this matter and would call as witnesses before the Public Accounts Committee any persons the Opposition desired. (Cheers.) During the three years since the establishment of the piggery $9000 were expended and $9605 received from the sale of hogs. This was a gain to the province of over $9000. He predicted a gain of from two to three thousand dollars yearly from the piggery to the province.

Dr. Meacham could not see why there should not be a handsome yearly profit from the piggery. He did not think, however, that the piggery had been built for any such figure as stated by the Provincial Secretary. Messrs. Crawford and Matheson also had a few words to say, when the motion was allowed to pass without opposition.

Answers to Questions.

Hon. Mr. Hardy, answering Mr. Langford, said a petition had been received in 1896 complaining that Mr. W. J. Stimpson, J. P., was not a proper person to fill such an office. Mr. Stimpson was given an opportunity to reply. He pointed out that many of the singatures had been placed upon the petition by Barnardo boys and other irresponsible persons. The petition was of a vague and general character. Upon Mr. Stimpson's reply being received the matter was dropped, and since that date there had been no further complaints.

Hon. Mr. Hardy, answering Mr. Langford, said last year an investigation had been held in regard to the alleged misconduct of the Superintendent of the Algonquin Park. Answering Mr. Carnegie, he said no permit had been issued to shoot in Algonquin Park last year or at any other time.

Hon. Mr. Davis, answering Mr. St. John, said in July, 1896, cholera had broken out in the Humber piggery; 261 hogs had been killed, 168 were diseased and burned, 97 were dressed and sold after inspection.

The Spruce Tree Plague.

Dr. Brodie has returned from investigating the plague in connection with spruce trees throughout the province. He reports that it is much more wide-spread than was at first believed, being in very close proximity to the great forests.

Experiments have been made on the trees, and it has been found that it is almost impossible to destroy the insect. Paris green has been tried, but the insect seems to thrive on it. The only way that the insect can be destroyed is by having the tree cut down and burned.

The Government will probably take immediate steps to enter upon a campaign against this bug.

Mining Claims Regulations.

The Bureau of Mines is acting as arbiter now in disputes over Michipicoten mining claims. A number of the claims were taken up before the district was set aside as a mining district. The Bureau is making no definite rule, but taking up each case individually. Before any claimant is permitted to possess the lands claimed, he must satisfy the Bureau that he surveyed his lands and property, and carried out all the regulations required by the old law.

Civil Servants Must Pay.

Mr. McDonald gave notice that he would introduce a bill to compel civil servants to pay their debts or permit their creditors to attach the money due them in the hands of the Government.

DEATH OF MR. ROBERT SIMPSON.

The Head of a Toronto Departmental Store Passes Away This Morning.

Toronto, Dec. 14.—Mr. Robert Simpson, head of the great departmental establishment of Robert Simpson & Co. (limited). Yonge and Queen streets, in this city, died this morning at half an hour after midnight, at his residence, 90 Bloor street east.

The end was not unexpected, for Mr. Simpson had been seriously ill for several weeks past, and had been attended by Dr. Cameron and Dr. Graham.

Citizens generally learned with deep regret of Mr. Simpson's decease, for he was known to all the commercial community and very highly respected, both for his personal qualities and strict business integrity.

Mr. Simpson was in business at Newmarket before coming to this city, nearly a score of years ago. He prospered, and from small beginnings, by indomitable perseverance and personal attention to every detail of the trade, built up the present mammoth concern.

Unostentatious and unassuming, he was a representative of the class of shrewd business men who have been the architects of their own fortunes. By the hundreds of his employes—from buyers down to shop boys—he was respected and trusted. In private life and social circles he was genial and kind, and little did those who but a short while ago saw his robust form and hearty cordiality imagine that ere Christmastide should come the merchant prince would be no more. Mr. Simpson was 68 years of age, and leaves a widow and one daughter, Mrs. Hamilton Merritt.

Two Horses Were Killed.

Napanee, Ont., Dec. 14.—Yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock a team of horses owned by Willet Sims of Conway ran away on Main street and collided with a single horse driven by a lady from the country, the tongue of Sims' wagon penetrating the breast of the single horse, killing it instantly. One of Sims' horse's legs was broken, and it had to be shot.

PIC RIVER TRAGEDY.

Two Men Go Out Into the Bush, One Returns.

THE BODY OF THE OTHER FOUND

An Unknown German Tells His English Fellow-Traveler in Algoma That When Life is About Over He Will Put a Bullet Through His Brain, and He Does It on Time.

Heron Bay, Algoma, Dec. 14.—The arrival here on Wednesday last of a famished traveler revealed the occurrence of a bush tragedy which will have to be investigated by the proper authorities. The man who came in reached Heron Bay about 6 o'clock in the evening and demanded food, saying that he had had nothing to eat for forty-eight hours. He stated that he had left his place on Oct. 6 in company with a German, and that he had left his companion lying helpless at a place about fifteen miles up the Pic River.

The man, who is an Englishman, said that on Oct. 26, when in the bush, the German shot himself through the wrist with a 45 calibre rifle. He doctored him up as well as he could and got him to within 15 miles of here, but then the German gave up. On Wednesday morning the Englishman left him to come here; the pair were in a shack, and the Englishman said that his companion had told him that he would sit there until the fire went out, and then he would put a bullet through his head.

A search party was made up, consisting of Messrs. Morrisseau, Paul Goodchild and Thomas Dickinson, and went out to investigate, going by way of Peninsula Station, which is seven miles from the place where the man was left. On Wednesday morning three men had left Peninsula Station, and next morning the search party met one of these men coming back with the news that the body of the German had been found in the shack. The search party went, looked at the body, and returned without touching anything in the shack.

From the examination made it looked as if the man had died by his own hand. He was sitting on a ledge about a foot high near the wall; his legs were stretched out, and his body thrown on the right side towards the fire. His rifle was between his legs, with the butt on the floor, the muzzle right against his breast, and the left arm covering it. The gun was very short and could have been discharged by the fingers.

The party returned on Thursday night, and wired Coroner Beck at Port Arthur. They did not get what they considered a satisfactory answer, and the Englishman on Friday wrote to Dr. Beck and demanded an inquest. Little doubt is felt as to the tragedy being a suicide.

THE NEW POST CARDS.

The Postmaster-General Issues Regulations Concerning the Advertising Permissible Upon Them—Ottawa Notes.

Ottawa, Dec. 14.—The following are the regulations under which designs, illustrations, portraits, sketches or other forms of advertisement may be engraved, lithographed or printed on the "address" side of the one cent post card:—(1) A clear space of at least a quarter of an inch shall be left along each of the four sides of the postage stamp; (2) there shall be reserved for the address a clear space at the lower right-hand corner on the "address" side of the card immediately below the words "the space below is reserved for address only," such space so reserved for the address being at least three and one-quarter inches long by one and one-half inches wide. It is in the interest of both the department and those availing themselves of the privilege hereby granted that the spaces in question should be unconditionally reserved for the purposes intended. If any printing, engraving or other matter appears on the spaces thus reserved the post cards cannot be permitted to pass through the mails.

Letter Postage to Be Two Cents.

(Telegram special.)—It is reported on the very best of authority that Parliament will be asked to endorse proposals from the Postoffice Department reducing letter postage to two cents throughout the whole Dominion of Canada. The reduction will be conditional on Parliament's consent to the abolition of the privilege of free transmission for newspapers. It is impossible to verify the report as yet, but it is practically certain that the Postmaster-General will propose the abolition of free postage for newspapers and the reduction of the letter rate to two cents at the approaching session of the Dominion Parliament.

The militia authorities indignantly deny the report circulated to the effect that Dr. Borden, or some one in authority, had publicly stated the pay lists during the Fenian Raids had been burned. Neither Dr. Borden, nor any officer of the department ever gave out any such fable.

Apropos of the rumors that the Premier had asked for the appointment of a Papal Nuncio, one of the Cabinet says that the Government has nothing to do with it anyhow. It is, however, pointed out that for some years previous to the last general election the Liberal party were in favor and even desirous of having a Papal ablegate, not nuncio, appointed here, to prevent the interference of the clergy in the elections, and to decide matters ecclesiastical. The Government, it is stated, have not even asked for the appointment of such an officer, and it is admitted by some of the Ministers that if Sir Wilfrid Laurier has made any request for the appointment of an ablegate, the very fact of his being the head of the Government has committed the Government as a whole to sanctioning the request.

Mr. C. E. Devlin, ex-M.P., immigration agent to Ireland, arrived here this morning. He has recently lost one child, and has another dangerously ill here.

Severe Headaches

Resulting from Catarrh Cause Great Suffering

The Great Blood Purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures.

Sufferers from any disease caused by impure blood should never be discouraged about taking Hood's Sarsaparilla because other medicines have failed to give relief. Remember Hood's Sarsaparilla cures when all others fail. Read this statement:

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Dear Sirs:—I think it my duty to let you know what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. I was suffering with severe headaches daily and also with catarrh. One day a paper was left at my house and in looking it over I read of your great medicine's value to my fellow sufferers. I reasoned that if it cured them, why would it not cure me, although I must own I had some doubts about it, as I

Had Tried So Many

so-called cures which had failed even to relieve me. At last I procured a bottle and after taking all the medicine the headaches had left me and my catarrh trouble was much better. I continued taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and have derived so much benefit from it that I would advise any one troubled with impure blood to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier. I feel better now than I have for years, thanks to Hood's Sarsaparilla." Mrs. E. Grey, 37 St. Nicholas St., Toronto, Ontario. Remember

A MATTER OF INTEREST

To the Farmers of Canada—Distribution of Seed Grain Samples.

The annual distribution of samples of some of the best varieties of seed grain to farmers, for test in different parts of the Dominion, has, during the past ten years, done much to direct attention to the importance of sowing the best sorts of seed, and in many sections of the country this introduction of new sorts has resulted in a decided improvement in the yield and quality of grain produced. Nearly all the varieties sent out are grown on Experimental Farms and are selected from among those which, after being submitted to careful and repeated tests, have produced the largest average crops of grain of good quality.

Having received instructions from the Honourable Minister of Agriculture to continue this useful work and make another distribution during the season, I shall be pleased to receive applications from all who desire samples. As heretofore, one sample of one variety can be only sent to each applicant, and the distribution will be confined to samples of wheat, oats, barley, field peas, Indian corn and potatoes.

Among the varieties of grain to be distributed during the coming season, will be some of the more promising of the new cross-bred sorts, which have been produced at the Experimental Farms. All the grain sent out will be carefully cleaned and true to name. To prevent the disappointment which occurs when parties receives samples of varieties they already have, it would be well for each person applying to name two or three sorts which he would prefer, arranging them in the order of preference; when, in case the stock of the first named variety is exhausted, the second or third could be substituted. As it is proposed to only send these samples on personal, single application, it is important that every farmer who desires a sample should apply for himself. Lists of names will not be considered. All letters addressed to the Central Farm at Ottawa may be sent free of Postage, and the samples weighing three pounds each will be sent free to the applicants, through the mail. The distribution will begin early in December, and as the stock is limited and the applications will be filled in the order in which they are received, those sent in early will have the advantage. Applications may, however, be sent in at any time before the 1st of March; but after that date the list will be closed so as to ensure the sending out of all the samples in time for early sowing.

Wm. Saunders,
Director, Experimental Farms.

GO TO THE FOUNTAIN

That Gives Vitality and Robust Strength.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND, THE WORLD'S GRANDEST MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

A few words of advice to the weary, diseased, broken down or despairing, before it is too late.

You are evidently still in the slough of despondency, wondering why all your former efforts to obtain health have failed.

Ah! suffering brother and sister, you have not yet found that fountain of healing and health that tens of thousands of others have reached. In the past you have been misguided and deceived. You have followed, perhaps, the advice of friends and doctors, who failed to grapple with the seriousness of your case, and now you are deeper than ever before in the miry pit of suffering.

Tens of thousands who suffered greater agonies than you have endured are now well, active and enjoying the blessings of health, while you are still a slave to disease.

The rescued ones found their new life in Paine's Celery Compound, earth's truest and grandest fountain of vitality. You have the same privileges—the same right to claim its healing powers. Neglect to do so means continued sickness, agony—yes death.

If you are in earnest search for health, use the great health-giver to-day; your case is too desperate to admit of delay; prompt action is your only hope.

Mrs. W. Wigglesworth, of Liverpool, N. S., a cured lady, writes as follows:

"For fifteen years I suffered from nervous diseases and other troubles. A lady friend recommended me to use Paine's Celery Compound, and I have since received great benefit. Paine's Celery Compound has done what no other medicine could do for me. I can sleep well now, and my appetite is splendid. I advise all who are sufferers from nervousness and other diseases to it. Seven bottles restored my health wonderfully."

HIS ONLY HOPE.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Saved Harry Stuart After all Other Remedies Failed.

London, Dec. 13th.—In nine-tenths of the homes of London, the all-absorbing topic of conversation is Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Thousands of happy, grateful men and women, are telling of their rescue from Diabetes, Bright's Disease, Paralysis and other kidney diseases hitherto called incurable. All tell how how Dodd's Kidney Pills cured, after all other means had failed.

Harry Stuart, 164 Mill street, told our reporter to-day that a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him completely of long standing kidney disease and lumbago. Doctors could not cure him. Neither could other remedies. Dodd's Kidney Pills were his only hope. THEY CURED HIM. They never fail to cure any case of Kidney Disease.

Edward III's Drum Corps.

Probably introduced from the east, it is frequently mentioned in the accounts of the first crusade. When Edward III and his queen made their triumphal entry into Calais, "tambours," or drums, were among the instruments which were played in their honor. Another of these was called a "naker," or kettle-drum, taken, together with its name, from the Arabs. The poet Chaucer also mentions this instrument in his description of the tournament in the "Knightes Tale:"

Fyftes, trompes, nakeres and clariounes,
That in the bataille blowen blody sounes.

The king generally kept a troop of these handsmen or minstrels in his employ, and we read that Edward II on one occasion gave a sum of 60 shillings to Roger the Trumpeter, Janino the Nakerer and others for their performances.—Chambers' Journal.

For the Children.

When coughs and colds distress the children Norway Pine Syrup comes to the rescue. It soothes and heals the throat, removes the phlegm, and is pleasant and easy to take.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn., says: "Shiloh's Vitaliser saved my life. I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney trouble it excels. Price 75 cts.

People Praise It.

Dear Sirs,—I have often had coughs and colds, as well as bronchitis. Norway Pine Syrup cures me every time. I recommend it as a perfect cure for all throat and lung troubles.

A Physician's Diagnosis of the Physical Condition of the Winner—What Miller Ate.

New York, Dec. 14.—H. Valentine Wildman, M.D., an eminent New York physician, had the opportunity to examine the leader of the six day race, Miller. He was reclining on a couch in the trainer's apartment. The temperature of the room was quite high, I should say, about 80 degrees. Yet the leader of the race felt quite chilly. I examined his heart, and, much to my surprise, found the pulse rate 60, and but somewhat intermittent, at times running up to 70 a minute. There were dark circles around his eyes, his lips and ears of a bluish tinge, tongue quite tremulous. He is a man of fine physique, with a very large chest, which gives him great lung capacity.

The muscles were very flabby, and the different joints were much swollen and painful to pressure, especially the ankles and knees. I should think that he had incipient synobitis. His mind was in fair condition, although he was a little confused, and did not not know exactly how his score was. The fact that he had had a Turkish bath accounted in a measure for his good condition.

His actions, although perforce truly well, were those of a man suffering from exhaustion and inanition, and he evidently would soon break up altogether. He is a man of splendid proportions—a born athlete; his great muscular resources, added to a stolid and imperturbable will, were, in my mind, the means by which he won the victory.

During the six days' race Miller's food supply consisted of 8 pounds of rice, 1 pound of oatmeal, half a pound of barley, 12 quarts of coffee, 24 quarts of bottled milk, taken with lime water; 5 dozen pint jars of kumyss, 5 dozen apples, and yesterday the juice of half a dozen oranges and two pounds of grapes. No meat passed his lips, and to this fact he attributes his ability to keep up a fast clip nearly all the time. Having a lead of almost 90 miles at different times in the last 24 hours, he was inclined to take things easy, knowing his lead to be a safe one. Thus, between snatches of sleep and easy riding, he improved his physical condition and maintained his advantage in the race.

FOUR KILTIES KILLED

And Fourteen Wounded in Another Hot Indian Fight.

THEY RUSH A NATIVE VILLAGE.

The Tribesmen's Fierce Attack on a Guard Transporting Wounded—Several Casualties Among the Sepoys—The Amalgamated Engineers Reject Terms—Result of Ballot.

Simla, Dec. 14.—General Kempster's rear guard, according to official despatches from the front, while transporting a number of wounded, was cut off by the tribesmen on Saturday near Sher-Khel, and was obliged to entrench for the night. By morning there was severe fighting, but the British finally rushed the village and dislodged the enemy. The Highlanders lost four killed and 14 wounded, and there were several casualties among the Sepoys before the rear guard of the brigade was finally relieved.

THE UNION BALLOT.

It is Almost Unanimously Against Accepting the Proposals of the Employers—A Meeting To-day.

London, Dec. 14.—The ballot taken by the unions of the Amalgamated Society of Engineers is almost unanimous against accepting the proposals of the employers The ballot referred to in the recent despatches grew out of the formal conference between the representatives of the striking engineers and their employers, which began on Nov. 24 last, and after several sessions was adjourned on Dec. 3 to Dec. 14, in order to allow the delegates of the engineers to submit to the various unions the terms of the masters.

The employers, through their representatives at the conference, declined to recede from their position respecting freedom in the management of their business without the interference of the unions, and emphatically pronounce against a reduction in the hours of labor, on the ground that such a diminution would mean a smaller output and inability to meet foreign competitors. The general impression when the conference was adjourned to allow the ballot was that unless the unions accepted these terms there would be a renewal of the deadlock.

The strike began on July 15 last, with a lockout upon the part of some of the engineers, followed by the engineers calling out a large number of men, until about a hundred thousand engineers were thrown out of work. The ostensible reason for the strike was the question of the payment of overtime and incidentally for eight hours per day. The engineers have insisted upon eight hours' work, and that all overtime must count as one and a quarter time for the first two hours and as time and a half after that.

BROKE HIS WIFE'S NECK.

An Indian Who Was Afraid His Relatives Would be Eaten Took Drastic Measures.

Winnipeg, Dec. 14.—Indian Agent Short, who arrived Saturday from Berens River, brought particulars of a horrible murder, which occurred 80 miles east of Berens River reserve. An Indian woman was suffering from typhoid fever and became delirious. Her husband thought she had become a Wendigo, and decided that she must be killed in order to prevent her from eating other members of her band. Grabbing his wife around the body with one arm, he grasped her hair with the other hand, and twisted her head until he broke her neck. It was decided to take the Indian into custody on a charge of murder.

The Work of Firebugs.

Stouffville, Dec. 14.—At 12.30 yesterday morning fire, presumably started by an incendiary, destroyed the barns and outbuildings on the farm of George Richardson, two miles from Claremont. Cattle, horses and sheep perished, and grain, hay and implements were destroyed.

Scott's Emulsion is not a "baby food," but is a most excellent food for babies who are not well nourished.

A part of a teaspoonful mixed in milk and given every three or four hours, will give the most happy results.

The cod-liver oil with the hypophosphites added, as in this palatable emulsion, not only to feeds the child, but also regulates its digestive functions.

How Long Will This Piano Last?

The above question is asked by almost every piano purchaser before making a decision.

If you are discussing a Chickering Piano there is an emphatic answer.

No matter what YOUR age rest assured the piano will outlive you.

There is no one living who has ever purchased a Chickering piano AND WORN IT OUT.

Think of the number of children to-day practising upon Chickering pianos purchased by their grandparents.

These are thousands of Chickering pianos so purchased and so used.

Perhaps, they are not as good as they were 50 or 60 or 70 years ago, but the marvel is that they are in use at all.

The majority of pianos by other makers are worn out in a third the period.

These are simple Chickering facts.

PARSONAGE RECEPTION.

Rev. S. Shorey's new Residence Crowded With Guests Last Friday Evening.

The "house warming" of the beautiful new parsonage provided by the liberality of the George street Methodist church, was held last Friday night.

This "house warming" which was in the nature of a reception given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, attracted a very large attendance. Some of the guests arrived as early as half past six and the flow continued till half past nine, when the capacity of the building was taxed to its utmost.

The house was lighted from cellar to attic by means of incandescent lights and it presented a very striking appearance.

The greater part of the evening was spent in social intercourse interspersed with numbers from an impromptu programme as follows:

Instrumental duet.....Misses Abbie and Sarah Robinson
Mandolin Trio....Miss Dobbin, Miss Boyer and Master Alf Cox
Piano solo.....Mrs McAllister
Vocal solo.....Mr A L Davis
Piano duet.....Misses Sherin and Morrow
Vocal selection.....Mr A L Davis and Miss Stevens

The programme was an excellent one and much enjoyed by all.

Luncheon was served throughout the evening. Most excellent tea and coffee were supplied by Mr. C. H. Hutchings, of the Sikim Tea Parlour, and was pronounced as being most delicious. The reception was a most unqualified success in every sense of the term.

THE MAYORALTY CONTEST.

An Interview With Mr. A. L. Davis—He Will be a Candidate—His Reasons for Entering the Field—A Large and Influential Deputation Waits Upon Him—He Consents to Run.

This morning the EXAMINER called upon Mr. A. L. Davis in connection with the rumour that he was likely to be a candidate for the Mayoralty, at the approaching municipal elections.

"It is rumoured, Mr. Davis, that you contemplate becoming a candidate for the Mayoralty for 1898. What is your position?"

Mr. Davis—"I was waited upon yesterday by a large and influential deputation of citizens, representing all classes of the community, requesting me to allow my name to go to the electors for the Mayoralty."

"What was your reply?"

Mr. Davis—"I told them that I was thankful for the honour and that I regarded the Mayoralty as both a gift and a trust from the people and that as they had so urgently pressed their desire to place the trust in my hands, I felt it my duty to sacrifice my personal inclinations and would do my duty as a citizen and place myself in their hands."

"What are your reasons for opposing Mayor Yelland?"

Mr. Davis—"In the first place he has held the position for two years and has, therefore, had his share of the honours that should be enjoyed by any citizen in connection with the office. Besides, there was a desire on the part of the citizens for a new man. I have no personal feelings against Mr. Yelland and hope we shall come out of the contest as good friends as we are now. And a large number of the ratepayers, including many of our best citizens, have expressed the need there is for having a business mayor, that is, a man of business experience and business connections, who would make it his business to originate matters looking to the advancement of the interests of the town and not content himself with mere occupancy of the mayor's chair. The need has been expressed of a mayor who would carry out an aggressive policy in the town's interest as against a policy of drift—letting things run themselves. I have been also assured that my business and other relations and connections would give me an influence at headquarters, in case the town might need any favours from the Dominion Government, that would place me, as mayor, in a better position to push the claims of the town successfully."

"When will the campaign open?"

Mr. Davis—"I am preparing a card which will generally define my position in regard to the Mayoralty and it will be in the people's hands to-morrow."

The Power of Electricity.

By this agency Nerviline is made to penetrate to the most remote nerve—every bone, muscle and ligament is made to feel its beneficent power. Nerviline is a wonderful remedy, pleasant to even the youngest child yet so powerfully far reaching in its work that the most agonizing internal or external pain yields as if by magic.

Appropriate Decorations,

For all occasions, executed in an effective manner. Fancy coloured bunting, streamers, flags, mottoes, evergreens, etc., expertly arranged. Halls, homes, societies, ball rooms, supper rooms, hotels, etc., dressed in the gayest effects. Special attention to wedding events, social functions, political meetings and other public gatherings. A. KINGSCOTTE, tent and awning manufacturer and decorator, 434 Water street.

Washing Day.

The drudgery of housekeeping for the workingman's wife comes on washing day, when there is no washing machine or wringer in the house. It's killing on women who are raising a family, especially at this season of the year when blankets and other heavy articles of the home must be cleaned for winter. Washing and wringing makes more aching arms and tired bodies than anything else a woman can do. Husbands might be a little more thoughtful. In hundreds of cases they could buy a new washer and wringer every year for what it costs to pay for doctor's bills and servants for their tired-out wives, whose health has been run down over the washboard and washtub. Take a hint, you men, and make time to see the two kinds of labour-saving washing machines made by G. Walter Green at his pump factory on Dickson's race. If you can't make time, ring up telephone No. 98, or address box 302, and have him send one over to your house.

COUNTY COURT.

There are no Criminal Cases for the Grand Jury to Consider.

The general sessions of the County Court opened this afternoon before Judge Weller.

There were no criminal cases on the docket and therefore the work of the Grand Jury, comprised of the following gentlemen, will be light:—

Herbert Cairnduff, Harvey; Richard Rimhirst, John Hanbridge, Otonabee; Joseph Edwards, Dummer; David A. Fraser, Norwood; John Fraser, H. P. Lindsay, George Munro, H. B. Meharry, Peterborough; John L. Madill, Lakefield; James McCliggott, Douro; and Jeremiah Welsh, Burleigh.

There are three appeal cases to be taken up, viz:—

Floody vs. Conway, in which Inspector Floody, of the Inland Revenue Department, is the appellant against the decision of Magistrate Edmison in dismissing a charge preferred against Michael Conway, of allowing an illicit still to be conducted on premises controlled by him. E. B. Edwards for appelant, D. O'Connell for respondent.

McNairn vs Rossel, in which Wm. McNairn appeals against the decision of Police Magistrate Dumble, in imposing a fine on the charge of selling goods without a license. Stratton & Hall for appelant, E. B. Edwards for respondent.

Legros vs Rossel, in which Charles Legros appeals against the decision of the Police Magistrate, in fining him for selling tobacco to a minor. Stratton & Hall for appelant; E. B. Edwards for respondent.

GRAND BAZAAR HELD IN THE OPERA HOUSE

For St. Joseph's Hospital and the House of Providence.

THE DECORATIONS UNRIVALLED.

Cosy Nooks and Sylvan Scenes Enhanced the Beauty of the Place—The Girls are Pretty and the Articles They Offer for Sale of Genuine Merit and Superior Quality—Description of the Stalls.

To escape from the dull monotony of town life into the free north country, there to loiter away the time around the islands of beautiful Stony Lake is peace and comfort indeed. Yet almost the same sense of happiness and ease came with the first glances around the Opera House this afternoon. There were to be seen all those harmonious blending of colours so charming to the eye, and bringing with them a feeling of satisfaction and comfort.

Decorations in colours that rivalled the the beauties of the rainbow or an autumn sunset met the eye on every side, beginning at the entrance to the arcade from George street, where the ceiling was gay with festoons and bunting. Inside, little nooks, whose framework of evergreens and flowers gave them the appearances of some sylvan retreat, were stowed away in this corner and that—retreats where one might wish to stop and long enjoy the comfort and beauty there to be found. It could not be called "a state of single blessedness" for in dozens and scores for the especial purpose to see that it was otherwise, and with such charming incentives to spend is it any wonder that the bazaar will be a great success.

Predominating everywhere above bunting, evergreens and all other decorations was that flag of flags—the Union Jack. At every turn it met the the eye, and what decoration, to a loyal Canadian, could vie with that.

The display of fancy goods, children's clothing and ladies' and gentlemen's underwear, surpasses anything which has been shown in this line in the town for years. The quantity is something immense and the work most beautiful. The prices are beyond criticism and what more could be desired when there are such crowds of pretty girls at your elbow all the time to see that you are looked after and receive every attention whilst looking over the tables containing everything desirable in the way of ladies' work for Christmas gifts.

The workers at the bazaar are divided into two parties and the first and second wards stand arrayed against wards three and four and Ashburnham. Along the east side of the Opera House under the gallery is the great fancy work table of the first and second ward. Its decorations are superb. Mrs. Dunn, Mrs. Harry LeBrun and Mrs. Dr. Moher are attending to the children's clothing and underwear; Mrs. Sharp, Mrs. Duignan and Miss McCarthy at the dolls; Mrs. Thos. Cahill and Mrs. M. Halpin to the fancy work, and Mrs. Henry, Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. John Hayes and Miss Hickey to the prizes. A little table just at the door is loaded down with cigars, soda water, etc., and is looked after by Mrs. M. Riley and Mrs. Thos. Leplante. The fish pond is in charge of Miss Annie Simons and Miss Annie O'Neil, and Miss Susie Kelly presides at a table whereon there is a great display of painted hat bands. Mrs. Thos. McGrath and Mrs. P. Heffernan have assumed charge of a ten-cent lottery, and Mrs. Legendre at another table is displaying a beautiful selection of hand-painted plaques, Christmas cards and calendars.

JUST BACK OF THESE

at the end of the hall, and between the two fish ponds, is one of the most attractive spots in the hall—a candy stand arranged in the form of a pavilion. Paine have not been spared to make it pretty and evergreens and chrysanthemums make it a veritable bower of beauty—the attractions not being lessened by any means by the fact that the toothsome sweet meats are dispensed by Miss Addie Forlong, Miss Minnie O'Sullivan and Miss Cleman. "Sweets for the sweet" is the motto hung above the stall, and from the business which is being done, a good many of the patrons of the bazaar must have a good opinion of themselves. A great deal of taste has been displayed by these young ladies in the arrangement of the decorations of their pavilion. A great bank of evergreens, from out of which lights shine in strong relief, has been arranged as a background, and against this the flag draped supports of the stand show up very prettily.

A special prize table is under the charge of Miss Burke, Miss Overend and Miss Vinette. Beautiful articles can be procured here for a very small sum.

Right at the other end of the Opera House, on the stage, seems to be the mecca to which every pilgrim to the bazaar must wend their way before they depart. The prosaic looking old stage would never be recognized under the decorations have arranged as devised by artistic eyes for beauty and effect. The scenery is completely hid by pretty tapestry hangings, and the "Bower of Mirth" is a nook well worth investigating, especially by the sterner sex, as especial provision has been made for their entertainment in the way of cigars, cigarettes, etc. Soft drinks of all sorts are also on tap, and lemon sour and ginger beer flow merrily. Sofas and easy chairs have been disposed around the stage for the comfort of those who wish to linger, and in the boxes card tables have been placed. The young ladies whose taste has been displayed in the arrangements are Miss Kempt, Miss Genevieve Kempt, Miss Brennan and Miss Dillon.

Along the whole length of the west side of the hall runs the fancy work table of the 3rd and 4th wards and Ashburnham and a bewildering display of beautiful things is made, as well as of useful articles in the way of aprons and underwear. Decorations have not been spared to make this apartment attractive.

IT IS IN CHARGE of Mrs (Dr.) Kempt, Mrs. M. J. Coughlin, Mrs. Brennan, Mrs. Begley, Mrs. Doris, Mrs. Dwyer, Mrs. Dineen and Miss Haggerty. The curiosity booth, which is very daintily constructed and where an interesting art collection is on exhibition, is in charge of Mrs. John Moloney. The fish pond in the south west corner is in charge of Mrs. J. J. Lynch and Mrs. George Ball, and here the ladies actually bait the hooks without a screen.

Miss Moran is looking after a booth put up at the corner of the stage, where religious emblems are sold. Some very handsome hand-painted placques are shown.

The dining room has been supplied with everything conceivable to make it attractive, and every day, while the bazaar is open, it is expected that hundreds will avail themselves of it at noon or tea time. Mrs. (Dr.) O'Sullivan has kindly consented to exercise a guiding hand as formerly, and she is ably assisted by Mrs. Leplante, Mrs. McFadden, Mrs. T. Cavanagh, Mrs. Sero, Mrs. O'Brien, Mrs. Crowley, Mrs. Connors, Miss Sullivan, Miss White, Mrs. Simons, Mrs. H. Cavanagh, Mrs. O'Brien, Mrs. McPherson and Mrs. Foley.

That large numbers will be in attendance at the bazaar all week to view the exquisite loveliness of the scene, goes without saying. If beauty doth oft make women proud, those ladies in charge of the various stalls must surely be very proud indeed.

Musical programmes have been arranged for every afternoon and evening.

THIS TELLS THE WHOLE STORY.

A Hamilton lady restored to Health.

Mrs. A. Simpson spoke to our reporter as follows, at her cosy residence, 118 Locke St., Hamilton, Ont. Said Mrs. Simpson, "For the last two years I have suffered greatly from heart and nerve troubles, also pains in my head. My appetite was very poor, and I felt very miserable all the time, hardly able to do my household work. My heart was so bad that I frequently fainted away, and was liable to drop down at any place or time.

Sometimes my heart seemed to bound into my throat so that I thought I would smother. My rest was very much broken, and I grew quite discouraged after using so many medicines without relief.

When I heard of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I decided to try them, and procured a box at John A. Barr's drug store, and now after having used two boxes can say that I am completely cured. My appetite is good, indeed it seems as if I wanted to eat all the time. I sleep well and am thoroughly toned up. Truly I am better than I have been for many years."

THE SULTAN OF TURKEY.

Ex-Minister Terrell Pays Tribute to His Charm of Manner.

Hon. A. W. Terrell, formerly United States minister at Constantinople, contributes "An Interview With the Sultan" to The Century. Mr. Terrell says:

The sultan is over 50 years old, of medium height, with clear olive complexion, dark hair, high forehead and large dark brown eyes. The habitual expression of his face is one of extreme sadness. Though the pashas who attend his palace when ministers or embassadors are entertained are decorated with regal splendor, he always appears in plain garb, wearing a red fes, a frock coat and trousers of dark blue stuff and patent leather shoes. A broad service sword with steel scabbard, which he holds sheathed in his hand, completes the costume. Sometimes a single decoration is worn on his breast. When he is seen thus plainly attired in the throne-room of his palace, on the first day of the feast of Bairam, seated on an ottoman covered with cloth of gold, to receive the congratulations of his civil and military chiefs, who are all radiant in uniforms and decorations, the contrast is very striking. No Christians but those of the diplomatic corps ever witness this impressive ceremony, which is conducted with the order that distinguishes a military review, but with an oriental servility that an American finds it difficult to understand. On such occasions Osman Pasha stands at the sultan's left, holding a cloth of gold scarf, which all reverently kiss after saluting their ruler.

No sovereign in Europe is more courtly or refined in entertaining his guests, and few can be more agreeable in conversation. In his personal intercourse with foreign representatives he is alike free from that stilted dignity which repels confidence and from that absence of real dignity which invites familiarity.

When I first dined at the palace, the sultan sat at the head of the table, with Mrs. Terrell at his right and myself at his left. Osman Pasha, Ismael Pasha, the former khedive of Egypt, the grand vizier and other ministers of state were the other guests.

Nothing could excel the excellence of the cuisine of which he partook with his guests, the table service and decorations, the magnificence of the dining room or the excellence of his wines, which always remain untasted except by Christian guests. Each pasha wore the insignia of his rank, blazing with gems and decorations, while the plain costume of the sultan was alone in harmony with my own. No armed men stood guard at the palace doors, and except a detail from the imperial guard, who always salute a foreign representative on his arrival, no soldiers have ever been seen by me within the palace walls on any of the occasions when I have dined there.

A LONDON EPISODE.

A Prominent Contractor Cured of Bright's Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

London, Dec. 6—Not since the great election trial some years ago, has any London episode created such widespread excitement as has the case of G. E. Brady, of 239 Talbot street.

Mr. Brady, a prominent contractor, suffered for years with Bright's Disease. Doctors and special remedies failed utterly to help him. In despair he tried Dodd's Kidney Pills, and was cured by a few boxes.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have proved themselves, in this city, to be the only remedy that will positively cure every case of Bright's Disease, Diabetes and every other kidney complaint. They have never failed here. People will buy no other medicine.

Shocked and Frightened.

Weak, nervous people having heart troubles are easily shocked and frightened. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills fortify the nerves, restore regular action to the heart and cure every form of heart and nerve trouble. Mrs. Gladys McMillan, Toronto, says: "Milburns Heart and Nerve Pills cured me of nervousness and palpitation. I was so nervous that the least noise would startle me; but am now perfectly well."

THE SIX DAYS' RACE.

Miller Wins It With 2093 Miles and 4 Laps to His Credit — Only Slept 4 Hours.

New York, Dec. 13.—Charles W. Miller of Chicago is the winner of the greatest, hardest and most cruel six day race on the wheel ever held. He has beaten the world's record by 183¼ miles, and has traveled the marvellous distance of 2093¼ miles in 142 hours.

Final score, 142 hours: Best previous record, 1910 miles, eight laps; holder, Teddy Hale:

A Heart-Breaking, Killing Pace.

Just 15 men out of the 36 that started lasted till the finish. No wonder, it was a heart-breaking, killing pace. All day long they waddled. No one could change his place on that black score board that has stared the poor fellows in the face for six long, weary days. A few had to ride fast to beat out Rivierre and Moore, who had places on the board, though out of the race. Some did it; others failed. All day long the crowd kept pouring in. At 6 p.m. there was not a seat left in all that big Madison Square Garden.

What the Human Body Can Endure.

The great endurance of the men is shown by the following table, a record of their sleeping hours and the hours they spent off the wheel during the 142 hours.

Rider.	Off Track.	Sleep.
Miller	10 hrs.	4 hrs.
Rice	12 "	7 "
Schinner	12 "	7 "
Hale	28 "	6 "
Waller	15 "	5 "

Pierce	17 "	13 "
Gannon	12 "	10 "

Julius	25 "	15 "
Beacon	48 "	33 "
Johnson	72 "	70 "
Gray	33 "	30 "

As a reward for this week of pain and torture, in covering these weary miles, Miller will get $1500. This includes $200 for breaking the world's record. Joe Rice's share of the purse will be $800, while Schinner will get $500. Teddy Hale will receive $250, and Dutch Waller $50 less. Pierce gets $200, Golden $150, Gannon $125, Enterman and Rivierre $100 each, and Elkes $75. The others will probably receive $50 apiece.

About Miller, the Winner.

Charles William Miller, the winner of the race, was born in Saxony, Germany, 23 years ago, and has been racing for three years. He was a grocery clerk in Chicago when picked up by Trainer West and worked as a motorman on one of the electric cars while in training. He holds a number of unpaced records and ran second to Schinner in the Chicago race last year.

The English Labor Troubles.

London, Dec. 13.—Mr. John Burns sums up the crisis in the engineering trade when he declares that the men must either submit to the hard terms dictated by employers or raise $75,000 weekly for supporting the strike for the next six months. The men will probably go back to work, sullen and discontented.

A Canadian Nunciature.

Rome, Dec. 13.—It is reaffirmed here that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Dominion Premier, asked the Vatican to establish a nunciate in Canada. Baron Charles Russell, Lord Chief Justice of England, came to Rome about the end of last month to repeat the request.

Prague Rioters Got Off Lightly.

Prague, Dec. 13.—The trials of the persons arrested for participating in the recent riots here began Saturday. Up to noon six cases had been disposed of, the prisoners being sentenced from three weeks to one year at hard labor.

The two most critical times in a woman's life are the times which make the girl a woman, and the woman a mother. At these times, Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription is of incalculable value. It strengthens and invigorates the organs distinctly feminine, promotes regularity of the functions, allays irritation and inflammation, checks unnatural exhausting drains, and puts the whole delicate organism into perfect condition. Almost all the ills of womankind are traceable to some form of what is known as "female" complaint. There are not three cases in a hundred of woman's peculiar diseases that Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription will not cure.

That Awful Child.

The Dear Child—Oh, Mrs. Peek, when did you get back?

Mrs. Peek—Bless you, dear, I was not away anywhere. What made you think so?

The Dear Child—I thought you were. I heard my mamma say that you were at loggerheads with your husband for over a week.—London Tit-Bits.

Cancer Can Be Cured.

Cancer is the severest known form of blood disease. Burdock Blood Bitters is the most powerful medicine known. It cures cancer and all skin diseases. Proof: "My husband had two cancers taken off his face, and another was coming on his lip. He took two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters and it disappeared. I know this medicine is an excellent blood purifier." Mrs. WM. KIRBY, Akron, Erie Co., New York.

367 GEORGE STREET.

Jailed for Helping a Mother.

Owen Sound, Dec. 10.—(Special.)—William Bryson, a young farmer of Sullivan township, has been committed for trial on a charge of kidnapping the little daughter of Donald Sinclair. Mrs. Sinclair, who it is alleged had deserted her husband and children, visited the school they were attending, accompanied by Bryson. She tried to persuade the children to go with her, and on their refusing, Bryson seized the little girl and forcibly carried her away. Bryson is out on bail.

China Yields to Germany.

Pekin, Dec. 13.—The German-Chinese difficulty is practically settled. The Germans refuse to discuss the occupation of Kiao Chou Bay. The Governor of Shang-Tung Province has been removed from office, but will not be any further degraded. No monopoly of mines and railroads is conceded to Germany, but that country is given preference. Finally the area immediately surrounding Kiao Chou Bay is set apart exclusively for Germany. China yields on all the other points.

D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realising that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

In the early days of the settlement of the Dakotas, the newspapers frequently contained stories of the hardships and sufferings and sometimes the death of the new settlers who were lost in the blizzards. The man or woman who is frozen to death in a winter's storm undergoes great sufferings, but they are mild compared with those daily borne by thousands of victims of that dread disease—consumption.

For centuries this relentless disease was considered incurable. It is now known to be distinctly curable. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption, bronchitis, asthma, laryngitis and diseases of the air-passages. It has stood the test for thirty years. It acts directly on the blood, nourishing it with the life-giving qualities of the food. It clears down old, half-dead tissues and builds up new ones in all parts of the body. Through the blood it acts directly on the lungs, driving out all impurities and disease germs. It soothes the cough, but facilitates expectoration. It deepens the breathing, supplying the system with life-giving oxygen. It stimulates the appetite, facilitates the flow of digestive juices, invigorates the liver and tones and builds up the nerves. It is the great blood-maker and flesh-builder. It does not make flabby flesh like cod liver oil, but firm, muscular, healthy tissues.

"I had been troubled with bronchitis for several years," writes Mrs. Orlin O'Hara, Box 214, Fergus Falls, Ottertail Co., Minn. "In the first place I had sore throat. I doctored with different doctors and took various medicines, but got no relief. I raised from my throat a sticky substance like the white of an egg. Could not sleep, and had made up my mind that I would not live through the winter. I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Favorite Prescription' alternately, and in a few days began to see that I was better. I took eight bottles. I have not felt as well in years."

THE CZAR'S JULEPS.

MINISTER CURTIN SHOWED THE EMPEROR HOW TO MIX THEM.

A Reminiscence of Diplomacy Under Alexander II of Russia—The Czar a Lover of Darky Anecdote and Dialect—American Whisky For His Cellar.

"I was in Paris," said Colonel W. F. M. McCarthy of this city, "that I became acquainted with an aid of the Czar Alexander II. The Russians are greatly interested in applied chemistry and novel mechanical devices for warfare. I had some ideas on these subjects which an aid asked me to put before his superiors. The Grand Duke Constantine was there, and I was presented to him. Our interviews finally led to my going to St. Petersburg, where I was presented to the czar himself.

"I first met the emperor in the Winter palace one morning at 9 o'clock. He was an early riser, and the machinery of the court was all in operation by that hour. His majesty received me kindly and at once put me at my ease. 'I love Americans,' he said, with a smile, and I soon learned that this was true. Andrew G. Curtin of Pennsylvania was then minister from the United States at the imperial court, and there was nobody in whose society the czar took more satisfaction.

"I'll never forget the mysterious errand upon which I was dispatched one cold and stormy night by, and I may say with, General Curtin, as he was universally called in St. Petersburg. My entry into the emperor's secret service had by that time become an accomplished fact. I had become a Russian, had sworn allegiance to the czar, spiritual and temporal, and had been entered on the official list of the chancelleries as Vasili Makroff. William F. Mason McCarthy ceased to exist from that hour, at least in Russia. A messenger had come asking me to the American legation at 8 o'clock that evening, 'without uniform.' These words naturally excited my curiosity. I wore the imperial crown on the collar of my uniform coat, and in that dress passed at will through the streets of St. Petersburg by day or by night. For I was supposed to be all the while on my imperial master's business. When I got to the embassy, I learned, to my surprise, that the minister and I were to visit the czar incognito.

"General Curtin had a parcel under his arm when we reached the palace, and to my amazement he was promptly admitted without question to the czar's private apartments. I followed after him. The emperor at once dismissed his attendants, gave us hearty hand shakes and bade us be seated in front of a cheery coal fire in a large comfortable looking sitting room. General Curtin was evidently very much at home there, and from the packet under his arm he now produced a large black bottle. A servant brought lemons, cracked ice, a silver bowl containing a magnificent bunch of mint, loaf sugar, vermouth and brandy. And thereupon in my presence the American minister gave the czar lessons in the art of making mint juleps and whisky cocktails.

"The whisky was old Monongahela rye, sent to General Curtin from the state of Pennsylvania, of which he had been governor. His majesty said he had never tasted anything so good in his life as the juleps, and he forthwith commissioned General Curtin to order for the imperial cellars a large quantity of the rye whisky, which he had never heard of until after the arrival of Curtin in St. Petersburg. Ten barrels of Monongahela rye were shipped from Pennsylvania not long afterward to the czar. You'd never guess my part in the festivities. It was nothing more nor less than telling nigger stories. Of course I knew plenty of them, having been brought up in the south in antebellum days, and the czar never tired of hearing them. Folklore tales and the quaint conversation between Br'er Rabbit and Br'er B'ar delighted him. Afterward, at the czar's request, I sent to New York for all the books of this description I could get.

"General Curtin won the affection of his majesty by his genial personality, his fund of anecdote and his unaffected sincerity. He would tell story after story of American life and incident, at many of which Alexander laughed as merrily as a schoolboy. 'I love to be with men,' he would say. 'I love Americans as I hate sycophants.' He was heard to say more than once that the happiest hours of his life were those passed in this way with General Curtin.

"The peculiar affection for the United States cherished in Russia, in spite of the Russians' dislike for foreigners in general, is a national, a religious sentiment. In every Russian church the visitor is impressed—if an American he is astounded—by the prominent position in which he beholds three great portraits displayed with reverence and deep significance. The first is that of Peter the Great, the father of Russia, as we know it. The second is that of Abraham Lincoln, the liberator. The third is that of Alexander. That was an evening to be treasured up in memory."—New York Sun.

BEAUTIFUL EVIL.

The Typical Rascal Is Never the Splendid Villain of Romance.

If the revulsion from romanticism to realism which has taken place in the higher class of fiction could descend also to the lower, it would go far toward the correction of an influence baleful in the extreme to thousands of young lives. But unhappily such a reform is impossible in the very nature of things, for in proportion as fiction becomes true to life it takes rank with the higher order, and thus passes beyond the class of readers by whom it is most needed.

For this evil influence of low sensational literature the newspaper must share the responsibility with the cheap novel. A splendid villain is always a more interesting character than a disgusting brute, so whatever nature or fortune may have done to favor a criminal is usually grossly exaggerated. If he happens to possess comeliness of person, grace of manner or intelligence above the common in his class, the public is usually regaled with rhapsodical descriptions of his beauty, refinement and intellect, and even visitors to his cell are apt to be so hypnotized by their reading and their own fancy that they fail to discover the exaggeration.

The typical rascal is never the hero that romance, whether in the dime novel or the newspaper, pictures him. His intelligence is, as a rule, of a very low order, confined to keenness and cunning, which act in the narrow circle of first preying upon his victims and then trying to outwit justice. Compare it with the intelligence which works for good. His courage is generally greatly overestimated. He rarely fights except when he has the overwhelming advantage or when he is driven into a corner. His magnanimity and amiability—qualities especially credited to him by writers and readers of the low romantic school—are myths. They are no part of his business, save as they serve to cloak his villainy. Pure selfishness or at best physical temperament is at the bottom of his good humor, apparent generosity and even his family affection, for when the crucial test comes he will sacrifice anybody and everybody to self. The proverbial "honor among thieves" holds good only to a certain point. The moment it becomes clear that no advantage, direct or indirect, remains to the individuals of the gang the vaunted honor is thrown to the winds, the gang disbands, each clutches what he can from the wreck of their common fortunes and henceforth preys upon his former pals with no more compunction than he feels in preying upon the rest of the world.—Edward C. Jackson in North American Review.

A Use For It.

"And now," said the banker, when they had entered the private office and closed the door, "what can I do for you?"

The minister looking stranger drew from his pocket a glass vessel securely corked, containing a yellowish liquid.

"I want money," he said, "and I must have it. If I were to drop this glass on the floor and break it, both of us would be blown into a thousand pieces."

The banker scribbled an address upon a card.

"Take that thing up to my house," he said, "and turn it over to our new servant girl, and then name your price."—Strand Magazine.

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS RENDERED IT UNNECESSARY.

Too many doctors are too ready to use the knife. Many a one is sacrificed on the altar of a surgeon's ambition to operate who could be saved by the use of Dr. Chase's K.-L. Pills. The case of MRS. W. B. AIKEN, of Zephyr, Ont., is one in point. Her husband says that she had been doctoring with several doctors for inflammation of the Bladder for over a year.

"The last bottle I got from the doctor he said if that did her no good she would be compelled to have an operation performed. I luckily picked up a sample of Dr. Chase's K.-L. Pills in Mr. Dafoe's store, and my wife took one pill that night and one in the morning, and she has never felt the least sign of pain since. I will always keep Dr. Chase's Pills in my house for all our family complaints."

The Sloan Medicine Co., Hamilton.

GUELPH, Nov. 23RD, 1897.

DEAR SIRS,—

For years I was troubled with periodical sick headaches, being affected usually every Sunday, and used all the remedies that were advertised as cures and was treated by almost every doctor in Guelph but without any relief. One doctor told me it was caused by a weak stomach, another said it was hereditary and incurable. I was induced by a neighbour to try SLOAN'S INDIAN TONIC, and am happy to say I did so. A few doses gave immediate relief and one bottle and a half made a complete cure. This was three years ago and the headaches have never returned. I was also troubled with asthma, and nothing helped me like Sloan's Indian Tonic. I can heartily recommend it to all, and will be glad to give any particulars to any one afflicted as I was.

Free Trial To Any Honest Man

The Foremost Medical Company in the World in the Cure of Weak Men Makes this Offer.

HEALTH AND ENERGY ASSURED. HAPPY MARRIAGE, GOOD TEMPER, LONG LIFE.

In all the world to-day—in all the history of the world—no doctor nor institution has treated and restored so many men as has the famed ERIE MEDICAL CO. of Buffalo, N. Y.

This is due to the fact that the company controls those inventions and discoveries which have no equal in the whole realm of medical science.

So much deception has been practiced in advertising that this grand old company now for the first time makes this startling offer:—

They will send their costly and magically effective appliances and a whole month's course of restorative remedies, positively on trial without expense to any honest and reliable man!

Not a dollar need be advanced—not a penny paid—till results are known to and acknowledged by the patient.

The Erie Medical Company's appliance and remedies have been talked about and written about all over the world, till every man has heard of them.

They restore or create strength, vigor, healthy blood and new life.

They quickly stop drains on the system that sap the energy.

They cure nervousness, despondency and all the effects of evil habits, excesses, overwork, etc.

They give full strength, development and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Failure is impossible and age is no barrier.

This "Trial without Expense" offer is limited by the company to a short time, and application must be made at once.

No C. O. D. scheme, no bogus philanthropy nor deception, no exposure—a clean business proposition by a company of high financial and professional standing.

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, BUFFALO, N. Y., and refer to seeing this account of their offer in this paper.

"WHAT SHALL I GIVE FOR CHRISTMAS?"

This is the Question of the Day!

What better suggestion to Husband, Father or Brother than Furs for Mother—Wife—Sister—or Sweetheart, and vice versa. Furs always have and always will, most easily, delightfully and economically solve the question in this land of "The Lady of the Snows."

—Here's a lot of dainty warm Fur Ruffs, with heads and tails, comprising Sable, Mink, Grey Lamb, Opossum and Black Martin. Price $2.00, $2 50, $4.00, $5.00, $7.50 and $10.00.

—Eleven designs in Collarettes—Electric Seal, Grey Lamb, German Mink, Persian Lamb and Seal Combination, Chinchilla and Seal Combination, etc, $4.50 to $18.00.

—A few Choice Sable and Persian Lamb Collarettes at $20.00, $25.00 and $30.00.

—We cannot keep Fur Gauntlets in the back ground, they are in ever increasing demand—and such values - $1.25 buys a Grey or Black Lamb Imitation. $2.50 to $4.00 buys a serviceable Astrachan or or Electric Seal Gauntlet, for lady or gentleman.

—Children's Grey Gauntlets in Imitation Lamb 75c; the real Grey Lamb costing $but 3.00 to $4 00.

—We show Gauntlets in Persian Lamb, Seal, Beaver, Otter, Coon and Matassini Buffalo at special prices for Xmas shoppers.

—Then Caps are always very givable, showing good judgment in the purchaser and giving comfort to the wearer; $1.50, $2 00, $2.75, $4.00, $5.00, $6.00 and $7.50 buys beauties in Baltic Seal, Nutria, Wombat, Astrachan, Grey Lamb, Beaver, German Otter and Persian Lamb.

—Ladies' delight in Muffs. It is not often one gets such values in these handsome articles—an extra large Siberian Bear Muff for $2.00, a quantity of commoner sort at 75c to $1.25.

—Some extra choice Sable and Brown Bear Skins have contributed to the making of a quantity of fine Muffs which cannot be excelled anywhere - $6.00 to $11.00.

—Fur Storm Collars, Fur Capes, Fur Jackets, Fur-lined Cloaks, Men's Coats, Robes, etc., in too large variety to be here enumerated. If you have $3 00 to spend on a Collar, $10 00 to spend in a Cape, $25.00 to spend on an Astrachan Jacket or a Fur-lined Cloak, $100 to spend on a Persian Lamb Jacket or $200 to spend on a Seal Skin Sacque, you cannot spend to better advantage than with us.

—Men's Kid and Buck Fur Lined and Wool Lined Mitts and Gloves, 50c up to $4.00.

TWO PITHY SERMONS TO YOUNG MEN.

DELIVERED BY REV. A. T. DYKEMAN AND REV. J. E. MOORE.

These Two Addresses Were Crowded Out of Yesterday's Issue—They Will be Found Full of Matter for Thought by the Young.

REV. A. T. DYKEMAN

occupied the pulpit of the Charlotte street church, and in opening his remarks, spoke of the Lord of the universe being intensely interested in the work of the young. It would be extremely traiterous in us to think otherwise, as all that God has done and is doing proves this. Our social, physical and moral environments demonstrate this clearly.

The time of youth is the dangerous season of life—it is the critical epoch in the history of man. It is a time when the moulding process is going on—a time for the formation of character. Character is crystalized habit. Life character depends largely on the mouldings of youth. Successful endings depend upon proper beginnings. The most important part of a house is its foundations—so with the superstructures of character.

Youth is the season of bright anticipations—beautiful air castles. Hannah More has beautifully portrayed the hallucinations of the young.

Faith is the time of temptation, and a young man is assailed with the forces of scepticism and intemperance as well as the social evils.

Youth is a season of warm and gushing emotions—of easy susceptibility of impressions for good or evil—surely an important period. Many influences are abroad to induce young people to imbibe false principles, to contract bad habits and to take unrighteous and ruinous courses.

The course recommended by God as an antidote against wrong choosing and doing is found in the text of the evening—"Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not nor the years draw nigh, when thou shalt say, I have no pleasure in them."—Eccles. xii, 1.

To remember your Creator is to your benefit in several ways:

1—Physically: Many suffer through life because of the folly and indiscretions of youth; intemperance, impurity, ungovernable temper and dishonesty bring their own reward.

2—Socially: Blemishes on the character of the young are a future disadvantage.

3—Spiritually: Jeremiah says "It is good for a man that he bear the yoke in his youth."

REV. J. E. MOORE, PH.B.,

occupied the pulpit of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, and spoke from the text "Is the young man, Absalom, safe?" II Samuel xviii, 29. The above text of Scripture was that chosen by the Rev. J. E. Moore, Ph. B., Sunday evening in St. Andrew's church in connection with the exchange of pulpits, and his sermon was to young men, of which the following is a brief synopsis. The speaker said: When driving into the city of London while stationed there I saw a placard which attracted my attention. It said 500 men wanted! I read on—500 men wanted to take up homesteads in the great North-West! The sign board of the Gospel is out this evening, and I read between the lines: 1,000,000 young men wanted in the great Dominion to serve God and benefit society in the consecration of a noble manhood to all that is great and ennobling to the character for time and eternity. By a careful study of the Bible I find that young men are addressed, spoken of or written to no less than fifty four times in the Word of God, impressing us with the fact that God, the loving father, manifests a peculiar interest in young men, who are the hope of the nation. Our young men are wanted from the street corners, from [illegible] and playhouses, billiard halls, the [illegible] rendezvous and the [illegible] promenades and are urged to turn their feet in the [illegible]way of noble aim and earnest work for [illegible] and men. There is a prize for every [illegible] worker and a crown of imperishable [illegible] for the head that goes through [illegible] life's conflict to victory. [illegible] your watchword, and leaning upon your purposes and exertions, with God as your guide you may stand side by side and shoulder to shoulder with the good and great of all ages.

I. Look at the possibilities of young men. I call upon you, in the name of God, to stand upright and feel that you are a man, created in the moral image of God, not an animal, not a thing, but a man with a future and a destiny in eternity. Within the breast of every young man at certain times there is an up-springing of lofty sentiment which, if cultivated, will contribute largely to his elevation in life. Obstacles are to be surmounted and difficulties vanquished. The moral, physical and intellectual world are calling loudly for champions consecrated to the cause of truth. The fields are as extensive as the universe.

The Master said, they are white unto harvest, you have an opportunity of writing your name high up on the ladder of fame—yes, amid the stars of heaven. The most beautiful and useful lives this world has ever known came from comparative obscurity. Think of the model young man—Christ Jesus our Lord—born in a stable and cradled in a manger, whose life shines with increasing lustre as the ages pass by. John B. Gough came up from obscurity and was redeemed from the thraldom of sin and degradation of drunkenness. Pure white lilies often grow among stagnant waters. The young man of noble soul, cultivated mind and upright heart will command respect everywhere. Why do so many young men whose promises of hope were radiant as the rainbow fail to distinguish themselves in the great arena of life's battle? Is it not because they are not willing to devote themselves to toilsome culture, which in every case is the price of success. The Hon. G. W. Ross, Minister of Education, was cited as an illustration of what pluck and perseverance will do for a young man. Without attendance within college halls he has earned the degree LL. B. and occupies an honoured place in the educational institutions of our country. God created the stone quarry, but men must blast and polish it. He planted the oak and the pine, but we must cut and hew. In entering the field of usefulness there must be the mainspring of all true work—love for God and man. "Seek the first the kingdom." The fallen are to be lifted up; the world is to be made better. The church presents splendid opportunities for work. The Sabbath school and Christian Endeavour or Young People's Societies all over the land invite you to live and labour for God. What He commands, that do; where He directs, there go. Allow nothing to deter you. Go forward to victory, immortality and eternal life.

Go back in thought to the days of your youth, your pious parents, your religious home, you will remember leaving home, possibly like the prodigal, you became dissatisfied with the restraining influences of home. You asked for and got your portion and out into city or town life you went, as long as the prodigal had money had money he had many friends, but when his money run out his friends run out to. David's enquiry concerning Absolom is going up from thousands of parents to-day. You will remember the London boat disaster several years ago, when 200 perished in the Thames. When the news was flashed across the wires, a minister whose son, upon whom the morning star of manhood was dawning, was attending college in that city. A telegraphic message was sent, "Is Walter safe?" answer, "Don't know." The first train took the anxious father. To the joy of family and friends he was found all right, and if there is so much concern about the temporal safety of our sons, there should be and doubtless is a concern a thousandfold more intense concerning their spiritual safety. There are breakers ahead, questionable companions, immoral or even light literature. Dr. Talmage has said, "It is just ten cents worth of unadulterated perdition." Card playing, horse racing, the wine cup and the inebriate's bowl were pointed out as dangerous rocks. The habit of using intoxicating liquors as a beverage, like Goliath, of Gath, stands head and shoulders above all the other vices in debasing and demoralising our young men. Quit you like men, be strong. Samson was bound three times with seven withes, but he burst his bonds asunder, until he put his head in the lap of Delilah, who cut off his hair and his strength went from him. They then put out his eyes and took him a slave to prison. The Delilah of intemperance outlooth our young men. "Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise."

THE WHEEL.

With the tremendous growth of bicyling in this country the condition of the highways is beginning to receive the attention it deserves. In that respect, at least, is the bicycle to be held in esteem. The efforts of organised wheelmen all over the country toward the improvement of roads are bearing fruit, but there is much more to do in that line. The Canadian Wheelman's Association is the prime mover, and through its various divisions and committees accomplishes much in a general way. But it cannot work out the needed reform alone. It needs the co-operation and individual endeavour of local organizations throughout Canada. Each bicycle club can help if its members are willing to put their shoulders to the wheel.

The oldest organization of its kind in America is the Good Roads Association of Brooklyn. Its success has been so marked in recent years that it has decided to widen its sphere of usefulness so as to encompass all of Long Island. To accomplish this, branches will be organized during the coming winter in the principal towns and villages of Long Island. Each branch will have its own officers and will have jurisdiction over its immediate territory, but will act in concert with the parent body.

Similar organizations might be formed in the larger towns and cities by the wheelmen, if a few public-spirited ones were to take the initiative. Backed by the power of numbers, much good can be accomplished in dealing with the public authorities in the interest of road improvement. It is no exaggeration to say that no city in America has had so large a proportion of new pavements as Brooklyn during the past five years, and this is due unquestionably to the unceasing efforts of the Good Roads Association.

OF FIRST-CLASS WINTER CLOTHING, AT

GOUGH :-: BROS.

Matchless as have been the Decimated Prices which have ruled during our Extraordinary Sale of our Fortunate Purchase from the Mc-Kenna-Thompson Company, of Montreal, this additional saving of TWENTY PER CENT. should appeal to everybody during this Holiday month, coming as it does at a season when everyone wants to give Presents at a Little Cost. This makes the Buying about ALL YOUR OWN WAY. You have a "Corner" now in Clothing buying, if you want to take advantage of it. Not even Cost is to be asked in many cases. No matter how hard it freezes or how much thicker the ice gets, you have nothing to fear in the way of Higher Prices—so long as this sale lasts at GOUGH BROS.

Our Reason!

We have a Special Reason for offering this Extra Reduction, but business secrets seal our lips. You may guess, however, that part of the reason is to sell off as much Winter Goods as possible. One partner says: "Sell at Cost." The other says, "Go ahead, make it 20 Per Cent. better, and trust to your past record for results."

Anyway, you have our offer in Black and White. You'll find us a regular Unincorporated Society for the Clothing of Men, Youths, Boys and Children who want the most for their money, and want it right away.

BE AN EARLY BIRD. The time of all times to buy for future use is now, and the place of all places is—

HOW CASH IS KING!

In nowadays storekeeping ready cash is a powerful factor, commanding important concessions from makers and markets. Price advantages the world over lean toward ready money. Cash in hand we enter the best markets and cull and pick the best goods, and offer them to our patrons at prices that ready cash alone gives. Under our constantly growing organization CASH becomes an important factor in Buying as well as in Selling. In future, therefore, SPOT CASH will be our invariable rule. Your money back if not satisfied.

.... AT ....

ROBT. FAIR'S.

During our Quick Reduction Sale before Christmas perhaps there's no department in our store where the Reduction will be more sweeping than in MANTLES AND JACKETS.

Last winter when we were closing out our matchless stock of Coats, &c., we did not hesitate to mark $12 and $15 garments at $6 and $8, in order to keep none over for another year. We propose this season to hew just as close to the line—let the loss be what it may. It sometimes pays to lose. A loss now accepted will enable us to clear out our whole stock in this department in a short time. Here are some of these Mantle Sacrifices:—

FOR $8.00 A lot of Ladies' Fancy Tweed Coats, very special, formerly sold at $7.50.

FOR $5.00 A lot of Ladies' German Tweed Coats, perfect fitting garments, formerly sold at $6.50.

FOR $6 25 A lot of Tailor-made German Coats, well finished, formerly sold at $10.

FOR $8 50 Ladies' Stylish Rough Frieze Cloth Coats, formerly sold at $12.50.

FOR $4.00 Ladies' Black Frieze Cloth Coats, formerly sold for $6.50

FOR $8 50 Ladies' Black Golf Capes, Lined with black and white checks, formerly sold for $12.50.

FOR $7.50 Ladies Coloured Golf Capes, formerly sold at $9.50.

The balance of our Misses and Children's Jackets are also all reduced on a par with the above changed figures ranging at $4, $4.50, $4.75 and $5, or about $3 to $3.50 off former selling prices.

This is the way we have of keeping our Stock fresh. There is no reason why the Handsome and Useful should not combine in Holiday presents.

THE PRIZE TEA AND FREE GIFTS AT THE PEOPLE'S GROCERY. A DECIDED SUCCESS

Would you believe it, such lovely Tea for 20 cents a pound, and a hand-some Teapot with every pound. I saw a large beautiful white and gold China Teapot given with 1 lb. of this Tea, to an old bachelor. Just think of that! While another young lady carried off in triumph a fine large blue and white Teapot worth more money than was paid for the pound of Tea. Why there was a regular rush to the tables to secure the prizes; gifts for nothing, yes and a whole lot to choose from. Another says: "Oh my, why are you giving away your goods for nothing? Well I want to sell a lot of goods. I want to advertise my business and work up a good trade. Step now there! I see crowds of people in your store. Why last Saturday you must have done a rushing trade." Well so we did, and we heartily thank you for your kind patronage and favours, and I promise to do my best to deserve it. "I see your advertisement in the Daily EXAMINER, with a grand list of Christmas free gifts for nothing. Just give me a pound of that tea, and I will take a set of those nice China Dishes for my little girl, it will make her so happy. Good Bye." This is what people are saying and doing. We have a large counter filled with free gifts, which every purchaser of one pound of Japan Tea can select from. We have a fine full stock of all lines in Groceries, Fruits, Provisions, Hams and Bacon, Lard, Butter and eggs. Choice Confectionery, Biscuits and Candies. A CONTINUED FIGHT.

Tribesmen Harrassed Gen. Westmacott's Brigade Severely.

BRITISH LOSSES WERE HEAVY.

Gallant Behavior of the Troops in Spite of the Deadly Fire—Mud, Rain and Snow Impeded Progress Very Much—The Enemy Suffered Heavily.

Simla, Dec. 15.—According to official despatches from the northwestern frontier, the march of General Westmacott's brigade from the camp at Sher-Khel into the Sturi-Khel country was one continuous action.

The enemy closed upon the rear guard and kept firing at short range with great effect. The British losses were heavy and included Lieut. West of the Gourkas, who was killed, and Lieut. Champin, who was wounded. Two other officers received injuries and 40 men were killed or wounded.

The whole march down the Bara Valley since the sixth instant has been marked by incessant fighting, but the force has behaved admirably. The route was difficult in the extreme, through rain, mud and snow. Along the river bed, the course was impeded by ravines and boulders and the cold stream had to be forded knee deep 20 times in the mire.

Twelve thousand transport animals with the numerous sick and wounded, encumbered the progress. The casualities yesterday were about 5 and to-day about 10. The enemy has been severely punished in the recent encounters.

The disaster to General Kempster's rear guard, that was cut off by the tribesmen on Saturday near Sher-Khel, was due to the animals becoming entangled in the rice fields at dusk. To increase the difficulty the drivers and carriers opened kegs of rum and became hopelessly drunk. Many of their followers were benumbed by the icy stream, and their feet bruised by the boulders. Several men are still missing.

DOVER CASTLE IN FLAMES.

One of the Historic Fortresses of Old England Almost Destroyed by Fierce Fire.

Dover, England, Dec. 15.—Fire broke out in the Castle here yesterday morning, soon gutted the officers' quarters and extended to the main block. The whole garrison was ordered out to fight the flames, and the magazine was threatened. The eastern portion of the Castle was completely gutted, and the flames spread to the western portion, but were under control at 4 p. m.

The outbreak is supposed to have been due to an overheated chimney. There was some difficulty at first in getting water, and this caused great excitement, but the entire garrison was utilized in passing buckets from hand to hand to fill the tanks, and the supply thus obtained proved sufficient.

Owing to the exertions of the garrison in removing the valuables, the property damage was comparatively small, and very much less than was at first expected.

Dover Castle is on the cliffs above Dover, and is more like a fortress than any of the other defences in England. Julius Caesar is credited with building the foundations and part of the fortress, although recent antiquarians assert it was built between the years A.D. 43 and 49, during the reign of Claudius. The Saxon portion of the fortress is presumed to have been commenced by Alfred the Great, and the foundation of the present keep is said to have originated with Gundulph, Bishop of Rochester, about the year 1153. The barracks accommodate about 2,000 men.

DISTINGUISHED CANADIAN DEAD.

Prof. Arthur Palmer, Born in Guelph, Ont., Made a High Mark.

London, Dec. 15.—Prof. Arthur Palmer, L.LD., D.C.L., of Trinity College, Dublin, is dead.

The late Dr. Palmer was born at Guelph, Canada, Sept. 14, 1841, being the fourth son of the late Venerable Arthur Palmer, first rector of Guelph, Archdeacon of Toronto. He married Miss Fanny Green of Cleveden in 1879. He was educated at Guelph Grammar School, Cheltenham College and Trinity College, Dublin. In 1880 he was appointed professor of Latin at Trinity College, and in 1888 was public orator. He edited the Satires of Horace, the Amphitruo of Plautus and Catullus in Macmillan Parmasus series, and "Hermathena." He was also editor of P. Ovidii Heroides XIV., and of Sex Properti Elgiae.

Charged With Manslaughter.

London, Dec. 15.—Jimmy Barry, of Chicago; White, his second; Watley, the second of the late Walter Croot, of Newcastle, Eng.; B. F. Angel, the manager of the National Sporting Club; and the referee and timekeeper of the recent fatal boxing match, were brought up yesterday on the charge of manslaughter. They were remanded on bail.

Englishmen Have a Big Lead.

Sydney, Dec. 15.—The cricket match between the English cricket team and an Australian eleven was continued yesterday, when the visitors were all out for 351 runs. The home players then went to the bat in their first innings and at the close of play had scored 86 runs for five wickets down.

Mail Service With New Zealand.

Wellington, New Zealand, Dec. 15.—The House of Representatives yesterday passed a resolution submitted by the Premier, the Hon. Ricard J. Seddon, in favor of establishing a fortnightly mail service between Wellington and San Francisco and between Wellington and Vancouver, B.C.

Japan Formally Protests.

Sydney, N.S.W., Dec. 15.—The Japanese Consul has formally protested to the Premier, the Hon. G. H. Reid, against the unfriendly character of the proposed legislation as to aliens.

Their Sad Anniversary.

Windsor, Eng., Dec. 15.—There were the usual services at Frogmore yesterday, that being the anniversary of the death of the Prince Consort, and of Princess Alice. The Queen, the Prince and Princess of Wales, the Duke and Duchess of York, the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, Prince and Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein, and the Princess Louise, Marchioness of Lorne, were present.

CURRENT CABLES.

The entire Chilian Cabinet has resigned and caused a sensation.

The Italian Premier, Marquis di Rudini, has succeeded in reconstructing his Cabinet.

Baron Von Bulow, German Foreign Minister, affirms that the Dreibund has not been shaken, as had been reported.

The Spanish Government is negotiating with the Armstrongs of England to obtain a 4800-ton cruiser, worth £300,000, which has been built for Japan.

A British corporation has arranged to start a shoe factory at Galashields, Scotland, capable of turning out 20,000 pairs of shoes weekly. United States Consul Fleming, at Edinburgh, in reporting the fact to the State Department at Washington, says this is the beginning of an attempt to compete with American shoemaking.

A CAR OF CRIMINALS.

Thirteen Hard Characters, Heavily Shackled, Brought East From New Westminster Penitentiary.

Winnipeg, Dec. 15.—Indian Inspector Marlatt has just returned from a visit to the Resseau Indian Reserve. He finds that the reports of destitution are very much exaggerated and the Indians are not in nearly as bad a state as reported.

A special car attached to the front end of the passenger train from the west yesterday morning contained 13 of the most notorious criminals that have been captured on the coast by the Canadian authorities in the past few years. Every one was loaded down with ball and chain, securely handcuffed and shackled. The New Westminster Penitentiary is becoming overcrowded, and it was deemed necessary to remove them to other places. Ten will be confined at Stony Mountain and three at Kingston.

Another Remand for Dr. Hutchison.

Ingersoll, Dec. 15.—Dr. Hutchison and Augustus Frezelle appeared before Police Magistrate Morrison again yesterday on the charge of procuring an abortion. Chief Skirving stated to the Police Magistrate that the girl in question, although considerably improved, was still unfit to appear in court, and asked for a further remand of one week, which was granted. Bail of $2,000 was renewed in Dr. Hutchison's case, and Gus. Frevelle was taken back to Woodstock jail.

$500,000 SURPLUS

Provincial Treasurer Harcourt's Budget Speech

PROVES FACT BEYOND A DOUBT

That is For the Year Only, But the Province's Aggregate Surplus is $5,250,000 Over and Above All Liabilities at Present Payable—An Able Financial Exposition.

Toronto, Dec. 15.—The galleries of the Legislature were crowded yesterday afternoon when Provincial Treasurer Harcourt in splendid voice and form stood up to deliver his annual budget speech, probably the most important deliverance since Confederation. He began by explaining that the public accounts which had been laid upon the table were for but the first ten months of the year 1897, but that the other two months, not yet completed, would be brought down without delay. He was gratified to be able to say that within the first ten months of the year $477,000 more had been received than he had estimated would be collected during the whole year and $800,000 more than had actually been received during 12 months of last year. It might be said part of these receipts had been from timber. He wished to point out, however, that while during the John Sanpfield Macdonald administration timber sales were held every year and the average price received per mile was but $260, while the present Government had during their long term of office held but seven sales and the average price per mile was $1,221. (Cheers.) The revenue from liquor licenses had increased about $3,000 during the ten months. He then produced a table showing that in 1893 the Government had received from the municipalities from liquor licenses $994,000 and had paid back $990,000; in 1894 received $377,000 and paid back $382,000; in 1895, 1896 and 1897 the same amount received had been paid back and yet many members of the Opposition kept constantly complaining that the Government were doing the municipalities an injustice in this matter. How did Quebec treat this same matter? The Province of Quebec did not pay back to the municipalities one cent of money received from licenses. Last year Quebec had received from this source $663,000 and had not paid back any of it.

His estimate of $175,000 from succession duties will prove about correct by the end of the year, notwithstanding the fathers, mothers, wives, husbands, brothers, sisters, sons-in-law and daughters-in-law are not required to pay anything unless they receive over $100,000. Money left to charities or educational institutions pays nothing in Ontario, those who are justly called upon to pay this duty are people who are not blood relations. The rate in any case in Ontario is much less than in the United States or England. (Cheers.) The Government had during the ten months paid out nearly one million for the maintenance of hospitals and asylums. It was well known Ontario took better care of her unfortunate than any other country. He compared the per capita cost of Ontario's institutions with those of the various States of the Union and proved that our institutions had cost fifty per cent. less than the most economical showing across the line. (Cheers.) The State of New York had adopted the system employed in Ontario three years ago, but they levied a special tax to support their institutions while the Government of Ontario did nothing of the kind. In most other States the central government did nothing for the insane, but placed the burden upon the municipalities, while the Ontario Government taxed the municipalities not one cent but paid all these expenses. In the matter of education Ontario gave twice as much as the Province of Quebec. (Cheers.) Complaint had been made as to the method of keeping the public accounts; there were some who wished them kept as at Ottawa, although anyone would admit the accounts of Ontario were more intelligible, convenient and satisfactory in every way. He quoted speeches by Hon. Mr. Foster and Sir Charles Tupper showing the Ottawa system was most unsatisfactory. In the public accounts committee every facility is given for examining in detail all the information which is digested in the annual statement. The leader of the Opposition had stated on the stump that there was no credit system for the Provincial accounts. That anyone in his position should have made such a statement was astounding and he (Mr. Harcourt) challenged him to the proof. (Cheers.) Every account paid by the Government was first carefully scanned by the bursar of the institution for which it was paid, it was afterwards examined by the deputy minister in charge, the assistant treasurer and finally by the provincial auditor. The auditor in all cases only certified to actual payments after having satisfied himself the Legislature had appropriated the money. What better check could Mr. Whitney suggest? (Cheers.) It had never been charged the auditor was a partizan. He was not appointed by the Government, and could only be dismissed by the House.

The Timber Sales.

The Opposition had loudly complained the Government had spent millions which had been received from timber sales. What would Mr. Whitney have the Government do with this money? It was treated as ordinary revenue and had been so regarded by all governments in Canada, Conservative and Reform alike. (Cheers.) Mr. Whitney had charged the Government with having disposed of the timber wealth in a most prodigal manner. As everyone knew, this was very far from truth. The Macdonald Government had sold 685 miles in four years; the present Government had disposed of but 4,893 miles in twenty-five years. The Macdonald Government had sold for $360 per mile, while the present Government had received $1,222 per mile. (Cheers.) The Dominion Government might be said to have given away its timber. The Government was compelled by forest fires to sell the limits from time to time. The Opposition had been prophesying for years that the timber wealth would soon be

One day a paper was left at my house and in looking it over I read of your great medicine's value to my fellow sufferers. I reasoned that if it cured them, why would it not cure me, although I must own I had some doubts about it, as I

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE Mail and Empire is willing enough to "look to Washington"—a convertible term for the United States, if it can secure a point against an opponent. It quotes from the Boston Globe: "The Dominion Postmaster-General, who proposes the idea of allowing advertisements to be printed on the face of postal cards, may learn some day that the only proper place to advertise is in the newspapers." This is a fifth estimate; and, if a business man who reads postal cards desires to utilize them as an advertising medium, it is recognition of the claims of the public to such convenience, when the Postmaster-General permits the use of post cards for such a purpose. While the newspaper is, of course, the best channel for advertising to flow through from the merchant to the public, every wide-awake business man will utilize every possible means of calling attention to his wares. It is infinitely small of the Mail and Empire to play the gnat to irritate a statesman who has done more to serve the public interest in the Post Office Department than any incumbent of the Mail and Empire's political stripe did during his whole term of office. Under Conservative management the Post Office emptied its money bag a sponge. In one short year this Mr. Mulock has done much to restore the equilibrium between income and expense.

LAKEFIELD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

MR R. J. MEARS was in Toronto for a few days last week.

There was a large delegation in Peterborough on Saturday attending the Reform convention. Among others we noticed several prominent Conservatives. Lakefield will likely give Mr. Stratton an increased majority.

For Christmas novelties, fancy goods, etc., YOU will find the choicest assortment with R. Graham & Son.

MR. R. A. TURNER has placed a furnace in his store.

We clip the following from the Toronto Globe, relating to one of our old Lakefield boys, son of Mrs. Tanner: On Saturday afternoon a number of the fellow employees of Mr. Fred W. Tanner of the Globe, presented him with an illuminated address and a handsome silver water pitcher, etc., on the eve of his marriage. Mr. T. Jeffery made the presentation.

Quite a number of our young people drove out to the residence of Mr. John Davidson, Smith, on Tuesday evening and spent an enjoyable evening.

Messrs. J. H. Lilliecrap & Co. have just added to their already well-equipped planing mill a new No. 8 planer and matcher made by the well known firm, Cowan & Co., Galt. The machine will plane 24 inches wide, 6 inches thick, and will match or edge stuff up to 16 inches wide.

The officers and teachers of the Methodist Sabbath school have decided to hold their annual entertainment on Christmas night, Dec. 25th, in the Methodist church. The children are now being put through a course of training for the event, and the public may look forward to enjoying a good entertainment.

On and after Saturday, the 11th instant decisions of obtaining books from the Free Library can obtain them. Dr. Bell, the librarian, being there to attend to it. In future the library will be open for books every Tuesday and Saturday evenings from 7.30 to 9. The reading room is open every week day from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Our village is to be congratulated on having secured the Dickson Company's new saw mill, which they will commence erecting in the spring. It will have a cutting capacity of 15,000,000 feet board measurement, and the improvements will cost in the neighborhood of $65,000, in addition to what will be spent by the G.T.R. in the improvement of the lumber yard. It will mean a good deal to our workingmen, and we understand the Company will endeavor to employ as far as they can residents of the village. It is also expected that it will make building boom, as there is hardly a vacant house in the village. In consideration of the Company building their mill here, the village grants them exemption from taxation, other than school tax, for a period of ten years, during which time the Company is to operate and work the same.

A successful sale of fancy work and entertainment was held Thursday evening at "Harbourne," the residence of Mr. F. J. Tate. There was a large attendance, and the programme an excellent one. The proceeds amounted to about $100.

A special meeting of the village council was held in the council chamber on Wednesday evening last. The meeting was called for the purpose of passing a bylaw to exempt the Dickson Company's property here for a term of ten years in consideration of their erecting and equipping a saw mill capable of cutting 15,000,000 feet of lumber, board measure, in a year.

Those present were Reeve Lillicrap in the chair, and Councillors Fraser, Burgis, Braden and Moore.

The reading of the minutes was dispensed with.

Bylaw No. 231 received its first and second readings.

Rule of Order No. 50 was suspended for the evening.

Moved by Councillor Braden, seconded by Councillor Moore, that Bylaw No. 231 entitled a bylaw to exempt from taxation certain lands and mill property in the village of Lakefield, owned by the Dickson Company, Limited, of Peterborough, be now read a third time and passed, and that the Reeve and Clerk sign and seal the same.—Carried.

Moved by Councillor Fraser, seconded by Councillor Burgis, that the Clerk be instructed to write to the Dickson Company and inform them that the Council has passed the bylaw exempting their property from taxation.—Carried.

The council then adjourned.

COUNCIL MEETING.

A regular meeting of the village council was held in the town hall on Monday evening, 13th inst. Present, Reeve Lillicrap and all the members.

Tenders for keeping the sidewalks clear of snow during the coming winter were received from Wm. White and Robert Johnson. That of the latter was accepted on same terms as last year.

Mr. J. G. Brown handed in a letter threatening another law suit if the council did not stop the flow of water through his lot on Queen street, adjoining the rink.

$500,000 SURPLUS.

exhausted. With the same prudent management which had been exercised in the past the Crown lands would not fail for a generation to come. (Cheers.)

The Surplus and Assets.

Regarding the surplus, the Opposition were constantly dealing in vague generalities and would never get down to an exact statement. Some of the assets were investments in drainage debentures amounting to $307,000; Trust funds held by the Dominion Government, $6,200,018; cash on deposit in the banks, $724,882. From this must be deducted the amount due the Dominion Government on open account and other liabilities amounting to $33,644, leaving as a cash surplus $6,958,324. (Cheers.) His statement was absolutely correct, he challenged any member of the Opposition to point it out if he was in error. He contended that railway obligations should not be deducted from the surplus because these obligations when due would be more than paid by assets not included in the statement. No other government treated such obligations as the leader of the Opposition suggested.

The Government's Policy.

Concluding, he said: "Time and again the electors have deliberately approved the financial policy of the Government. It is well defined and easily understood. It is, in a word, a policy of true economy, efficiency of service, of advancement and progress. We recognize fully that the needs of a young and growing province must constantly increase, and that to meet these needs in a suitable and timely way an increased expenditure will inevitably be necessary. At the same time we know we must carefully husband all our resources, that we must guard and preserve our forest wealth, that we must foster and encourage the all important industry of agriculture, that we must make the most of our mines and liberally assist in their development and that we must prudently avail ourselves of such sources of revenue as are legitimate. (Cheers.) What is the financial policy of the honorable gentleman opposite? Their recent speeches indicate plainly they have no policy which is either tangible or useful. They have utterly failed to destroy and they are equally powerless to construct. (Cheers.) They find fault with the large Crown lands collections; they complain because we do not give a larger share of license revenues to the municipalities, although other governments keep it all; guided by geographical considerations in certain localities they condemn succession duties and in cases fairly approve them, and at all times they speak of our invested funds as if they were a mere myth, although they know they regularly yield us large sums of interest half yearly. Without this interest, without license receipts, without Crown lands receipts, whence would we derive our revenue? In one way only, direct taxation. (Cheers.) I say there are to honorable gentlemen opposite that if their speeches mean anything they conclusively prove them to be the open advocates of direct taxation. Either this or they are driven to a policy of retrogression. Will they lessen the grants to education, to agriculture, to asylums and hospitals? If they cut off our revenues or lessen them, they are driven to this extremity. Is it their policy to compel the municipalities to take care of their own insane, their blind, their deaf and dumb and their weak-minded? Will they say we no longer encourage the erection of county houses of industry by contributing $4,000 to each county, which will make suitable provision for its infirm and destitute since our revenues will not admit of it? What officials will they cut off? Will they dispense with the services of the municipal auditor recently appointed, or the inspector of road making, or the head of the forestry department? I repeat, if their recent deliverances mean anything they plainly point to some such backward and retrogressive policy as I have just outlined. Between the two policies the electors of the province will soon be called upon to choose. On this side of the House, at any rate, we await the verdict with fullest confidence." (Cheers.)

Mr. Matheson replied for the Opposition. He asked that the debate should be adjourned in order, no doubt, to give him an opportunity to read over the speech of the Provincial Treasurer, but as the hour was not late the Premier insisted he should proceed. Mr. Harcourt had said the Province of Quebec took all the liquor license money and gave nothing back to the municipalities, but he had not said that the Quebec Government built all the court houses and public roads and in other ways assisted the people, while the Ontario Government did not give the municipalities one dollar in this manner. He did not condemn any of the persons who supplied goods to any of the public institutions of the Province, what he did condemn was the system of purchasing such supplies without tender. (Hear, hear.) He complained the system of keeping the public accounts was not a good one. He held that any one item could not be traced without wading through the whole accounts. The Treasurer had stated the expenses for ten months of the year and had then placed against them the total receipts for the whole year, and, though there were two months more expenses to be paid made up his surplus in this manner.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt: "I cannot permit such a statement as that to pass. We are having thousands of dollars daily coming in and will continue to do so right up to the last day of the year." (Cheers.)

Mr. Matheson continuing, said all the Dominion subsidy for the year had been paid the Government, all the Dominion interest had been paid and several other large items. He did not propose to go away back to Macdonald's time. He proposed to take up the financial record of the Government since the last elections and found that during the year 1894 the Government's expenses had been $3,727,000, while they received but $3,891,963; in 1895 they expended $3,718,959 and received but $3,556,006; in 1896 they expended $3,685,881 and received but $3,238,766, thus showing a deficit of over one million dollars within four years.

Mr. Conmee: "Where do you get that set of figures." (Laughter.)

Mr. Matheson: "I have picked them out of the public accounts which are so jumbled up you can't make them out."

Continuing, he said the Government was using double the money now received from Crown lands to pay ordinary expenses than used in 1889. Their expenses were constantly growing, while the timber lands were daily diminishing. He charged the Government with having sold as burned timber limits certain limits that had only a few trees scorched. (Laughter.) The Moore Lumber Co. had been caught stealing and had been fined $11,000, every dollar of which had been spent in the investigation.

Hon. Mr. Hardy: "There is not a word of truth in the statement. The cost of the investigation was only $587, every cent of which the Moore Lumber Co. was compelled to pay." (Cheers.)

Mr. Matheson continued feebly. He warned the House that there would be a deficit between receipts and expenditures this current year of half a million dollars, amid the laughter of the members. After rambling along for an hour he moved the adjournment of the debate.

HIS ONLY HOPE.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Saved Harry Stuart After all Other Remedies Failed.

LONDON, Dec. 13th.—In nine-tenths of the homes of London, the all-absorbing topic of conversation is Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Thousands of happy, grateful men and women, are telling of their rescue from Diabetes, Bright's Disease, Paralysis and other kidney diseases hitherto called incurable. All tell how how Dodd's Kidney Pills cured, after all other means had failed.

Harry Stuart, 164 Mill street, told our reporter to-day that a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him completely of long standing kidney disease and lumbago. Doctors could not cure him. Neither could other remedies. Dodd's Kidney Pills were his only hope. THEY CURED HIM. They never fail to cure any case of Kidney Disease.

Distress from Earache.

"I was troubled with earache for a long time," says Miss J. Johnson, Innisfail, N. W. T., "and after trying different remedies without success, used Hagyard's Yellow Oil as a last resort and I can really say that it cured me so completely that I have never had earache since."

Dr. Low's Worm Syrup is a safe, sure and reliable worm expeller. Acts equally well on children or adults. Be sure you get Low's.

DR. Grant OPPOSED.

Paris Presbytery Passed a Resolution Condemning His Utterances in Regard to Prohibition.

Paris, Ont., Dec. 16.—Yesterday was a field day in the Paris Presbytery, and the sentiments of Rev. Dr. Grant of Kingston, lately published in The Globe, were repudiated. The following resolution was moved by Rev. W. A. McKay, D.D., of Woodstock, and seconded by Rev. R. B. Hutt of Ingersoll:—

"Whereas the Presbyterian Church has repeatedly, in all her courts, taken strong ground against the licensed liquor traffic of this land, declaring it to be contrary to the Word of God and to the spirit of the Christian religion, and calling upon the people—by voice, vote and example—to do all in their power to seek its removal; and whereas the prohibition of that traffic has been lately assailed in one of the most largely circulated papers in the Dominion by one whose position and influence identify him very closely with the Presbyterian Church, therefore the Presbytery of Paris deems it an imperative duty to give at this time on this matter no uncertain sound in relation to its entire adherence to the position taken by our General Assembly, and our opposition to and repudiation of the ground taken by the Principal of Queen's College."

Strong speeches were made, both for and against the resolution. An amendment, condemning the views of Principal Grant, without mentioning his name, was moved and received five votes; the motion was carried by seven votes. A number of the members had to leave before the vote was taken, in order to reach home last night.

Physical strength and energy contribute to strength of character, and both may be had by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

That Was Clear Enough.

"That's one great fault about many of these picture exhibitions," exclaimed Mrs. Hooley as she glared first at the picture and then at the catalogue.

"What is it, my dear?" asked her husband. "I'm afraid you don't understand"—

"Nobody could understand this sort of thing," went on the predominant partner of the Hooley household, turning over several pages at once. "There's a picture and no title under it. You've got to look in this book for it."

"You mean that one representing a boy lying on his mother's lap while she makes use of a cane? Well, you can guess the title of that easily enough."

"Oh, I know I'm not so clever as you. What is it?"

"'Whaling In Lapland,' of course."

And Mrs. Hooley looked as if she wished the speaker were a little boy.—Strand Magazine.

Come all Who Suffer.

Mrs. E. Brown, Hamilton, Ont., says: "I have used Laxa-Liver Pills and find them perfect as a cure for billousness and sick headache. I strongly recommend them to all who suffer from such troubles as an unrivaled remedy."

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn., says: "Shiloh's Vitaliser saved my life. I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney trouble it excels. Price 75 cts.

Dr. Low's Pleasant Worm Syrup removes worms of all kinds from children or adults.

D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realising that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

OF FIRST-CLASS WINTER CLOTHING, AT

GOUGH :-: BROS.

Matchless as have been the Decimated Prices which have ruled during our Extraordinary Sale of our Fortunate Purchase from the Mc-Kenna-Thompson Company, of Montreal, this additional saving of TWENTY PER CENT. should appeal to everybody during this Holiday month, coming as it does at a season when everyone wants to give Presents at a Little Cost. This makes the Buying about ALL YOUR OWN WAY. You have a "Corner" now in Clothing buying, if you want to take advantage of it. Not even Cost is to be asked in many cases. No matter how hard it freezes or how much thicker the ice gets, you have nothing to fear in the way of Higher Prices—so long as this sale lasts at GOUGH BROS.

Our Reason!

We have a Special Reason for offering this Extra Reduction, but business secrets seal our lips. You may guess, however, that part of the reason is to sell off as much Winter Goods as possible. One partner says: "Sell at Cost." The other says, "Go ahead, make it 20 Per Cent. better, and trust to your past record for results."

Anyway, you have our offer in Black and White. You'll find us a regular Unincorporated Society for the Clothing of Men, Youths, Boys and Children who want the most for their money, and want it right away.

BE AN EARLY BIRD. The time of all times to buy for future use is now, and the place of all places is—

HOW CASH IS KING!

In nowadays storekeeping ready cash is a powerful factor, commanding important concessions from makers and markets. Price advantages the world over lean toward ready money. Cash in hand we enter the best markets and cull and pick the best goods, and offer them to our patrons at prices that ready cash alone gives. Under our constantly growing organization CASH becomes an important factor in Buying as well as in Selling. In future, therefore, SPOT CASH will be our invariable rule. Your money back if not satisfied.

How Long Will This Piano Last?

The above question is asked by almost every piano purchaser before making a decision.

If you are discussing a Chickering Piano there is an emphatic answer.

No matter what YOUR age rest assured the piano will outlive you.

There is no one living who has ever purchased a Chickering piano AND WORN IT OUT.

Think of the number of children to-day practising upon Chickering pianos purchased by their grandparents.

There are thousands of Chickering pianos so purchased and so used.

Perhaps, they are not as good as they were 50 or 60 or 70 years ago, but the marvel is that they are in use at all.

The majority of pianos by other makers are worn out in a third the period.

These are simple Chickering facts.

Blue Ribbon Tea.

Controlling as we do the garden in which these teas are grown, enables us to give you such excellent teas at the prices you pay for poor trashy teas. If you have not called at our parlours, George street, kindly do so without delay, as we remain only a few days longer. We do not sell any tea from our exhibit, but merely ask you to try them. You can procure them from your grocer.

Christmas Furniture.

Here are some lines that will interest you just now: Parlour tables, never better value; five o'clock tea tables, fancy rockers, some rare bargains in these; arm chairs, easy chairs, pictures selling at 25 per cent. reduction, easels in great variety, music cabinets, etc. The store is full to the roof with all kinds of staple and fancy furniture. CLEGG'S Furniture and Under taking Warerooms.

A Gift.

Its kind, its value and its appearance may decide the dignity or vulgarity of the giver. A special announcement of Fairweather & Co. in another column is interesting reading just now. Their fur stock has never been as large or as select as this season's showing. Buying furs in quantities for two of the largest stores in Canada—one here and one in Toronto—they have special advantages in purchasing power that shows itself in the prices in home manufactured fur stock. We ask you to look up their advertisement, as it will interest you.

Nearly a Century Old.

On the threshold of a century there departed this life at Hastings, one of the oldest, if not the oldest, settler in this neighbourhood. Mrs. Johanna Keenan, relict of the late Peter Keenan, died on Wednesday at the age of 98 years. The deceased was born in the County of Tipperary, Ireland. After coming to Canada the family resided in Prince Edward county, removing to Percy township, where she lived continuously for nearly fifty years. Her husband died five years ago at the age of 90 years. Seven children, five boys and two girls, survive the old lady.

CREMATED THE NOTE.

The Charlotte Street Church Ladies Aid has Raised Nearly $2,000 in the Last Seven Years.

The Ladies' Aid of the Charlotte street Methodist church invited the members of the Quarterly Board to the school room of the church last evening, to witness the cremation of a thousand dollar note.

About seven years ago the Quarterly Board borrowed this money, and the Ladies' Aid assumed the liability. During that time, besides paying the note, they also kept the interest on the same paid, which amounted to another $600, and also spent another $500 in parsonage furnishings, making in all nearly $2,000, raised by that branch of the church.

After refreshments provided by the ladies, a song by Mr. A. L. Davis, and speeches by Messrs. T. J. Mann, R. J. Kidd, J. C. Elliott, A. L. Davis, Jas. Sutherland, Rev. D. O. Crossley and others, it was decided to cremate the note, which was duly done to the satisfaction of all concerned by Mr. R. Neill.

All spoke in the loudest terms of praise of this phenomenal work of the ladies of the church.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—Statutory meetings will be held by the town and village councils this evening.

—A fur-ruff was found on the street this morning and awaits an owner at the police station.

—The Peterborough Pet Stock and Poultry Association holds a general meeting to-morrow evening in the Council Chamber.

—A benefit concert in aid of a worthy object will be given in the Auburn Mission School to-morrow evening. An excellent programme has been arranged.

—If the wife who wrote the chief of police, in regard to her husband spending his money in gambling and drinking and leaving her in want, will give her name the chief will do his duty.

—A meeting of Court Forest Queen, Canadian Order of Foresters, will be held this evening for the purpose of electing officers. A large attendance of members is requested.

—Capt. Louis Winters, of the steamer Crandella, enjoys the distinction of being the first person to cross on the ice this year from Harvey to the Bobcaygeon shore. The ice varied from an inch to two inches in thickness.

—Winter shippers on the C.P.R. will learn with satisfaction of the new system of car building just adopted by the company. Heaters are provided, which burn headlight oil and run twenty-four hours without refilling. They are attended to by C.P.R. employees, obviating the necessity of the shipper's providing a stove and a man to attend to it.

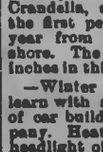
—When a man is through his days' work, and is sitting down resting at home, he cannot read the advertisements on the fence, and the hand bills or circulars that have been left at the doorstep have been blown away or destroyed. He calls for the EXAMINER, and there he finds the merchant's announcement, and with nothing to bother him, he reads it.

—Shoppers at the Peterborough Bookstore do not fail to manifest their appreciation of the elite character of the goods, as well as the remarkably low prices which prevail. It cannot be said that customers are buying their gifts like they take an emetic—shut their eyes and down it goes. On the contrary, they mark their approval in complimentary phrases and praise the superior values offered them. Round the Xmas card, booklet and calendar table, as well as at the counter devoted to the annuals and illustrated books, you hear expressions of this kind all the time. In our 15c, 23c, 28c, 44c and 75c line of books, the very best book-value ever offered is shown.—A. H. STRATTON & Co.

Do Not Delay.

Many have hardly given a thought to Christmas shopping. For them the time to buy their fruits and groceries is limited, as it is only about one week and a half till 'Xmas. No better time left than this week and no better place than E. F. MASON & Co., 429 to 431 George street. Larger assortments and better value than anywhere.

If You've Got the Blues,



Come and get a glimpse of Toyland in the Peterborough Bookstore. Toys, Dolls and Games, are only a few of the many things in our grand Xmas exposition, but there's a feast of fun for the children, and of gladness for parents and of pleasure for all, to drive away the blues. This is the greatest toy store in town. It is a veritable wonderland for the children, and as interesting to the big folks as to the little ones. Dolldom has full swing—the finest family of dolls to be found anywhere, and all so cheap! Nowhere can such a display of good and useful dolls and toys be seen. It equals in variety and quality any two stores in town, and the prices will be found 10 to 15 per cent. cheaper. A. H. STRATTON & Co.

CRUSHED HIS FOOT.

But the Consequences were not as Serious as they Might have Been.

Mr. John Byers met with quite a serious accident this morning at the C. P. R. station, where a 700-pound plate was being unloaded for the bridge works.

The plate was being placed on a truck, and suddely slipped to the ground. Fortunately the edge struck a small block, otherwise the entire weight would have fallen on Mr. Byers' foot. As it was the foot received sufficient injury as to necessitate his laying off work for the day.

The following letter has been received a regard to the curiosity booth:

PETERBOROUGH, Dec. 15th, 1897.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—In regard to your report of Curiosity Booth at the Catholic Bazaar, I wish to state that the booth has been gotten up by three little girls: Misses Daisy Stephens, Viva Donoghue and Nora Coughlin, all of whom have been indefatigable in their efforts to make a success of their undertaking, and that no other person had anything to do with it, and as these three children have done the work I wish them to have the credit.

Yours respectfully,
MRS. JOHN MOLONEY.

PETERBOROUGH'S ADVANTAGES

Being Advertised by Photos Sent to an English Capitalist.

When the British Scientific Association was in session in Toronto last summer, one of the members was invited to Peterborough by Mr. J. B. McWilliams, and expressed himself as being greatly surprised to find so progressive a town where he had been under the impression that only a village existed.

Being greatly interested in the water power of the town, twelve fine views of suitable sites for factories were obtained for him, and to-day Mr. McWilliams is forwarding the following views to the same gentlemen for the purpose of advertising the town's advantages amongst English capitalists:

St. John's church, St. Paul's, St. Peter's, George street Methodist, Collegiate Institute, Court House and Park, Nicholls Hospital, Court House, Canadian General Electric Works, Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co. Works, Auburn Woollen Mills, Y.M.C.A. and two views of the main business streets.

Whilst English capitalists are well enough acquainted with the larger cities, they know nothing whatever of the thriving towns which exist, and the excellent views which have been forwarded by Mr. McWilliams will greatly enlighten anyone on this point. A splendid photo of the Lakefield water power was also inclosed.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Vernon C. McGill was over in Lindsay yesterday.

Miss Kate Ryan, formerly of the teaching staff of the Murray street Separate School has entered Mount St. Joseph.

Miss Maude Macfarlane and her brother, Mr. Ernest Macfarlane, of Homewood avenue, returned last evening from Manitoba, where they have been spending the last few months.

The Norwood Register says,—Mr. J. R. Stuart is home for a few days. During the past two weeks he organized two more Courts of the Canadian Order of Foresters in Quebec, one at Dixville on the 15th ult., with 23 charter members, and one at Waterville on the 22nd ult., with 26 charter members, making four new courts in four weeks, the other two having been instituted at Magog and Coaticook. R. J. is a hustler.

Furs for Fair Women.

There is no article of woman's wear in the selection of which Dame Fashion exerts a more arbitrary sway than in that of furs. A woman may consent to be seen in an old-fashioned gown, for her furs will conceal it; but if she appears in last season's wraps she at once admits herself far and away behind the times. The feminine heart and head find much to admire and think and plan about just now at the old-established and well-know store of W. Loch & Sons. See their holiday announcement elsewhere.

A NORWOOD DAM GAVE WAY THIS MORNING,

AND SWEPT AWAY A PUMP FACTORY.

Squire Bros. and Finlay & Sons also Lost About Five Hundred Cords of Wood—Other Damage Done.

(Special to the Examiner.)

NORWOOD, Dec. 15th.

A flood of water caused by the breaking away of the dam at James Cumming's woollen mills completely demolished Wm. Neild's foundry and pump shop here this morning. The tools and machinery were strewn along the bank of the current. The boiler has not yet been found.

Three bridges and considerable sidewalk were washed away.

About 500 cords of wood belonging to Squire Bros. and Finlay & Son is scattered along the banks of the stream for some miles. Other buildings were flooded but not much damaged.

The losses were: Wm. Neild, machinery, $1,000; Mr. Squire's building, boiler and engine, $1,500; Mr. James Cumming, $400.

Mr. Neild was a former resident of Ashburnham.

DAILY TEMPERATURE RECORD.

The following are readings of the official thermometers for this morning, as well as the highest and lowest yesterday—shade temperature:—

To-day, 7 a. m.....35° above zero

	Highest.	Lowest.
Yesterday	35°	31°

Rainfall yesterday .30 of a inch. Rain and melted snow last night and this morning, .37 of an inch. By a curious coincidence the maximum and minimum thermometers have registered the same for three days in succession, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

The match is to come off before Christmas. The exact time and place of match is not settled at present, but those wishing to attend will receive due notice.

Varsity Glee and Banjo Club.

On Wednesday night the Varsity Club, some sixty strong, will make the Opera House ring with their stirring choruses, brilliant part-songs, instrumental marches and operatic selections. Herr Ruth and Mr. Smedley are musicians of continental note, and they have trained their students to such perfection as was exemplified in the successful prodgetion by them of the "Antigone" last year in Toronto. The imitation of the Bugle Bands, the "Darkies' Jubilee" and the "Pilgrim Choruses," would alone send an audience away satisfied, but there is a perfect embarrassed richness of intermingled glee, solos, recitatives, military choruses and pathetic and humorous selections which promise a rich treat to the large audience who will no doubt fill the house. The prices are 25, 35 and 50c. Seats are now on sale at Ormond & Walsh's Drug Store.

Appropriate Decorations,

For all occasions, executed in an effective manner. Fancy coloured bunting, streamers, flags, mottoes, evergreens, etc., expertly arranged. Halls, homes, societies, ball rooms, supper rooms, hotels, etc., dressed in the gayest effects. Special attention to wedding events, social functions, political meetings and other public gatherings. MR. THOS. DUNN'S CONCERT.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

SIR,—I have read with pleasure your appropriate remarks in the EXAMINER in reference to the proposed complimentary concert to be given at the opera house on Tuesday evening, Dec. 21st, to Mr. Dunn.

Mr. Dunn has always been willing to assist at concerts given by the churches of all persuasions, benevolent societies and benefit concerts on behalf of others.

Mr. Dunn is always a favourite singer in Peterborough, and many audiences have enjoyed listening to his finely-cultivated voice. And his friends, and the citizens in general, will regret to hear of his intended departure from town

I am sure I shall be pardoned if I ask, as an expression of appreciation of his many kindnesses, a large attendance at his concert on the 21st inst.

Yours truly,

PETERBOROUGH PRESBYTERY.

Growing Necessities in the Home Missions Demand More Funds.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON SESSION.

On motion of Dr. Torrance, the ministers were urged to increase contributions to meet the growing necessities of Home Mission work.

An interesting report was received regarding the successful operations of young people's societies under care of Presbytery.

Rev. McIntosh, of Centreville, was appointed to represent Presbytery at the Women's Foreign Missionary Society annual meeting in Port Hope on the second Tuesday of February next.

The Remit of the Assembly on the appointment of a committee on estimates was disapproved of.

The proposed plan by a committee of the Assembly on the subject of systematic beneficience was discussed and approved of. Rev. Potter was appointed secretary on behalf of Presbytery in the further prosecution of the plan.

In accordance with the recommendation of the Assembly that "Presbyteries and Sessions take suitable measures for celebrating the 250th anniversary of the completion of the Confession of Faith and Catechism, by the Westminster Assembly of divines," it was agreed on motion of Rev. Tanner that ministers be requested to address their congregations on the subject of "The Standards of Church" and the committee of Young People's Societies be requested to arrange for addresses on the topics of the standards at their forthcoming convention of the Young People's Societies in Millbrook.

The Rev. Dr. Gregg, of Toronto, was nominated as Moderator of Assembly to meet in Montreal in June next.

On motion of Mr. Potter, it was agreed to reaffirm the recommendation of Assembly on the subject of temperance, viz., that our people are hereby earnestly exhorted to use their utmost endeavour in every lawful way to carry the plebiscite in favour of prohibition by an overwhelming majority.

ASHBURNHAM ELECTIONS.

ST. PAUL'S W.F.M.S. ANNUAL MEETING.

MISS DICKSON IS AGAIN RE-ELECTED PRESIDENT.

Reports Presented by the Secretary and Treasurer Show That Progress is Being Made—The Election of Officers.

There were almost a hundred and fifty ladies yesterday in St. Paul's church attending the twenty first annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society in connection with the congregation.

Miss Charlotte Dickson, the president of St. Paul's branch, occupied the chair and after the singing of a hymn devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. J. F. Dennistoun.

The president in a brief address alluded to the great needs of foreign missions and the inadequacy of the means to perform the work.

Mrs. A. E. Lech, secretary, presented the following report:

We have again met together to review the work of the past year, the twenty-first year of our existence as a Auxiliary, and we would thank our Heavenly Father for all his loving kindness and tender mercies for his forbearance towards our weakness and shortcomings, and for His great goodness in permitting us to exist as an Auxiliary for these twenty-one years with ever increasing blessings and prosperity, and also for a year during which none of our members have been removed by death.

A meeting has been held on the second Friday of each month, except August.

The January meeting was as usual a special Prayer meeting.

Our meetings throughout the year have been characterized by the willing and efficient assistance given by the different members when called upon; a number of the members have prepared and read papers of great excellence and interest.

The average attendance was thirty-five.

The total membership is ninety, an increase of nine over last year; of these fifty one are members of the general society, and thirteen are life members, one life member was added this year.

The amount contributed this year is three hundred and twenty-six dollars and thirty-two cents. In February the Stuart settlement Sunday school contributed the sum of five dollars, which we gratefully acknowledge.

In August a box was sent to our missionaries in India; it contained material for clothing for the famine children rescued by our missionaries, a number of articles suitable for gifts for the school children, and also a quantity of bandages and other medical supplies for use in the Mission Hospital. The total value was twenty-three dollars.

This Auxiliary also contributed the sum of eight dollars to the "Memorial Fund" of the General Society, which fund went to lessen the debt in the Foreign Missionary Fund of our church.

The "Interior," one of the best missionary papers published, was again subscribed for by this Auxiliary and sent to our lady missionaries in India.

The circulation of the "Foreign Missionary Tidings"—which is the old "Letter Leaflet" enlarged and with a new name—has remained the same for several years, there being one hundred subscribers in the congregation. The wider circulation of this little publication is much to be desired, as it keeps its readers in constant touch and sympathy with our missionaries. We hope the day will soon come when one of these silent messengers will be in every family. The price is twelve cents a year.

The annual meeting of the Presbyterial Society was held in St. Andrew's church in February, when Mrs. Innes and Mrs. McPherson were delegates from this Auxiliary.

The annual meeting of the General Society was held in Hamilton in April when Mrs. McPherson and Mrs. Garvin represented this Auxiliary and brough back interesting reports, which were read at our meeting in May. The semi-annual meeting of the Presbyterial Society was held in June at Millbrook, when a number of our members attended.

As stated in last year's report, it was the intention of this Auxiliary to establish a library consisting of interesting and useful literature bearing on missions, for the use of our members, the money for this purpose being taken from our expense fund.

In June last the first instalment of books was procured, consisting of twenty volumes. The selection was made by a committee of ladies after much thought and investigation, and are all of great interest. A perusal of any of these books cannot fail to increase our knowledge of and our interest and faith in mission work, and it is earnestly hoped that all our members will avail themselves of the privilege thus afforded them. This library will also be found very useful for books of reference, when information is required about any special mission work. Mrs. R. S. Davidson has been appointed librarian, and members desiring a book can always procure one at the monthly meeting of the Auxiliary. The Missionary Review is also subscribed for by the Auxiliary, and can be had by any member wishing to read it. The annual thankgiving meeting was held held in October, and was a very enjoyable meeting indeed. A true spirit of thanksgiving was abroad, which was shown especially in the large thankoffering, which amounted to $130.

We are sorry to report that our senior Mission Band (the Faithful Workers) has disbanded on account of its small membership. But we are glad to say they have not given up the work, as we are to have the pleasure of welcoming them into the Auxiliary.

It was the wish of the members that a junior band, comprising both boys and girls, be formed and take their name, "The Faithful Workers." An attempt has been made to do so, but so far only four or five children have attended. We would draw the attention of mothers to the band and hope they will take an interest in it and see that the younger children attend. The work of this year is ended, but for the coming year we pray that God will lay this work of rescuing the heathen on the hearts of everyone of us, so that we will be willing and able to do more the lighting of the dark parts of earth than ever we did in the past.

M. H. LECH,
Secretary.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB.

Interesting Paper on Victor Hugo, Read by Miss Spence.

There was a very large attendance at the meeting of the Fortnightly Club last night in the Y.M.C.A. hall, which was again filled as on the occasion of the last meeting.

The programme opened with an instrumental solo, the "Marseillaise," by Mrs. E. A. Peck, which was most brilliantly rendered.

Mr. G. W. Mulligan sang "The Skipper" in excellent voice and with more than his usual expression.

A paper was then read by Miss Spence on "Victor Hugo." Miss Spence stated that it was impossible to attempt to review the work of Victor Hugo, poet, novelist, dramatist and satirest. So she would content herself with a brief review of his work as a novelist.

The story of the hunchback of Notre Dame was outlined in a very artistic manner. After which she proceeded to examine critically the style of the author and his characteristic features.

The audience, as Rev. Mr. Symonds afterwards remarked, remained perfectly motionless during the reading of the paper and burst into a storm of applause at its conclusion.

The paper was interspersed with selections from the Hunchback of Notre Dame, translated by Miss Spence with great ease and fluency.

The President, Rev. Mr. Symonds, added a few scholarly remarks, pointing out the three great novels by Victor Hugo, "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," "The Toilers of the Sea" and "Les Miserables" representing his three prominent ideas—religion, nature and man. He concluded by paying a high tribute to the paper read by Miss Spence.

A Banker's Experience.

"I tried a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for a troublesome affection of the throat," writes Manager Thomas Hewson of the Standard Bank, now of 14 Melbourne Avenue, Toronto, "It proved effective. I regard the remedy as simple, cheap and exceedingly good. It has hitherto been my habit to consult a physician in troubles of this nature. Hereafter, however, I intend to be my own family doctor."

DOUBLED UP!

UNABLE TO WORK.

Suffering Agony Day and Night.

"For nearly two years," says Frank J. Wray, 211 Sherbourne St., Toronto, "I suffered greatly with lameness and pain in my back. It often happened that my back and kidneys pained me so badly that I was doubled up and could hardly walk, except in a stooping position. Very often I was unable to work, suffering agony both day and night. I had severe pain in the lower part of my stomach, and other symptoms which proved conclusively that my kidneys were in a very unhealthy condition. My appetite was lost and my strength declined rapidly.

"I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills in March last, and after using three boxes of them was completely restored to health. I have not had the slightest pain or stiffness in any part of my back, or any indication of my former trouble, since using these wonderful pills.

"With the restoration of my kidneys to a healthy condition, my appetite was restored, and my strength returned, so that I am now strong and hearty. I make this statement of my cure by Doan's Kidney Pills with the greatest pleasure, because when I commenced taking them I did not really expect so remarkable a cure as that which followed their use. I am very thankful that I hit upon this remedy, and gladly recommend it to all sufferers." 267

A FAVORITE POEM.

I wandered lonely as a cloud
That floats on high o'er vales and hills,
When all at once I saw a crowd,
A host of golden daffodils,
Beside the lake, beneath the trees,
Fluttering and dancing in the breeze.

Continuous as the stars that shine
And twinkle on the milky way
They stretched in never ending line
Along the margin of a bay.
Ten thousand saw I at a glance,
Tossing their heads in sprightly dance.

The waves beside them danced, but they
Outdid the sparkling waves in glee.
A poet could not but be gay
In such a jocund company.
I gazed and gazed, but little thought
What wealth that show to me had brought.

For often when on my couch I lie
In vacant or in pensive mood
They flash upon that inward eye
Which is the bliss of solitude,
And then my heart with pleasure fills
And dances with the daffodils.

A LONDON EPISODE.

A Prominent Contractor Cured of Bright's Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

London, Dec. 6—Not since the great election trial some years ago, has any London episode created such widespread excitement as has the case of G. R. Brady, of 229 Talbot street.

Mr. Brady, a prominent contractor, suffered for years with Bright's Disease. Doctors and special remedies failed utterly to help him. In despair he tried Dodd's Kidney Pills, and was cured by a few boxes.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have proved themselves, in this city, to be the only remedy that will positively cure every case of Bright's Disease, Diabetes and every other kidney complaint. They have never failed here. People will buy no other medicine.

Port Arthur's Grain Record.

Port Arthur, Ont., Dec. 14.—With the closing of lake navigation by the sailing of the steamer Gilchrist, the record of this port is closed. Frank H. Gibbs, Dominion grain inspector, has compiled the following statistics, both for Port Arthur and Fort William, for the last three years in the wheat trade. The totals for these years are as follows: 1895, 10,550,000 bush.; 1896, 12,000,000 bush.; 1897, 17,000,000 bush.

Henegan Hanged Himself.

Niagara, Dec. 14.—Despondent over idleness since he lost his place as bailiff several months ago, Patrick Henegan yesterday morning suicided, hanging himself to the bed-post with a towel.

Wise Men Know

It is folly to build upon a poor foundation, either in architecture or in health. A foundation of sand is insecure, and to deaden symptoms by narcotics or nerve compounds is equally dangerous and deceptive. The true way to build up health is to make your blood pure, rich and nourishing by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills act easily and promptly on the liver and bowels. Cure sick headache.

Conflicting Emotions.

"How happy a fellow feels when he has really repented of something wrong he has done!"

"Yes, and how infernally mad he gets when some other fellow recalls it to his mind afterward."—Exchange.

Cancer Can Be Cured.

Cancer is the severest known form of blood disease. Burdock Blood Bitters is the most powerful medicine known. It cures cancer and all skin diseases. Read: "My husband had two cancers taken off his face, and another was coming on his lip. He took two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters and is disappointed. I know this medicine is an excellent blood purifier." Mrs. Wm. Kemp, Akron, Erie Co., New York.

CARLYLE'S SISTER DEAD.

Mrs. Hanning Passes Away After a Short Illness in Toronto—Sketch of Her Life in Canada.

Toronto, Dec. 14.—Mrs. Janet Carlyle Hanning, sister of the great philosophical writer, Thomas Carlyle, and the last member of the family of the Sage of Chelsea, died yesterday at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. W. J. Laing, 415 Huron street, in this city.

Deceased, who was in her 85th year, had long been a resident in Canada, having come to this country in 1851 as the wife of the late Robert Hanning of Hamilton. The latter met with reverses in business and in 1841 come to the New World to retrieve his fortunes. It was not till 10 years later that his wife and children came out to join him, and during the greater part of that period, Mrs. Hanning remained at Ecclefechan, caring for the old mother, whom her brother Thomas loved so devoutly.

After Mrs. Carlyle's death, in 1849, Thomas Carlyle received his sister and children as guests into his own home at Chelsea and they remained with him till they sailed for their home at Hamilton, Ontario. In the 50 years that intervened before the death of Thomas Carlyle, the famous philosopher remained always the kind elder brother to his young sister, writing to her with regularity and affection.

MRS. HANNING,
A sister of Thomas Carlyle.

The family resided in Hamilton for over 25 years, and in that city four little daughters grew to womanhood and were married. In 1878 Mr. Hanning died, and three years later came the death of Thomas Carlyle. By her brother's will, Mrs. Hanning inherited sufficient estate to render her independent. She left Hamilton and went to reside with her married daughter, Mrs. Leslie, on her farm, Comely Bank, near Oakville. Here 15 years were spent, till in April of the present year, Mrs. Hanning came to Toronto and lived with her daughter, Mrs. Laing.

Soon after her arrival in this city, she had a severe illness, from which she never recovered. About ten days ago she was seized with sudden faintness, since which she grew gradually weaker till the end came peacefully yesterday.

Mrs. Hanning's remains will be buried beside those of her husband in Hamilton. She leaves three daughters, Mrs. Franklin of Ripley, Ont.; Mrs. Holden of Hamilton and Mrs. Laing of Toronto.

BRAVE M. J. MERRY.

In His Efforts to Save a Companion From Suffocation He Was Successful, But He Himself Lost His Life.

Rossland, B. C., Dec. 14.—M. J. Merry, whose death here has been chronicled, lost his life in saving a companion. It transpires that he was suffocated by powder damp in the Iron Colt Mine. He was employed in working a steam drill alternately with George Cattanach. Just after an explosion Cattanach went into the first drift to notice the effect. He realized that there was danger from gas, but reached the face without any inconvenience. He was overcome on his way back and sank to the ground unconscious. As he fell he cried aloud for help. Merry rushed to his assistance, but was overcome by gas and fell prostrate on the body of his partner. Three-quarters of an hour later the other man in the mine noticed that the drill was idle, and commenced a search. The prostrate forms were discovered. Cattanach was resuscitated, but Merry was beyond recovery, although everything was done to save him.

The two most critical times in a woman's life are the times which make the girl a woman, and the woman a mother. At these times, Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription is of incalculable value. It strengthens and invigorates the organs distinctly feminine, promotes regularity of the functions, allays irritation and inflammation, checks unnatural exhausting drains, and puts the whole delicate organism into perfect condition. Almost all the ills of womankind are traceable to some form of what is known as "female" complaint. There are not three cases in a hundred of woman's peculiar diseases that Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription will not cure.

"NOT GUILTY," SAY THE JURY.

Barber Campbell and Benjamin Searle Were Acquitted Yesterday.

Toronto, Dec. 14.—After a long trial at the Sessions yesterday, George Campbell, a colored barber, whose place of business is at King and Niagara streets, was found not guilty of unlawfully wounding Gavin Muirhead, a policeman, on the night of Oct. 30. There was much contradictory evidence. The trouble occurred in Campbell's store, where Muirhead and Policeman Moffat had gone to arrest the barber's son for disorderliness. Muirhead was cut in the wrist with a pair of scissors and Campbell had some bones in his right hand broken by a blow from the constable's baton.

It Was An Accident.

Benjamin Searle was acquitted at the Sessions on the charge of tearing out a horse's tongue as the occurrence was thought by the jury to be an accident.

RELIGIOUS CIRCLES STIRRED UP.

A Lady Excommunicated by the Catholic Church for Marrying a Protestant.

St. Joseph, Mo., Dec. 14.—Religious circles in this city were stirred up yesterday by the public excommunication of Mrs. Charles Miller, formerly Miss Katherine Moriarity, her mother and all relatives and Catholics who participated in her marriage ceremonies and the reception which followed, because the young woman was married by a Protestant minister.

The letter of excommunication from the Right Rev. Bishop Burke and addressed to Rev. Father Newman, pastor of the Cathedral congregation, was read at all of the services in the Cathedral.

Thousands of men in lonely homes call up the pictures of the loved and lost ones, who might still be happy husbands with healthy babies prattling at their knees, if they had only been a little more observant and thoughtful. When a woman's complexion gets pale and sallow and her eyes look heavy; when she is evidently nervous and despondent, and complains of pains and aches and dragging down and burning sensations; a wise man should know that she is suffering from weakness or disease in a womanly way. The thoughtful man who realizes this will at once advise his wife to consult some eminent and skillful specialist. He will know that the average physician will insist upon the obnoxious examinations and local treatment so embarrassing to modest, sensitive women. He should know that these ordeals are unnecessary. Dr. R. V. Pierce is an eminent and skillful specialist, who has been for thirty years chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. During that time, with the assistance of a staff of able physicians, he has prescribed for many thousands of women. He is the inventor of a wonderful medicine for the special weaknesses of women, that cures in the privacy of the home. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes the delicate and important organs that bear the burdens of maternity strong, healthy and vigorous. It corrects all irregularities and stops all debilitating drains. Medicine dealers sell it and have nothing "just as good."

W. R. Malcolm, Esq., of Knobel, Clay Co., Ark., writes: "My wife for perhaps four months previous to the birth of our child took the 'Favorite Prescription.' This strengthened her entire system, and child-birth, to her, was very easy, being attended with little pain. Our baby Ruth is 13 months old and she has never been sick a day."

A CHANGED DEVIL.

Babe Espinosa was the only daughter of Gavina Espinosa, whose wife the saints had called early, and her place had been supplied by a woman whom Babe had been taught to call Aunt Tinta. The Espinosas kept a small Mexican restaurant on Santa Lucia street, where tortillas, enchiladas, tamales, red wine and other hot stuffs were attractions. Babe had been brought up in this restaurant and in the street—in the gutter, if that was out of Aunt Tinta's way—though she had a faint remembrance of a yard around an old adobe, where there were myrtle with big blue blossoms and broken borders of gaudy flowers, and thinking of the adobe she thought of the myrtle, and thinking of the myrtle she saw it on a grave in a place where there were many thin, wooden crosses, some of them always leaning over with a promise to join those that had lain down like the sleepers. She had been christened Maria, but after some years and some slips she had repudiated the name as too commonplace for her and had assumed the name of her innocence because of the travesty it was. "Marias are thicker than virgins," said Babe, whereat her followers laughed. These were all young men. Women did not like Babe and she did not like women.

Babe was wiry, square shouldered and slim waisted. She attracted attention wherever she went. Everything she did was done with this in the vista, and she would have succeeded had she only passed as propriety. The conformation of her supraorbital region caused the other Marias to accuse her of the evil eye. Her hair, worn old style, parted in the middle and carried down over her ears, was black and only less coarse than the mane of a mustang, and her hair and eyes would have been observed in any aggregation.

Babe had a familiar, one Vico Bettani, the hunchback of the Pocket. The Pocket was a haunt of ill repute, a cluster of old, low tenements in the center of a block where there were houses facing the sidewalk in the regulation civic way. Vico was tall for a hunchback, owing to his gangy, long legs. His arm was so strong, that he could put a man under either hump and lift, Vico-fashion, while his long legs dangled like a rag doll's.

Through all the streets and alleys of the town the odd looking pair went at will and at all hours. "The devil and the devil's own," Babe said, of them, for while Maria was spite of her sex, the devil was Babe.

Often they passed old Mateo Tiseros and his tamale stand. Sometimes they flouted the old man. Sometimes they wheedled him out of a tamale by promises of sweet yerba santa, sometimes secured it by mere bold banter, but one night late, when there was no moon and old Mateo's red lantern, low and smoky, cast a light that would hardly have done for a photographer's darkroom and Babe and Vico were bold with bad wine, a whim struck Babe to upset old Mateo and his outfit.

A whisper to Vico won him to the scheme, and in a few twinklings the lantern oil had spread itself a la mayonnaise upon the outer husks of the few tamales remaining in the steamer. To Babe's surprise Vico lay in the mayonnaise, and she found the night air cool upon her spine, for old Mateo had disposed of Vico with a single left hander and with a stroke of a sharp knife had ripped Babe's clothing from neck to waist. Babe wet her dress skirt at the fountain, tore off Vico's collar, opened his shirt and mopped his face, neck and breast till consciousness returned. Then she took off his coat, threw it around her shoulders, buttoned one button, got Vico on his feet and half led, half carried him home and put him to bed.

She thought of smelling salts for Vico and began to rummage for a green bottle with an oroide top that had once held some. Not finding it in one place, she looked in another, when, feeling something unusual in the old zinc trunk, she drew it forth and shuddered till the split clothing slipped down on her tawny shoulders as she saw a wooden cross with an ivory figure in fixed contortion upon it. Then she remembered that once upon a time she had stood by an old chest when her father found the crucifix, and he, too, had trembled.

"Who is it?" she had asked.

"One Jesus," her father had said. "He was your grandmother's. He is a dead man, and the dead are as earth and air and water. I will have nothing of this Jesus."

He threw the Jesus in the strong box, then heaped clothing upon it and jumped in and stamped upon it.

Why had he not thrown it away?

Another day she had meant to do so, for she smothered when she thought of that yellow, hurt looking man, bleeding and nailed and trampled under the clothing in the tight box. She had gone with creeping flesh and got him out.

Why had she not thrown him away? Why had she forgotten him? Strange it seemed to her, that moan of Vico's at that moment, "Jesus, mercy—my Jesus, mercy—my poor head."

Her grandmother had kept Jesus by her. Had he done something for her? Would he do something for Vico? She could not bear to look at him even in the dim light, but she laid him on Vico's breast and took Vico's hands and put them upon him.

Babe could not breathe. Her face burned. Her bare breast burned. She felt her way to the back porch, heavily overhung by flowering bean and balsam vines, but the night air did not cool her, though her clothing had slipped off her arms and fallen down from her belt, and her wet skirts clung to her limbs.

Her father sat there in a low, wide rocker—her father, stupid with heavy food and sour wine—and another form was coming up the black adobe walk. It was not mist only nor shadow nor cloud, yet Babe knew not what else to call it, and it came to the railing and stood without and spoke to him, her father, "The step is fallen, husband, and the porch is falling with the thick vine, and my child is fallen."

"What business is it of yours?" replied Gavina Espinosa with sullen bravado. Then he burst out wrathfully: "By God, in the course of nature you have no right to be here. You are dead and useless."

"Dead? I am not dead," said the mist. "Death frees us. Death rests us. Death soothes pain, but I am bond and weary and I suffer."

"Anyhow, your grave is over there, flat under the myrtle."

"Ah," said the mist, "I did not know what I now perceive. I am dead, praised be God, and he is God, and now that you have cast me out and told me there is no bond between you and me I am indeed free and my grave is over there, but not flat under the myrtle. Don't you remember I asked you not to put it down? And it has never fallen. Lift the myrtle and you will see. I go to my grave. The earth is calm and soft and kindly. Nature has made it so. Tell my daughter that I went to my grave."

In the gray of morning Babe came to herself in the old porch. She looked for her father. He was not there, neither was the wide rocker. Had they really been there? Babe lay and thought. When she got up, she was a changed woman.

She bathed Vico's face and hands. He could not rise. She brought breakfast for him and served it with the only pure womanly tenderness that had ever been spontaneous with her. Vico ate and afterward slept. She mothered him all day. He did not understand Babe's new whim. Late in the afternoon he rose and dressed, wondering what her evening mood would be.

She would not let him go till he had eaten food brought with her new grace. They ate together, and when he felt new again and wholly well fed and comfortable he put his arms around Babe and kissed her. She put her arms around him and kissed him, too, as a good woman might have done.

"I am going to be good, Vico," she said. Vico had felt her strength when she was bad to him, and he was not ill pleased. "Let's both be good, Vico," she went on. "Let's go to the priest and be married."

Vico was so much astounded that he took her arms from around him. He looked at her. Yes, she meant it. Vico was as much an inheritance as any one of his traits. He was the product of an ancestry of inconstant men.

Vico laughed.

That the accustomed anger did not blaze from her eyes made him laugh consummedly, and when a tear stole down her cheek the situation became amusing beyond all things.

Vico laughed.

The echoes of his evil mirth came back to the grieving woman as he went down the street to tell his boon companions of Babe's latest madness.

How Vico laughed!—A. Kalfus Spero in Argonaut.

As Between Men.

"Yes, dear, I met your father and told him that I wanted to talk with him as one man with another."

"And"—

"Well, that was the kind of talk I got. With all the temper he has I am sure he would never have used such language in talking to a woman."—Indianapolis Journal.

A MOTHER SPEAKS.

Tells how Dr. Chase Saved her Boy.

His Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine a Precious Boon.

MRS. A. T. STEWART, Folger, Ont., says: "From the 7th of January to the 30th, we were up night and day with our two little boys, employing doctors and trying every kind of patent medicine we ever heard of. At this time we did not know of Dr. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine until after the 30th, when our youngest darling died in spite of all we could do. Sometime in February the doctor told us our other boy couldn't live till spring. We were about discouraged, when I got my eye on an advertisement of Dr. Chase's Syrup.

"I tried at once to get some, but none of the dealers here had it. A neighbor who was in Kingston managed to purchase two bottles which he brought straight to us, and I believe it was the means of saving our only boy.

"One teaspoonful of the Syrup stopped the cough so he could sleep till morning. Our boy is perfectly well now, and I would not be without Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine in the house."

ALMOST A MIRACLE.

OTTAWA, Sept. 9th, 1896.

To the Phrenoline Medicine Co., Ltd., Ottawa:—

GENTLEMEN,—I hardly know how best to express my appreciation of your valuable rheumatic remedy, Phrenoline. My son Gordon, who is 9 years old, has been a sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism for the past two years; was so bad at times that he had to be carried about on a mattress; was attended by two city doctors apparently without the slightest benefit; spent 10 days at Caledonia Springs, came home with no marked improvement; took three bottles of a Homeopathic remedy now being extensively advertised, which did not relieve him in the least. I was beginning to give up all hope of his recovery, when by chance I mentioned the case to a friend who strongly advised me to give Phrenoline a trial.

I did so, with the result that when my boy had taken only half a bottle he was able to get on his bicycle and ride like any other boy around the block.

I certainly feel that I cannot say too much in praise of your medicine, and shall do all I can to make known its value to others.

Yours very sincerely,

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOUR.

St. Andrew's Young People's Society of Christian Endeavour Met Last Night.

St. Andrew's society had a bright and enthusiastic meeting on Monday evening last. The special topic assigned us by the General Assembly—"What the Young People may do for the Church"—was taken by the president, Mr. Kerr. He said he believed the first thing we should do was to give ourselves wholly up—time, talents, and all, to think it a privilege and duty that no one should neglect. He made it clear how that we cannot serve God and and the world. How sad to see young people giving the best and brightest part of their lives to the world. He did not think anyone too young after they had come to years of understanding to come into the church work. When our Great Example was only twelve years old the wisdom of the doctors was put to astonishment by His understanding. When we are asked to do anything we should not try to shirk our duty, but by action think it a privilege, not a burden. If our Queen should ask for our assistance in anything how quick we would do it, no matter how much trouble or pain we had to endure. Why then should we not be just as ready when the King of Kings and Lord of Lords asks us to work for his cause. Never heed the fellow comrade who may laugh at you, for down in their heart they respect you, for we can do much for the church by our character, and that character is not formed in a day, but by our every action, which takes a lifetime.

Be careful to build up a pure white character as a monument that will stand for a remembrance of us that time cannot destroy.

A very pleasing solo entitled "I live for Thee," was sung. Rev. Mr. Potter, Mr. Anderson and Mrs. Patten each gave helpful remarks, making the avenues of future service for the young easy of access. All felt encouraged in the using of every opportunity in our wide field of church duty. The meeting closed with the benediction.

THE KLONDYKE GOLD FIELD.

The All-Canadian Summer Route the Best—Interesting Letter From a Peterborough Boy.

Mr. William Ogilvie, the well-known Government surveyor, who has been back and forth between the Yukon country and the east by pretty nearly all the different routes, and who has spent much of his time for some years in the far northwest of Canada, is of the firm opinion that the Canadian valley of the Yukon river and its tributaries is the largest and richest gold field in the world. He is also of the opinion that the Stickeen river is by far the best summer route to the Yukon district. The distance from Victoria to Fort Wrangell, near the mouth of the Stickeen river, by ocean steamship, is seven hundred and fifty miles: from Fort Wrangell to Telegraph Creek, in British Columbia, by river boat up the Stickeen river is a hundred and fifty miles: from Telegraph Creek to Teslin Lake by trail, one hundred and twenty miles, and from Teslin Lake to Dawson City by steamboat down the Yukon and its tributaries six hundred and fifty miles. From Telegraph Creek to Teslin Lake railway construction would be for the most part without great obstacles. The whole distance by this all-Canadian route is sixteen hundred and fifty miles. This route passes through American waters between Fort Wrangell and Telegraph Creek, but the Anglo-Russian treaty of 1825 secures British vessels the right of navigation of all waterways on the Alaskan coast.

The following interesting letter was received by Mrs. Madill, who now resides at Hall's Glen, from her son, Mr. D. A. Madill, who left for the Yukon district last summer, and arrived safely at Dawson City:—

DAWSON CITY, KLONDIKE DISTRICT, September 27, 1897.

DEAR MOTHER,—You will perceive I have arrived at this glorious Eldorado, giving our outfit the final tie-up on the bank of the now frozen Yukon River in front of Dawson City a week ago yesterday. We had a very successful trip, making one of the fastest on record for a loaded boat. I was one of the company who started in the boat when running the canyon and shooting the White Horse and Five Fingers Rapids, there being the dangerous waters that we found it well about. I have just returned from a trip up to the junction of the Eldorado and Bonanza Creeks, which is about 15 miles from here and where the rich diggings are. The good ground has all been taken up months ago and is being held at fabulous prices, hundreds are running about looking for mining claims and many are pegging at claims that are worth less. As regards myself I have not decided what I will do this winter. There will be little chance to do any business as word arrived last night from the steamers coming up the Yukon river that they were stopped by sand bars at the Yukon Flats about 400 miles below here. These are the boats the people have been anxiously looking for for the last thirty days. The last three days shows signs of winter setting in and to-day masses of ice are floating by which seem to be all that is necessary to make the old timers anxious and others who have not sufficient food and clothing on hand to carry them through the long winter. From early morning they have been hustling their little belongings into their boats and gilding down the river towards Circle City, about 300 miles below, or perhaps to Fort Yukon, where the boats have been last heard from. As regards myself I feel quite contented, although, I, like many others, may find it a little monotonous ere the long winter is at an end and the beautiful spring is ushered in again.

The mail which leaves here to-night is supposed to be taken by a very reliable carrier, and all who send letters are paying a dollar for each letter. I am glad to have the privilege of letting you know that I am well, and it is my sincerest wish and daily prayer that the same kind and blessed Father is keeping you and all at home well also.

Give my kindest love to all and hoping to hear from you as soon as possible.

I am your affectionate son,

D. A. MADILL.

INFECTED MILK.

Dire Results from Criminal Carelessness at a Creamery.

So widely are scientific facts connected with food and hygiene disseminated nowadays, that there are comparatively few unaware of how easily milk is contaminated. Yet knowledge is at times disregarded and that too very frequently, by those who peculiar care it should be to guard the public health.

At the present time Paterson, N. J., and Arlington, suburbs of Newark, are suffering from a serious epidemic of typhoid fevs, and the resources of the health officials are taxed to the utmost to keep it in bounds. As it is the disease has extended into Jersey City, and a slight attack has occurred in New York, all of which can be distinctly traced to the same source. Since Nov. 15 sixty-two cases have been reported in Paterson alone and last Thursday and Friday fifteen cases were reported daily. Among the victims are the Mayor and a former sheriff. To trace the disease to its source Dr. John Leal turned detective. His first clue came on Thanksgiving Day, when several of the children of the local orphan asylum were taken ill, then in the irony of events, several people who ate ice cream at a pure food show held some days later, were also laid up. Dr. Leal discovered a coincidence. The milk in both cases was furnished by the same creamery.

A LITTLE INVESTIGATION

proved conclusively that in thirty-four out of the sixty-two cases in Paterson the milk was supplied from the same source. This creamery is that kept by F. W. Fulbeam, at Branchville, Sussex county, N.J., one of the largest establishments of the kind in the state, and handling the milk of about sixty farmers in the vicinity. It would naturally be thought that an establishment of this size and importance would be conducted on the strictest hygienic lines. What are facts or the case? On Friday last Dr. Leal and Dr. Hunt, of the State Board of Health, visited the place and found an astonishing condition of things. Fulbeam's three sons were lying ill with typhoid fever, but although they had been ill for four weeks the county physician had not yet detected the nature of their disease. He diagnosed their ailment as remittent fever. Fulbeam's creamery is situated on a little stream which is the outlet for Culver's Lake, and which is used to carry away sewage. Twelve feet down the stream from the sewer was the mouth of the pipe through which water was drawn to supply the creamery and with which all the milk cans were washed. Of course prompt measures were at once taken. The supply pipe was at once taken up by Dr. Hunt's order, who also promptly quarantined the place and forbade Fulbeam to send out another pint of milk until he received permission to do so. The farmers were notified that if they wished they could send their milk to market themselves but that on no account should they send it to Fulbeam's creamery. It was found that he had been sending the infected milk to Paterson, Newark, Jersey City, Dover, Morrisburg, the Oranges and New York.

WAS IT A FOUL MURDER?

THE MYSTERIOUS SHOOTING IN SOMERVILLE.

John Luff Arrested on Monday Evening on Suspicion of Having Caused the Death of Thomas Lee.

On November 9th, last, as our readers will probably remember, a young man named Thos. Lee was shot in Somerville township, Victoria County, dying almost immediately. A young fellow named John Luff was present at the time of the shooting, and at the inquest his story was that Lee had come over to him from the runway where he was watching for deer and had promised him to allow him to shoot off his gun in exchange for a chew of tobacco. He got the weed, but refused to keep his promise, saying he was short of ammunition. Then, as Luff related, Lee attempted to lean his gun against a young sapling, when it went off, with the result stated above.

At the coroner's inquest it came out that Luff had told his younger brother (who was not present at the shooting) to say that he had seen the gun go off in the manner described, and this fact, combined with other suspicious circumstances, has since rankled in the minds of the deceased's friends, the result being that County Magistrate Deacon was asked to take action, and have the affair investigated.

As a preliminary step, he on Monday issued a warrant for young Luff's arrest, and Constable Short after a very tiresome trip, found his man and brought him into Lindsay yesterday.

HAVELOCK.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Havelock Lodge No. 286, I.O.O.F., had a very successful "At Home" on Thursday evening of last week. There was a literary programme, speeches, games and oyster supper in connection. The speeches were delivered by Mr. W. S. Dodd, Rev. H. McQuade, Rev. Mr. McGinnis and others. The assembly consisted of members and their wives and friends. Much credit is due the committee of management for providing such a programme of enjoyment for their friends.

THE LEGISLATURE

Ottawa Not Consulted in the Timber Question.

THE BUDGET DEBATE IS RESUMED

Mr. Matheson Dissipates the Surplus and Finds a Deficit—Masterly Reply by the Minister of Education—Opposition Bossed by Sir Charles Tupper—Their Policy's Results.

Toronto, Dec. 16.—The position of the Opposition in the Legislature seems to be becoming more ridiculous daily. First Mr. St. John made statements with reference to the Humber piggery that were proved ridiculous by Premier Hardy. This was upon the debate upon the address. The House is now engaged debating the budget. Mr. Matheson, the Opposition champion, fell into the same trap as his friend from West York yesterday while discussing the budget and was called down by Hon. Mr. Ross, who made him and his party most ridiculous at every point. The members of both sides and the galleries roared with laughter as Mr. Ross exposed the ridiculous assertions of the leaders of the Opposition.

The Opposition Side.

Mr. Matheson, resuming the debate on the budget, said he had a grave complaint to make with reference to the method of book keeping at the Central prison. There were two institutions within that building. The prison was not credited by the various industries within its walls for the labor of the prisoner, but when the prisoners did any work upon the prison proper, the industry through which the work had been done will charge up to the prison the labor of its own prisoners. This was all wrong and should be changed. He did not believe in having this prison labor compete with honest labor outside. He said if the Government did not soon curtail their expenses the province would soon be called upon to face direct taxation. He thought it high time the arbitration between Ontario and Quebec should be brought to a close. It was costing about $50,000 per year, and at the rate the arbitrators were going they would spin it out for years, much to the gain of the lawyers who were friends of the Government, and who alone would profit by it. He claimed that since 1871, when the present Government came to power, they had received from all sources $29,478,538 and had expended $32,057,275, the difference they had taken from the surplus left by the Macdonald Government, all of which was now expended and direct taxation staring the country in the face. He complained that American lumbermen were permitted to bring in their own men and supplies and take out millions of dollars worth of lumber. Taking lumber at only $2 per thousand to cut it under the present policy of the Government, in that item alone the province lost annually $600,000. He condemned the present educational system on the ground that it enslaved the teachers, who feared the Minister; it gave a monopoly in school books to a single firm; it increased the cost of books and failed to give a proper education to the children of the province. He did not think the Government should control the Toronto University. There should be a higher grade of education in the public schools, a class that would give a higher education than the present public school system affords without the necessity of attending a High school. He thought sewing should be taught in the Public schools.

The Opposition Routed.

Hon. G. W. Ross was loudly cheered when he rose to reply. He congratulated the Provincial Treasurer upon the able speech he had made, showing the credit of the province was better than ever before. The speech would give the province a better credit in the markets of the world and give more confidence to the citizens. He was glad the blue ruin speeches were on the other side of the House. Members of the Opposition would like to have the country believe that Ontario's finances under a Liberal Government were in as bad a state as the finances of Quebec, for twenty years under a Conservative Government, but such was not the case, and therefore it was not right for members of the Opposition to be making misstatements calculated to injure the credit of the province. The Ontario Government did not squander the public money, did not squander the public domain, but carefully husbanded all resources and ran the country as economically as it was possible. They talked blue ruin on the other side, and yet at the end of the year the Government would have over $600,000 cash in the bank. (Cheers.) The Opposition were constantly holding the Sandfield Macdonald Government up as a standard to follow. Well, Macdonald's Government left a surplus of $600,000, and after 25 years of office the present Government had as much money as this in cash in the bank. What more did they want. (Cheers.) The Opposition said the Government had no surplus and yet the Government annually drew as interest upon their cash reserve over $212,000. Did the Opposition mean that this large sum could be drawn upon nothing? Sandfield Macdonald drew interest upon his surplus, did he not?

Mr. Marter: "Certainly."

Hon. Mr. Ross: "Then, is it not in the same manner we draw our interest?"

Mr. Marter did not reply.

Continuing, Mr. Ross said: "Ah, why do you say Macdonald drew interest upon his surplus and not agree we get our interest in the same way? Macdonald drew interest upon something, you make us out very clever to draw so large an amount upon nothing." (Laughter.) It would have been more fair if the Opposition applied the same rule to both Governments. In all the large expenditures of the Government during the past quarter of a century the Opposition had not been able to point to any extravagance or scandal. The Opposition had not evolved a policy whereby the asylums, prisons, etc., could be more efficiently or economically managed. The Administration had been clean and economical. The Government had spent nineteen millions of the people's money, and yet there were no scandals such as the Curran Bridge, Tay Canal and many others, for which the Conservative had been responsible. He compared the expenditures for the last decade with those of the Government, much to the advantage of the Government. The debts of the municipalities of the people had greatly increased, while the Government had practically no debts, having assets to pay everything. (Laughter.) The Government was charged with extravagance by the Opposition, and yet the Opposition insisted last year upon spending $11,000 upon the Public Account's Committee and only saved the $53 after all that expenditure.

The Opposition had been crying for twenty-five years that owing to the extravagance of the Government the province was on the verge of direct taxation. The cry was as vain and useless as 25 years ago. It was "Wolf, wolf," but the "wolf" never came and if the Liberals remained in there was no likelihood of a visit from that animal. (Cheers.) The Conservatives, it was true, had tried to rob the province of a large portion of its timber wealth in the hope, no doubt, of precipitating direct taxation. The Liberal party had vindicated the right of the province to this valuable land, which had it been lost would not have left Ontario the premier province. This year this tract of land had yielded $350,000 revenue, and in years to come there was every reason to believe this amount would annually increase. (Hear, hear.) The Liberal party had husbanded the resources of the province and had saved to the province from the Dominion Government land which annually yields $650,000, which, if taken, as Conservatives tried to do, would have forced direct taxation upon the province. Complaint had been made regarding the system of auditing the provincial accounts, and yet the system was precisely the same as at Ottawa, the system inaugurated by Conservatives. (Hear, hear.) The auditor in Ontario was quite independent of the Government and could send for witnesses and examine them under oath if he was not satisfied with reference to an account. He compared the public accounts from Ottawa with those of the province page by page to show that just as many details were given in Ontario as in the Dominion books.

On the stump the leaders of the Opposition had attacked the Department of Education, not expecting, of course, to be called to prove their statements in the House before the election. (Hear, hear.) They had cried, "One man power," and that "the department was rotten at the top" and that the University was used as a political machine. Dr. Willoughby had said the Government had taught the pupils to look with contempt upon the calling of their farmer fathers. Well, the present Government was not responsible for having taken Dr. Willoughby from the plough and made a medical man of him. (Laughter.) He did not care for the personal references that had been made to himself, but he did not care to hear the department vilified untruthfully. (Cheers.) Dr. Willoughby had called him "narrow" and yet when the question of the use of the French language in the schools used by the citizens of Ontario, who had come here from Quebec, was before the House had not Dr. Willoughby spoken strongly against allowing the French children to use their own language. (Cheers.) Again, with reference to the Separate schools of the province, had not Dr. Willoughby and his friends fought against the rights of Catholics tooth and nail? Had they not tried to raise a cry of intolerance, which they dared not raise to-day, because the Liberals by argument had crushed out the unjust movement. The Conservatives had voted against appointing a Minister of Agriculture and had done all they could against allowing sufficient money to assist farmers.

ARTHUR BURNS DISCHARGED.

But Immediately Re-arrested as he is Wanted in Smith's Falls.

A preliminary hearing was given Arthur Burns this morning in the police court, on the charge of the theft of a horse from Timothy Walsh, of Otonabee, a year ago last September.

Timothy Walsh, of Otonabee, the owner of the horse, was the first witness. He stated that the horse which was lost was a bay, three years old, with white strip on face and black points. It was taken in September, 1896, when it was being pastured on the Buck farm. When he went to get it from the field it had disappeared. He never saw it again. In the quest for it he went to Montreal, having heard that Pearson, the horse buyer, had purchased the animal. He saw Pearson there, but was told all the horses were sold. He telegraphed from Montreal to arrest the prisoner. He had heard in Peterborough before leaving that Burns was concerned in the theft. He never saw the prisoner. On his return he was met by friends of the prisoner, who gave him a note for $45, signed by Mrs. Burns, her daughter and her son John. Witness discounted the note with Mulholland & Roper. Pearson also gave him five dollars on account of the expense he had been put to.

Mrs. Burns, mother of the prisoner, testified that she had given the note to save the boy. The police told her that he had stolen the horse. The boy denied this before he left home. She had seen the boy since but he always denied the theft. He lived at home and she never knew of his having a horse of his own.

Miss Minnie Burns, sister of the prisoner, who had signed the note, stated that she had given the note to settle for the loss of the horse, which the family had suspicion that the prisoner had taken, although the prisoner afterwards denied having anything to do with the horse.

W. J. Pearson, horsebuyer, testified that he purchased a great many horses in the vicinity of Peterborough. He was here in the fall of 1896. He did not recognize the prisoner. In September, 1896, Mr. Welsh had come to his stables in Montreal and said he had lost a horse from his pasture. Witness had brought down a horse answering the description of the one lost. It was ruptured and brown in colour. Witness had purchased this horse from a boy who came to White's Hotel with it. The hostler said the boy had got it from his uncle in part payment for wages at the farm. The horse was ruptured and he bought it cheap. He felt badly over the matter himself and got Mr. Welsh a pass home on the train. He also gave him $5 later on because he felt sorry about the affair, although he did not blame himself in the matter. The horse would not be worth more than ten or fifteen dollars at the outside.

John Powers, formerly yardman at White's remembered the occasion spoken of by Pearson, when he purchased the horse. He was in the yard when the prisoner, Burns, brought a horse into the yard. It was a brown horse, and was ruptured. He asked for Pearson and was directed to him. The boy said he got the horse from his uncle, and the witness told Pearson that it would be all right to purchase it as he knew the family a a respectable one. The horse was then bought by Pearson. He remembered the circumstance through the fact that he knew the boy well and a few days afterwards Mr. Welsh came in to inquire about the stolen horse. The matter had been talked of considerably afterwards. His eyesight was very defective. He was at present serving a five month's term in gaol for drunkenness.

John Burns, brother of the prisoner, gave evidence as to having signed the note in question. He had no talk with his brother about the horse before the note was given. They spoke of it afterward. The prisoner denied taking the horse. He had an uncle in Douro who was a farmer.

The Crown rested its case on this evidence.

Mr. O'Connell, for the defence, did not call any witnesses, but pointed out that the identity of the stolen horse had not been well established, as Mr. Welsh said it was bay in colour, whilst Mr. Pearson and Mr. Powers both called it a brown. He claimed that the boy's identity was only established through Powers' evidence, and as the man was almost blind, this could not be called strong.

The magistrate dismissed the case on the ground that the identity of the horse had not been sufficiently established. Mr. Welsh had described it fully, but none of the other witnesses had done so.

Burns was immediately re-arrested by Chief Roseel and will be sent to Smith's Falls, where he is wanted on a charge of "false pretences."

Tuesday was the last day for paying taxes, after which date 5 per cent. will be charged. In the coming year we think it would be profitable if the council would allow a discount of 5 per cent. to all who pay their taxes early in the year. In this way the discount which the bank gets for paying notes before the taxes are collected would be saved and left in the hands of the ratepayers.

The closing concert of the Model School, held in the town hall on Friday evening, was very successful. The hall was comfortably filled with an appreciative audience. Shortly after 8 o'clock Mr. Scovell, Principal of the Model School, took the chair, and the following programme was rendered in a style very creditable to those who took part.

The pantomime was very amusing and much interest was added to it when the pot fell down leaving the cannibal sitting on the ground. The mock trial was the principal feature of the evening, all the parts being well taken. The lawyers, whose parts were long, deserve special mention.

From a financial point of view it was also a success, having a surplus of about $12, after paying all expenses.

Let every man who has the interests of his country at heart attend the mass meeting of the Liberals in the town hall at one o'clock, on Tuesday, Dec. 21st.

Mr. Geo. Cumming, night operator at the C. P. R. station, while out driving with a lady friend, met with what might have been a serious accident. When coming down what is known as Sanderson's hill on the Peterborough road, the cutter struck the horse's heels and caused it to run away, thinking that he might get the animal quieted down while going up the hill he took the north road, but unfortunately met Mr. A. Fife on the bridge and the result was a general spill. The cutter was upset and the young lady was thrown out. Mr. Fife's team plunged into the stream and he and his son were [illegible] to take a cold bath. Mr. Cumming managed to escape uninjured, but the horse received some deep cuts and the cutter was almost completely destroyed.

BILL TO STOP PELAGIC SEALING

Passed by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee at Washington.

Washington, Dec. 16.—Senator Davis, Chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, called up the Administration bill to prohibit American citizens engaging in the Behring seal fisheries industry. It occasioned a long debate.

Mr. Pettigrew (South Dakota) criticized it sharply as another instance of truckling to Great Britain, and offered an amendment providing for extermination of the seals if Great Britain did not by June 1 agree to a suspension of pelagic sealing.

Mr. Pettigrew's amendment was defeated and the bill was passed by a vote of 37 to 14.

Nervous Prostration

Sick Headache and Dizziness—All Cured.

Little Girl Has Grown Plump and Rosy Since Taking Hood's.

Nervous mothers and sickly children endure a vast proportion of the suffering which is caused by impure and impoverished blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives relief by purifying and enriching the blood. Read this statement:

"I was bothered with sick headaches and dizziness. I also had nervous prostration and weakness in my stomach, which made me feel very ill indeed. I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, which was highly recommended by many, and by the time I had taken four bottles I was in perfect health. About a year ago my little girl, then six years old, had bronchitis and chicken pox. We were told that her was the careful treatment she might receive at the hospital. We took her there and for eight days they had no hope of her recovery, but later she had a change for the better. Her sickness, however, left her very delicate and weak, and she did not grow any for a year. It was then I thought I would try Hood's Sarsaparilla, inasmuch as I had used it for myself and found it such a good medicine for building up a constitution. She had not taken two bottles before she had improved wonderfully. She has grown rosy and plump and is quite herself again. I have great faith in Hood's." MRS. M. HOGKINSON, 926 Bloor Street, West, Toronto, Ontario.

Annual Meeting of the Association at Waterloo.

THE COLD STORAGE SHIPMENTS

An Important Address by Prof. Robertson—Government Assistance in Supplying the British Market—Spraying Apple Trees—The Officers Elected — Other Business.

Waterloo, Ont., Dec. 16.—The Provincial Fruit Growers' Association met here at 10 o'clock a.m. yesterday. There were present a large number of representative men from various parts of the province, and among them Dr. Saunders, Dr. Fletcher and R. B. Whyte, of Ottawa; Prof. H. L. Hutt, of O. A. C., Guelph; Prof. Talf, of the Agricultural College, Michigan; D. J. McKinnon, Grimsby; George E. Fisher, Burlington; J. W. Robertson, Dairy Commissioner, Ottawa; W. E. Wellington, Toronto, President, and all the officers of the association, representing each agricultural district of the province.

The report of the secretary-treasurer, Mr. L. Woolverton, was read, showing that the financial condition of the association was much improved, there being about $266 balance on hand. The membership of the association has increased about one-third during the past year, being now about 3,500.

Election of Officers.

The election of officers resulted as follows for 1898: President, W. W. Wellington; vice-president, W. M. Orr; secretary, L. Woolverton.

Directors—Mr. Whitney, Iroquois; R. B. Whyte, Ottawa; G. Nicol, Cataraqui; W. Boulter, Picton; Thomas Beall, Lindsay; E. C. Beman, Newcastle; M. Pettit, Winona; A. M. Smith, St. Catharines; J. S. Scarff, Woodstock; T. A. Morton, Wingham; T. H. Race, Mitchell; Alex. McNeil, Windsor.

Auditors—A. H. Pettit, Grimsby; George Fisher, Burlington.

Those present besides were: Mr. Miller, Hanover, Fraser Miller, Hanover; R. H. S. Cresswell, Hamilton; M. Bruner, Olindo; N. Burrell, St. Catharines; W. Willison, Toronto; G. W. Harcourt, Toronto, J. G. Galbraith, Toronto; James Mills, O. A. C., Guelph.

The Subject of Spraying.

Experimental spraying for fungi and insects was taken up by Mr. W. M. Orr, of Fruitland, who read an excellent paper, giving a detailed account of his work as provincial director of spraying. The work had been conducted in twenty-nine different localities. In one orchard the trees sprayed gave 90 per cent. of clean fruit; unsprayed only 20 per cent., and it was reckoned that on the portion of the orchard sprayed trees was at least $100. In another orchard Spys sprayed gave 90 per cent. clean; unsprayed 10 per cent.; Duchess, sprayed, 100 per cent. clean; unsprayed 50 per cent. Similar reports were received from all quarters. In one case Maiden's Blush, sprayed, sold at $4 per barrel, and unsprayed only 75c a barrel. The cost of spraying is about 2 cents per tree for each application.

Report by Cold Storage.

In the afternoon Mr. L. Woolverton, secretary, read a report of progress in export of fruits in cold storage, showing that such peaches, pears and grapes as reached England in good condition brought excellent prices.

Mr. George Fisher, of Burlington, reported excellent success in some private experimental shipments of pears and tomatoes and that all had paid well. He wanted to know if the department would furnish cold storage accommodation for fruit growers in general next season.

Prof. Robertson.

Prof. Robertson, who was next called upon, was received with cheers. He said that he had come to the meeting with much pleasure, principally because he wished to hear how the department could best benefit fruit growers. Referring to what had been said about the temperature, he showed that, while under Government auspices, the shipments had not been under Government control. He also considered that while the temperature had been high it had not been because of a lack of cold storage facilities, but because of the generation of heat inside the packages, caused by the fruit being too closely packed. The Minister of Agriculture, Mr. Sidney Fisher, had, however, authorized him to say that in the coming season no pains and no reasonable expense will be spared to place this fruit on the British market in the best possible condition. (Cheers.) If the fruit growers will get together and guarantee car loads the Government will bear the expense of cold storage to Montreal and secure space, provided the department is notified in time. Any information regarding methods of packing that can be gained by trial shipments will be obtained this year, and on the British side of the market every attention will be given towards obtaining the best market and the best results for the fruit. If regular shipments are sent forward the Government will have an accredited agent there, whose duty would be to find a market; in fact, to make a market. He would be required to notify the fruit buyers or dealers in the city to which it was consigned, also the buyers in adjoining cities and towns by post card, or telegraph if necessary, that an auction sale of certain kinds of Canadian fruit was going to be held at a certain hour. He would see for himself the price obtained, find out what mistakes, if any, were made, and have it in his power to foster a taste and demand for Canadian fruit. Continuing, Prof. Robertson said that it was no use sending to Britain either small apples, pears, peaches or other fruit, or large tomatoes, and every packer should so pack his fruit that it will be always the same, and see that his brand will be sought after. He gave an instance where one man's brand brought 25 shillings while another man's that went over on the same ship only brought 15 shillings. He advised each fruit grower to put up a small cold storage building of his own, if possible, so that his fruit could be placed in the packages at the proper temperature. The cost of a large case from Grimsby to London in cold storage, he showed, had been about 70 cents, with an additional charge of 5 per cent. commission. The cost to Glasgow had been 64 cents per case, and to Liverpool about 60 cents.

At the conclusion of Prof. Robertson's address Mr. Fisher, of Burlington, rose in the audience and made a complaint that during last year he had made application for space and had been told that butter had the preference. He thought the fruit men were entitled to as much consideration as the dairy men.

Prof. Robertson replied that up till very recently there had been no demand for space except for butter, but just as soon as the fruit men make a demand for space the Minister of Agriculture will see that this space is provided, and on the same terms as that enjoyed by the butter men.

Canadian Grapes in Britain.

Dr. Saunders said he did not believe the best plan to introduce Canadian grapes into the British markets was to force Concords down their throats against their will, but rather to send forward the finest flavored Canadian varieties

A RICH NAVVY.

Leaves Wife and Wealth to Toil With Laborers Because of His Ideas of Advanced Civilization.

New York, Dec. 16.—Declining an offer of almost unlimited wealth if he would return to his wife and former mode of living, George W. Ruddy, jr., son of a millionaire brick manufacturer of Woodbridge, N.J., and a student of Tolstoi and other leading advocates of advanced civilization, is living among the poorest residents of his native town, and is daily driving a sprinkling cart past his father's estates. For this alienation, the application for divorce made by his wife, Mrs. Amelia Ruddy, a talented daughter of a wealthy merchant, was to-day favorably passed upon by Senator Voorhees.

Young Ruddy is a graduate of Yale, and of two foreign universities, and is a proficient linguist. He offers no explanation, beyond declaring that he wishes to live his own life. His marriage was a love match, and, while refusing his wife's pleas to return to her, praises her unstintedly as a beautiful and accomplished woman. His friends say that he has become permeated with the idea that wealth is a horrible wrong, and that a man, to live a true life, must pass his days among the toilers and share their sorrows and joys.

Can Work all the Time.

"My daughter was suffering with catarrh of the stomach, and tried many different prescriptions without benefit. Finally she began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and it helped her at once. She has taken fifteen bottles and is now able to work all the time. We prize Hood's Sarsaparilla very highly." ANNA MERRILL, Eaton, Que.

Nerve weakness accompanies heart trouble — both are curable by Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, the successful invigorator. Those who use them praise them. Here is one. NO SECOND TERM.

Lieut-Governor Chapleau Will Not Be Offered a Second Term in the Quebec Government House.

Ottawa, Dec. 16.—(Globe Special.)—I am in a position to state that Lieut.-Governor Chapleau will not be offered a second term, but that a successor will be appointed so soon as his Honor prorogues the Legislature. After that Sir Adolphe Chapleau will go to France, and it is his present intention to reside there for four or five years. There had been no intention lately of offering the Lieut.-Governor a second term.

The Minister of Agriculture has arranged for the fitting up of the steamship Beta of the Pickford & Blake line, from Halifax to the West Indies, with cold storage. D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realizing that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

None So Excellent.

"I have been troubled with sick headache for over a year. Lately I have used Laxa Liver Pills, and find that they help me more than any other medicine I have ever taken. They are an excellent pill, causing no pain or griping, and leaving no after ill effects."

A Coin in the Bottle.

There have been patented all kinds of schemes devised for the purpose of securing a bottle that cannot be refilled after having once been emptied of its contents. A great deal of fraud is said to be perpetrated by filling the bottles of some standard liquor with an inferior grade and palming it off as the original bottling. An ingenious Philadelphian proposes to accomplish this by blowing a coin in the body of the glass bottle, and he thinks that this will be tempting enough to induce some one to break the bottle as soon as it has been emptied. —Philadelphia Record.

How Long Will This Piano Last?

The above question is asked by almost every piano purchaser before making a decision.

If you are discussing a Chickering Piano there is an emphatic answer.

No matter what YOUR age rest assured the piano will outlive you.

There is no one living who has ever purchased a Chickering piano AND WORN IT OUT.

Think of the number of children to-day practising upon Chickering pianos purchased by their grandparents.

There are thousands of Chickering pianos so purchased and so used.

Perhaps, they are not as good as they were 50 or 60 or 70 years ago, but the marvel is that they are in use at all

The majority of pianos by other makers are worn out in a third the period.

In St. John's School House Last Evening—An Interesting Programme.

The Mission Band of St. John's church held a sale of articles last evening, followed by the presentation of a musical programme, in the school house. The entertainment was well patronized, and it is understood that the receipts from the sale were most satisfactory. The programme was successfully carried out as follows:

The Rock-a-bye Lady from Hush-a-bye Street, tableau.....Marion Sherwood, Harriet Clementi, Edith Aylmer, Dorothy Aylmer, Lillian Dean

Master Blackwell was heartily encored for his numbers.

PERSONAL.

In spite of a previous intimation that he was not in a position to consider the acceptance of the rectorate of St. Matthew's church, London, Rev. W. Leslie Armitage of All Saint's, at a vestry meeting of the church, received thirteen out of nineteen votes as against Rev. G. M. Cox, a very gratifying proof of Mr. Armitage's popularity in the parish in which he formerly laboured. Both names will be submitted to the Bishop of Huron, but it is a pleasure to state that Rev. Mr. Armitage would prefer that the offer should not have been made, as he is much attached to the work in Peterborough.

DIED.

MCCANNON.—In Otonabee, on Wednesday, Dec. 15th, 1897, Mary McCannon, wife of the late Daniel McCannon, aged 89 years.

POLICE INVESTIGATION.

Councillor McWilliams asks for a Committee to Hear Charges Against the Chief.

At the Council meeting last evening Councillor McWilliams asked for a committee to investigate certain charges against Chief of Police Rossel, and it was agreed that a Committee of the Whole Council would meet on Monday evening next to thoroughly sift the matter, when those having a grievance will be heard, and the Chief given a chance to put in evidence in defence.

If the charges fall to the ground Councillor McWilliams states that he will be the first one to exonerate Chief Rossel, and the latter, after the adjournment of council, stated that he courted the fullest investigation.

The trouble arises through the bringing of a large number of young men into the police court the other day as witnesses in a case in which the proprietor of a local hotel was charged with selling liquor on Sunday and after hours to the young men in question. The cases were dismissed and some of the witnesses are very wrathy over having their names connected with the matter—hence the investigation.

OBITUARY.

The Late Mrs. Daniel McCannon.

Last night one of the oldest, best known and most highly respected residents of Otonabee, Mrs. Daniel McCannon, passed away at the homestead residence at the advanced age of 89 years. She was born in North Monaghan and was perhaps, at the time of her death, the oldest native born resident of the county. Up to her last illness which was about a week's duration, Mrs. McCannon was active in body and with unimpaired faculties, and it was most interesting to hear her accounts of the hardships and exciting experiences through which she and the other first settlers passed. She remembered the first house built in Peterborough. When she went to live in her home in Otonabee it was by a blazed road through the unbroken forest, and for a while the log cabin, which was then their home was without a roof, and was occupied in that condition. Then the woods were full of wild beasts, wolves, foxes, etc. Deer were as plentiful as sheep, and it was difficult to protect the crops in the clearings from their intrusions. Mrs. McCannon was well-known, especially in North Monaghan and Otonabee. She was a Presbyterian in religion, and enjoyed the respect of all her numerous acquaintances and the community generally. She leaves behind her six children—Mrs. Daniel Doherty and Mrs. Washburn, of Saginaw, Michigan; Mr. Geo. McCannon, of Rat Portage; Mr. John McCannon, of the Northwest; Mr. Daniel McCannon, of West Branch, Michigan, and Mrs. Kerr, (Sarah) who lived with Mrs. McCannon on the homestead. In Mrs. McCannon's death another link in the chain that binds the present with the early history of the country is broken. The funeral takes place on Sunday next at 10 o'clock from the late residence. The interment takes place in the Centreville cemetery.

Demise of Lily Miller After a Long Illness.

The death of Lily Miller, aged 13, second daughter of Mr. Finch Miller, took place last evening, after a lingering and painful illness of several months' duration. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at three o'clock from the family residence, No. 276 Charlotte street, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

A NEW ORGANIST

Secured for the George Street Methodist Church.

At a meeting of the Board of the George street Methodist church last evening it was decided to engage the services of Mrs. Howson, of Toronto, as organist and choir leader for the ensuing year.

Mrs. Howson is at present teaching with Mr. Torrington in the College of Music, Toronto, and was formerly organist in Brantford, as well as in the Broadway Tabernacle, Toronto. She is a neice of the late Rev. Dr. Jeffers and a sister of Prof. Jeffers, organist of the Central Methodist church, Toronto.

Mrs. Howson will be a distinct addition to the musical circles of Peterborough.

THE PETRIFIED MAN

TO BE ON EXHIBITION ON SATURDAY IN PETERBOROUGH.

The Perfect Body of a Canadian Voyageur Turned Into Solid Stone—One of the Wonders of the Age—More Wonderful Than Egyptian Embalming—A Man's Body Turned to Imperishable Stone That Will Endure While the World Stands.

The Petrified Man, which was shipped to Peterborough by Mr. T. H. Graham, its owner, and a former resident, which was described in a recent issue of the EXAMINER, is one of the wonders of the day. It is the perfectly petrified body of a man with a history. Though now completely solidified and perfect in every joint and member, forty years ago the Petrified Man was a living French Canadian voyageur or guide, one Antoine La Conte, one of the earliest settlers of the Northwest, who was employed to pilot a party of wealthy Englishmen from Fort Garry, Manitoba, to St. Paul's, Minnesota. La Conte was accompanied by his two sons. On the way, and while in Marshall County, one of the members of the party took violently insane. On the fatal advice of La Conte, the man was not tied, and during the night the lunatic shot La Conte dead as he slept. The body was buried in a shallow grave close to the trail, and, of course, on the spot where the body was found. The two sons, who are still living, identified the remains as their father, both by the mark of the bullet wound and by the fact that one of their father's legs was slightly shorter than the other, and by the location of the spot where the body was found petrified forty years afterwards. As stated by the EXAMINER at the time of the arrival of the petrified man here, he had evidently died in the strength of life.

There is no question of the identity of the body, which is the perfect body of a robust man. Every feature, every muscle is distinct and clear, fastened into eternal stone by the wonderful processes of nature in the very shape in which it was laid in the grave.

This wonderful curiosity, the puzzle of scientists, and the object of great popular interest, will be on exhibition in Peterborough to-morrow at a place to be announced to-morrow. No one should fail to see it while here, as it will be removed early in the coming week.

DEPUTATION TO TORONTO.

The Town Wishes to Acquire that Portion of the River Lying Between the Spur Line and the Bank.

The Mayor and Councillors McWilliams, Best, Dawson and Davis compose a committee which was appointed to wait on the Government in Toronto to-day to endeavour to obtain such legislation as will give the town possession of that portion of the river lying between the C. P. R. spur line and the west bank.

If the committee is successful the space will be filled in, and will form a valuable asset for the town.

In referring to the statement Councillor Denne pointed out that in addition to the cash surplus of $742 95, the town had fully $1,800 worth of broken and unbroken stone on hand for next year's work, and also about $200 worth of wood on hand, making in reality the surplus about $2,500.

This statement called for considerable applause from the spectators.

On motion of Councillors Denne and Meldrum the statement was received, and the usual number of copies ordered to be printed.

AUBURN BRIDGE SIDEWALK.

As there was a surplus on hand Councillor Meldrum brought up the matter of the erection of the sidewalk from the new footbridge across the river at Auburn to connect with the sidewalk on Water street. He stated that the bridge was almost completed, and that if the sidewalk was not built at once the public would be in as much danger as ever as they would use the rail tracks to walk from the bridge to Water street. The danger, he pointed out was not magnified, as a train went by at noon just when the employees of the mills and the school children were coming out.

On motion of Councillors McWilliams and Denne, the matter was referred to the Street and Bridge Committee, and will receive immediate attention.

Councillor McWilliams suggested getting a deed of the property belonging to the Auburn Company on which it is proposed building the sidewalk, as if the mills at any time changes hands the town would have no power to compel the property being left open through which the public gain access to the bridge.

Councillor Meldrum agreed with this proposition, saying the company would have no objection.

FIRE INSURANCE RATES.

Councillor White, chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, who was asked at the last council as to the advantages enjoyed by Brantford being placed in Class A by the Fire Underwriters, read the following letter:

Brantford Fire Department.

J. M. White, Esq., Peterborough:

Dear Sir,—Re your communication Dec. 9th, the annual cost of our Fire Department will average about $7,700. With reference to insurance rates, I may say that the rating in this city, which is Class A, is really on the whole no better than what it was nine years ago for Class B. The manufacturing industries as you doubtless know have special rating and I am not prepared to say just how the change in the classification has affected them.

Yours respectfully,
GEO. D. CALDER,
Chief of Brantford Fire Department.

Regarding the number of town alarms coming in during the year and the method of transmitting them, he stated that one came to the town hall, two from box alarms and 26 through the Bell telephone system.

On motion of Councillors Dawson and Leplante the clerk was instructed to forward a letter of thanks to Mr. Calder for his information.

THE GEORGE STREET BRIDGE.

As Street Inspector Ranney certified that the repairs on the George street bridge had been completed, Councillor McWilliams moved that contractor Hayes be paid for his work.

Councillor Best stated that he understood that the masonary had not been carried out as far as it was before and that the space at the east end had been contracted by a foot or so.

Councillor McWilliams replied that he had also heard this report, but that the street inspector contradicted it.

The same speaker urged that the water be lowered and a channel cut through the gravel bar just at the mouth of the creek, which he felt sure would do away with the blocking of the water back in the spring.

Councillor Meldrum and Denne moved that payment be deferred until the Steet and Bridge Committee had an opportunity of ascertaining if the walls were the full distance of 66 feet in length.

This motion was carried.

Mr. McWilliams in referring to the action of the Court of Revision in dismissing the appeal of the Barnardo Home for remission of taxes, expressed the opinion that the taxes on this property should have been remitted, as a great deal of money was spent in town by the institution, which also was a good advertisement for Peterborough in England.

Councillor Leplante stated that the matter had been thoroughly sifted by the Court of Revision before it was decided not to grant remission.

The advantages of the institution were then discussed pro and con at considerable length, and the matter was referred back to the Court for fuller investigation.

A bylaw was introduced by Councillor Denne providing for the immediate payment of $100 of the $200 grant given the Children's Aid Society. The balance is to be paid over in monthly instalments. The bylaw received its several readings and was passed.

Councillors Denne and White brought up the matter of giving a grant to the Peterborough Poultry and Pet Stock Association, and moved that the sum of $50 be appropriated for that purpose.

Councillors Dawson, Leplante, Meldrum and Cobb all spoke strongly against the motion, which was lost on the following division:—

Yeas—Councillors Denne and White—2.

Nays—Councillors Best, Leplante, Robertson, Dawson, Cobb, McWilliams and Meldrum—7.

The council then adjourned.

HER INTERESTING STORY.

A well-known Brighton lady tells what she thinks regarding Heart Trouble, and how to cure it.

Mrs. Stephen P. Clapp tells what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills did for her.

Mrs. Clapp says, "I have been a sufferer from extreme nervousness for years, and for the last two years my heart has troubled me greatly. I could not sleep soundly, and would often awaken with a start, together with a curious feeling as if my heart had stopped beating, and it would be some time before I could recover myself. At times I became very dizzy, and a mist gathered before my eyes. I have taken many kinds of patent medicines, but could get nothing to relieve me. Finally I received a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and am glad to say that they gave me relief in a very short time. I now sleep well, my nerves are steady and strong, and I am better in every way than I have been for years.

I can recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills very highly to those suffering from any trouble affecting the heart and nerves, for I know that they have been a great boon to me."

SIR WILFRID SPEAKS.

The Premier Cheered at the Nicolet Nominations.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC RECEPTION.

A Regular Ovation to the Distinguished First Minister at Becancour—A Noteworthy Political Incident—Hundreds of People Cheering at Station—The Candidates.

Nicolet, Que., Dec. 15.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier arrived here to attend the nomination at Becancour yesterday of candidates for the election rendered necessary by the death of Mr. Boisvert, the late member. He received a regular ovation on the arrival of the train, and this was all the more noteworthy as Nicolet is a Conservative stronghold, which at the last Local elections gave Mr. Bull a majority of 350. Several hundred people gathered at the station and cheered enthusiastically when Sir Wilfrid appeared, accompanied by Lady Laurier. About fifteen carriages escorted Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier to the Hotel Duval. Here a deputation of Young Liberals, headed by Dr. Cloutier, waited upon Sir Wilfrid and asked permission to use his name for a new political club, and the Premier kindly consented to become Hon. President. In the evening Messrs. E. Bernier, M.P. for St. Hyacinthe, and H. J. Cloran delivered short addresses to several hundred electors who gathered at the hotel.

The Government candidate is Mr. Joseph Hector Leduc, who formerly represented this county with great credit, and who was a strong addition to the younger Liberal contingent from Quebec, who worked so hard for the cause while in Opposition.

A large outdoor meeting was held in the afternoon in front of the church. Sir Wilfrid Laurier was loudly applauded on rising to speak. With regard to the school question he said that Liberals never claimed that the settlement was perfect, but they did say that it affords more relief than the Remedial bill. He referred to the appointment of Mr. Fisher, a practical farmer, as Minister of Agriculture, and pointed out what a great improvement had taken place in the position and prospects of the farmer during the past year. With regard to the South Shore Railway he said that since both candidates favored a subsidy it was more reasonable for the electors to support the candidate who was favorable to the Government. He made no promises, but expressed the opinion that Quebec should be as well supplied with railways as the United States.

ONTARIO FRUIT GROWERS.

Report of the Board of Control of Fruit Experiment Stations.

Waterloo, Ont., Dec. 15.—The Ontario Fruit Growers' Association's annual meeting for 1897 will be held to-day and to-morrow.

The Board of Control of Fruit Experiment stations met yesterday. The members present were: Dr. Mills and Prof. Hutt of Guelph; and Messrs. A. H. Petit and L. Wolverton (secretary) of Grimsby; A. M. Smith, St. Catharines, and C. Wellington of Toronto. The secretary's statement said that about $9,500 had been spent this year in experimental work—a very small sum considering the excellent report now ready to be submitted to the Minister of Agriculture.

Prof. Hutt reported on his visits to the stations, showing that most of them were doing excellent work.

The secretary exhibited photographs of fruit described, and read detailed reports from experimenters.

Last night the Board of Directors of the Fruit Growers' Association met, and to-morrow the association proper will meet in the Town Hall and discuss spraying experiments, cold storage, export, San Jose scale, and so on.

WANTS CHARTERS CANCELLED.

American Nickel Companies Did Not Live Up to Their Agreements.

Ottawa, Dec. 15.—Mr. B. B. Osler, Q.C., Toronto, has filed a petition with the Department of Justice to revoke the charters granted to the Canadian Copper Co., an Ohio concern, and the Anglo-American Co., which control the output of the nickel and copper mines around Sudbury, Ont. The reason which Mr. Osler gives for cancelling the charters is that they were granted on the condition that smelting works would be established in Canada, but instead of this the companies have taken the ore to the United States and had it smelted there. It is said that about $1,250,000 in wages to workmen, etc., have been expended in this way outside of Canada, when it ought to have gone to Canadian workmen.

New International B. B. League.

Port Huron, Mich., Dec. 15.—The International Baseball League was formally organized here yesterday, with Hamilton, London and Guelph, Ont., and Bay City, Saginaw and Port Huron, Mich., as members. The protection of the National League has been secured, and each club made a cash deposit as a guarantee of good faith. David McArron of Port Huron was elected president of the League and Calvin Davis of Hamilton secretary-treasurer.

HIS ONLY HOPE.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Saved Harry Stuart After all Other Remedies Failed.

LONDON, Dec. 13th.—In nine-tenths of the homes of London, the all-absorbing topic of conversation is Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Thousands of happy, grateful men and women are telling of their rescue from Diabetes, Bright's Disease, Paralysis and other kidney diseases hitherto called incurable. All tell how how Dodd's Kidney Pills cured, after all other means had failed.

Harry Stuart, 164 Mill street, told our reporter to-day that a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him completely of long standing kidney disease and lumbago. Doctors could not cure him. Neither could other remedies. Dodd's Kidney Pills were his only hope. THEY CURED HIM. They never fail to cure any case of Kidney Disease.

The trouble with most men is not that they do not know how to work, but that they do not know how to rest. If a man knows how to rest and how to take care of his health, there is hardly a limit to the amount of work that he may accomplish without doing himself injury. The trouble is that men not only overwork, but that they neglect to rest at the proper hours and neglect their health.

A man passes a restless, sleepless night, gets up dull and headachey in the morning, goes to the breakfast table without an appetite, bolts what little he does eat and rushes away to business. He is drowsy and nervous by turns all day and forces himself to work against his will. He takes five minutes for lunch and not a minute to rest afterward. He goes home at night utterly fagged out and with no appetite for supper. The idea of taking medicine or even taking a little rest never enters his head. Some night his wife finds him in the rocking-chair before the fire-place—dead. The doctor will call it nervous prostration or heart trouble or something of that kind. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best medicine for hard working men. It restores a keen edge to the appetite. It facilitates the flow of the digestive juices and makes the digestion and assimilation perfect. It invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and nerve-tonic. Medicine dealers sell it.

N. Gaddis, Esq., of No. 313 South J Street, Tacoma, Washington, writes: "I was taken ill in February 1892. My lungs hurt me and I got so poor that I was just skin and bone. I thought I was going to die. I tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it saved my life."

Pierce's For sick headache, biliousness and constipation, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the most rational cure known. They are mild but thorough and effective. They regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Never gripe. No other pill is like them. Pellets.

SELLING BY SIGNAL.

HOW CATTLE ARE DEALT IN AT THE CHICAGO STOCKYARDS.

Sitting In Their Saddles, With the Lot Between Them, Seller and Buyer Conclude a Transaction by Raising Their Whips Over Their Heads.

The Chicago stockyards are unique among the great marts of the world. In no other place, say those who are most familiar with its daily routine, is so large an aggregate of business transacted in the language of gestures and without the "scratch of a pen" as in the noisy pens of the stockyards. A whip is held high in air, across a sea of clattering horns the signal is answered by the momentary uplifting of a hand, and a "bunch" of cattle worth thousands of dollars is sold.

There is something splendidly picturesque and even spectacular in these wordless transactions. They ignore the artificialities of the complex system upon which modern business relationships are almost universally maintained. Trade in the cattle pens gets boldly back to primitive simplicity. It is done on honor, not on paper. And the undisputed transfer of millions of dollars' worth of the property here dealt in proves that a bargain sealed with the wave of the whip and an assenting gesture of the hand is quite as safe and sacred as if the whole transaction were recorded "in black and white."

The trader in the wheat pit is armed with his tally card, upon which he passes to note the names of those with whom he deals and the amount, nature and price of the commodities bought and sold. The broker upon the floor of the Stock Exchange places equal reliance upon the quickly pencilled memoranda made at the moment when the details of each transaction were upon the lips of those concerned in its fulfillment; but the buyer and seller of the yards carry whips, not pencils, and their deals are recorded in memory instead of written upon trading cards. As well try to picture the old knights making laborious written memoranda of their challenges as to think of the rough and ready traders of the cattle yards passing in their saddles to jot down upon paper their purchases and sales. Such a procedure would bid defiance to the very nature of things and do violence to the magnificent unconventionality of every environment.

"Is there never any trouble in this kind of dealing?" a leading commission man was asked.

"If you mean do the men go back on their bargains made by whip and hand, I can answer, never," was the trader's answer as he brought his trim black horse to a halt in the cattle alley and leaned forward in his saddle. "There isn't another place in America, or the whole world, for that matter, where so much business is done on the basis of personal integrity, without a written word to show for the transactions, as right here," he continued, "and the method beats all the bonds on earth. The day's business in these pens will run about $1,500,000. And how is it done? Little talk, a considerable waving of whips and hands and no exchange of written documents between buyers and sellers.

"Here is a bunch of cattle that will figure up about $10,000. Over there in the other alley is a buyer who this morning offered me a price of $5.10 for them. I thought that I could do better, but the market has been a little off, and I have decided to let the bunch go at his offer. Up to the present moment we have exchanged about a dozen words on this subject. Now, if he is willing to pay the price which he named in the morning I'll show you how a $10,000 bunch of fat steers is sold without word of mouth or a scratch of writing at the time the bargain is really made."

The commission man then straightened up in the saddle and waited for the distant buyer to look in his direction. A moment later this representative of a big packing house wheeled his horse about and faced in the direction of the seller. Instantly the commission man lifted high his rawhide riding whip and held it aloft. His attitude was as striking as that of a cavalry colonel uplifting his saber to concentrate the attention of his regiment before making a desperate charge. The pose, however, was full of natural grace and freedom and showed that the man was more at ease in the saddle than he could have been out of it.

Only a moment elapsed before the alert eye of the buyer caught sight of the upraised whip. The next instant he raised his hand a little above his head, held it motionless a moment and then dropped it with a forward movement. Quickly the seller repeated the motion of assent with his whip, and then, turning to his caller, said:

"That's all there is to it. To a stranger this kind of a performance looks like a long range sign talk between deaf mutes, but we understand each other perfectly. We both know how many cattle there are in the bunch and the price at which they have been sold. Had we been within speaking distance of each other the transaction would probably have been a verbal one, just for the sake of sociability, but not because it would have made the bargain better understood or any more binding."—Chicago Post.

A LONDON EPISODE.

A Prominent Contractor Cured of Bright's Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

London, Dec. 6—Not since the great election trial some years ago, has any London episode created such widespread excitement as has the case of G. E. Brady, of 220 Talbot street.

Mr. Brady, a prominent contractor, suffered for years with Bright's Disease. Doctors and special remedies failed utterly to help him. In despair he tried Dodd's Kidney Pills, and was cured by a few boxes.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have proved themselves, in this city, to be the only remedy that will positively cure every case of Bright's Disease, Diabetes and every other kidney complaint. They have never failed here. People will buy no other medicine.

A BACHELOR'S QUARTERS.

Nothing Homelike About Them, According to the Married Man's Story.

They hadn't met since the old college days, ten years before, and of course the benedict insisted that the bachelor should come home to dinner with him.

"Married the year after I left college," he said, "and I have the nicest little home and the finest lot of youngsters that you ever saw. I want you to come out and see how nicely I'm fixed. I tell you a man doesn't know what life is until he's married."

"No?"

"Well, I should say not."

And so it happened that the bachelor went with the benedict and met the latter's wife and played with his children and made himself generally useful and popular until they were all seated at the dinner table.

It was over the coffee and cigars, after the benedict's wife had left the table, that the benedict finally suggested:

"Pretty comfortably fixed, ain't I, old man? Children, why don't you go into the other room?"

"Very nicely, indeed," answered the bachelor, replying to the first question and ignoring the second.

"Oh, there's nothing like home life," went on the benedict. "Willie, stop trying to climb on Mr. Brown's knee. He wants to smoke. Do you know, old man, I laugh when I think of my foolish idea that I knew in those old days what happiness was. Why, a man doesn't begin to live until— Maggie, put that nutpick back on the table. You'll jab it in your eye the first thing you know. Yes, sir. I actually have to laugh when I think of it. Our idea of contentment in those days was to get a pipe and a book and a bottle of Scotch and lock the door and lie down and—Would you mind moving your coffee cup a little farther back on the table, old man? Tommie's trying to reach it, and my wife would raise my scalp if I should let him break one of her very best cups. That's it. Thank you. As I was saying, we didn't know what ease and contentment was in those days. No single man does. A man has to have a big armchair and his slippers all ready for him and everything sort of restful and quiet before— Now, don't cry, Mabel. If you didn't want to get hurt, why did you grab the end of my cigar? Tommie, take her in to her mother. There, Willie, I told you you'd stick that nutpick into your hand if you didn't look out. Run into the other room and ask your mother to put a bandage on it. Let's see, where was I, old man? Oh, yes, I remember now. I was about to say that there's nothing homelike about a bachelor's quarters"—

"No," interrupted the bachelor, with considerable emphasis, "there isn't."

The benedict couldn't quite see the reason for such an emphatic assertion, but he wisely changed the subject, just the same.—Chicago Post.

The Word "Toast."

The word "toast," used for describing the proposal of a health in an after dinner speech, dates back to mediæval times, when the loving cup was still regarded as an indispensable feature of every banquet. The cup would be filled to the brim with wine or mead, in the center of which would be floating a piece of toasted bread. After putting his lips thereto the host would pass the cup to the guest of honor seated on his right hand, and the latter would in turn pass it to his right hand neighbor. In this manner the cup would circulate around the table, each one present taking a sip, until finally the cup would come back to the host, who would drain what remained and swallow the piece of toast in honor of all the friends assembled at his table.

HEALTH AND ENERGY ASSURED. HAPPY MARRIAGE, GOOD TEMPER, LONG LIFE.

In all the world to-day—in all the history of the world—no doctor nor institution has treated and restored so many men as has the famed ERIE MEDICAL CO. of Buffalo, N. Y.

This is due to the fact that the company controls some inventions and discoveries which have no equal in the whole realm of medical science.

So much deception has been practised in advertising that this grand old company now for the first time makes this startling offer:—

They will send their costly and magically effective appliance and a whole month's course of scientific remedies, positively on trial without deposit to any honest and reliable man!

Not a dollar need be advanced—not a penny paid—till results are known to and acknowledged by the patient.

The Erie Medical Company's appliance and remedies have been talked about and written about all over the world, till every man has heard of them.

They restore or create strength, vigor, healthy tissue and new life.

They quickly stop drains on the system that sap the energy.

They cure nervousness, despondency and all bad effects of evil habits, excesses, overwork, etc.

They give full strength, development and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Failure is impossible and age is no barrier.

This "Trial without Expense" offer is limited by the company to a short time, and application must be made at once.

No C. O. D. scheme, no begging philanthropy nor deception, no exposure—a clean business proposition by a company of high financial and professional standing.

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, BUFFALO, N. Y., and refer to seeing the account of their offer in this paper.

WEDDED IN TORONTO:

A Peterborough Lakefield Boy, Mr. Fred W. Tanner, Married to Miss Isabel Wilson.

Yesterday St. James Square Presbyterian church, Toronto, was beautiful with floral decoration, when at 5.30 p.m., there took place a pretty wedding, being the marriage of Mr. Fred W. Tanner of the Globe, and third son of the late Geo. Tanner of Lakefield, to Miss Isabel Wilson of Toronto. Rev. Louis H. Jordon, B. D., performed the ceremony. Mr. Frank Albany Rowlett was best man, and Miss M. Pearson acted as bridesmaid. The bride wore a beautiful costume of white silk, en train, trimmed with chiffon and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid was dressed in pale blue silk and also held a bouquet of white roses. Mr. J. Wilson, father of the bride, gave her away, and Messrs. C. and R. Wilson, brothers of the bride, were ushers. Dr. Anderson presided at the organ, and played well the usual wedding music. After the ceremony a merry dejeuner was enjoyed at the house of the bride's parents on Cmar street. Among the guests were Senator George A., Mrs Cox and Miss Maggie Cox, Mr and Mrs James Bathgate, of Foxcroft, Minn; Mrs A M Tanner and Mr Chas S Tanner, of Lakefield: Mr and Mrs A Cox, of Peterborough; Mr and Mrs and the Misses Wilson, of Whitby; Dr J N Harvie, of Orillia: Dr Alex Harvie, of Orillia; Mr and Mrs James Edwards, of Montreal; the Misses Baldwin, Miss Hutchinson, Mr and Mrs James Linton, of Orono; Mrs B W Robertson, of Kingston; Mr and Mrs E A Tanner, of Lakefield; the Misses Thornber, Mr and Mrs James Gillard, of Cobourg, and Mr R Wilson. Presents were numerous and costly, including a sealskin jacket from the bridegroom, a silver tea service from Senator and Mrs. Cox, an onyx table from the best man and a silver tilting water pitcher from his fellow-employees in the Globe news-room. The newly-married couple leave for New York this morning to spend their honeymoon.

Would you believe it, such lovely Tea for 30 cents a pound, and a handsome Present with every pound. I saw a large beautiful white and gold China Teapot given with 1 lb. of this Tea, to an old bachelor. Just think of that! While another young lady carried off in triumph a fine large blue and white Teapot worth more money than was paid for the pound of Tea. Why there was a regular rush to the tables to secure the prizes; gifts for nothing, yes and a whole lot to choose from. Another says: "Oh my, why are you giving away your goods for nothing! Well I want to sell a lot of goods. I want to advertise my business and work up a good trade. Stop now there! I see crowds of people in your store. Why last Saturday you must have done a rushing trade." Well so we did, and we heartily thank you for your kind patronage and favours, and I promise to do my best to deserve it. "I see your advertisement in the Daily EXAMINER, with a grand list of Christmas free gifts for nothing. Just give me a pound of that tea, and I will take a set of those nice China Dishes for my little girl, it will make her so happy. Good Bye." This is what people are saying and doing. MANTLES AND JACKETS

.... AT ....

ROBT. FAIR'S.

During our Quick Reduction Sale before Christmas perhaps there's no department in our store where the Reduction will be more sweeping than in MANTLES AND JACKETS.

Last winter when we were closing out our matchless stock of Coats, &c., we did not hesitate to mark $12 and $15 garments at $5 and $6, in order to keep none over for another year. We propose this season to hew just as close to the line—let the loss be what it may. It sometimes pays to lose. A loss now accepted will enable us to clear out our whole stock in this department in a short time. Here are some of these Mantle Sacrifices:—

FOR $3.00 A lot of Ladies' Fancy Tweed Coats, very special, formerly sold at $7.50.

FOR $5 00 A lot of Ladies' German Tweed Coats, perfect fitting garments, formerly sold at $8.

FOR $6 25 A lot of Tailor-made German Coats, well finished, formerly sold at $10.

FOR $8 50 Ladies' Stylish Rough Frieze Cloth Coats, formerly sold at $12.50.

FOR $4.00 Ladies' Black Frieze Cloth Coats, formerly sold for $6.00

FOR $8 50 Ladies' Black Golf Capes, Lined with black and white checks, formerly sold for $12.50.

FOR $7.50 Ladies Coloured Golf Capes, formerly sold at $9.50.

The balance of our Misses and Children's Jackets are also all reduced on a par with the above changed figures ranging at $4, $4.50, $4.75 and $5, or about $3 to $3.50 on former selling prices.

This is the way we have of keeping our Stock fresh. There is no reason why the Handsome and Useful should not combine in Holiday presents.

THE LEGISLATURE

Mr. Marter's Speech Refrains From Referring to His

PET "EGGS AND TOMATO SAUCE"

The Opposition Roughly Handled But With No Resultant Ill-Feeling—Bills Introduced Yesterday—Mr. Marter Resumes the Budget Debate—Hon. Mr. Gibson's Strong Reply.

The debate on the budget in the House yesterday was lively, and though the Opposition was roughly handled there was no ill feeling. Mr. Marter, the late leader of the Opposition, began the talking, but refrained this year from making even the slightest reference to his pet subject, "Eggs and tomato sauce." His followers thought he made a good speech and that if he had succeeded in doing as well the year he was elected leader he would never have lost his position.

Departmental Stores.

Mr. Middleton introduced his bill respecting departmental stores, which was read the first time. The bill provides that the Council of any city or town may pass a by-law or by-laws for the purpose of imposing upon any departmental store carrying on more than three distinct classes of business a special tax in respect of each additional class of business; and in imposing such business tax, the same may be regulated in and by by-law so as to proivde either a uniform tax in respect of each additional distinct class of business or the same may be graded in such a manner as may seem proper; provided that no such by-law shall be passed or take effect under the authority of this Act without having been carried by a two-thirds vote of the members of the Council present and voting thereon. The Act shall not take effect until the 1st day of January, 1899.

To Make New Forests.

Hon. Mr. Gibson introduced a bill to establish forest reserves, which provides that the Government may set aside for reforestry purposes certain tracts of land to be selected by simply issuing a proclamation in the Ontario Gazette. All such lands will, after the proclamation, be withdrawn from the settler's market.

The Budget Debate.

Mr. Marter resumed the budget debate. He complained because Mr. Ross had pointed out the course of the Opposition with reference to the boundary award, giving as his reason that Chief Justice Meredith, who was leader of the Opposition during that time, was no longer a member of the House. He contended the Opposition had always supported the Government in its effort to secure all the disputed territory for Ontario. The Government had claimed great credit for the manner in which they had disposed of their timber and pointed with scorn to the method at Ottawa under the Conservative Government. He drew attention to the fact that before the Mackenzie Government the policy at Ottawa was to sell timber either by tender or auction, but as soon as the Liberal Government gained power they did away with this system and actually gave timber away to men like H. H. Cook and other well-known Reformers. He then spoke of the expense in connection with the Public Accounts Committee. He said it was unfair for the Government to send it broadcast throughout the country that last year the cost of this committee was $11,-000 while disputed accounts amounting to $52 had been discovered. As applied to last year alone this might be true, but in years past the Opposition had saved the province at least $8,000 per year through the investigations of this committee. He wished the country to understand the Opposition could not get witnesses they demanded should appear before the committee and instanced the case of Mr. Simpson, who had sent a medical man's certicfiate to say he was unable to appear. It was claimed the Opposition were pessimists. That was the charge that had been made against the Liberals when they were in Opposition at Ottawa, but now they were upon the other side they had become optimists. He advised that the people should place Mr. Whitney upon the Government benches with his followers and they would change their tune as quickly as the Liberals had done at Ottawa. (Laughter.) It was charged that the Opposition were advocates of direct taxation. The Globe seventeen years ago had warned the people against the same thing and two years ago Sir Oliver Mowat had stated the province was paying expenses out of the surplus.

Hon. Mr. Hardy: "I venture the statement you cannot show proof Sir Oliver ever said anything of the kind."

Mr. Marter continuing, said he had not the proof with him, but he had read it in the newspapers. (Laughter.) He left this subject and proceeded to rehash the Opposition arguments regarding the surplus. He then turned his attention to the timber question, which he said had of late become a live issue. For years past, he said, the Opposition had called out loudly against the policy of the Government, but to no avail, until at last the lands were nearly all gone and the Government found themselves in a hole. He was surprised to find the Government permitting Americans to take Ontario's logs away to fill the pockets of their own laborers in manufacturing them into lumber, after the hostile legislation of the United States Government. Why had the Government called the Parliament together. They said in the press it was to consider the timber question. Why did they not bring down their bill then and tell the members and the country what their policy was? (Hear, hear.)

The Government's Answer.

Hon. Mr. Gibson said it would be a waste of time to follow point by point Mr. Marter's speech because it was the same old rehash as they had heard for the past 15 years. It was astonishing, however, that a man who had been so long in public life should have made so many statements that were childish and puerile. (Hear, hear.) With reference to the boundary dispute the present Government had charged the Opposition at the time with having tried to assist their Conservative friends at Ottawa to rob the province of valuable lands. (Hear, hear.) The boundary dispute would have been brought to a settlement long before it was if it had not been for the unpatriotic warfare of the Opposition. This was well-known by all parties at the time and the country had not forgotten it yet. He drew attention to the fact that after the Privy Council had decided the boundary question in favor of the province, even then the Conservatives had contended the province was not entitled to the timber or minerals. The province owed nothing to the Conservatives. (Cheers.) What scandals had the Government been charged with? What money, was it charged, had been squandered? It was charged that the coal bill for the Hamilton Asylum last year was larger than that of the Toronto Asylum. This was true because when coal had been purchased for the Toronto institution the competition kept down the price, while at Hamilton a combine was formed by the local coal dealers, who asked a very high price. The Government would not accept any of these tenders and had ordered the coal from a Toronto man. The Government had saved about $2,000 by so doing; the proof of this was that the Public school coal supply of that year at Hamilton had been purchased at a much higher price than that paid by the Government. (Cheers.) It proved how hard up the Opposition were for scandals when they brought up the Simpson case as a scandal. (Hear, hear.) Some years ago Simpson, an inspector of roads, was called before the Public Accounts Committee to give evidence. He did so. He was examined under oath as to his travelling expenses. It came out that he could give more explicit evidence if he had his books at hand. It was just at the close of the session, and Simpson was sent home by the committee to get his books. A few days later he became sick and before he recovered the session closed, but he sent his books to the committee. Where, then, was the justification for the use of the word scandal? The Government had experienced a rather difficult task in managing the Central Prison for the reason that when any servant of that institution was dismissed for dereliction of duty, inefficiency or bad conduct, Mr. Marter would immediately seek him out and try to use him as a tool upon which to found a scandal. This had the effect of destroying discipline in that institution; this was the childish but pernicious policy of the late leader of the Opposition. The Opposition for years had anxiously chirped away at the surplus in the hope they would in time be able to convince the people that none existed. As long as the Government could put their hands upon the money in the banks, as they could do to-day, such a course was foolish and did not require a serious answer. The Opposition kept constantly talking about the surplus Sandfield Macdonald had left and wanted to know what had become of it. There was no secret as to this, the Government had given it to assist and build railways that the Macdonald Government had become responsible for: build asylums and hospitals; and for the erection of schools and other public works, such as prisons, etc. Macdonald had left a heavy mortgage upon every dollar of his surplus. It would have been very easy for the present Government to have rolled up a very large cash surplus if they had not expended their money in needed public works and buildings. (Hear, hear.) Dealing with the subject of colonization roads at Hamilton, Mr. Whitney had made charges which were false in every particular. He had gone further and said to the people that he (Mr. Gibson) had apologised to him (Mr. Whitney) for the amount spent upon these roads and that such expenditures would not take place in future. There was not a word of truth in the statement. (Cheers.)

The highest function of the Legislature was the laws placed upon the statute books. Upon the stump Mr. Whitney had claimed that the best laws in the books had been placed there by himself and his predecessors. (Laughter.) Would he produce some of these laws? The most useful and wise laws upon the books had been placed there by the wisdom of Sir Oliver Mowat, whose sagacity and learning had left little for the Opposition to even suggest in the matter of wise legislation. He charged Mr. Whitney with unfairness in making such statements. Would Mr. Whitney have the manliness, fairness, or decency to retract such statements or point out the particular laws he had assisted in placing upon the books.

Mr. Whitney denied having made the statements.

Hon. Mr. Gibson then read from the Mail the statements attributed to Mr. Whitney as having been made at Napanee and other places and challenged him to deny them. This Mr. Whitney refused to do.

Mr. Meacham continued the debate.

THE FRUIT GROWERS.

The San Jose Scale Was the Great Topic With Them Yesterday at Waterloo, Ontario.

Waterloo, Ont., Dec. 17.—The Board of Directors of the Ontario Fruit Growers Association decided to meet next year at St. Catharines, with the Niagara Peninsula Fruit Growers' Association.

In the convention proper a valuable paper was read by Dr. Saunders, of Ottawa. The subject was "How to Maintain the Fertility of Orchards."

In the afternoon notices of certain changes in the constitution and by-laws were made. The meeting decided to postpone the consideration of these changes until the next annual meeting at St. Catharines.

The San Jose scale then came under consideration. Mr. W. M. Orr, inspector, read an interesting paper, showing the terrible nature of this pest, and stated that he had located about 100 trees from an infected nursery in the States, in about 80 places in Ontario. Upon visiting these places he had found the scale in several of them and rapidly increasing. Dr. Fletcher, of Ottawa, said that one characteristic of the presence of the scale was the reddening of the bark or skin affected. Every cemetery, every garden and park in the country is in danger from this pest. One scale, he said, might produce three thousand millions in one season. True, there is a parasite, of the lady-bird family, and a specimen of this has been discovered by Mr. Burrill near St. Catharines, but we cannot trust this parasite to destroy it. Fruit growers might be ruined while they wait. The best treatment is to spray in autumn with kerosene emulsion and again in the spring with a stronger solution of whale oil soap and water, first pruning the trees as closely as possible. This soap is worth in quantity only four cents a pound.

Mr. C. C. James, of the Department of Agriculture, brought copies of Mr. Dryden's bill to prevent the spread of the San Jose scale. This was read and discussed clause by clause, and on the whole met with the approval of the association. Some, however, thought the bill not quite stringent enough.

The following committee was appointed to confer with the Minister of Agriculture regarding the bill, viz.: A. H. Pettit, W. E. Wellington, E. D. Smith and M. Burrill. This committee was also to confer with the Minister of Agriculture for the Dominion.

In the evening there was a joint meeting with the Waterloo Horticultural Society, whose President welcomed the society to Waterloo. Mr. H. H. Groff, of Simcoe, spoke on "The Canna and the Gladiolus;" Prof. Hutton, "Chrysanthemum Culture;" Mr. Lockie, on "Cacti;" Mr. Wadsworth, of Berlin, on "Water Lilies;" Mr. R. B. White, on "Annuals for the Amateur's Garden." Excellent music was rendered by local talent. Resolutions were passed, thanking the Dominion and Ontario Ministers of Agriculture for their interest in the work, the Michigan Agricultural College, the Central Experimental Farm (Ottawa), and the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, for their representatives, and the local and Toronto press for their liberal notices, and the Mayor and local society of Waterloo for their courtesy.

FIRES IN BRACEBRIDGE.

Tate & Bateson's Planing Mills and Other Property Destroyed.

Bracebridge, Dec. 17.—At 5.15 p.m. yesterday a fire was discovered in the Bracebridge planing mills, owned by J. R. Higgins and occupied by Tate & Bateson. A hurricane was blowing at the time, and all efforts to save the building were of no avail. The fire spread to Whaley's blacksmith shop, adjoining, and it also was consumed. While this fire was in progress the alarm was sounded for a fire in another part of the town, in an unoccupied stable. This was also consumed. The origin of both fires is supposed to be incendiary. The loss on planing mill and shops is about $8,000; no insurance.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1897.

A DISCREDITED CHARGE.

The financial critics of the Opposition insist, in the face of repeated disproof, that the Liberal Government is guilty of squandering the Sandfield Macdonald surplus and the more the people show their belief in the falsity of this statement, the more earnestly does the Opposition protest that it is the case. It has been pointed out over and over again that Sandfield Macdonald left a surplus of $3,500,000 in the treasury; and the fact has also been pointed out that before he left office he had committed his successors to the expenditure of nearly the whole of this large amount. In other words the whole sum was practically mortgaged and his successors had to lift the mortgage. The large sum of $1,500,000 was devoted to railway building, to which the present government added enough to make the total amount spent in railway construction by the Ontario Government, about six millions of dollars. To the million and a half appropriated for railways add $700,000 to be paid the Dominion Government for Provincial charges paid out of federal funds. That made a reduction in the surplus of $2,200,000. Rockwood Asylum at Kingston had been purchased but not paid for and that took another $100,000 from the surplus, making a total of $2,300,000 that the Sandfield Macdonald Government had committed their successors to, to which is to be added $400,000, to which the credit of the Government was pledged, making the sum to be substracted from the Sandfield surplus, $2,700,000, and to this is to be added, $300,000 due the Quebec Government—and $300,000 for the construction of the Central Prison, arranged for but not completed by Sandfield Macdonald. Thus we have the sum of $3,300,000 accounted for, a sum for which Sandfield Macdonald was largely responsible; and the amounts for which he was not directly responsible, were obligations that existed at the time of his leaving office, so that the succeeding government was only responsible for spending money that had to be paid, no matter from what source it came. Thus the Sandfield Macdonald Government practically paid out through their successors $3,300,000 of the $3,800,000 surplus in the treasury at the time of its retirement, leaving a balance of $500,000, which is represented by the $600,000 of cash surplus, which is now lying in the bank to the credit of the Ontario Government. The Sandfield Macdonald surplus was spent in paying obligations created by himself. It is as if a new manager succeeds to a business and finds $10,000 to the credit of the concern, but also finds that $8,000 of it is pledged to pay obligations incurred by his predecessor. Of course he has to draw on the $10,000 to pay these obligations. Is he to be accused of squandering $8,000 because he was compelled to spend it to pay legitimate debts? It is just as reasonable to accuse the Liberal Government of squandering the Sandfield Macdonald surplus when it was used in paying obligations which were in large part created, and for which it is not claimed full value has not been received, by himself? False accusation and reiteration of a discredited charge, indicate a weak cause.

MR. ST. JOHN GROWS TIRESOME.

The Toronto Star (Independent) says: This Humber piggery question, which, next to the coughing calf business, is one of the smallest subjects that ever was made a plank in a party platform, is past the joking stage, and has become wearisome. The fact of the matter is that this hog asylum cost some money, but it has paid enough profits in two years to meet the outly of construction, and in another year—had not hog cholera broken out—and even Mr. St. John dare not hold the Government responsible for the outbreak—would have been paying money to the province. The second charge, which was trumped up yesterday, to the effect that diseased meat was sold is preposterous. Every move was made under the supervision of the Dominion Inspector, and if anything was done wrongly, the Dominion Inspector must answer.

So, these are the facts. It is no credit to this province that among its intelligent people there can be found a man who, when facts stare him in the face, will fritter away his time and the time of able legislators in dishing up such twaddle as Mr. St. John has been shouting on the stump and in the House. Mr. St. John has an ambition to succeed Mr. Whitney as leader, or to become first lieutenant, and is thinking to make name for himself in the piggery way. He is making a name, but not one to be particularly envied. Let him take a lesson from Dr. Ryerson, who started out in pursuit of fame clad in the same togs. After bringing up trivial subjects and shouting over them by hours, boring and abusing everybody in sight, session after session, he has faded away into his original obscurity. Mr. St. John is following in his footsteps, and will go down at last to the same oblivion. But in the meantime people in general and the Conservative party in particular are suffering most painfully in order to give Mr. St. John a name, even though it be but the reputation of a cheap haranguing politician.

A pneumatic tube which is weakened at any point will burst forth with a loud sound, and all the wind escapes and the tube is useless. A pneumatic man, weak at all points, breaks forth incessantly, but no single puncture ever exhausts him, and, having blown off once, a second puncture is even more pronounced.

PLEADING FOR LIFE.

Judges to Make Special Reports on Troy and Sternaman Cases.

Ottawa, Dec. 17.—Application for the commutation of their death sentences has been filed on behalf of J. F. Troy and Mrs. Sternaman. In both cases the judges who tried them have been asked to make special reports to the Minister of Justice. Troy confessed to his crime and virtually put the detectives on his track and was the most surprised man possible when he was told he would hang on January 14th. He does not yet believe he will hang. On behalf of Mrs. Sternaman, it is urged that her sex should prevent the death sentence being carried out. The cases will not be considered by the Cabinet till after Christmas.

New Poultry Market.

Ottawa, Dec. 17.—A new market, promising to be one of considerable value, is to be found for Canadian poultry, meats, butter, etc., in the West Indies. The Minister of Agriculture has arranged to fit up the steamship Beta, of the Pickford and Black Line, from Halifax, with cold storage for this trade.

GAGE'S MONEY BILL.

The U. S. Secretary of the Treasurer Explains His Measure to Congressmen.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Secretary Gage appeared to-day before the Committee on Banking and Currency of the House to present a bill embodying his views for a revision of the currency. He said, in part:—

"The objects I have in mind are four in number: First, to commit the country more thoroughly to the gold standard, remove, so far as possible, doubts and fears on that point, and thus strengthen the credit of the United States both at home and abroad.

"Second, to strengthen the treasury in relation to its demand liabilities, in which are included greenbacks, treasury notes and the incidental obligation to maintain on a parity, through interchangeability with gold, so far as may be necessary, the present large volume of silver certificates and silver dollars.

"Third, to do this in such a way as not to contract the volume of circulation in the hands of the people.

"Fourth, to take an initial step toward a system of bank note issues without the conditional deposit of public bonds as security therefor.

"If we prosper as a people, the revenue of the Government ought to be somewhat in advance of its expenditures, and the public debt of the United States gradually reduced and finally extinguished.

"Looking at the question widely, from my best point of knowledge and experience, I feel that if these could be secured, the condition of the Government, in its relation to the currency, would be much safer and stronger than now, and that through the operation of national bank note currency the commercial and industrial interests of the United States would be greatly advantaged."

After this statement it was deemed advisable to read the Secretary's bill in detail and discuss it section by section.

U. S. National Debt to Be Refunded.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Secretary Gage's financial bill was to-day submitted to the House on banking. It provides for refunding of national debt, for establishing redemption fund and a division of issue and redemption in the treasury and for modifying existing laws respecting national banks.

LOSS OF MAJ. WALSH'S SUPPLIES

The Report Likely to Be a Miner's Improbable Yarn—The Major is Probably at Fort Selkirk—Difficulties of the Trail—People Still Going Into the Yukon.

Ottawa, Dec. 17.—At a Cabinet meeting to-day the date of the meting of Parliament was discussed, and, although no decision was reached, the proclamation will, when issued, name either January 27th or February 3rd. The matter will be decided on Saturday.

Major Walsh's Supplies.

The report telegraphed last night from the coast, on the authority of Government Surveyor St. Cyr, who had just returned from Lake Tagish, that Major Walsh had lost all his supplies, was believed here to have originated in the fact that part of Major Walsh's party, Judge McGuire and Mr. Wade, had thrown their stuff overboard on an arm of Tagish Lake in order to lighten the craft in a storm; but a message was sent to Mr. St. Cyr asking what authority there was for the report. A reply received to-day by the Deputy-Minister of the Interior states that the story came from some person on board the steamer Alki, who had come out from Dawson, and that Mr. St. Cyr had not made the statement at all. As a matter of fact, Major Walsh passed the White Horse Rapids in safety on November 8, and this was the only point where he could have met with any accident, because ahead of him lay Lake Labarge, the Lewes River and the Yukon, and it was all plain sailing to Fort Selkirk unless the ice formed, and even then he had his dogs to take him on. Major Walsh is no doubt now at Fort Selkirk and in perfect safety. The 1898 rush to the Klondike has actually begun. Hundreds are arriving at Skaguay by every boat, and thousands will be on the trails by the end of January eager to be over and far on towards Dawson before the big rush comes down over open water in April or May.

SHELBURNE PERJURY CASES.

True Bills Brought in Against the Five Prisoners—The Trials Begin.

Brampton, Ont., Dec. 17.—The grand jury yesterday at noon brought in a true bill against the five prisoners charged with the crime of perjury, and the case will be proceeded with at once. The charge against John Coleman will be investigated first. The grand jury were out about two hours, and about twenty witnesses were examined.

W. J. McKay, County Crown Attorney, of Orangeville, was the first witness called by the Crown, and he said he told A. McLaren to act for him and administer the oath to the witnesses, and the defence claims this man had no authority for doing so, and therefore there could not be a crime of perjury committed. A lengthy argument followed, and His Lordship decided to look into the case.

Judge McCarthy gave evidence as to what the prisoner Coleman said before him. He said Mrs. Stevenson, her brother, a Mr. Dick, and another man were in the office at the time. After Mrs. Stevenson knew about this order being changed, she alleges she still continued to have dealings with Mr. Hamilton, and took friends of hers there to borrow money and draw a deed of a farm. The defence claim that this shows she did not consider Hamilton dishonest or a forger, shortly after the order was given, when she apparently knew about it, or she would not have taken other business to him, as she certainly did, according to the evidence. Mr. McKay was recalled for a short time, but nothing new was brought from him, as he apparently could not remember anything. Mr. Johnston asked for bail for the prisoner, but it was refused by His Lordship, and the prisoner was taken back to jail. The jury were put under the care of two constables until to-day at 9 o'clock. His Lordship gave the constables strict orders to allow no person to approach the jury.

Nervous Prostration

Sick Headache and Dizziness—All Cured.

Little Girl Has Grown Plump and Rosy Since Taking Hood's.

Nervous mothers and sickly children endure a vast proportion of the suffering which is caused by impure and impoverished blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives relief by purifying and enriching the blood. Read this statement:

"I was bothered with sick headaches and dizziness. I also had nervous prostration and weakness in my stomach, which made me feel very ill indeed. I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, which was highly recommended by many, and by the time I had taken four bottles I was in perfect health. About a year ago my little girl, then six years old, had bronchitis and chicken pox. We were told that her was the careful treatment she might receive at the hospital. We took her there and for eight days they had no hope of her recovery, but later she had a change for the better. Her sickness, however, left her very delicate and weak, and she did not grow any for a year. It was then I thought I would try Hood's Sarsaparilla, inasmuch as I had used it for myself and found it such a good medicine for building up a constitution. She had not taken two bottles before she had improved wonderfully. She has grown rosy and plump and is quite herself again. I have great faith in Hood's." MRS. M. Rheumatism & Dyspepsia Cured

OTTAWA, July 31st, 1896.

To the Phrenoline Medicine Company, Ltd., Ottawa, Ont.

GENTLEMEN,—On the advice of a friend I tried one bottle of your famous rheumatic remedy, Phrenoline, and to my surprise it cured me of rheumatism, from which I have suffered for many years.

It also cured me of dyspepsia, from which I was suffering at the time, so that I feel now like a new man.

I have tried several remedies for rheumatism, some of which did me a certain amount of good, but nothing that I have taken has done so much for me as your Phrenoline, and I have much pleasure in recommending it to other sufferers.

Yours very truly,

MARY AND JEAN.

How oft at dusk did Burns along
The banks of Ayr appear,
A melancholy child of song,
Musing amid a mournful throng
Of recollections dear?
The kindly after years had healed
The wound within his breast.
Fair Jean's devoted love revealed
That happiness which death concealed
When Mary went to rest.
He fondly scanned his bairns at play
About the cottage door,
Toiled stoutly onward day by day,
Obedient to honor's sway,
Which bound him evermore.
And yet mayhap in some lone place
Where Ayr's clear waters roll
His dreams at eve recalled the grace
Of sainted Highland Mary's face—
The mistress of his soul.
He loved, and who that loves today
Shall grudge the pensive hour
When, clad in sorrow's mantle gray,
He paused beside Ayr's quiet way
To woo oblivion's power?
What dreams were his of pleasures deep
That he might never know!
Perhaps, though years his secret keep,
Thinking of her who fell asleep,
He deemed 'twas better so.

THE INN AT BIRNLEY.

BY CHARLES B. LEWIS.

In every city and town in the land you will find a mill, store or factory which seems to be hoodooed. The location is apparently all right, but whoever buys, leases or rents makes a failure. When George Walters of the town of Birnley decided to build an inn and become a landlord, he selected what was called the best location in the corporation. He was a man liked by all, had a fair amount of money, and everybody wished him luck and predicted that he would do well. It was strange what a turn of luck came to the man. He had been successful in everything, but on the day he broke ground for the new enterprise he fell over some timbers and broke his leg. Before the framework was up a workman had been killed. While the building was being completed a painter fell from a ladder and was fatally injured. The inn was opened with a housewarming. Some of the guests drank too heavily, a quarrel occurred, and the postmaster of the town was stabbed to death. The people advised Walters to get out of it. He looked upon it merely as a run of ill luck and remained until his wife died of typhoid fever. Then he sold the inn to a stranger named Grafton and moved away.

Grafton had a wife and three children, and he had not been in the house a month when two of the children were drowned in the river near by. Fifteen days later the tavern stables were burned to the ground. The man realized that the place was hoodooed and got out of it, and it was taken by another stranger named Eldridge. This owner made a low place of it, but for six months nothing happened to create much gossip. Then Eldridge was killed in a quarrel over cards, and that was the last of the Red Rose inn as an inn. It was offered for sale at almost any price, but the story of its ill luck had gone abroad, and no one would take it. It was finally put to use as a warehouse, but after a fire, which destroyed a portion of the structure, it was left an unoccupied ruin.

It had stood thus for a year or so, an eyesore to the town and a wonder to all strangers, when a man named Cummings came along and made certain inquiries, which at once revived all the gossip. He had a sister married to a man named Drayton. On a certain date the pair had set out from Columbus, O., to drive to a town in Illinois. They had their own carriage, and that they passed through the town of Birnley was proved by the fact that the sister mailed him a letter with the postmark on it. After that letter nothing further was heard from her, though the husband had been seen in one of the territories alone. I was only a boy then, and I cannot remember all the details. I recollect, however, of Cummings explaining that it was not a happy marriage, that the woman had a large amount of money with her and that he was sure the husband had made away with her at some point on the journey.

No one in Birnley recollected the arrival of the couple or anything connected with them—no one but me. It so happened that I was able to furnish information. They arrived at 8 o'clock one evening while there was a circus in town. I had helped the hostler to put out the team and had seen the man and woman at supper. Just at daylight—I having remained with the hostler all night after we had taken in the circus—we were called upon to bring around the team. I saw only the man get into the carriage. I was sure the woman did not depart. When I spoke to the hostler, he took no interest in the matter. When I asked Mr. Eldridge, the second landlord, about it, he replied that of course she went with her husband, though he was stumbling about and half asleep, and I am sure he did not see her. Eldridge had gone, the hostler had gone and I was the only one who could give any details. I remembered and described the two people and the horses and carriage, and Cummings had no doubt that they stopped at the inn. From Birnley he proceeded on his journey west, seeking to pick up the trail. He got trace of the man a dozen times, but the woman had not been seen. After three or four weeks he came back to Birnley with the firm belief that the wife had been murdered there.

There was a river flowing through the town and a millpond below. The first move made was to drag this pond. The work was thoroughly done, and, though all anticipated that a skeleton would be found, nothing of that nature was discovered. There was found, however, a satchel containing female apparel. This had been weighted with bricks and was lying at the bottom of the pond. When the satchel was found, Cummings felt sure he was on the right track, and the rear yard of the inn was explored. Men dug into the ground in 50 different spots, but after a long day's work it became certain that nobody had been buried there. The barns had never been rebuilt after the fire. Cummings hired a dozen men and had the debris removed, but still the search was unsuccessful. He had previously gone over the house, which was little better than a ruin, but now he entered upon a closer investigation. The windows had been broken, doors carried away, and the leaky roof had let in the storms until the floors were rotten. Now and then half a dozen boys entered the house and clambered about, but as a rule it was avoided as an uncanny place. Up to this time no one had hinted at a ghost or strange things, but that was to come.

Mr. Cummings, a constable and myself entered the old inn one evening after supper to make a thorough search. What the brother expected to find he did not say, but he made up his mind that his sister never left Birnley alive. My persistency in declaring that she did not go away with her husband and the fact that the husband left at such an unusual hour probably gave Cummings the idea that she had been made away with during the night.

On entering we mounted to the second story and entered the room the couple had occupied that night. We were standing still and gazing about when there suddenly came a sound as of a woman sobbing. I bolted at once, but the constable followed at my heels, and when Cummings joined us below he was pale and trembling. It was a queer sound we had heard, and after discussing it for a spell the constable went for a Mr. Hastings, who was a justice of the peace. Hastings arrived to ridicule our fears, and together the four of us went up to the room. It was not yet dark outdoors, but very gloomy up there. The justice walked about, knocking and rapping with his cane, and perhaps ten minutes had passed when we heard a noise as of slippered feet crossing the floor, followed by gurgling and sobbing. The sounds were so real and at the same time so uncanny that the four of us made for the stairs at once. When we had got safely down, Cummings said the noises had been produced by the wind and wanted to go back, but no one would go with him. It was agreed to keep the affair a secret and inspect the house next morning, and after breakfast our number was increased to six. The two others were merchants of the town, and they had a hearty laugh at the way we had been driven out.

At half past 8 o'clock in the morning we gathered in that room. Most of the plaster was off, the floor was sinking and cobwebs hung from the corners. Queerly enough, access was had to the garret above through this, the best room in the house. There was the scuttle in the ceiling, with the trapdoor shut down, and I wondered that I had never taken notice of it before. Cummings had just remarked that he would like to take a look up there in the garret when there came a wailing, gurgling sobbing sound which lasted for at least 15 seconds. Every one of us had the same idea about it. It sounded as if a hand had clutched a woman's throat and choked the life out of her.

There was a move for the stairs, and every one's face was as pale as death, but Cummings made a gesture which checked the retreat, and there was a long minute of silence. Then there was heard what might have been called a death rattle—a queer sound to make the flesh creep. After it had died away Cummings said:

"Gentlemen, murder has been done in this house. Let no one go away. We will get a ladder and take a look into the garret."

The constable fetched a ladder, and Cummings was first through the scuttle. The garret was 40 feet long by 20 wide, with the end windows broken out and daylight and sunshine streaming in. There were loose boards over the joists, and the garret was the roosting place of scores of pigeons. For two or three minutes nothing was to be seen. Then Cummings, who had made his way to the west end of the garret, beckoned to us and pointed to an object lying on the laths between the two end joists. It was a bundle of black mold and bones—the skeleton of the missing woman. She had been murdered in the room below and carried up there, and one might have looked into the garret a hundred times without discovering the body. It had been there so long that there was only dust and bones to be gathered up and taken down for identification and burial. The murderer had stripped the body of all clothing, but on one finger had been left a ring, which the brother had given her as a bridal present. There was not the shadow of a doubt as to who the victim was, and so great was the popular excitement over the ghastly noises and the dreadful find that 100 men turned to and pulled the ruins apart and made a big bonfire of the last board. Steps were at once taken to apprehend the murderer, and his trail was followed for many months, but to this day his crime is unpunished.

SIGN OF THE GOLDEN HORSE SHOE, GEORGE STREET.

Not a Pleasurable Day.

The man was a wealthy and still young northern squire, selfish and self indulgent, childless, which was fortunate, for he was unfit to play a father's part, and suddenly widowed. It was to the funeral of the wife that my friend was professionally invited. It had not been a happy marriage. The man was gloomy, not because of the bereavement, but because of the solemnity and seriousness it entailed.

He would have gone away if he had dared and left her relatives to bury her. He did not like them and swore he would not be shut up in a carriage with any one of them—he would ride alone. "No," said my friend, who had great influence over him (as indeed he had over most people with whom he was brought into contact). "You must not do that." There were good reasons why he should not have gone alone. "If you will not go with your relatives, you must go with the clergyman." "The clergyman! Well, if I must, I must, but it will quite spoil my day."—James Payn in Nineteenth Century.

A GOOD STORY.

But the Author Would Be a Poor Man to Write History.

"The most desperate personal act I witnessed during the war was performed by a Wisconsin cavalryman," said C. J. Hilton of Madison. "It was at Fleetwood Hill, and the man discounted the capture made at Ciudad Rodrigo by Charles O'Malley's man, Mickey Free. The Wisconsin man rode out between two great cavalry forces—Union and Confederate—and attacked a lieutenant and two men belonging to Jeb Stuart's force, and after a hand to hand saber fight, lasting fully ten minutes, captured the three and brought them in. It was the prettiest fight of the kind I ever saw, and the Wisconsin trooper was cheered by every man on our side who witnessed his act and by some of Stuart's riders. I don't know who the man was, but my recollection is that he belonged to the Second Wisconsin."

A man who wore the Loyal Legion button said he did not think the Second Wisconsin was in the fight with Stuart at Brandy Station and Fleetwood Hill. He asked for the story, however:

"I was a member of the Eighth New York," said Mr. Hilton, "and our regiment was part of the cavalry command sent under Pleasonton to look up Jeb Stuart just before Gettysburg. We found Stuart—yellow sash, black hat plumes, gold spurs and all that—at Brandy Station, and with him were all his riders. The fight was a hot one, and we came very near being beautifully whipped, although we claimed the victory on the ground that we learned what we wanted to know—where Stuart was and what Lee was about. Some of the heaviest fighting of the day was at a spot called Fleetwood Hill, and it was there that the Wisconsin trooper captured his three men.

"We had been at it hammer and tongs for two or three hours, when there came one of those let ups you all have seen—for all the world like two bulldogs looking for a fresh hold. While both sides were waiting for the order to advance a Confederate lieutenant and two men rode out from their tents, moving toward us as if searching for something on the field. Everybody on our side watched them and wondered what they were looking for. The two lines were fully two-thirds of a mile apart, and the three had got about a third of the way across toward us. Then over on the right of our line was a stir and commotion, and the excitement spread along until it reached us.

"The right of our line was concealed from us by a little grove of oak trees. A trooper in blue, mounted on a big bay that looked and carried himself like a thoroughbred, was riding out to meet those three men in gray. He sat on his horse like a riding school master. When within 100 yards of Stuart's three men he halted, saluted with his saber and dropped his carbine and revolver. The three men from the other side had been watching him, and, understanding the challenge, dropped their arms.

"Then came the fight. It was a saber contest, with three against one. That Wisconsin man disarmed that lieutenant in two passes, hamstrung the horse of another and put his blade through the shoulder of the third. He brought the three into our lines.

"What do you think of that?" he concluded.

"The story is all right," said one of the listeners, "but I don't think you would do to write history."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

SAINTS.

O saints, dear saints, so present, yet so far,
I cannot touch you with my hand or trace
The aspect of your strength, your faith, your grace!
Between us lie the years, the gulf, the bar;
But, as one tracks the starlight to the star
And finds no dark nor flame forsaken space
To fret the beauty of its burning face
Because the splendor swallows blot and scar,
So time has framed you with an aureole
More circle rounded than your age foreknew.
No frailty now can quench that fire of soul!
The things ye willed and did not, those ye do;
The gifts he strove for, in my sight are true.
Your perfect parts have made perfection whole.

—Edward Cancroft Lefroy, From His Life and Poems.

AN ISLAND ROMANCE.

An old traveler who, as special correspondent, story writer and theatrical manager, has visited nearly every part of the globe, in the person of J. Charles Davis, is now here for the purpose of paving the way for J. Cheever Goodwin and Woolson Morse's musical comedy, "Lost, Strayed or Stolen." He thus describes one of the odd corners of the world:

Probably the quaintest and most interesting island that dots the waters of the world is what was known until after the last English victory over the French as the Isle de France. It is Mauritius, French in everything but government, which is English.

Mauritius is the home of romance and a veritable gold mine for the story teller and novel writer. It is the scene of good old Father St. Pierre's "Paul and Virginia," and the visitor to Port Louis, the metropolis and principal seaport, who would attempt to leave the island without driving out and visiting the grave of Paul and Virginia would be considered an unromantic, unsympathetic heathen. It is situated in a peaceful valley and reached by a short drive from the capital.

This little island is one of the most cosmopolitan places in existence. French, English, German, Spanish, Italian and a few American merchants are engaged in business in the bazaars along the water front, while Africans, Malays, Persians, the natives of Madagascar, coolies from the Malabar coast, Moors from the strait of Gibraltar and the natives of upper India elbow each other in the market places, and one hears the language of every land in a half dozen blocks.

The superstitions of every country and the weird tales growing out of the traditions of all lands have been brought to the island, taken root and grown to be observed by the lower classes of all nations, and consequently the island has become the favorite hunting ground of the story teller in search of genuine novelty, particularly in the weird and mysterious vein. Besant and Rice obtained the story of "My Little Girl" from Mauritius. It was here that the story of the "Coco de Mere" had its birth. Here the legend of the enchanted caverns yawning for the reception of shipwrecked sailors, with their two gates, one leading to the celestial empire and the other to hades, is repeated and believed, and those who cross the island to its northern and most inhabited shore can see two great openings, the bottom of each being below the low water mark and the top being high enough to admit the rigging of a sailing vessel, awaiting for him to choose which way he will go, but with no guidepost or trademark to assist him in his choice.

Although the government of Mauritius is English the official language is French, and in order to travel without inconvenience one must speak it well, but in order to get at the weird and mysterious it is necessary to have an interpreter who is an East Indian and who appreciates the value of getting at the bottom of a subject after having once entered into it. While returning from a visit to the famous gardens of Curpaps I halted at a little refreshment house, and in conversation with the proprietor discovered that he was not only an old resident, but a man well versed in the folklore of the island and one who would talk if allowed to.

It is needless to say that I allowed him to, and while we were enjoying some really delicious Manilla cheroots under the shade of a great banyan tree, just back of his house, he told me the following story:

Shortly after it became impossible for many members of the old French nobility to live comfortably in la belle France a country nobleman, accompanied only by the young and beautiful daughter, left the mother country behind and arrived at Port Louis with little excepting the family jewels, plate and honor. The father and daughter brought with them an old priest who had been Ninette's instructor and almost constant companion since the child's dying mother confided her while but a toddling infant to the good old man's care. With a few house servants the count set up a modest establishment on the northern part of the island, purchased a small plantation and began the cultivation of sugar cane, which is the principal industry of the country.

Under the fostering care of her father, the priest and the old family servants Ninette grew to womanhood without having often crossed the boundary lines of the little plantation on which they lived. Her favorite recreation was reading, and she indulged this education of pastime in a bowerlike nook on the very face of the cliff overhanging the ocean. Here she would spend the delightfully balmy afternoons watching the native craft either going to sea, sailing away into the blue distance until their lateen sails looked like the wings of a flock of sea gulls or coming up out of the blue waters of the Indian ocean and growing larger and more distinct until the songs of the native sailors could be distinctly heard in her cliff top nook.

She reached the age of 19 when one morning she encountered a young stranger in the person of the son of a wealthy planter who lived many miles over the other side of the mountain and who, while pursuing his favorite pastime of shooting red winged partridges, had scaled the cliff and, following his dogs, almost stumbled into Ninette's retreat. The young man, after apologising, withdrew hastily, but his dogs, enjoying the caresses of the timid but delighted girl, refused to answer his call, and he was obliged to return to induce them to follow him.

From this incident there grew an acquaintance as carefully conducted as the strictest rules of the old French family conduct would prescribe. And one morning the count was somewhat surprised to receive a visit from the young man's father and mother, who had driven from the extreme end of the island for the purpose of introducing themselves and requesting permission for their son to pay his addresses to Ninette. The motherless child was introduced to the woman who desired to be her mother-at-law and her husband. Family history and family matters were discussed at length, and the planter and his wife did not depart until the desired consent had been obtained. After this the young couple were betrothed, the engagement duly announced, and at the expiration of nearly a year the date of the marriage set and made public, when one day Ninette, while reading in her favorite nook, was overtaken by one of those fierce storms for which the island is famous, and in attempting to regain the top of the hill slipped and fell down through the tangled underbrush, cut and scarred by jagged rocks, to the sands below. Here she was found by friends, who were alarmed at the storm and her absence and started out to search for her.

She was carried home almost lifeless, and for several days hovered between life and death, until the vigor of youth enabled her to recover sufficiently to understand the terrible accident that had befallen her. Her once beautiful features were so cut and scarred that after one horrified look into a hand mirror the poor girl turned away, sent for her father and announced her intention of entering a convent as soon as she was well enough to do so.

The almost distracted lover had ridden over from his mountain home day after day to inquire after her condition. His parents had made repeated calls, and kind hearted strangers hitherto excluded from the count's domain by the cold, exclusive disposition of its owner now came and offered sympathy and assistance daily. As soon as the attending physician decided that Ninette had sufficiently recovered to be able to bear an interview with her lover without serious results the almost frantic young man presented himself, only to be tearfully informed by the old count that his daughter desired him to convey her undying love with every assurance that it would remain unchanged until death, but that as the fearful accident that she had met with had disfigured her so that she was confident she could not survive Henri's expression of horror when he looked upon her poor mutilated features she would beg him to remember her as he saw her last, and that she would ever cherish his memory in the convent retreat that she desired to be conveyed to as soon as her health would permit.

Sadly and silently the young man took his departure, to return two days later, when he came instead of on horseback, as was his wont, in the clumsy old family carriage, from which he was assisted to alight by a favorite servant, when he said to the astonished count: "Take me to your daughter. Tell her that the changes in her features I can never know. She will always be as sweet and beautiful to me as when I saw her last. I shall never see her again, but cannot live without her society. Take me to her. She will see no looks of horror, for I am blind."

Henri, after leaving the count's door, had ridden to his own home, taken a last look at the scene that he had loved since boyhood, and then summoned a Hindoo fakir, and after a long consultation submitted to a painful operation that deprived him of his sight forever. The devotion that could not exist outside the atmosphere of mystery and superstition that hangs heavily over the little island was rewarded, and the descendants of Henri and Ninette now live in the beautiful little valley back of the capital and tell of the veiled woman who conducted the blind planter over his estate, and who was his guide and companion until both were laid to rest near the scene of their first meeting, where a marble tablet set in the side of the cliff marks the spot and makes it almost sacred to the residents of the island.

I returned to the city, and it was several days before I was able to completely shake off the indescribable impression caused by what the old innkeeper stoutly asserted was a true story of the love of Henri and Ninette.—San Francisco Chronicle.

His Own Idea.

It is said that General Crittenden used to tell with great glee a story of the reply once made to him by his son, then a little boy of 8 or 9 years.

A day or two after the battle of Chickamauga the little fellow went into camp. The general rode during the battle a horse which went by the name of John Jay, a great favorite with his small son. The child showed great delight at seeing his father again, but at last, in the midst of a vigorous hug, he asked suddenly:

"Papa, where is John Jay?"

"Oh," said his father gravely, "your horse behaved very badly during the fight. He insisted, like a coward, on taking me to the rear."

The boy looked at him searchingly for an instant. Then his eyes gleamed, and he held up a remonstrant little finger, pointing it at his parent.

"Papa," said he severely, "I know John Jay would never have done that of his own will. It must have been your work."

"There seemed to be nothing for me to say," the general usually remarked in conclusion, "and consequently I forbore to argue the matter."—Youth's Companion.

Oranges.

The very sweetest orange and richest is the black or rusty coated fruit. Pick out the dingiest oranges in the box, and you will get the best. Another way to choose oranges is by weight. The heaviest are the best, because they have the thinnest skin and more weight of juice. Thick skinned oranges are apt to be dry. They either weigh less because of having so much skin or because of the poverty of the juice in these particular specimens. A slight freezing on the tree causes this condition in otherwise fine fruit. The "kid glove" oranges are the two varieties of small fruit grown in Florida from stocks respectively brought from China and from Tangier. They are called mandarin and tangerine. They may be eaten without soiling a kid glove, because the skin is loose and the little "gores," or pockets of juice, come apart very cleanly and without breaking. All the above applies to Florida oranges. The Jamaica and Havana oranges are much paler yellow, and their juice is usually of more acid quality than the home grown oranges.

The Rascal Won.

"What's the price of these gloves?" she asked.

"A dollar and seventy-five cents," said the clerk; "but I'm afraid we haven't any small enough for you. We can order an extra small size, however."

"Oh, these will do. I'll take three pairs."—Chicago News.

Two Useful Items.

Half a lemon makes a very good substitute for a bar of toilet soap, and an orange, cut in half and rubbed on a sooty kettle, makes very good shoeblacking, which takes a fine polish.

None So Excellent.

"I have been troubled with sick headache for over a year. Lately I have used Laxa Liver Pills, and find that they help me more than any other medicine I have ever taken. They are an excellent pill, causing no pain or griping, and leaving no after ill effects."

POPE'S ENCYCLICAL

To Canadian Roman Catholic Bishops En Route.

HIS HOLINESS DEMANDS SILENCE

After Formally Enjoining Acquiescence in the Decision—An Assassin Kills Actor William Terriss—A Terrible March in the Bara Valley Peace Treaty Signed—Cable News.

Brussels, Dec. 17.—Le Patriote, the Catholic organ, says the Pope's encyclical to the Canadian Bishops is already on route. His Holiness expresses his regret at the existing divisions of opinion and the circumstances accompanying the withdrawal of Monsignor Schrooder. He exhorts both sides to union, charity and the subordination of private interests to the imperious exigencies of the church.

After formally enjoining acquiescence in the decision the Bishops arrived at in the Schrooder case, his Holiness adds:—

"Above all, what I demand is silence. The inflammatory polemics of newspapers rend my heart."

AN ACTOR ASSASSINATED.

William Terriss, a Colleague of Sir Henry Irving, Stabbed in Cold Blood—Details of the Tragedy.

London, Dec. 17.—William Terriss, the well-known actor, was assassinated—being stabbed with a knife—as he was entering the stage door of the Adelphi Theatre last night. His assassin is supposed to be a former super. The latter rushed at the actor as Terriss was stepping across the pavement from his cab and stabbed him just below the heart. As Terris fell his murderer was seized by people who were outside of the theatre. The wounded man was carried into the theatre and doctors were called from the Charing Cross Hospital, but the wound, which was very deep, proved fatal, and the actor expired in fifteen minutes. The assassin had the appearance of a foreigner, and wore a long cloak. Terriss fell shouting: "My God! He stabbed me; don't let him escape!"

The assassin withdrew the dagger and made a second plunge at his victim, but he was seized by the spectators, of which there is always a crowd about the stage entrance to witness the arrival of the actors.

The murderer was taken to Bow Street Police Station, followed by an angry crowd. His name was given as Archer. It is said that he had been a "super" at the Adelphi Theatre several years ago, and for some days past he has haunted the theatre. The motive for the crime is not yet known.

The late William Terris was born on October 18, 1851, in London, and was consequently in his 47th year. He came of an excellent family. His father was a Kentish country gentleman, and his mother a sister of the celebrated historian of Greece, the late George Crote, closely allied to the Earl of Zetland. The real name of the deceased actor was William Lewin.

When Henry Irving, in 1880, made his memorable revival of Romeo and Juliet at the Lyceum Theatre, he invited Mr. Terriss to play Mercutio. Then began an association which continued with the greatest profit to Irving and the greatest eclat to Terris for seven years.

WANT RESPITE OF WAR.

The Awful Look of Men Who Want a Respite From War in the Faces of the Soldiers.

London, Dec. 17.—Later details were received to-day of the march of General Westmacott's brigade down the Bara Valley. A despatch from the correspondent of the Reuter Telegram Company at Mamani, dated December 14th, says:—

"The troops had to march in a river bed, 500 yards wide, the stream being swollen with snow. On the right were sheer ranges and bush-covered spurs reaching up to the snow level, on the left were cliffs and all the heights were occupied. The motley baggage train, gaunt, smoke-grimed stretcher bearers, and overloaded ammunition ponies and the crowds of camp followers were all mixed in inextricable confusion, a seething, struggling mass, wading knee and waist deep, urged onward by the knowledge that a relentless foe was in the rear.

"In the faces of all, black and white, was seen the look which indicates that the men have had enough of war and want a respite."

The Jury Pronounces Fred Elliott Guilty of Killing His Brother.

Goderich, Dec. 17.—At the trial of Fred Elliott on a charge of shooting his brother at Bayfield on November 8, yesterday afternoon, the jury returned a verdict of manslaughter, with a recommendation to mercy. George Irwin, who was on the opposite side of the road, gave similar testimony.

Lilly Elliott, sister to prisoner and deceased, stated that on the day in question deceased was angry and quarrelsome, and she tried to soothe him without effect. The brothers were not in the habit of quarreling, except when Harvey was under the influence of liquor. She swore that Harvey had struck Fred and that he had also assaulted his father. The prisoner will be sentenced Saturday.

D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realizing that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

His Honor Judge Masson then charged the jury and they retired at 8.30 p.m., and will likely not give their verdict before this morning.

How Long Will This Piano Last?

The above question is asked by almost every piano purchaser before making a decision.

If you are discussing a Chickering Piano there is an emphatic answer.

No matter what YOUR age rest assured the piano will outlive you.

There is no one living who has ever purchased a Chickering piano AND WORN IT OUT.

Think of the number of children to-day practising upon Chickering pianos purchased by their grandparents.

There are thousands of Chickering pianos so purchased and so used.

Perhaps, they are not as good as they were 50 or 60 or 70 years ago, but the marvel is that they are in use at 1

The majority of pianos by other makers are worn out in a third the period.

These are simple Chickering facts.

TAKEN TO SMITH'S FALLS.

Arthur Burns Left at Noon With Chief Constable McGowan.

Chief Constable McGowan, of Smith's Falls, arrived in town this morning, and left again on the 11.24 C.P.R. express with the prisoner, Arthur Burns, whom he wanted on a charge of false pretences.

Constable McGowan states that the circumstances of the charge against Burns in Smith's Falls originated in the fact that after he had been discharged from the employ of the C.P.R., he went to a merchant in that town, and representing that he was still with the company and going out on a run that very afternoon, obtained a portion of a suit of clothes on credit.

Hearing of Burn's dismissal shortly afterwards, the merchant immediately put the case in the hands of the police, and they had a lively chase around town after the lad and his chum for an hour or so, but he eluded them and got away, coming to Peterborough, where Constable McGowan wired for his arrest.

A CHARMING LECTURE BY MISS FITZGIBBONS.

THE STORY OF LAURA SECORD.

Miss Mary Agnes Fitzgibbons' Lecture on a Heroine of the War of 1812—A Large Audience—Good Musical Programme.

A large audience assembled in Association Hall last night to listen to a most interesting and instructive lecture delivered, under the auspices of the Historical Society, by Miss Mary Agnes Fitzgibbons, of Toronto, who is a pioneer in the promotion of the work of developing the early history of Canada, and who may be regarded as the originator of the Historical Societies, that are now doing such an excellent work, not only in collecting and preserving data referring to the early history of Canada, but also in arousing an interest in the country which is a direct stimulus to patriotic sentiments.

Col. Rogers, president of the Society, occupied the chair and briefly explained the aims and objects of the Town and County of Peterborough Historical Society and mentioned that the present was the first of a series of lectures to be given under its auspices, and intended to promote its objects. He referred to the fact that the Society was fortunate in securing for the opening lecture, a lady who had been most actively and intelligently zealous in fostering a love of research into the early history of Canada.

A committee of ladies had prepared a little musical programme, and the chairman introduced Miss Boyer, who contributed a pianoforte solo in the exceedingly pleasing manner which has made her a favourite in musical circles.

The succeeding number was a soprano solo, which was sung by Mrs. A. G. Parker, with delightful effect and expression.

Miss Fitzgibbon began her lecture, or, as she preferred to have it called, her "talk," on one of the heroines of Canadian history. She paid a compliment to the excellent work of the local society, which she pointed out, had been the first to originate a museum in connection with its work. She spoke in warm terms of the excellent work already accomplished in the short history of the society.

Though her subject was a heroine of Canadian history, yet she was by no means the only one, for there were many who during the troublous time of 1812, showed a patriotism and sacrifice in the interests of the country that entitled them to rank as heroines.

After a brief description of the war of 1812, and a mention of the chief incidents, the speaker came to a critical point in the history of the war, when the only secure point held by the British Canadian forces was Burlington Heights, and the only obstacle that intervened between the American base of supplies and this critical point was the occupation of Beaver Dams. Here lay Col. Fitzgibbon, grandfather of Miss Fitzgibbon, with a small detachment of fifty men from the 49th Regiment. Mrs. Secord lived near Queenston, and had already distinguished herself by rescuing from the field her husband, who had been wounded at the Battle of Queenston. She was a slight frail looking woman, but with a spirit that amply compensated the lack of physical strength and size. The whole Niagara peninsula was at that time in practical possession of the Americans, (except Beaver Dams,) who in preparation for an advance on Burlington by way of the former point, which, owing to the small force, was supposed to be easy prey, took the greatest precautions to conceal their movements, and extraordinary means were employed to prevent the Canadians from giving information. By some means Laura Secord overheard a discussion of the plans for a raid on Beaver Dams, by a force of 500 men from Fort George, and instantly saw the necessity of Col. Fitzgibbon being warned. Leaving her invalided husband, she formed a plan to pass through the American lines. Lightly clad to avoid suspicion, she took her milking pail as if to milk her cow, which, by a clever ruse, she got beyond the lines, and that without exciting suspicion and then began her long and perilious journey through the tangled depths of the unbroken forest, abounding with wild animals and Indians. Miss Fitzgibbon graphically described this heroic journey and told how she reached her journey's end, and accomplished her mission. The lecturer then detailed the subsequent events and the clever capture by Col. Fitzgibbon with only forty-nine men, of the American forces, under command of Col. Boerstler, consisting of 500 men. The strategetic importance of this event, its influence in deciding the war in favour of the Canadians and the credit due to the heroic share of Laura Secord in the event were graphically depicted. Much interest was added the lecture, which, during its course, was amply illustrated by limelight views of the scenes and individuals referred to and connected with the events narrated, including maps. One map was of peculiar origin and interest. This was a copy of the map or diagram used at the trial of Col. Boerstler, the American officer who had surrendered his force of 500 men to Col. Fitzgibbon's 50. It correctly depicted the various roads and distances and made clearly intelligible the route taken by Mrs. Secord on her memorable journey through the forest. Views were also given of Fort George, Fort Erie, Brock's Monument, Laura Secord and her grave, the monument at Beaver Dams, a portrait of Col. Fitzgibbon and Windsor Castle, where, as one of the Knights, he passed his last days. There was also shown the swords presented to Col. Fitzgibbon by Sir Augustus D'Este, son of H. R. H. the Duke of Sussex, who was the Colonel's firm friend. During the course of her remarks Miss Fitzgibbon made a strong appeal in favour of practical efforts being made to preserve the historic remains that were now from lack of care crumbling to decay or being carried away for ordinary building purposes. On the whole Miss Fitzgibbon gave an admirable and most interesting lecture, animated with a spirit of the liveliest patriotism. The address was closed with a warm tribute to the Queen and to Canada.

The views were excellently presented by Mr. R. M. Roy.

At the conclusion of the lecture Mrs. Parker delighted the audience with another vocal solo, for which Miss Dennistoun played the accompaniment, as well as for the first number.

A cordial vote of thanks, moved by Dr. Bell and seconded by Mr. Geo. Dunsford, was tendered Miss Fitzgibbon for her admirable address.

The evening closed with the singing of the National Anthem. The society is to be congratulated upon the great success of the first of their series of lectures, which was an inspiration and an encouraging stimulus to greater activity.

TO THE

Peterborough Bookstore.

Santa Claus has just been heard from. For the information of the Old Folks as well as the Young Folks, we are at liberty to publish the following:—

DEAR MESSRS. STRATTON & Co.

Just a line by telegraph to say that I expect to be at the Peterborough Bookstore next week. Isn't it too bad after getting within a 100 miles of Peterborough to find the snow all gone and no sleighing. I've had to hitch up my reindeers to my bicycle and shall drive straight to the Grotto 417 and 419 George Street. Tell the policemen to have the streets all clear for me, as the deer are very frisky after doing so little work during the journey. Won't it be jolly to meet all the dear children in the Grotto again! Put this in the newspapers and let the children know about my reception in the Peterborough Bookstore all next week. "So long" till I see you and all the dear children. So long, so long.

Your faithful old friend,
SANTA.

GRAND JURY PRESENTMENT

As Handed in at the Sittings of the County Court.

Appended will be found the presentment of the Grand Jury at the recent sittings of the County Court, which was crowded out of the issue of the date upon which it was handed in:

To His Honour Judge Weller:

We, the members of the Grand Jury of the General Sessions of the County of Peterborough, have discharged the duties imposed upon us as expressed by your Honour and beg leave to report:

1. Your Grand Jury is gratified to state that there is absolutely nothing for us to do at this sittings of this court in the way of criminal investigation. This is the second time this year that a similar satisfactory report has been made in this regard and the court is to be congratulated on this evidence of an absence of crime of a serious nature in the county.

2. Your Grand Jury has visited the gaol, as directed. Accompanied by the gaoler, we investigated every department critically and we are pleased to be able to report that everything pertaining to the comfort, cleanliness and description of the premises was found in a most satisfactory condition.

3. We find at the present time there is one lunatic confined in the gaol. So far as we could judge, he is receiving the best attention such quarters can afford. We are, however, impressed with the fact that the gaol is not a proper place to have this unfortunate class confined. Your Grand Jury would recommend that he should be sent to an asylum for the insane, where he will receive the special treatment which his case demands.

H. P. LINDSAY,
Foreman.

P.S.—We also recommend that a House of Refuge be provided for the deserving poor instead of confining them in the common gaol.

A Banker's Experience.

"I tried a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for a troublesome affection of the throat," writes Manager Thomas Hewson of the Standard Bank, now of 14 Melbourne Avenue, Toronto, "It proved effective. I regard the remedy as simple, cheap and exceedingly good. It has hitherto been my habit to consult a physician in troubles of this nature. Hereafter, however, I intend to be my own family doctor."

A PLEASANT EVENING.

Spent With Mr. Glass by His Sunday School Class.

Last evening the members of the Sunday school class of Mr. Jas. Glass, of the George street Methodist church, to the number of 24, were entertained at Mr. Glass' residence, Aylmer street.

This has been an annual custom of Mr. Glass for some years past, consequently the members of his class look for the event with great anticipation. Mr. Glass is one of the oldest teachers in the Sunday school and is very popular not only with his own class, but with the members and officers of the whole school.

The first half of the evening was spent by the boys in playing crokinole, carpet ball, etc. Then a very excellent repast was partaken of and much enjoyed and appreciated by the young gentlemen, in the dining room.

After luncheon some excellent music was provided by several members of the class. The time from 12 15 till 1 o'clock was spent in the singing of sacred songs. The closing hymn, "God be with you till we meet again," was sung with much fervour by all, and the members of the class then proceeded to get ready to retrace their steps homeward, each and everyone feeling in regard to Mr. Glass that he's a jolly good fellow. When the party reached Mr. Glass' gate three hearty cheers were given for him, Mrs. Glass and all who assisted in giving the boys such a pleasant and profitable evening.

Mr. Glass has always taken the keenest interest in his class, and the boys feel they owe a great deal to him for the kind services he has and is constantly rendering them.

CONCERT AT AUBURN.

In Aid of a Charitable Object—A Most Pleasing Programme.

The charity concert held in the Mission Hall at Auburn last night, was well attended, and a most varied and pleasing programme was presented.

Mayor Yelland occupied the chair, and the best of order prevailed.

The mayor explained the object which the promoters of the entertainment had in view, viz., the relief of an old gentleman who was in destitute circumstances through old age.

The programme opened with a dashing two step on the organ by Mr. John Armstrong, which was followed by a recitation on the Klondyke by Mr. Jesse Spenceley, which caught the crowd. Freddie Gibson sang "A Sweet Bunch of Daisies," so well that he earned an encore. Jimmy Downing's recitation, "Only a Boy," and was well received, as was an instrumental selection on autoharps by Miss and the Messrs. Roberts, the trio receiving an enthusiastic encore.

Mr. C. N. Brown made himself a prime favourite with his inimitable Irish readings. He gave "The Irish Schoolmaster" first, and in response to an encore read "Bridget O'Houlihan's Letter." Mr. J. J. Turner, jr., caught the crowd with his character songs and was most enthusiastically applauded. First as an old gentleman singing a reminiscent song, and afterwards as an Irish comedian. Mr. "Dick" Simons's recitation, "Kelly's Dream," was delightful, and Mr. Wes. Edwards brought down the house in his darkey impersonations.

Mr. Harold Nelles delighted the audience with his spirited rendering of "Im off to Philadelphia in the morning." As an encore number he gave "Tommy Atkins." Mr. George Pratley's typical English Song, "Not for Joe," was one of the best numbers on the programme and called for long and enthusiastic applause. He had to respond to an encore before the audience would let him go.

An interesting dialogue in which the parts were all well taken was given by Miss A. Ellis, Mr. A. E. Frost and Master Ernie Belleghem. A clever instrumental given by Mr. H. Rightmyer was fully appreciated. The second portion of the programme provided for the reappearance of nearly all those who contributed in the first part and the numbers were even more enthusiastically received than the earlier ones.

It is pleasing to announce that quite a sum was realized by the sale of tickets.

COUNTY COURT.

The Jury Disagree in the Illicit Still Case—Conviction Quashed in Wm. McNairn's Appeal.

In the appeal of the Inland Revenue Department from a decision of the County Magistrate in the case in which he dismissed the charge against Michal Conway of allowing an illicit still to be conducted on his premises, the jury disagreed yesterday and the case stands over until the next sittings of the court.

Mr. E. B. Edwards appeared for the Department, and Mr. D. O'Connell for the respondent, Michael Conway.

McNairn vs. Ronsel—This was an appeal from a conviction made by Police Magistrate Dumble against Wm. McNairn, for having kept a place for refreshment within the town of Peterborough, on July 3rd last, without a license. From the evidence it would appear that Mr. McNairn was conducting a lemonade stand on the road dividing the town from the township of Monaghan, on the northern half of the roadway. The police magistrate found that while so conducting a booth he was within the limits of the town, the defendant contending that he was on the dividing line between the two municipalities and was neither in the town or township, and that the roadway was vested in the Crown. After hearing evidence the conviction was quashed on the ground that when the matters complained of took place the defendant was not in the town of Peterborough.

Stratton & Hall for appellant, E. B. Edwards for respondent.

The hearing of the appeal of C. Lesros, against a conviction of Police Magistrate Dumble, on a charge of selling tobacco to a minor, has been postponed until Monday next.

THE NORWOOD FLOOD DID MUCH DAMAGE.

FURTHER PARTICULARS CONCERNING THE HARM DONE.

An Immense Volume of Water Released by the Breaking Away of the Mill Dam on Wednesday Afternoon Last.

The following further particulars concerning Wednesday's flood in Norwood have been received:

Norwood, Dec. 16th, 1897:—There is an old saying that "misfortune never comes singly," and so far as Norwood is concerned this would seem to be a truism. In a little over twelve months this village has met with three serious losses. On the 20th of November last the Cedar street bridge accident occurred in which Mr. Lesson was injured. This accident cost the village a large sum. On the 20th of April the fire fiend visited us and consumed almost one half of the business portion of the village, causing a very great loss. From the effects of these reverses the village had no sooner began to recover when another calamity has overtaken us.

Shortly after five o'clock on Wednesday morning the dam at Mr. James Cumming's woollen mill broke away at the north-west corner, freeing an immense volume of water, which swept away every vestige of the building occupied by Mr. Wm. Nelld. as a pump factory and machine shop, together with its contents, a portion of Squire Bros.' sheds, bread wagon and a quantity of wood, the Mill street bridge, about 400 cords of wood belonging to Messrs John Finlay & Son, the sidewalk north of the factory, the bridge north of the Baptist church, the footbridge at the skating rink, besides fences and small quantities of wood belng to other parties along the creek.

The machine shop which was owned by Messrs. Squire Bros. was completely demolished, and the boiler and engine which, also belonged to the firm, were carried a considerable distance down the stream. The engine became lodged at the railway bridge, and the boiler was found several hundred yards below.

Mr. Nelld has lost everything—machinery, tools, shop fixtures, stock, etc. Small portions of it may be picked up here and there along the creek, but a great deal of it will never be recovered, and what is found will be almost rendered useless by breakage. A huge iron lathe was found buried in the gravel about 200 yards below the spot where the shop stood. Mr. Nelld's loss is placed at $1,000.

Messrs. Squire Bros' loss will be in the neighborhood of $1,000; Mr. Cumming's loss about $450; Messrs. Finlay & Son will be out at least $150, and the village not less than $300, while minor losses will swell the total to $4,000.

The banks of the river all the way from the mill to the corporation limits are strewn with wood and wreckage.

The council met at 9 a.m. and put men on at once to repair the sidewalks and to replace the bridges.

Messrs. Finlay & Son have a gang of men on gathering up their wood.

Mr. Cumming has men at work repairing the dam.

Washing Day.

The drudgery of housekeeping for the workingman's wife comes on washing day, when there is no washing machine or wringer in the house. It's killing on women who are raising a family, especially at this season of the year when blankets and other heavy articles of the home must be cleaned for winter. Washing and wringing makes more aching arms and tired bodies than anything else a woman can do. Husbands might be a little more thoughtful. In hundreds of cases they could buy a new washer and wringer every year for what it costs to pay for doctor's bills and servants for their tired-out wives, whose health has been run down over the washboard and washtub. Take a hint, you men, and make time to see the two kinds of labour-saving washing machines made by G. Walter Green at his pump factory on Dickson's race. If you can't make time ring up telephone No. 92, or address box 362, and have him send one over to your house.

MISS ARMSTRONG'S

390 GEORGE STREET.

The Mayoralty Contest.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

At the request of a large and influential number of citizens, representing all classes of the community, I have consented to become a candidate for the Mayoralty for the coming year.

Although I had decided to retire from Municipal life this year, yet I could not in the face of the solicitation of so many electors refuse to accept of the nomination so urgently pressed upon me. I felt it both an honour and a duty to accede to their wishes, and now solicit your vote and influence.

The Town of Peterborough requires that her legislators must be active, watchful and careful: active in placing her splendid natural facilities as a commercial and manufacturing centre before the world; watchful that the ratepayers' money shall be wisely, economically and judiciously expended; and careful in carrying out a policy of progress and economy, so that our Town may benefit in the race for supremacy without burdening the ratepayers with heavy taxation. Unless a policy of this kind is pursued, our Town will retrograde, and her mechanics, artisans and labourers be forced to look outside for their livelihood and eventually move from our midst.

If elected, I shall use my best endeavours to advance the interests of all classes of ratepayers. Being in close touch with the business menand manufacturers, I feel that I can look after their interests carefully and intelligently, while at the same time I shall use every effort to promote such legislation as will seek to benefit the working classes, and use every means at my disposal to keep down the rate of taxation.

During my term in Council I supported the advocacy of a fair day's pay for a fair day's work—and nine hours a day for corporation employees. If elected I shall continue to do this, and in addition will favour the insertion of a clause of similar character in all contracts let by the Town for public works.

Should time permit, I will endeavour to see you personally and place my views more fully before you, but should I be unable to do so, I hereby respectfully solicit your vote and influence.

Wishing you the Compliments of the Season, I am

Your obedient servant,

A. L. DAVIS.

A WONDERFUL CHANGE.

Mr. R. Wheatley, of the Department of Militia, Ottawa, says in reference to Doan's Kidney Pills that they are the best remedy he ever tried.

Mr. Wheatley makes the following statement:

"I suffered a great deal for a long time with severe pains in my back over the kidneys, restless, headaches, sleepless and general debility also made life a burden.

"Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills I thought I would try them, seeing that no other remedy had succeeded in my case. Well, from the first a wonderful change took place, and I continued to improve rapidly until, at the end of six weeks, I was cured.

"I now eat well, sleep well, have no pain, dizziness or headache, and am in fact all O. K., thanks to Doan's Pill, which it is needless to say I recommend highly."

Doan's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists at 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

The two most critical times in a woman's life are the times which make the girl a woman, and the woman a mother. At these times, Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription is of incalculable value. It strengthens and invigorates the organs distinctly feminine, promotes regularity of the functions, allays irritation and inflammation, checks unnatural exhausting drains, and puts the whole delicate organism into perfect condition. Almost all the ills of womankind are traceable to some form of what is known as "female" complaint. There are not three cases in a hundred of woman's peculiar diseases that Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription will not cure.

STRIKE SETTLEMENT HOPEFUL.

The Bara Valley Fight was of the Most Desperate Description—When the British Had an Equal Chance With the Enemy They Punished Them Severely.

London Dec. 16.—During the course of yesterday's enquiry into the recent great fire in the Cripple Gate district of London, the City Solicitor, Mr. Henry Crawford, said the inquest had assumed grave importance. The expert evidence, he said, had proved that the fire was not accidental, and the evidence agreed that the fire was started in a stack of clothing in Waller & Brown's showroom. Mr. Brown, he added, could not escape the fact that he was the only person in the showroom just prior to the outbreak, and it was only fair to state that Mr. Brown was perfectly willing to re-enter the witness box and give any further details he could on the subject.

HE FOUGHT IN CANADA.

General Sir Henry Lynedoch Gardiner Has Crossed the Bar.

London, Dec. 16.—General Sir Henry Lynedoch Gardiner is dead. He had been, since the early part of last year, commander of the Horse Artillery, and was born in 1820. He was a son of General Sir Robert Gardiner, was educated at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, and entered the Royal Artillery 1837, serving at Prescott, Canada, in that year, and in the Canadian rebellion in the year following. In 1861 he was on the Royal Commission on Defence of Canada as a lieutenant-colonel.

THE BARA VALLEY FIGHT.

The Tribesmen Lose 400 Men to the Deadly Fire of British Rifles.

Simla, Dec. 16.—Further details from the front regarding the march of General Westmacott's brigade down the Bara Valley show it to have been accompanied by the most desperate fighting. The enemy exposed themselves in their efforts to cut off the rear guard, and poured in a constant rifle fire, in replying to which the British troops exhausted their pouches of ammunition. While the rear guard was worn out by constant attacks and in a difficult position, the enemy made the coup of the campaign by an open rush. The tired soldiers stood firm, and withering, independent fire swept the advancing tribesmen, who charged almost to the bayonet's point, wavered and retreated to cover. The action recommenced with the rising of the moon.

The British troops behaved splendidly, and inflicted the most severe punishment the enemy has yet sustained. Fully 400 men fell.

LOOKS MORE HOPEFUL.

The Combined Committee Said to Have Arrived at an Agreement.

London, Dec. 16.—The conference between the Amalgamated Society of Engineers and the Employers' Federation was resumed yesterday. It was expected that the result of the ballot taken to decide whether the masters proposal should be accepted would lead to a rupture of the negotiations for the settlement of the strike, the men having voted overwhelmingly against accepting the terms of their employers.

This, however, was not the case, and at the meeting the employers adopted an attitude that was more conciliatory than that assumed by them prior to the taking of the ballot. They submitted a further explanation of their position, and both sides displayed throughout the meeting a more reasonable spirit. The discussion resulted in a substantial advance toward a settlement of the dispute.

The aspect of the dispute is even more hopeful to-day. It is understood that the combine committee of masters and men has arrived at an agreement as to the three leading points in dispute, freedom of employment piece work and overtime. When the remainder of the points have been settled the committee will report to the conference for approval.

HIS ONLY HOPE.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Saved Harry Stuart After all Other Remedies Failed.

LONDON, Dec. 13 h.—In nine-tenths of the homes of London, the all-absorbing topic of conversation is Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Thousands of happy, grateful men and women, are telling of their rescue from Diabetes, Bright's Disease, Paralysis and other kidney diseases hitherto called incurable. All tell how how Dodd's Kidney Pills cured, after all other means had failed.

Harry Stuart, 164 Mill street, told our reporter to day that a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him completely of long standing kidney disease and lumbago. Doctors could not cure him. Neither could other remedies. Dodd's Kidney Pills were his only hope. THEY CURED HIM. They never fail to cure any case of Kidney Disease.

True Bills Returned.

Toronto, Dec. 15.—The grand jury at the Sessions have brought in true bills against the Toronto & Mimico Electric Light and Railway Company and the Metropolitan Railway Company for "disobedience of statute." They ran cars on Sunday. A true bill was also returned against George Beatty, charged with aggravated assault.

Popular Hotel Man.

"I was troubled with pimples on my face and head which caused me much annoyance. After trying many remedies without benefit I was advised to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. The first bottle helped me and I took four bottles. I am now completly cured." JAMES REILLEX, Proprietor Chapman House, Sarnia, Ont.

Simla, Dec. 16.—General Sir William Lockhart, the British Commander-in-Chief, has decided to send a column of troops to reopen the Khyber Pass, marching up from Jamurd. Then, from Ali Musjid, the column will descend into the Bazaar Valley and punish the tribesmen in that district.

Britain Will Not Change.

London, Dec. 16.—The correspondent of the New York Sun telegraphed his paper to-day that the Government is in consultation with the Government of Canada in regard to the question of suspending pelagic sealing for a year. There is no indication of Great Britain moderating her attitude in the matter.

Greece Asks Delay.

Constantinople, Dec. 16.—The Greek Government has requested a month's extension of the term fixed upon for ratifying the treaty of peace with Turkey. The members of the diplomatic corps are much surprised at this request, and the Turkish officials declare it is unwarranted and unacceptable.

The Queen Regent Christina of Spain yesterday received General Weyler, the former Captain-General of Cuba.

A Triangular Fight.

Alexandria, Dec. 16. — Yesterday a meeting of Patrons and other independents met and nominated, almost unanimously, Mr. D. M. McPherson, the present M.P.P. The nomination of this convention leaves in the field three candidates—Dr. Macdonald (Con.), Mr. D. C. McRae (Lib.) and Mr. D. M. McPherson (Patron).

The Defunct Farmers' Loan Co.

Toronto, Dec. 16.—Master in Ordinary Hodgins yesterday appointed the Toronto General Trusts Co. to liquidate the estate of the defunct Farmers' Loan and Savings Co. There will be two advising committees of four members each to act in conjunction with the liquidators, one appointed by the shareholders, the other by the debenture-holders. This was the method observed in the winding up of the Central Bank.

According to Mr. Osler, the interim liquidator, the liabilities amount to $1,406,503.05, the assets to $1,789,000, but "there has not been time to verify these figures." They were taken from the company's books. Hon. Mr. Mulock, in a statement, denied all the charges of unloading brought against him, and Mr. E. B. Osler corroborated.

In the evening twilight of winter time, when the fire sparkles and glows and dances upon the hearth, there are dreams and air castles of the future in the flames for the young woman who sits and gazes into them. Whether these air castles will ever become realities, is largely a matter of health.

No woman can hope to be a contented wife, the mistress of a happy home and the mother of healthy children who suffers from weakness and disease of the delicate organs that are distinctly feminine. All the air castles that she builds will crumble into dust, unless she takes measures to correct the disorders from which she suffers. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive cure for all disorders of these most sensitive organs. It makes them strong, healthy and vigorous. It prepares a woman for happy wifehood and healthy motherhood. It robs maternity of its peril and of nearly all pain. It insures children with strong, healthy constitutions. Thousands of women have testified to its marvelous merits. For nursing mothers it is the best supportive tonic.

When a dealer urges some substitute he's thinking of the larger profit he'll make—not of your welfare.

"About six years ago my wife became afflicted with displacement, causing inflammation and much pain," writes Rev. I. J. Coppedge, of Elmo, Kaufman Co., Texas. "She could not stand on her feet or get in any position but what she suffered great bearing down pain. I got her a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription which she soon found was helping her; so she kept on until she had taken six bottles. Since taking the last she has not suffered a moment from the old trouble."

OUR OWN.

If I had known in the morning
How wearily all the day
The words unkind would trouble my mind
That I said when you went away,
I had been more careful, darling,
Nor given you needless pain,
But we vex our own with look and tone
We may never take back again.

For, though in the quiet evening
You may give me the kiss of peace,
Yet it well might be that never for me
The pain of the heart should cease!
How many go forth at morning
Who never come home at night!
And hearts have broken for harsh words spoken
That sorrow can ne'er set right.

We have careful thought for the stranger
And smiles for the some time guest,
But oft for our own the bitter tone,
Though we love our own the best.
Ah, lips with the curve impatient,
Ah, brow with the shade of scorn,
'Twere a cruel fate were the night too late
To undo the work of the morn!

—Margaret E. Sangster.

SAWING UP A LOG.

How Planks Are Cut Into Shape In a Great Western Sawmill.

W. S. Harwood contributes "The Story of a Pine Board" to St. Nicholas. After telling of the cutting down of the tree and its progress from the forest to the mill Mr. Harwood says:

Up from the yellowish brown depths of the slow moving river flowing so steadily on its way to the sea comes a huge, dark brown thing with a shining, dripping coat. It is our log, entering upon its last stage. It passes at once up a long incline called the "slit"—a trench of wood about eight inches deep and two feet wide at the top, so hollowed out that the largest log will lie in it securely as it is being drawn up the incline by the stout chains with which the slit is equipped. Projecting pieces of steel on this chain serve to keep the log steady, its great weight, causing it to sink upon these pieces of steel, which are like sharp teeth. A workman, standing at the side of the slit, by means of a lever throws up two powerful steel pointed arms, which lift the logs out of the slit and throw them upon tables, from which they are rolled down to the carriage which leads to the saws. When the log reaches the carriage, it is thrown upon the framework by the "nigger"—a long, ratcheted timber or piece of steel. This framework is like a section of an ordinary flat car running on a regular railroad track. Two men stand on the moving carriage and at a signal from the head sawyer, who directs the cutting of the log, regulate the thickness of the plank or board by the levers of the carriage.
